

"A Night at the Opera" Featured at Catlow Theatre

"Riffraff" With Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy Is Closing Tonight

Jean Harlow, Hollywood's "Blonde Bombshell," has tossed a bomb into the ranks of the picture industry. In her new picture, "Riffraff," she appears as a brunette with soft, silky brown hair, which betrays her to the screen as a vivid, sparkling personality.

Spencer Tracy appears with Miss Harlow in a story of stormy romance on the waterfront. The picture is closing at the Catlow tonight.

Trapped in a house of death, Warner Oland weaves the white web over set to catch a murderer in his new starring Fox picture, "Charlie Chan's Secret," coming Friday at the Catlow theatre.

With thirteen suspects to combat and each a threat of death to himself, Chan coolly and carefully traps the murderer of a young heir he has trailed half way round the world.

A grand-new, brand-new love team! Together they'll thrill you, charm you, win you, in a glorious new romantic comedy, "If You Could Only Cook," which comes to the Catlow Saturday. Columbia has brought Herbert Marshall and Jean Arthur together, to make one of the sweetest combinations of screen lovers you ever did see!

He wants a job as a maid, so he becomes a butler just to be near her. In fact, he gets so near that he falls in love with her—much to the amusement of the society gal he is supposed to marry.

Leo Carillo heads the supporting cast of this rollicking romance.

A laugh-a-second by stop watch timing, the funniest Marx Brothers comedy of them all, "A Night at the Opera" comes to the Catlow theatre Sunday and Monday.

Grand opera, grand gags are combined in hilarious situations in follows funnybone tickler in a constant stream of laughs, sandwiched between the singing of three Broadway favorites, Kitty Carlisle, Allan Jones and Walter King.

"East of Java," the film in which Charles Bickford, the "he-man" star, was nearly killed by a ferocious lion and was at death's door for days, is coming to the Catlow theatre Tuesday.

Actual jungle scenes, treachery, bitter-sweet romance and real animal fights, man against wild beast, that made front page news all over the land when Bickford was clawed and bitten in the throat by a 400-pound lion, during production! This is "East of Java."

Bickford plays the role of a lost American gangster, who escapes British East Africa on a wild animal cargo schooner. A typhoon sinks the ship and strands the crew on a desert island.

Supporting Bickford in "East of Java" are Elizabeth Young, Frank Albertson, Leslie Fenton, Clarence Muse and others.

started a tea room and gift shop. She selects pottery at San Antonio, later establishing a pottery herself and putting a foreigner in charge, always paying natives a reasonable price for their work. She buys a 30-room hotel and becomes a political factor, being in constant contact with various political groups.

Four years of revolution are described, changes of governors, wars, cruelties of one side equaling those of the other. One of her friends is found to be a spy and instrumental in destroying the railway connecting Cuernavaca with the outside world.

No food comes in from June to August and the desperate people daily march to the next city, losing many lives on the way and enduring hardship, warfare, starvation. All is described most vividly.

Throughout, one feels the author's sensitiveness of perception, her strong character, her ability to face hardship. Among the interesting quotations Mrs. Dotterer read was the following one: "Men seeking liberty are like men seeking God. They are all sure everyone else is wrong."

Dramatic Club Is Busily Rehearsing for Annual Play

The Dramatic club of Barrington high school will present "Big Hearted Herbert" in the school auditorium on March 13 and 14 at 8 o'clock, as its annual major production.

This three-act comedy, directed by Miss Ebel Schwab, portrays some of the problems of a typical American family.

The plot emphasizes the difficulties of parents who feel they have something to say in directing the destinies of their offspring. But just as naturally the offspring have their own ideas that more of them than clash with the ideas of their parents. Thus the dominating and successful Herbert Kalesen finds himself tossed in the domestic battle.

How his wife, who takes the children's side of the argument, puts one over on him and leaves him speechless in his defeat with her delightful wiles provides the play with boundless humor.

Schedule Motion Pictures for Two Nights at School

"Open-House" Planned With Program Tonight and Friday

Persons interested in education will have the opportunity of witnessing class room procedure as it is conducted in the Barrington public school at showings of motion pictures taken at school recently to be presented at the school auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings, March 5 and 6. The movie will be run two nights starting at 8 o'clock each night. Last year the movie was shown only one night and the school was too large to handle satisfactorily. E. S. Smith, superintendent of schools, reported. For this reason, he has asked those persons whose names fall in the alphabetical order from A through J inclusive to make an effort to come Thursday night and the remainder of the alphabetical order the following night. This is not a mandatory request but has been made in the hope of insuring each person a good seat. Mr. Smith stated:

"Open house" will be held in all the rooms both evenings and after the program, teachers will be in their respective class rooms and students will act as ushers to escort visitors around the building. A complete program from kindergarten classes up through high school with pictures of the various groups participating in different extra-curricular work has been taken. In addition to the school pictures, there will be features in sound and color on other topics. Some of the pictures were shown by the Bell-Howell company at the National Educators annual meeting in St. Louis, Mo. this week and Superintendent Smith had an opportunity to see some of them. He reported that he is highly gratified with the results.

have adopted the change in this. Commuters and farmers are the groups most seriously affected by the change. Several persons using the trains daily have forcibly expressed their opinions against the time switch. Some of the commuters have said: "It's an outrage!" "A nuisance, created to benefit a few!" "The reason for it still isn't apparent!"

According to dairy farmers their inconvenience will come in buying and harvesting time. They say they are forced to go to work earlier to make milk deliveries and will lose additional time waiting for the bus to take the dew of the fields.

Favorable comment has been heard on health benefits that might be derived by children. The extra hour of sunlight after school has been pointed out as an advantage.

Erman S. Smith Attends Important Educators' Meeting

E. S. Smith, superintendent of public schools, returned from St. Louis, Mo., this week after having spent a week attending the National Educators annual meeting.

Mr. Smith reported that the sessions were highly interesting, many points having been brought out concerning the educational field which had not been fully expressed previously.

One point emphasized was the need of change in school curricula from the requirements demanded by universities, many requirements having been altered recently. Mr. Smith stated that he is of the opinion that numerous changes will be made soon in the line of subjects to be taught. Curriculum changes would be applicable to Barrington High as well as other places, he reported.

He also related interesting points on a discussion concerning the advisability of teaching controversial subjects. As yet topics of current political nature are not stressed in high schools, but Mr. Smith believes the modern trend will be to add high school courses that will cover important phases of economic and social welfare as they are being developed.

Six hundred speakers addressed various meetings, covering the educational program. Mr. Smith reported, adding that more than 10,000 members were present and an increase of educators from this section of the country was noted.

Time Change Is Topic of Divided Public Sentiment

Merits and Shortcomings Are Reported After Change Made Sunday

Sentiment against the time change made necessary here when Chicago adopted eastern standard time has been in marked evidence since Sunday, beginning of the advanced hour period. Although there has been little confusion from the change, any local support for permanent Eastern time has been cooler than lukewarm. The Chicago and North Western railroad is operating trains on central standard time but has revised the schedule and moved up suburban train service one hour with through trains running as they did formerly.

TAX PUBLIC BUSINESS

"When government goes into private business it is subject to taxation," says the San Francisco Chronicle.

"That is the effect of the decision of the United States supreme court holding that states have the power to tax bank stocks owned by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation."

"The Maryland bank case before the court raised the question of the power of a state to tax a federal agency. That was all that was expressly decided. But the inescapable logic of the decision is that state business enterprises cannot escape federal taxation."

If the Chronicle interprets the recent decision correctly, everyone interested in sound government and sound finance will have cause for jubilation. Tax freedom for municipal and state business enterprises has been made into a virtual racket. An excellent example of that is provided by such ventures as municipal electric plants.

In no sense are these plants a basic government function, benefiting all the people. They serve only the users of power; they are an industrial, not a governmental service, and they are in business to make a profit. They are a commercial activity, pure and simple, and, on logical grounds, have no more right to tax freedom than has a private electric company. But every attempt yet made to force these plants to pay taxes on the basis of their private competition has been fought tooth and nail by municipal ownership advocates—who have invariably claimed such taxation would be illegal.

Taxation of government business enterprises would bring millions into the public treasury. It would do away with a most unfair and inequitable condition. And, at the same time, it would give the people a better idea of whether or not a government business can operate more cheaply and efficiently than a private business, if both must compete on the same terms.

STICK TO YOUR LAST

Agricultural cooperation is an indefinite term. But basically it means the selling of farm products through farmer-owned and controlled central organizations. This is sound cooperation, based on definite business principles of proven worth, that can do a great deal for farm prosperity and stability.

But where it is distorted to tempt farmers into fields which are in no way connected with farming, Old Man Trouble has things his own way. Failure—expensive, often ruinous failure—is usually the result. And the unhappy example of such a failure endangers the whole farm cooperative movement, the true purpose of which is to improve farm production and sales methods.

"Stick to your last" applies to industrialists, shopkeepers, farmers and everyone else, as well as the shoemaker. Experiments in somebody else's business are almost inevitably a short cut to bankruptcy.

FEAR AND INTELLIGENCE RETARD HUMAN RACE

Everywhere, up and down Europe, the fighting men and the fighting machines are gathering. And for what—if not because every nation is deathly afraid of every other?

It is a tragic commentary on this generation's inability to come to grips with its fundamental problems. In all these warlike countries the basic difficulty is the same—unemployment, stagnant business, the baffling complexities of a society which has learned how to multiply the production of goods, but has hardly begun to learn how to distribute them among its people.

As long as fear rules, the powers must pile up great armies, hold maneuvers on a scale only less expensive than war itself, fill the sky with grimly droning air squadrons, and get the costly gray warships afloat on the seas.

The money, the energy and the devotion that might go to make life easier for millions of people must instead be spent to prepare for death and destruction.

Here is man, arrived at last at the point where every human being in the world could be provided food and shelter and all the comforts and luxuries of modern civilization, with a minimum of properly apportioned labor. He possesses the machinery, every factor necessary to that long visioned goal—except the intelligence to properly use them.—Graphic, Lake Mills, Iowa.

EDITORIAL SHORTS

By the time some folks learn to write 1936 instead of 1935, it will be pretty near time to write 1937.

The boys who fear leap year proposals can probably avoid them by hanging onto their money a little tighter.

Among those who disapprove of the alphabetical agencies might be included Junior, who is not fully convinced of the value of the A. B. C.

The girls of Iowa are urged to develop a perfect figure. Many of them will say that somewhere around $1,000,000 is the figure that would seem nearly enough perfect to suit them.

Someone wants to know how the custom of handshaking originated. Well, probably Adam discovered that the votes of Eve, Cain and Abel weren't enough to land him in office, so he would have to get out and shake the horny paws of Tom, Dick and Harry.

WHAT'S ## GOING ON

(Courtesy The United States News)

How soon, if at all, will Uncle Sam own all the railroads? And why?

That question is canvassed in house committee hearings on a bill which would permit railroads to charge lower freight rates for long hauls than for the sum of the shorter intermediate hauls. The purpose is to allow them to compete with ships serving the two ends of each long-haul route.

Transportation Coordinator Joseph B. Eastman, opposing the measure, is charged by Rep. Samuel H. Pottenger (Dem.) of Indiana with seeking to keep the railroads weak so as to hasten government ownership. The roads are now, Mr. Pottenger asserts, being driven rapidly into receivership.

Shipping interests vigorously oppose the bill. Supporting their view, Rep. Schuyler O. Bland (Dem.), of Virginia, asserts that the bill will itself bring on government ownership, since its effect will be to raise transportation rates and their increase in turn will create popular demand for federal acquisition.

The regular budget for 1937 must be balanced, says the president.

The "regular" budget is that part of the budget which does not contain emergency expenditures. For the huge relief bill, no offsetting revenues are provided.

Two events have thrown the regular budget out of balance. First, the invasion of this country by taxes by the supreme court's A.A.A. decision; second, the passage of the Soldier Bonus measure.

The remedy, as demanded by the president: imposition of taxes to bring 1120 million dollars, their form to be determined by congress.

Here are the purposes for which the new revenue is to be used:

For the farm program—$50 million dollars.
For the bonus—120 million dollars a year for nine years.
For farm benefits already paid—$50 million dollars, this to be in place of taxes lost when the A.A.A. taxes were invalidated.

May the American government build houses and rent them as part of a program of reemployment?

Preparatory to argument on that question before the bar of the supreme court, the public works administration and its op-

Problem Child

By TIRELLA DICK
Jeff Stevens cursed himself from the lunch table and chattered brisly upstairs. He was back in less than five minutes, with a scowl on his usually pleasant face.

"You said you'd have it ready for today," reproach and distress mingled in his tone.

"O, dear!" Mrs. Stevens' chagrin was sincere. "I certainly meant to, Son."

"Please do it this afternoon, Mom. It's awfully important. The state scoutmaster's going to be here, and I have to give signals. I'd lock nice, wouldn't I, in this thing?"

Mrs. Stevens hesitated. "There's a lecture I want to attend this afternoon. What time is your meeting, Jeff?"

His answer was almost drowned in an exclamation of dismay from Phyllis, his fourteen-year-old sister.

"You aren't going to be away this afternoon, are you, Mother? You promised to help me and take other girls with our costumes."

"I did promise for today especially!" Mrs. Stevens turned a troubled look toward her daughter.

"No," admitted Phyllis, "you said when we wanted to fix them, you'd help us. We've waited every day this week, but you've been away every single afternoon."

"How about tomorrow? It's Saturday, and we'd have more time."

"No," Phyllis' answer was almost a shout. "We have to do it tomorrow. O, Mother, you promised. The girls are depending on you."

"What about this?" Jeff waved his suit tragically before his mother's eyes. "What's so important about that old lecture anyhow?"

"This is the last of a series," answered his mother. "I've heard all the others, and I'd like to hear this one."

"What are they about?" Phyllis asked.

"The Problem Child," Mrs. Stevens was unprepared for the burst of merriment which greeted her words.

"Problem Child?" giggled Phyllis, pointing at her brother. "Have you learned how to make him wash his neck, yet, Mother?"

"No!" demanded her brother. "Me a problem? I guess not! It's your own self. I'm most willing to let my suit go without pressing if Mom can learn how to cure your silly ways."

Mrs. Stevens suppressed a smile with difficulty. "You're neither of you 'problem children,' thank goodness. You're just normal, ordinary ones."

"Well, then," Phyllis' tone showed genuine bewilderment. "Why are you both 'problem children'?"

"The lameness of her reply struck her at once. She was thoughtful for a moment.

"No, you're not 'problem children,'" she repeated, gazing from one bright face to the other.

Then, to herself, she added, "Very likely," and said at last, "Phyllis, bring the girls. We'll work on those costumes this afternoon."

"Where there wouldn't need to be so many lecture 'problem children' if mothers gave their children all the attention they should have," she thought as she waved "goodbye" to her happy-faced youngsters.

above December and only 1,025,000 less than at the beginning of 1935. The loss, while seasonal, is the equivalent to the entire year's earnings population of Ohio.

Comments the A.F. of L.: "Nothing less than tragic. It illustrates well the effect on employment of uncontrolled industrial operations."

Amushed at the moment of victory, a bill will be brought which would have relieved national banks from state taxation on that part of their stock owned by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. In some states the tax is passed on to the RFC.

The bill passes uneventfully through the senate and wins house approval on a standing vote, by 111 to 89.

Then its opponents, enemies of government securities, demand a roll call vote and its passage mustering of strength defeat the measure by 172 to 164.

Senator Charles McNary, who favored the measure, sending in an amendment to prevent banks from retiring rapidly their preferred stock and capital notes held by his credit emergency corporation. The supreme court has recently ruled the stock taxable in the absence of a law granting exemption.

Total stock held by the RFC in national banks: 460 million dollars.

The utility industry celebrates a setback to the government's plan for control over holding companies.

The setback comes with a decision in the circuit court of appeals at Charlotte, N. C., which, though not holding the public utility act of 1935 unconstitutional, will reduce its effectiveness to narrow proportions.

Receivers of the American Public Service company are told that this holding company, though controlling utilities in many states, is not interstate commerce, nor are these units in interstate commerce, since each one operates in one state only. Hence, says the court, the top company (and its units) need not register with the securities and exchange commission for the purposes of the act.

Marionette Play by School Children Pleases Audience

The marionette play "Hansel and Gretel" presented in the school auditorium by pupils of Miss Louise Laird's second and third grade pupils after-school marked the culmination of school work in reading, story telling, music and dancing in physical training classes.

The story itself was chosen by the children and dialogue was original, each child having been allowed to give his own interpretation of the character. Each child worked the marionettes and all took part in making puppets, dressing them or painting the scenes.

The play included three scenes with musical accompaniment to the action being songs from the opera "Hansel and Gretel." Mrs. Paul Clark assisted at the piano.

Pupils served as stage managers and able electricians. An enthusiastic audience applauded the successful presentation.

The cast was as follows:
Hansel, Irwin Popo; Gretel, Beth Olmsted; mother, Leone Lindberg; father, Ralph Gault; grandma, Benoit Smith; dwarf, Marilyn Gardner; angels, Joan Gieske, Helen Roberich, Annette Bolla, Frances Speck, Jean Rike, Betty McIntire, Betty Langlois; witch, Gloria McCarty; gingerbread children, Mary Gardner, Joan Robertson, Shirley Foreman, Virginia Taylor, Eloise Schaefer, Tommy Silvers, Jack Plock, Dale Wolhausen, Leslie Helbrecht, Jack Harris, Donald Brasel, Roy Klepper, Ralph Hronek.

Stage managers were Bob Berk, Charles E. Liden, Donald Brandt, Arthur Blidie, Bob Calkins.

The following served as electricians: Harold Schaefer, David Keeling, Walter Witte and Richard Wallace.

The fire scene was painted by Joan Robertson, forest scene by Mary Granger and magic castle by Harold Schaefer.

Completion of this work will entitle a girl scout to three badges, "home nursing," "first aid" and "child nurse," and many girls have no other way to train for them.
