

Baptist Defeats St. Paul 26 to 25 to Win Church Cage Tournament

Heitman Clinches Game With Basket in Final Seconds

Salem Takes Third by Beating Methodists, 26-22; End League Season

By scoring a thrilling 26 to 25 victory over the defending champs, St. Paul, the Baptists won the 1936 church league basketball tournament in the final game of the season at the high school gym, Monday night.

A tip-in basket in the final 15 seconds of play by center Al Heitman, who played stellar games for the winners, brought the Baptists their first church league title. He also marked the first time in the four-year's existence of the league that St. Paul failed to win the tourney.

The championship game was one of the best of the year from a spectator's viewpoint with a wild and woolly finish that saw both teams out on their feet.

With Heitman and Thorp popping the hoop, the Baptists took a 12 to 8 lead at the first quarter; St. Paul still led at the end of the third quarter, 24-19. Heitman's free throw tying the score with three minutes to play in the final period.

Heitman Comes Through M. Kuhlman made one out of two free tosses to put St. Paul ahead, 25-24. Then with less than a minute to play, Reece and Willie Altenburg missed short shots and the Baptists recovered, whipping the ball to Thorp who fouled as he attempted a long shot. Thorp missed the first free throw and also the second, but as the ball rolled off the hoop Heitman tipped it in for the winning points. Immediately after the next tipoff the game ended the game.

Heitman's accuracy from the foul line—he made six out of six—proved the winning margin as St. Paul out-scored the Baptists from the field, 42 to 10. He also counted three baskets to top the scoring with 12 points and Reece paced St. Paul with five field goals.

Salem Takes Third In the consolation game for third place, Salem defeated the Methodists, 26 to 22, thus getting revenge for three previous defeats by the M.E. two of them by a single point.

Libertyville Host This Week-End to Sectional Meet

Libertyville is host this week-end to an Illinois high school sectional basketball tournament in the spacious Wildcat gym. This is the first time a Northwest conference school has been honored as the site of a state sectional meet.

The pick of teams in this vicinity, as determined by the regionalists last week, are competing as follows at Libertyville: Wednesday—Batavia vs. Woodstock; Thursday—Frivolve (Maywood) vs. Harvard; Wauegan vs. Kelyvn (Chicago). Friday—Winshaw in the Journal of the British Society for the Preservation of the Fama of the Empire, the quagga grazed the South African veldt in 1805. Unhappily, it was scarcely known before it began to vanish.

Many Uses for many uses. They furnish fruit known as Indian figs. Some cactus plant pulps of the texture of molasses are made into preserves like orange or citron peel and sold or made into candy. From other cacti drugs used medicinally, or deadly poisons, are extracted. The lophophorus yields glyce that temporarily turns the addicts into irresponsible madmen. Some stony cactaceous structures serve as food, timber for mines, or even as material for food to living plants set thickly for impenetrable fence—Los Angeles Times.

French Frigate Shoal French Frigate Shoal is named for a rock island 60 yards long, 20 yards wide and 122 feet high. From a distance it resembles a frigate under sail.

An Old Belief If a cock crows at a certain hour for two or three nights in succession it is a sign of early death.

Says Quagga is Extinct? Creature Once Plentiful

Beyond all doubt the quagga is utterly extinct, in the opinion of Dr. Graham Renshaw, British naturalist. This beautiful South African creature resembled in proportions a pony, with rufous brown body and changing to fulvous posteriorly. Its head was striped with brown in zebra fashion. Its neck was banded with broad stripes which continued along the body to the hanches, where they broke up into vague lines and spots. The legs and tail were white.

Only 10 in all were ever transported alive to Europe and two of these harnessed to a smart equipage in London attracted much attention in the middle of the seventeenth century.

In its day, writes Doctor Renshaw in the Journal of the British Society for the Preservation of the Fama of the Empire, the quagga grazed the South African veldt in almost unbelievable numbers. Unhappily, it was scarcely known before it began to vanish. Thomas Pringle, the South African poet and a friend of Sir Walter Scott, mentioned in 1820 that the quaggas and hartbeests had almost totally disappeared from the pastures of Albany which they had formerly fattened with their numbers.

First Rules of Bavaria Prince Ludwig, the first ruler of Bavaria, came to the throne of this German state on June 7, 1886. Ludwig II and Otto I, sons of Maximilian, the former ruler, were declared insane, and Ludwig was given the regency. Ludwig had ruled under another regency, but upon his deposition committed suicide. During the long rule of Emperor Francis shared the common prosperity of Germany; but it was long before he forgot her traditional racial and religious antagonism toward Prussia. His feud in the German Confederacy lasted until Ludwig III became king on November 5, 1913, upon his father's death.
