"Ceiling Zero" Billed at Catlow Sunday, Monday

"Ah Wilderness" and "A Tale of Two Cities" Are Also Scheduled

America's life as every American knows it—human emotions as every human being knows them—make gripping, enthralling entertainment out of "Ah Wilderness" the dramatic masterpiece of Eugene O'Neill, coming March 25, 26, and 27 to the Catlow theatre.

The play a triumph for W. L. Face Beery, who enacts the lovable, ineffectual Uncle Sid, usually a poignant figure in his futile romance. Lionel Barrymore reveals in the role of Nat Miller. He brings to the screen a totally different characterization, as forcible as his famous role in "A Free Soul."

Youth is served in Paramount's new musical romance, "Coronado," which will be seen Saturday. Betty Hutton, who has the feminine lead, is only 18 and was taken from her classes in a Los Angeles high school to be starred in her first screen appearance. Johnny Downs finds himself in a star role at the age of 21. Eddy Duchin, one of America's most popular dance band leaders, makes his film debut in "Coronado" with his orchestra, at the age of 26.

"Ceiling Zero," which will be shown Sunday and Monday, is one of the most thrilling and glamorous air romances screened. It co-stars that intangible team, James Cagney and Pat O'Brien. It introduces a charming new leading lady in June Travis and offers an exceptionally large all star cast in support.

The screen play pictures many thrills with planes in actual flight, groping about in fogs so dense there was no visibility whatever. There is every sort of a thrill in the picture, as well as plenty of laughs and romance.

It has been said that while man thinks he plays the upper hand in affairs of the heart, he is helpless before the romantic onslaught of a clever and alluring woman. RKO Radio's "The Lady Comes" coming Tuesday, proves it as Ann Harding and Margaret Lindsay wage a feminine war over Herbert Marshall. He is led first to smooch his home through tricks that every woman can see through but that have captured men since the world began.

Heralded as one of the great screen achievements of all time, Ronald Colman comes to the Catlow theatre starting April 1 in "A Tale of Two Cities," the dramatization of Charles Dickens' immortal novel.

With Colman is a cast of 119
