

Lloyd Douglas' Novel Brought to Catlow Screen

"Magnificent Obsession" Is Billed Sunday-Monday With Leading Cast

Probably everyone in the world, at one time or another, has toyed with the idea of what they would do with a million dollars. It's a fascinating subject with as many answers as there are people.

This intriguing idea is developed in 20th Century's sophisticated comedy, "This Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," starring Ronald Colman, tonight at the Catlow theatre.

With Jean Bennett in the female lead, the picture depicts at a fast and furious pace the fortunes of a man who, after losing his money at Monte Carlo, returns to Paris and then to Monte Carlo again.

Colman enacts the role of a deposed Russian Prince who runs a few hundred francs into ten million. He promptly divides half of the sum among fellow exiles who have contributed small sums to the amount he staked at the tables and uses the remainder in the pursuit of romance, represented by Jean Bennett.

With the scene of Gene Raymond's new RKO Radio's "Seven Keys to Baldpate" laid in a lovely inn among the Adirondacks, studio art directors had their hands full in making a realistic setting for the picture.

One of the largest stages in Hollywood was used for the snow-covered area of woodland with a full-sized reproduction of the two-story "Baldpate Inn" placed in the center.

Meanwhile the art directors were supervising the erection of the "inn" itself, a rambling structure nearly 130 feet long, with its huge living room and winding corridors.

The film is one of the interesting offerings of recent months from the standpoint of its background and true-to-life settings. Margaret Callahan has the female lead opposite featured Gene Raymond, with outstanding players in the other roles, coming Friday, Feb. 28 to the Catlow theatre.

Four unrelated murder, prove unusually knotty problems for Edward Arnold, cast as an "acc" detective in Universal's world and thrilling drama of murder during and after a gay Long Island party in Universal's "Remember Last Night" at the Catlow theatre Sunday.

The film in which are featured such players as Gene Raymond, Robert Young, Robert Armstrong and Reginald Denny was produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr.

"Magnificent Obsession," which starts at the Catlow theatre Sunday is based on Lloyd C. Douglas' novel of the same name. The book has been in print 40 times in the United States and has had a large sale in Canada and the British Empire, as well as in France. The story has been reproduced on photograph records for the blind, so widespread is its appeal.

Contrary to the usual way in which "best seller" novels rise to the top, "Magnificent Obsession" did not reach that vantage point until 18 months after publication. For three years thereafter the story has remained in the upper brackets of public demand.

Irene Dunne, Robert Taylor, Charles Butterworth, Betty Furness, Sara Haden, Ralph Morgan and Henry Armetta portray the leading roles.

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuralgia or sciatica, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most "experts" advised against its being used for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin for years and without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety are correct. Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never mistaking it by the same symbol alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

Are you interested in the relation of the government to private enterprise? Then read "Government in Business" by Stuart Chase. You may or may not agree with him but you will be interested in what he has to say.

In his book, Chase seeks to show that at least since the latter half of the 19th century, the role of government in business has been constantly expanding, both in Europe and America, and in recent years, has reached an accelerated pace.

The author holds that it expanded because it had to; because private enterprise has been either unable or unwilling to do what had to be done. He believes that further expansion of government ownership and control is inevitable. He is heartily in favor of it and he outlines the techniques by which it ought to proceed.

Never take any laxative that is harsh in action. Or one, the dose of which can't be exactly measured. Doctors know the dangers if this rule is violated. They use a liquid laxative, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of being Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why it should be a liquid like Syrup Pepsin.

A TOE TOUCH

..and you STOP

OL-HUSHED to a sigh of silence under Buick's style-fingered bonnet, a great-powered valve-in-head engine waits to unleash a torrent of action at your command.

There's thrill in it—and triumph over time and distance. But most important—there's eyewitness evidence.

Teamed up with this ablance of driving forces is the newest and most highly perfected system of hydraulic brakes.

The quickest of stops is velvet smooth under their self-energizing action. On the wettest of streets there will be no slowing, no swerves, for they are automatically self-equalizing.

Their action has the smoothness of a closing hand, increasing its grasp steadily to the maximum. Their steel-tensioned grip would halt a heavy truck, but it takes only a touch of a daintily-shod toe to put them into action.

We call them "tip-toe hydraulics," and how apt the name is you'll never know until you drive a Buick and sample for yourself their softness and their velvet command.

The first few times you sit behind a Buick wheel, you may find yourself traveling faster than you think. No car is more buoyantly smooth in its power-flow, more deceptively effortless in its swift flight.

But no car is more surely under control at all times—quicker, smoother, easier in its stopping. If you must drive with an eye on the passing minutes, do so in a Buick which matches engine eagerness with tip-toe braking sureness, offsets highspot go-ability with dependable stop-ability.

$765 to $1925 are the list prices of the new Buick Roadster, 2-door, subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories grouped on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout as standard equipment.

1936 IS HOME BUILDING YEAR

THE SMALL HOUSE OF POPULAR DEMAND
—ITS PLAN, DESIGN AND COSTS

...by...

NORMAN T. MAXON, Architect

NEVER before has there been such a demand for properly planned and designed homes as exists today. Barrington is no exception, for from information received from reliable sources we need from twenty-five to fifty homes such as the one you see here.

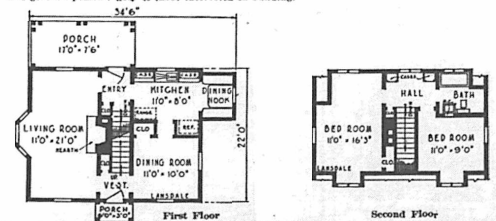

Just what is the present day demand in small homes? Why is it that homes not very old are hard to sell or even rent in the present market? The answer is: people demand a home in keeping with today's progress. They have been taught a new efficiency, a higher standard of living. They want new and better things.

A recent nation-wide analysis to find out what people actually want incorporated into the design for their homes reveals that thirty-five per cent want Cape Cod, Early American or Colonial; thirty per cent want English; and the rest want French, Spanish or miscellaneous designs for their homes. So it's Cape Cod, Colonial, Early American or English if you want to build for the most buyers or renters. As to the much discussed Modernistic, let me say that the designers and manufacturers have not, as yet, been able to design and build as cheaply as we can in the old time tested frame construction. The time when prefabrication will worry the small home builder seems rather far removed. The big thing that the bankers want is to work with designers and builders who can get the maximum efficiency out of our present materials.

To conform with the public demand from the owner's standpoint as well as with that of the bankers who finance construction we have selected a Cape Cod Colonial home for this article. Note the pleasing design—its simplicity and dignity. Nothing could be added to or taken from its exterior to enhance its appeal. The plan is simple and efficient and without a square foot of waste space, not a dollar needlessly spent, a plan and design which delivers one hundred cents for every dollar spent. The rear porch adjoining the living room is an ideal place for the children to play, being close enough to the kitchen for mother to supervise them. This arrangement is fine for social activities. The dining alcove in the kitchen is a cozy place for mother's work, and it is an ideal place for the morning meal. The refrigerator has a special rack of its own too. A roll-away bed can be placed in the dining room closet and used in emergencies. The heating room will be placed in the basement just under the living room, and a game room will adjoin, where father and his friends can be by themselves when the occasion demands. Features such as these catch the eye and make for more livability; they make selling or renting much easier and add materially to the actual value of a home without incurring much extra expense in its construction. Now, let's go to the upstairs and note the two large bedrooms with a bath in between of the hall. Three bedrooms could be had with this plan if a small bedroom in which case a lavatory should be added on the first floor.

Now, we will discuss the financing of a loan. The cost of this home will run between $4,500 and $5,800, depending on the interior. To be able to obtain a loan to build a home a person must have a lot, clear and twenty per cent of the cost of the house in cash. Assuming that you wanted to build this house at a cost of $4,500, all you would have to have is $900 (twenty per cent of the cost) and a lot to obtain a loan. This loan based on a twenty year period would cost you $206.75 a month. This monthly payment is computed in the following manner: the cost is $6,000 to which is added $9.85 for commission and insurance, which makes a total of $7,438 per month per thousand three $6 ($8,600, the amount of the loan), which gives us the monthly payment of $206.75. This monthly payment is substantially lower than rent for the same type house and should be of interest to many in this locality.

In the next article which will appear in the Barrington Review on March 12, we will go into the subject of correct construction and its relation to what people demand in their homes. This is information everyone should know. The writer will be glad to answer any questions and give all possible help to those interested in building.

G. Kuhlman Injured Wednesday When He Is Caught in Lift

G. Kuhlman of 207 S. Cook street, who is employed by Westinghouse Electric company in Chicago, was injured Wednesday afternoon when he was caught in an automobile-mechanic lift. He was rushed to St. Luke's hospital immediately by ambulance and given medical attention.

Mr. Kuhlman was working about the lift and had just stepped on it when the machine started moving upward, catching his body in the framework. He received lacerations about the chin and side of his face and it is possible several of his ribs were broken also. X-ray pictures are to be taken today to determine the extent of his injuries.

Fortunately the elevator operator heard or saw Mr. Kuhlman in time to cut the electric power and stop the lift, thus saving him from being crushed.

Mr. Kuhlman and her daughter, Bernice, hurried to Chicago after being notified of the accident but returned home Wednesday night.

Buick Adds New Model to Higher Priced Car Line

Addition of a new model to its higher priced series 90-titled group of motor cars has been announced by the Buick motor company.

Long a leader in the upper medium price field, in which it has a large exclusive clientele, the company has consistently maintained a wide selection of models for this group of buyers.

The new model is a formal sedan, combining the qualities of the limousine and the standard six passenger sedan of the series 90 limited group. New bodies by Fisher are featured by a safety plate glass partition separating the driving and rear compartments. This can be raised or lowered by means of a handle installed in the back of the front seat. The car thus may be converted into a full limousine or used as a less formal sedan when not chauffeur driven.

Dimensions of the new car provide two inches more leg room than the limousine type of body with three inches more space between the back of the front seat and the wheel. It is designed to accommodate six passengers when used as a sedan, space for three passengers being available in both front and rear compartments.

Instead of a huddle bar, as in the limousine model, the plate glass partition rises flush with the heading. To conform to sedan specifications, upholstery is the same in both front and rear compartments. In Buick limousine bodies, front compartments are upholstered in leather—only.

Barrington Review Displays Old Press in Office Window

Persons passing the Barrington Review office may have wondered why the old hand operated printing press was in the window. The press, a Kelsey model built in 1873, was used by the late Miss T. Lamey, first local editor of the Barrington Review, when he started doing job printing about the time he became the local newspaper editor.

The old piece of machinery was found by Cornelius C. Snyder, nephew of Mr. Lamey. Mr. Snyder gave the press to the Barrington Review.

Several essential pieces are missing from the machine and it has rusted after lying idle for many years, but an oil bath has loosened the mechanism so that it can be operated.

Calvin Miller Taken to Elgin Hospital Monday for Emergency Operation

Calvin Miller, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, 107 E. Station street, was rushed to the Sherman hospital in Elgin Monday morning for an emergency operation. He was operated on for appendicitis and other internal ailment.

He became ill Friday but seemed to improve until early Monday morning when his condition grew worse. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

He is reported as improving rapidly after the operation but will be confined to his bed for several weeks.

TELEPHONE, BARRINGTON NO. 1

FARMERS AND TOWNSEND PLAN

One of the arguments advanced by supporters of the Townsend pension plan is that it would bring about a distribution of wealth.

The national industrial conference board, in a study made public this week, agrees, but points out that it would be a "drastic" redistribution of the national income at the expense of millions of wage earners, salaried employees, farmers and owners of small businesses.

Taxes required under the Townsend plan, the board found, would amount to nearly half the total national income. It was further reported that the cost would be more than half of all wages and salaries, eight times as much as all dividends and more than three times the gross cash income from all farms.

Farmers would suffer, it was declared. The proposed two per cent transaction tax on gross agricultural income would take away a considerable share of profit from the small number of farmers who have net incomes and force others to reduce their standard of living, the board said.

Other findings were:

Under the Townsend plan corporations would be forced to pass the two per cent transaction tax to the consumer in higher prices or go out of business. Even in 1929 most corporations had no net income or net income was less than two per cent of the gross.

Wage earners and salaried employees would suffer a lower standard of living because their purchasing power would decline due to higher living costs, and two per cent of their earnings would be regularly taken away by the tax.

The adoption of the Townsend plan would cause a collapse of prices of all fixed income-bearing securities, and would make it impossible for the government to obtain loans at a reasonable rate of interest.

The Townsend plan would cause wholesale bankruptcies of real estate concerns, and destruction of capital on which the security of urban real estate mortgages depends, which in turn serve as a backing for life insurance policies, bank deposits and other forms of savings.

The total cost of government would increase to about $40,000,000,000. The necessary sums would have to be obtained in the end by means of general inflation of prices and depreciation of the value of money.—Chariton, Iowa Herald-Examiner.

NEW COLLEGE SPIRIT

The "college graduate" is not the man he was in days past when that title was something of the nature of a patent of social as well as intellectual nobility. Even that class, as a class, is seeing to it that its sons are not going the way their sires did. Consequently, as Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie corporation, says in his annual report to the trustees, the "outlook is more hopeful," with educators keeping pace with the changes.

President Keppel notes that college presidents today are being chosen by trustees "more for what may be called their educational imagination than for any hoped-for capacity to raise large funds." This is good news. Colleges have to have endowments, it is true, but the head of a great educational institution needs other qualities than those of a taxpayer.

In the student himself, Dr. Keppel sees a changed viewpoint. "The new generation is wider-ranging in its interests," he says, "has a refreshing sense of reality and a growing appreciation of the nature of its four-year investment." There is a "profound dislocation in accustomed thought and action" as a symptom of the last few years. A leaven is working in the American college, Dr. Keppel observes, with satisfaction.—St. Petersburg, Fla. Times.

PAYING HIGH FOR WAR

The administration at Washington estimates that the American government, to date, has spent $7,800,000,000 on its World War veterans. The new bonus will add substantially more than $2,000,000,000 to that. And if pensions ever come, the figures will become astronomical.

But it is too late for us to start weeping about it now. The time to have worried about all this expense was in the spring of 1917, when our participation in the World War was still ahead of us.

The lads who went to fight the Germans for us in 1917 and 1918 didn't invent the pensions-and-bonus system; neither, it should be added, were they the ones who thought up the idea of drawing cards in the World War.

In other words, this colossal expense that goes dragging on and on long after war's dead bones have been laid to rest—it just comes with the bicycle. Declare war, and this is what you get.

And if we don't like it, there is one fool-proof way to avoid it; by staying out of war.—Bruce Catton in Belleville, Ill. Daily Advocate.

Of course, if John Bull gets into a war with arms, we will expect King Edward to issue a famous call to arms, something like this: "England expects every American to do his duty."

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Its shackles loosed, the Tennessee Valley Authority moves forward rapidly to sell its electricity "jurisdiction" rates to the 27 additional communities which have voted to buy it and resell to the citizens.

Loosening of the shackles comes with a supreme court decision, in which, by an 8-to-1 verdict, the court upholds the TVA's right to sell power produced from Wilson Dam and, by implication, from other dams constructed for war or navigation purposes. Mass celebration in the TVA area acclaim the verdict.

Utility interests had sought to prevent the TVA from purchasing transmission lines and thus from selling its power in competition with private firms. Their plea: "It is the entering wedge of socialism."

The scope of the decision? Utility interests point out that it refers only to one contract relating to one dam.

Senator George W. Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska, "father of the TVA," replied: "The men who say this decision does not apply to any part of the Tennessee river except that part controlled by the Wilson dam is simply willing to keep up his courage."

A split in the American labor movement moves nearer as the American Federation of Labor polices all national unions that adhere to the committee for industrial organization will not be tolerated. The committee repels it will not yield.

The penalty which the federation may exact is cancellation of charters. The answer from unions that expelled would be formation of a new association with other industrial unions outside the federation.

Two large unions are already in open rebellion, one, the United Mine workers, having authorized its officers to withdraw and a second, the Radio Workers, having refused to accept the federation's assignment of it to the craft union of electrical workers.

Compromise carried the day before the determination to keep America out of war at any cost and the hope of making money from war demands when hostilities arise abroad.

The compromise is effected by a resolution approved by both houses of congress and sent to May 1, 1937, the present neutrality law with its amendments.

The amendments prohibit extension of loans and credit to belligerents and exempt from operation of the law all Latin American countries if fighting against non-American powers.

Wholesome Sweetness

by HILDA RICHMOND

A young matron overheard a group discussing a new neighbor of hers—a mother of four children. She was spoken of as a successful wife and mother, and one of the group said that her home was "permeated by an atmosphere of wholesome sweetness."

Just what that meant the listener determined to find out, for she herself had two little ones, and she hoped that she might learn something worthwhile.

Imagine her consternation when she discovered, or thought she discovered, that her neighbor was a firm and unyielding along certain lines and not at all her idea of a sweet and loving parent. This mother, she found, required definite things of her children and held them rigidly to their duty tasks. Sometimes these tasks were not easy. The outlook had always been very tender with her own babies, helping them when there was something hard for them to do, sometimes even doing it for them, fearing they might get too tired or learn to dislike work.

A little further observation, however, showed that this neighbor's children loved doing difficult things and coveted the praise that came from Mother when they did them well. They might want to do something else instead of putting their play objects in order, but the mother's look of approval and her words of praise repaid them for sticking to the task. In fact, she heard them refuse the aid of a dolling aunt who wanted to lend a hand, one of them saying, "We like to do it all our selves."

"And now I know what 'wholesome sweetness' is," said the onlooker. "It is exactly the opposite of that 'wicky sweetness' that results in coddling and pampering."

"I'm glad you've found that out, Helen," said her husband. "You used to wait on the youngsters much more than I thought you should, and you seemed to feel like a criminal when you had to discipline them in the slightest way. Now you are sweeter than ever with them, but you are sensible and firm and strong. The children behave better and are happier."

"Look," said the delighted young mother with a finger on her lips pointing to the busy little workers in the sunny alcove that served for a playroom.

"There!" At last said the son and heir, with legs spread wide apart, viewing a box of paper scraps as had collected from the day rug. "That was an awful hard job but I did it all myself!"

"Mine all myself," echoed his chubby sister.

"Mother will be glad," said the boy.

"I wonder what I was thinking of when I was always encouraging the children to want me to do things for them, instead of teaching them to want to do things for themselves," mused the wife and mother.

Children need to be able to face hard things and now is the time for them to learn how. And they enjoy learning. Yes, at last I know what 'wholesome sweetness' is in the home means.

Girl Scout Notes

Troop II attended the regular meeting of the Woman's club Wednesday afternoon and presented their inviolate ceremony. The Woman's club sponsors girl scouting in this community and many members expressed pleasure at seeing the work.

Troop III report having about half of a regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. Nine members and Miss Grace Wankle, captain, talked to the cabin and found through some irregularity, they were locked out. After every effort had been made to locate a key they "called it a day"—a girl scout is cheerful: scout law No. 8.

There will be a regular monthly meeting of the local council in Miss Miller's room at the public school Monday afternoon, Mar. 2 at 3:30 o'clock.

Seven other small units, Wauconda, McHenry, Huntley, Zurich are in the vicinity with the Brown group McHenry. Help appear the chief of the BHS team.

McHenry has won six games this season. Huntley has won four games in the conference which includes Wauconda, McHenry, Huntley and Zurich.

Not much is known of Huntley and Capron; neither is a very clear idea of the Northwest conference. It is in fifth place in this.

To night the BHS defeated Elia (which the 15 last night), they met McHenry in the BHS vs. Barrington game. A win here would mean BHS vs. Barrington.

Any of these prospects are capable of becoming champions. The BHS has a very good record, rate even more through successfully.

Broncho Cagers Face Ela in First District Tournament Test Tonight

Two Teams Are to Meet in Wauconda High School Gym

Tourney Finals on Saturday Night; See Chance for Broncho Win

A determined band of Barrington high school basketball players will make their first, but it is hoped not last, start in the state district cager tourney, when they clash with Ela high of Lake Zurich in the first round game at 8:30 p. m. tonight, in the Wauconda high school gym.

The Bronchos are "determined" because a change in the usual procedure of running the state prep meet given the local quintet a good chance of coping the district title.

Heretofore large schools such as Elgin, Dundee, Crystal Lake, etc., competed in the same district as the local high school. This year in an effort to give weaker teams a better chance, an extra tournament was added. Smaller teams first meet in a district tourney, the winner and runner-up advancing to the regional. Larger teams are automatically put in the regional of which winner and runner-up qualify for the sectional. Sectional champs go to Champaign for the state finals.

Mellory, Hebron Strong

Seven other small schools—Palatine, Wauconda, Hebron, Capron, Mellory, Huntley and Ela (Lake Zurich) are in the Wauconda district with the Bronchos. Of this group Mellory, Hebron and Ela appear the chief threats to the BHS team.

Mellory has won nine and lost six games this season, beating Huntley twice and taking one out of three games from Hebron. Hebron has won one and lost four games in the North Five conference which includes Crystal Lake, Woodstock, and Harvard. Hebron has defeated Mellory twice.

Not much is known about Huntley and Capron but apparently neither has a very strong team. Palatine and Wauconda are much near the bottom in the Northwest conference standing. Ela is in fifth place, the Bronchos in third.

It tonight the Bronchos can again defeat Ela (whom they beat 22 to 15 last week), they will probably meet Mellory in the semi-finals. Friday A win here would put them in finals, Saturday, likely with Hebron.

Any of these prospective opponents are capable of bumping the Bronchos from the tourney should the BHS five have an off night. However the Bronchos, on season record, rate even money to come through successfully.

District tourney schedule at Wauconda as follows: All sessions start at 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday, Feb. 26
1. Palatine vs. Wauconda.
2. Hebron vs. Capron.

Thursday, Feb. 27
3. Mellory vs. Huntley.
4. Ela vs. Barrington.

Saturday, Feb. 29

Church Tourney Begins; St. Paul, Methodists Win

The fourth annual church league basketball tournament got underway Monday night, St. Paul and the Methodists winning from St. Anne and Salem, respectively, to stay in the race for the championship. The losers, Monday, dropped to the consolation round.

St. Paul, winner of all three previous tourneys, showed that it must again be considered a major threat by easily downing St. Anne, 20 to 16. Led by the bulky Mollenkamp who poured in five baskets, the St. Paul quintet for the second week displayed vastly improved form over its early season showing.

The Methodists, league champs over the regular schedule, just mowed out Salem, 24 to 23, in a keenly contested tilt. Salem led 8-4 at the quarter, the Methodists going ahead 13-12 at the half, and the score being knotted 19 all at showing.

Bronchos Defeat Ela for Eighth Conference Win

Score is 22 to 15; Ponies Come Through With 28 to 14 Triumph

Barrington high school's fast-traveling Bronchos chalked up their eighth Northwest conference basketball victory in ten starts, by defeating an outbaited but not outbought Ela team, 22 to 15, on the loser's floor Friday night. Thus the Bronkos held onto third place in the heavyweight division.

Keeping dangerously close all through the contest, Ela gave the local heavyweights a scare in the final period. With the score 16-11 in favor of Barrington and six minutes to play, Boggs and Ransom of Ela slipped in baskets to narrow the margin to 18-15.

A follow-up by Anderson broke the tally, and a free throw by Haeger, Klopferstein's shot, and Grabenkort's free throw brought the final score to 22-15.

A Home is a Progressive Thing

THERE is little difference in spirit between the pioneer chopping timber for his new home in the wilderness and the modern couple scanning "Lots for Sale" ads, or consulting with architects.

After a home is established, it may grow and develop with the progressive fortunes of the family it shelters.

When the first baby is born, a family must move to larger quarters. "We'd like to get out of the apartment on account of the baby," they say. Step by step they go on planning and adding improvements to their home.

But—the modern family has a new and unique advantage born with modern times and the adversity of the depression years. While saws and hammers were idle, the creative minds of home-builders and home-makers have been intensely active.

There are new ideas of home design that start from the inside of the home where people eat, live, sleep and play. There are new building materials, new furnishings, better lighting, insulation, automatic gas heating, air cooling, cleaning and humidification, refrigeration and so on through a vast range of equipment that contributes to health, leisure and comfort of the family.

For instance, families who have installed gas heat, and there are thousands of them in the Chicagoland area, have brought a new comfort and convenience to their homes which would have been almost unbelievable a few years ago.

Now, more than ever before, a home can be shaped to embrace the family's changing needs. The wide range and flexibility of the new art of home building let you add step by step according to your own plans made in advance. Your new home can start from small beginnings and you can have the fun of planning it and watching it grow.

Fresh air, pleasant neighbors, community life, the color of growing things seen through the window are all of a substance with HOME, and must be considered as one of the first steps in home planning.

ing the city. This diversified area offers an almost unlimited selection for home requirements, close to the "good earth" but plentifully provided with modern comforts and excellent transportation.

If you are contemplating a home in the attractive residential area served by this Company, give us a chance to help you in planning for your electric or gas service requirements. We can also give you preliminary estimates—perhaps helpful ideas—on other features of modern homes: automatic gas heating—insulation—air conditioning—modern kitchens—modern laundries and basement recreation rooms—latest lighting and wiring improvements and other conveniences that increase the comfort of living. We will be glad to consult with you, your architect or your contractor. Inquire at any of our offices, or write—

Libertyville Wins N. W. Conference Basketball Title

Libertyville high won the undisputed Northwest conference basketball title when the Wildcats defeated Arlington Heights, 41 to 16, on the lower court Friday night.

The big, powerful Wildcats won all 11 regular scheduled games and also topped the conference tournament four weeks ago.

In winning both titles, Libertyville has established a record since the Wildcats are the first team in the history of the conference to win both the tournament and season championships in the same year.

Libertyville's mainstays have been Del Jaeger, George Madden, Howie Isaacson and Jimmy More. The Wildcats are accorded a fine chance of winning the Wisconsin regional of the state prep cage tourney next week.

As champions Libertyville succeeds Barrington and Palatine who tied for the title last season.

Paul Pohlman's Auto Damaged When Another Skids on Main Street

An automobile owned by Paul Pohlman was damaged Monday morning while parked in front of Hagenbush's store by a motor vehicle driven by George Schurers, Chicago interior decorator, which skidded on the icy street and bumped into it.

Mr. Schurers was on a trip to the B. Majowski estate and suddenly applied his brakes while opposite the Pohlman machine. The slippery surface of the street caused the machine to skid around into the side of the other.

The impact of the collision damaged the doors and fenders of Mr. Pohlman's car.
