2500 Are Present at Annual Meeting of Farmer Group

In considering the erection of plants to take care of the surplus milk, President John P. Culp of the association cautioned the members to proceed carefully, and that if milk processing plants are erected that they be established and conducted on a sound, financial and businesslike basis.

He, too, emphasized the need of keeping a proper price in comparison to the condensation price and prices existing in the fluid milk market. If the association holds out for too high a price in the face of competition, he declared that dealers buying from the association would be attracted to cheap milk offered by independent producers.

Recommending that every effort be made to unite all milk producer groups in the Chicago milk shed in an effort to stabilize the market, Don N. Geyer, head farmer of the association members who have cooperated with him for the past two years in his capacity as secretary-manager.

Strangely embarrassing the fact that during the last four years distributors buying from the association have operated in competition with too cheap milk sold by independent producers to independent producers might unite and form a common sales program with PMA that such exploitation of them by independent dealers could be stopped.

C. P. Deyenroth, executive secretary of the Milk Foundation, addressed the Pure Milk association women at their annual luncheon in the Guild Room of the Congress hotel. Mr. Deyenroth spoke of the nutritional qualities of milk and the value of its use as a food.

Eight directors were re-elected by the assembled delegates, seven of them for two year terms and one to fill out an unexpired one year term. The 12 directors are elected for two year terms, directors serving in the odd-numbered districts hold office one year, and the directors in the even-numbered districts the following year.

Those elected this year are: L. M. Malinoly, Clinton, Wis., dist. 2; E. E. Powell, Pleasant Prairie, Wis., dist. 4; Walter Wain, Richmond, Ill., dist. 6; E. H. Houghton, Shabbona, Ill., dist. 8; J. P. Chase, Naperville, Ill., dist. 10; G. H. Ekko, Grant Park, Ill., dist. 14; and G. L. Morgan, Weverton, Ind., dist. 16.

In addition, O. H. Wenzland, Middle Park, Ill., was elected director of district 9 to fill out the unexpired term in that district.

Legendary Power of Lough Neagh
According to an Irish tale, Lough Neagh fishermen have petrified legs, and when they want to sharpen their razors, they merely turn up their trousers and use their shins as hones. No other fish is found without firmly planting a stick in Lough Neagh and waiting to return in future years when, like the legs of the fishermen, it will have turned to stone.

Value of Cod Liver Oil

"Chrysler Airshow" Starts Tonight Over WBBM

Standard Motor Co., Chrysler and Plymouth dealers have invited the public of this village to attend the "Chrysler Airshow," which will make its first appearance on the radio this evening at eight o'clock Barrington time over station WBBM. For the convenience of those who wish to do so, Standard Motor will hold open hours this evening in the showroom where an excellent radio has been installed. In any event, P. C. Drover, local Chrysler dealer has urged that everyone tune in on this program for a brilliant and interesting half-hour entertainment.

"The Chrysler Airshow" is primarily a musical show but it has added features tonight in a brief, sparkling chat by Charles Hanson Towne on George Santana's new book, "The Last Puritan," one of the most discussed books of the day. Every Thursday evening, Mr. Towne will talk about either a book or a motion picture. He is one of America's foremost men of letters, with some 150 works both in prose and poetry to his credit.

The soloist for the Chrysler broadcast is Alexander Gray, the young American baritone, who has starred on stage and screen in "The Desert Song," "The Song of the Flame" and other light operas. This is a voice marked by beauty of tone, clarity of diction, youth, virility and real showmanship.

Mark Warnow's concert orchestra, augmented for this program by a galaxy of brilliant performers, is the musical backbone of the show. Warnow is noted for the beauty of his orchestral arrangements, and he ranks as one of the nation's leading directors and composers. Choral singing will be a strong feature of the half-hour. The Chrysler Eight, a double quartet of male voices, many of them of solo quality, will appear in songs particularly effective for masculine rendition. The Chrysler Six, an aggregation of charming young women singers, will harmonize in numbers written for feminine performance.

1936 IS HOME BUILDING YEAR

THE SMALL HOME OF POPULAR DEMAND — ITS CONSTRUCTION

... by ...
NORMAN T. MAXON, Architect

IN our last article the plan, design and financing of a new, low cost home of popular demand was discussed. In this article we will briefly describe the construction, but before going into that it is suggested that the plans and design of the above home be studied. Here we have one of the most popular of small home plans—cozy, simple and very convenient; a typical suburban design that will add charm to any neighborhood. Like the other design, there is an economy of space; every square foot is put to the maximum of efficiency. This house, because of its plan, will be easy to frame, thus lowering the construction costs. Note the kitchen and dining nook, the rear entry, the fine large living room and that cool, comfortable front porch, which can be screened in for summer living. Notice, too, the second floor and its practical arrangement.

Now, a few pointers on construction. Foundations are the most important part of a well built home. Eight inch solid concrete walls are the best. The old stone walls were okay but were too expensive. Concrete blocks were at one time popular but have given way to the more practical monolithic, poured wall. Good footings are very necessary. A footing ten inches deep and six inches wider than each side of the wall is ideal.

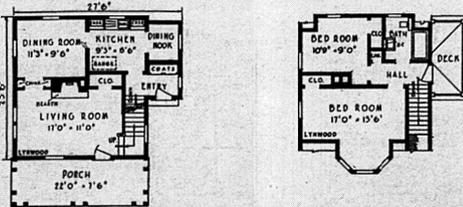

Good framing is next in importance. In the olden days they actually wasted lumber, but today's engineers have cut out all the waste, and only that which is required is used. It is not necessary to use three by twelve white pine joists as they did of old. Today we use two by ten yellow pine which is stronger. Even Douglas fir this size is far more practical than white pine. We have just as good lumber today as we ever had, but we use it more practically.

There is nothing that adds charm better than wide siding, either shingles or clapboards. Stucco is entirely satisfactory, if properly applied, but people have an idea (based on poor examples of application) that it cracks and gives trouble. However, a white painted, shingled house with its soft pleasing shades and shadows is ideal. As far as the roof is concerned, there is a greater demand for the composition shingle, owing to lower insurance rates, yet houses in this country one hundred to two hundred years old had nothing but wood shingles. Speaking of insurance rates, the most important thing in your home to consider, as far as fire prevention is concerned, is a well built chimney for furnace or fire place. By all means, see that the flues are at least eight by twelve inches and lined with terra cotta lining the whole length, and you will reduce fire risk to the minimum.

For interior plastering wood lath has given way to rock lath, which is better. We do not use the old style lime mortar for good plastering today, as specially prepared plastering comes already to use and is more satisfactory because of its uniformity.

As for interior trim, solid oak is out of question for the smaller home. In fact painted wood work allows us to use less expensive woods which are just as good. Even yellow pine can now be painted satisfactorily. White pine, however, more popular. Birch is a very good wood for the place mantels and book cases. As far as floors are concerned, there is nothing better than oak, either white or red. Maple is used for kitchens and bath rooms. Tile floors are not practical for low cost homes. The use of linoleum is very satisfactory and much cheaper than tile for bath rooms. As above mentioned, painted wood work is the thing today. Stain is used on stair rails and sometimes on window stools. There is nothing more charming than properly selected paper for the wall coverings of the living room, dining room, and bed rooms. Kitchens and bathrooms and closets are better painted.

In a coming issue of this paper we will present another modern design and plan of a low priced home, and will set forth major points of interest as far as the mechanical side of the home is concerned.

Mrs. John Prentice Tells Methods of Forcing Blooms

In pruning, there should be a normal balance between top and roots. Mrs. John Prentice told members of the Village Garden Club of Barrington at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Stanley Haffner, 607 Summit street, Monday afternoon.

Later Mrs. Prentice discussed methods of forcing branches to flower in artificial warmth and showed specimens of various types of branches in bloom—apple blossoms, pussy willows, etc. Pictures of trees and shrubs supplemented her talk.

Mrs. Houben Piaggio read plans for the Lincoln Memorial garden at Springfield, after which refreshments were served. Mrs. Walter Scavron and Mrs. Elzo Schmitt were assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Prentice was to have given her talk last month but the scheduled meeting for February was indefinitely postponed, then eliminated, because of severe weather.

Girl Scouts Are Celebrating 23rd Year of Founding

Birthday Parties Today Mark Rapid Growth of Movement in America

Today, March 12, the girl scout movement is 23 years old and has a membership 350,000 strong. Since the first troop was organized in 1912, the girl scouts have spread in every state in the union and all the territorial dependencies. They have become an established feature of the national life, as fully accepted if not as frequently found as the common drug store.

When one considers the history of the movement, two significant facts emerge. One is that the older it becomes the more rapidly it increases in numbers, and the second is that its period of greatest growth has always coincided with a national crisis. In 1922 the total membership was 200,000; now it is 76 per cent greater. During the period of America's participation in the World War, the girl scout membership increased over 50 per cent.

A national emergency, from the girl scout standpoint, is apparently an opportunity to prove the worth of the movement's basic principles and program.

Thousands of parties all through the country mark the birthday today. Since the fall of 1935, the Girl Scouts of the United States have held 11 girls to tea one spring afternoon in 1912 and started the first troop, keeping open house for their friends has been a girl scout tradition.

Being home girls at heart, the girl scout favorite role is that of hostess, and they know well how to play it. During 1935 alone 68,000 of them qualified as cooks and bakers—16,570 proved their ability to plan and prepare parties. Not only will the food at the thousands of parties on March 12 have a home flavor, but the entertainment, too. For despite their well-founded reputation as expert campers and hikers—46,570 proved their prowess in outdoor life—the girl scouts find time in the time to perfect themselves in the arts of singing, dancing and dramatics. A total of 15,496 won badges for proficiency in such subjects during 1935.

There are five key activities in the girl scout program, including homemaking. The other four are camping, woodcraft, and nature lore, health and first-aid, and community service. Every girl scout must be reasonably proficient in these, in order to progress from the rank of tenderfoot scout to first-class. Fifty-one proficiency tests suggest various fields of activity to perfect themselves in the arts of singing, dancing and dramatics. A total of 15,496 won badges for proficiency in such subjects during 1935.

Hersey in 1635

Roger Williams, founder of the Baptist Church in America, went on trial for heresy in Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1635 because he opposed persecution of Quakers. Four years before, Massachusetts had decreed that suffrage should be limited to church members. He was found guilty and banished, and the hanging of whipping of Quakers continued.

Twenty Years, Average Reign

A study of the lives of several hundred kings, emperors, czars and other monarchs who have ruled during the past 2000 years reveals that their average reign was 20 years, an astonishingly long period considering the fact that the majority lived in constant danger and about one third met violent deaths—Collier's Weekly.

Public Service Company's Model Home

RIGHT—Serving pantry and breakfast room.

A novel home building and modernization exhibit in which actual building conditions have been duplicated indoors, is now going on at the Public Service Company's Evanston store, 911 Church street.

"We are inviting people to see this exhibit," said J. W. Kehoe, division manager of the company, "because we believe they will find it a helpful and practical source of information on modern kitchen, basement recreation rooms, and other new features now available to the homemaker."

"Placing ourselves in the position of a family about to build a home, we called in a firm of local architects with instructions to design, arrange and equip the exhibit rooms according to the latest practical developments in the art of building."

"In place of conventional displays, the exhibit on the first floor consists of a modern kitchen, serving pantry and breakfast room, surrounded by regular walls of dimensions ordinarily found in a home. In addition, a section of the store's basement has been modernized in the same manner as the basement of a home would be treated."

"Not only have we built a realistic display of modern gas and electric equipment, but we have tried to show its flexibility. Whatever the home builder's budget, he will find that he can afford more modern conveniences than was thought possible even a few years ago. Modernization doesn't have to be done all at one time. New heat exchangers can be added step by step as the homemaker is able to afford them. We believe this fact is apparent throughout the exhibit," concluded Mr. Kehoe.

Reverse of Polygamy

Polyandry, the custom of a woman having more than one husband at a time, is a common one in very primitive societies. Caesar notes its existence in his day among the Picts and the Irish, and there are evidences that it existed among other Aryan stocks. A form of it existed in Hawaii when those islands were discovered by Europeans, and it has only lately disappeared from other Pacific islands and Celesia. It is still found in some tribes of northeastern Siberia, in the Aleutian islands, and in Africa among the Hottentots and some nomadic tribes of East Africa.

The Great Dismal Swamp

The Great Dismal swamp, a unique natural feature located near Portsmouth and Norfolk, is one of the attractive spots of Virginia. Since the 1700s it has been a pirates, highwaymen and runaway slaves, and later infested by moonshiners, the swamp has much of interest. One of its canals was dug by order of George Washington, who planned development of the area. It is a wild moorland, the home of deer and bears, and there is virgin timber still standing.

Turkey, "Ottoman Empire"

Turkey is known as the "Ottoman Empire."

"Yankee Doodle" Origin

In Doubt, Writer Asserts
The origin of "Yankee Doodle" is uncertain. As the result of an exhaustive study for the Library of Congress, Oscar F. G. Sonneck gives 16 claims, all of which seem to have some foundation, says the Indianapolis News.

(1) It was composed by a British officer of the Revolution. (2) The air had its origin in "Schwartz Tanx," a military march introduced by the Hessians. (3) The first part of the tune is identical with the "Danza Esparta," with origin in the Pyrenees. (4) The air is Hungarian. (5) The tune was introduced by German harvest laborers into Holland. (6) The air was composed as a march by the sea and drum major of the grenadier guards, about 1700. (7) The tune was set during the time of Cromwell to various ditties in ridicule of the Protector. (8) In the reign of Charles II it was sung as a nursery rhyme. (9) The air is the same as the New England air, "Lydia Fisher," a favorite long before the Revolution. (10) The earliest printed version of the air appeared in 1645. (11) "Collection of Dances for the Year 1750," under the title of "Fisher's Jig." (12) The air is identical with "Ritz Fisher's Jig," as printed in one of Thompson's country dance books in triple time. (13) "Yankee Doodle" is identical with an air from "Ulysses," an opera by J. C. Smith. (14) The air, "Did Little Dickey Ever Trick Ye?" in an opera composed by Arne about 1750 is the same. (15) Doctor Schuckburgh, wit and surgeon in the British army encamped in 1775 near Albany, N. Y., composed the tune and recommended it to the provincial officers as one of the celebrated airs of martial music. (16) Doctor Schuckburgh wrote "Yankee Doodle" verses to an old-fashioned jig. (17) The air is of Irish origin and is identical with "All the Way to Galway."

Credit for the words, as nearly as credit can be fixed, is given to Edward Bangs, a student of Harvard university. It is certain that soldiers with a turn toward doggerel, added many verses that have not been preserved.

Overcoming Faults

It is not so much being free from faults and imperfections as overcoming them that is an advantage to us; it being with follies and weaknesses and errors, as with the weeds of a field, which, if destroyed on the soil where they grow, enrich and improve it, more than if they had never sprung up there.

Nevada's Population

Nevada is the least-populated state in the Union. There are but 100,000 people in the state, which has an area of 110,000 square miles.

Pontiac Six Averages

26 Miles Per Gallon for 100 Hours in Test

A 1936 Pontiac Six recently averaged 26.28 miles per gallon or gas for 100 hours of continuous running at Independence, Kan., according to records submitted to C. P. Simpson, general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Co.

Regular grade gasoline were used exclusively and the gas tank was locked and sealed. One six-quart filling of oil was used with a shrinkage of only one-quart during the entire run. These facts were attested in an affidavit signed by the official observer of the run's gasoline and oil consumption.

"The Pontiac dealer at Independence employed this 100 hour economy run as a method of bringing proof to the people in the community of the facts about the Pontiac economy that our factory engineers prove time after time in the grueling tests that are to favoring success at the General Motors Proving grounds, Milford, Mich.," said Mr. Simpson.

Calow Theatre Bills Many Excellent Movies on Week's List

Merciless gamblers prove no match for the savage bravery of a girl fighting for the things she loves most in "Show Them No Mercy" which closes tonight at the Calow theatre. Produced under the supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck, the anti-triumph picture features Rochelle Hudson as its heroine, with Cesar Romero, Hugo Cabot and Edward Norris in the supporting cast.

When you make a picture depicting the life of the men who guard the seas for the Fox picture, "Navy Wife," which comes Friday, it requires Navy aid to keep everything shipshape. For that purpose the U. S. Navy sent commander H. R. Smith to the 20th Century-Fox studio during the production of the picture featuring Claire Trevor and Ralph Bellamy.

Against the glamour and excitement of Navy life, the picture tells the story of a staid and efficient officer of the powerful lord that grew out of a loveless match.

Those who enjoy a story bristling with action, character interest and a refreshing romance will find them in "We're Only Human," coming Saturday. Preston Foster, a big figure in "The Last Days of Pompeii," and Annie Oakley turn in another fine character interpretation in "Pete McCaffrey," a New York detective-sergeant, whose colorful encounters with a host of public enemies are portrayed with profound understanding and a typical Foster flair.

Warner Baxter and Alice Faye top the star cast of the brilliant new musical drama brought to the screen in "King of Burlesque," coming Sunday and Monday, which turns the spotlight on a fascinating new world of entertainment.

Featuring Warner Baxter, Alice Faye, Jack Oakie and Arline Judge, at the head of an all-star cast, the picture tells an absorbing love story of the people who make the nation's entertainment.

It follows Baxter's rise from the "flesh" shows of 14th street to the glittering palaces of Broadway to his decline under the spiritual control of his society wife, played by Mona Barrie.

Betty Davis is cast in the role of an actress who is haunted by a past in the picture "Dangerous" which plays at the Calow Theatre.

Miss Davis falls from the pinnacle of fame down to the gutter in a cycle of misfortune but is held back to success by Franchot Tone.

Nicolas Metoglen, who shares honors with Freddie Bartholomew as "Professional Soldier," which opens March 15, is the featured character, actor and soldier in his lifetime and something of a boer.

In his new picture, a colorful adventure romance based on a story by Damon Runyon, Metoglen is a blustering soldier of fortune who fights for the price it pays—until his little pal, a boy king, sets him into his fiercest battle for the sake of friendship.

THE DOCTORS ARE RIGHT

Women should take only liquid laxatives

Many believe any laxative they might take will make constipation worse. And that isn't true. Do what doctors do to relieve this condition. They use a liquid

THREE STEPS

I TO BELIEVE II TO OBSERVE III TO RELIEVE

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Laxative, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A liquid dose can be regulated to the drop.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit even with children. Syrup Pepsin is the nicest tasting, nicest acting laxative you ever tried.

Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches and toothaches is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the (safest methods yet discovered) for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuralgia and neuritis. And the experts of millions of users have proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this:

SONG OF THE SAW...

1936 is the Time to Build

THE strident buzz of a saw biting its way through good timber is music to men's ears. As Americans pushed back frontiers and built new homes, its robust song was the symbol of vigorous, honest craftsmanship.

Today, the song of the saw again is heard through the land. With renewed courage after years of depression, American people are building new homes.

In the great Chicagoland area, hundreds of new homes were built last year, and many hundreds more will be under way as soon as excavations can be made.

The revival of building in this area is but the latest proof that Northern Illinois is a natural homeland with every attraction the home-maker desires—delightful suburbs, beautiful countryside, small towns with excellent transportation facilities, good roads, fine farming sites.

And besides the comfort and security that come from finding a good place to make a home, there's a new adventure in the art of living waiting for the family that builds in 1936. New scientific discoveries and their practical application through that same vigorous American craftsmanship have revolutionized the home—made it a place of undreamed comfort, convenience, new leisure and health.

Modern homes may have such things as automatic heating, air conditioning, better lighting and wiring, basement recreation rooms, beautiful modern work-saving kitchens.

These conveniences are not as expensive as they might seem. Right now thousands of small homes are served by this company with gas for automatic heating.

Perhaps you are planning to build in or near one of the attractive communities served by this company. If you are, we will be glad to help you plan for your electric and gas service requirements. We can also give you practical information about the latest gas and electric equipment along with preliminary cost estimates. We will be pleased to consult with you, your architect or your contractor. Inquire at any of our offices or write—

JOBS FOR LOCAL MEN

Barrington's sewage disposal troubles have been drawn out and nerve wracking. Three sets of village fathers, all of the property owners and all owners of property adjoining the village to the west have all shared in the grief.

Now that the beginning of the last, if worst part of it, is in sight, one more annoying problem is with us. That is the problem of employing local men for the job.

The chief endeavor of the board has been and should be to guarantee the best possible piece of work for the least possible expense to property owners. The second endeavor, in rank of importance, should be to give the labor jobs to local men. The public works administration assured the village board that this requirement would be met. In this respect the Chicago PWA office agreed to retain the right to have final approval on the applications for jobs. Recently a movement was started to pass this phase of the work on to a union labor office in Chicago. If this were accomplished, it is probable that local workers would not be given the fair consideration for jobs that they would have the right to expect under the public works office.

The village is behind the board in its insistence that the plan be carried out as it was originally adopted which is the best assurance that local laborers will get work.

PRESS AND RADIO—THE DIFFERENCE

The recent refusal of the two great broadcasting companies to carry the campaign skit of the Republican National Committee and the subsequent reproduction of this dubious dramatic effort in part and in toto by a large part of the nation's press serves to emphasize one fact—the basic difference between the two mediums as agencies for the dissemination of news and opinion.

This distinction may be summed up in the single word "license." Whereas the press operates free of governmental restraint (thanks to the Constitution that some would improve), the radio functions under license of the Federal Communications Commission, which may be the tool of the administration in power. This explains in part the great to-do of the press when that grim threat to freedom, license, showed its ugly head from beneath the mass of incidental regulations which comprised the NRA code for newspapers.—Cheviot, Ohio, Western Hills Press.

There are said to be 3,000,000 rundown homes in this country, but the breakdown condition of an equal number of automobiles seems to cause more distress.

The automobile driver is told he must keep his eyes open. Doesn't seem much danger of his closing them, so long as he has the girl friend on the front seat with him.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Caught between the desire to cut relief costs and the need of knowing the point beyond which they may not be cut, the administration issues two commands.

One is an order going from the Administrator Harry Hopkins, directing that work relief rolls be cut to 3,000,000 by next July. The second is a commission from the president to the labor and commerce departments to proceed with a study of technological unemployment, which means the net displacement of workers by machines and by more efficient methods of management.

Two million manures assigned as cost of the inquiry, which is to cover certain selected industries, including steel, automobiles, shoes and leather. The contention of industrialists is that workmen displaced by the machine are soon absorbed elsewhere. The lower prices create a larger demand. What the president wishes to do is to test this theory by the record of facts and incidentally to obtain some hint of the probable future of unemployment. Relief estimates have yet to be added to the budget.

Pacing him is this unpalatable fact, reported by relief administration officials: Despite larger industrial production and some increase in pay rolls, the total number of persons supported by relief payments, Federal, State and local, is about 24,000,000, which compares with 21,000,000 in January, 1934; that the average national unemployment "cases" in 1935 was 8 per cent higher than in the previous year.

Farm control machinery begins to move as the president attaches his signature to the soil conservation act of 1935.

At a series of conferences with farm representatives the agricultural adjustment administration proposes that 30 million acres of land be reseeded from native cultivation in order that supply of cash crops may approximately balance effective demand and that the land be put to use that will improve its fertility.

To these farmers who carry out their part of this crop adjustment, $40 million dollars are scheduled for payment. Tentatively set as compensation is an average allowance of $10 for each acre whose use is thus altered.

Farmers committees and agricultural agents throughout the country will be called on to report the extent of farmer cooperation, this being the determining factor in benefit payments.

Whereas the principal change in the operation of this program over that outlined by the supreme court? The secretary of Agriculture Wallace thus replies: "Control of individual crops produced is not possible under the law. It is hoped that the major commodities can be kept in balance as a by-product of what is planned."

The new deal effectively served policy that its low-cost housing program is ended—on its former basis.

Notice comes in a sudden change of strategy before the supreme court. On the eve of argument, the department of justice withdraws its case, which had aimed to establish the federal government's right to condemn housing and slum clearance projects.

As explained by the attorney general and public works administration officials, sites for the PWA 49 projects have already been acquired and plans for the remaining two, under litigation, have been abandoned.

As imputed by the republican national committee, the new deal abandons its appeal "in order to get a new constitutional program."

For the future, it is asserted, land needed will be condemned by local municipalities and housing authorities, their power not being open to question.

In line with this general policy of the medicinal administration which has three low-cost housing projects under construction.

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Work for the Pre-School Child

LUCY VERMILLION

What school work can the pre-school child do, you ask? He is too young to read or write, and he has no spelling. Why not wait until he is old enough to start to school and let the first grade teacher really get her money? That is all right for the teacher, but an injustice to the child, for much valuable time is lost that can never be regained. In many cities and larger towns the educational work of the pre-school child is done in the kindergarten, and mothers are relieved of this responsibility, but in the very small towns and in rural communities where a kindergarten is out of the question, mothers should do everything in their power to make up for the deficiency.

Give the two-year-old a pencil and let him scribble. This scribbling may seem a waste of paper to thirty folk, but this is a fact, for it accomplishes a twofold purpose. It teaches a child to handle a pencil and helps to develop the muscles in the fingers. A pair of blunt scissors is another thing a small child may use. Picture-cutting trains the eye and hand for coordination between the brain and the muscles of the fingers. The pictures will be very imperfect at first, and Mother may feel that this form of play makes considerable litter, but if she is patient enough to overlook the mess and give the child this chance to develop, he will be pretty sure to receive her reward, for her child should, in a short time, show great improvement in work of this nature. An old sheet may be put down in one corner of the living-room and the child encouraged to do his cutting there. This device will eliminate much work and be an excellent lesson in contentment.

Crayons, also, should be provided for the small child. He will enjoy them, and they will benefit him in the same manner as the pencil and the scissors. In addition, they will teach him to approach color combinations. He should be made to understand that from the first that not every book in the house is to be used as a coloring book. Give him a book for the purpose. An old magazine will suffice or a nice booklet may be made by sewing sheets of paper together. Cut the wrapping paper into large squares, stitch down the center of the squares to hold them in place and fold over to form a booklet. The stitching may be done on the machine if a large stitch is used, or done by hand. Use any transfer pictures for coloring, or pictures may be cut from old magazines and pasted in the booklet. Let the small child work with a large needle, for short periods and not too often. The finished product will not be of much value, but it will be valuable to him. Boxes of assorted sizes are ideal playthings for a small child. He may use them to build houses, towers and bridges, and they make wonderful trains and furnishings for the doll's house. Such construction is educational for it stimulates the imagination. A homemade toy that has educational possibilities is a string of spoons. If the spoons are painted different colors with, paint left over from doing odd jobs about the house, small son or daughter will have a plaything that is really worth while. It may be used as a color chart while he is tiny, and later when he comes to introduce him to numbers, the different colored spoons may be used as counters.

It is not a good policy to give the pre-school child any formal instruction, but any information gleaned in the course of play is the best in the right direction. Nursery rhymes may be made a source of much pleasure to the pre-school child. If Mother has an ear for music, she can readily teach her children to sing such favorites as "Little Boy Blue," "Dan, Ban, Black Sheep" and "Simple Simon." If she is musically inclined, she can at least set aside a few minutes each day to read Mother Goose rhymes to the children. These rhymes will increase the children's vocabulary, train their ears to the correct usage of words, develop imagination and contribute to their happiness through their delight in rhythm.

projects under construction, will turn them over on completion for local non-profit corporations to operate. Two of the most ambitious contemplated projects have already been thus disposed of on terms designed to protect the government's financial interests and to safeguard the purposes for which the buildings were constructed.

Uncle Sam, asking a loan of 1,500 million dollars, receives offers of six dollars for each one asked.

Thereby revealed, in the view of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, is the measure of the government's credit despite the fact that, for the current year, two dollars have been spent for every one collected from the taxpayers.

Baptist Defeats St. Paul 26 to 25 to Win Church Cage Tournament

Heitman Clinches Game With Basket in Final Seconds

Salem Takes Third by Beating Methodists, 26-22; End League Season

By scoring a thrilling 26 to 25 victory over the defending champs, St. Paul, the Baptists won the 1936 church league basketball tournament in the final game of the season at the high school gym, last night.

A tip-in basket in the final 15 seconds of play by stellar Al Heitman, who played a center game for the winners, brought the Baptists their first church league title. It also marked the first time in the four year's existence of the league that St. Paul failed to win the trophy.

The championship game was one of the best of the year from a spectator's viewpoint with a wild and woolly finish that saw both teams out on their feet.

With Heitman and Thurg popping the hoop, the Baptists took a 12 to 6 lead at the first quarter only to have St. Paul ahead at the half, 14-4, as Reese, Willie Altenburg, and Mollenkamp hit baskets.

St. Paul led at the end of the third quarter, 24-23. Heitman's long shot, which scored for three minutes to play in the final period.

Heitman came through M. Kuhlman made one out of two free tosses to put St. Paul ahead, 25-24. Then with less than a minute to play, Reese and Willie Altenburg missed short shots and the Baptists recovered, whipping the ball to Thurg who was fouled as he attempted a long shot. Thurg missed the first free toss and also the second, but as the ball rolled off the hoop Heitman tipped it in for the winning points. Immediately after the next tipoff the game ended.

Heitman's accuracy from the foul line—he made six out of six—proved the winning margin as St. Paul out-scored the Baptists in the final 12 to 10. He also counted three baskets to top the scoring with 12 points. Reese paced St. Paul with two field goals.

Salem Takes Third In the consolation game for third place, Salem defeated the Methodists, 26 to 22, thus getting revenge for three previous defeats by the M.E.'s, two of them by a single point.

The Methodists led 7-6 at the quarter and 17-10 at the half. St. Paul was in front 20-18 at the third quarter. Reese Overbe was "hot" for Salem, counting seven baskets to pace the scoring.

Following the games Ray Workman, president of the league, presented the Methodists with a trophy for winning the regular season title, and the Baptists a baseball for capturing the tournament.

Teams Evenly Matched This season the league has been more evenly matched than ever before, each team suffering at least two defeats in many close contests. The following list, which includes two overtime games, gives evidence of the fact—top point games, for 2-point games, one one-point game, and four 3-point games.

Libertyville Host This Week-End to Sectional Meet

Libertyville is host this week-end to an Illinois high school sectional basketball tournament in the spacious Waldorf gym.

This is the first time a Northwest conference school has been honored as the site of a state sectional meet.

The pick of teams in the vicinity, as determined by the regionals last week, are competing as follows: Libertyville; Wednesday—Batavia vs. Woodstock; Deerfield-Shield vs. Crane (Chicago); Thursday—Proviso (Maywood) vs. Harvard; Waukegan vs. Kelyva (Chicago); Friday—Winners of Wednesday games vs. each other; Saturday—Losers of Friday games (championship); Crane Tech of Chicago, finalists in the city league, and Proviso, Suburban league champs, are favored to reach the finale.

Winners only of the 16 sectionals all over the state qualify for the finals at Champaign, March 18 to 21.

Conference Teams Lose All four conference teams in the regionals last week were eliminated in the first round of play—three of them, however, succumbing only by narrow margins.

Libertyville, conference champion, was defeated by Waukegan, 23 to 20, in a mild upset. Leyden, second place team in the conference, lost to LaGrange, 37 to 22, and Lake Forest dropped to 39 to 22 decision to Deerfield-Shield. New Trier trimmed Grant, 35 to 12, to complete the rout.

Says Quagga is Extinct; Credits Once Plentiful

Beyond all doubt the quagga is utterly extinct, in the opinion of Dr. Graham Renshaw, British naturalist.

This beautiful South African creature resembled in proportions a stout pony. With rufous brown body changing to fulvous posteriorly, its head was striped with brown in zebra fashion. Its neck was banded with broad stripes which continued along the body to the haunches, where they broke up into wavy lines and spots. The legs and tail were white.

Only 10 in all were ever transported alive to Europe and two of these were housed in a smart equine in London attracted much attention in the middle of the nineteenth century.

In its day, writes Doctor Renshaw in the Journal of the British Society for the Preservation of the Fauna of the Empire, the quagga graced the South African veldt in numbers. It was common in the Cape Colony and in the Transvaal.

Unhappily, it was scarcely known before it began to vanish. Thomas Pringle, the South African poet and a friend of Sir Walter Scott, lamented in 1820 that the quagga and harbeests had almost totally disappeared from the pastures of Albany which they had formerly enriched with their numbers.

By 1830 it only occurred in Cape Colony on the borders though still plentiful further north; in 1850 the hide-hunting Boers began to exterminate the game for their skins and the last two quaggas of the Great Karroo desert were shot in 1865.

Many Uses for Casti Casti are put to many uses. They furnish fruit known as Indian fig. Some cactus plants of the texture of melon rind are made into concoctives like orange or citron peel and sold or made into candy. From other cacti drugs used medicinally, or deadly poisons, are extracted. The lophophora yields peyote that temporarily turns its addicts into irresponsible madmen. Some sturdy cactaceous structures serve as fence posts, timbers for mines, or even as material for Indian huts. Cacti used really range from seeds ground into flour for food to living plants set thickly for impenetrable fences—Los Angeles Times.

First Ruler of Bavaria

Prince Ludwig, the first ruler of Bavaria, came to the throne of this German state on June 7, 1886. Ludwig II and Otto I, sons of Maximilian the former ruler, were declared insane and Ludwig was given the regency. Ludwig had ruled under another regency, but upon his deposition committed suicide. During the long rule of Emperor William II, Bavaria shared the common property of Germany; but it was long before she forgot her traditional racial and religious antagonism toward Prussia. This feud in the German Confederacy lasted until Ludwig III became king on November 5, 1913, upon his father's death.
