Mrs. R. R. Hammond, speaker for the afternoon, discussed the planting of a garden for a succession of bloom.

Miss Evelyn Hammond Injured When Thrown From Motorcycle Sunday

Miss Evelyn Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Hammond, 334 W. Main street, received a scalp laceration and skin bruises early Sunday evening after being thrown from a motorcycle when her car caught in the chain of a motorcycle she was riding with Edward Kuehl, 204 W. Station street.

Miss Hammond was riding on the rear seat of the motorcycle as the couple were making a short ride west on the county line road. Mr. Kuehl slackened the speed of the machine to make a turn, and it is believed that Miss Hammond's car became entangled in the driving chain on the wheel, throwing her to the pavement.

She was taken to the home of her parents by a passing motorist and given first aid treatment by a local doctor.

Levy for County Sanitarium Before Voters November 3

Resolution Adopted Monday By Lake County Board of Supervisors

A proposal to establish a T. B. sanitarium in Lake county will be placed before the voters in the community at the November 3 election by the board of supervisors.

The proposal to be placed on the ballot, according to a resolution adopted by the board Monday, is to levy a yearly tax not to exceed one and one-half mills—equivalent to 15 cents on each $100 property valuations in the county—from 1927 to 1946 for the construction and maintenance of a tuberculosis sanitarium.

Petitions signed by over 200 residents of the county and a draft resolution were presented to the board of supervisors by Attorney Harry A. Hall, treasurer of the Lake County Tuberculosis association, Monday. In addressing the board, Hall stated that under existing statutes, it was mandatory that the board place the question before the voters at next election.

The resolution showed that an annual levy of approximately $40,000 would be sought for the construction and maintenance of a tuberculosis sanitarium in the county during the ten year period. Under the present valuation of $4,000,000, the levy will amount to one mill, or 10 cents on each $100 valuation.

If the levy is approved, the chairman of the board of supervisors will be empowered to name a committee of three, at least two of whom must be residents, to expend the money raised for the sanitarium. This committee would report to the board from time to time.

"Everybody's Old Man" Stars
Irvin S. Cobb on Bill Saturday

Little Shirley Temple in soul-water and slicker is altogether winsome and charming as the wife of the lighthouse in "Captain January," which closes its three-day run at the local theatre Friday.

This salty yarn gives a new twist to Shirley's talents, and as the sweetheart of the sailor-folk, and the darling of the grizzled old lighthousekeeper, she is more adorable than ever before.

The man with the face you can't forget—that's Irvin S. Cobb; a face that even he himself admits isn't altogether popular with its owner. But it expresses such droll humor and such a jovial personality, that Cobb—once a writer of importance—now finds himself a coming star in pictures.

And it is as a star he will appear in the title role of "Everybody's Old Man" coming to the Catlow Saturday night.

Cobb, as a captain of industry on vacation, assumes the burden of reforming a pair of wild, young moderns; and how he wins them around to his way forms a delightful evening of comedy. Rochelle Hudson, Johnny Downs and Norman Foster have featured roles.

Moviegoers will welcome Robert Montgomery in "Petticoat Fever," which is scheduled as the feature number Sunday and Monday.

Myrna Loy plays the feminine lead in this story of a young wireless operator in an ice-bound Labrador station. He is so lonely that when a young girl and her pilot make a forced landing nearby, he holds them prisoner rather than face another Arctic night alone.

From here on the story runs its merry course with humorous, dramatic and unexpected situations cropping up at every turn.

William Boyd in the character of Hop-Along Cassidy has earned himself a great deal of well-deserved popularity. A new Cassidy adventure under the title of "Call of the Prairie" comes to the Catlow Tuesday as the bargain offering of the week.

It will be followed by the Wednesday-Thursdays showing of "Thursday's Come" from the pen of H. G. Wells.

Fans may well be interested in this production from this standpoint of a spectacular prediction of the future 100 years hence. In this amazing flight of the imagination are pictured the mechanistic changes on land and sea and in the air, and the psychic changes in human hearts and minds.

Table Talk

By GRACE ARCHOLD

"What is the trouble now?" said Miss Dade to herself, as, glancing from the window, she saw Bobby Jones starting off to school, crying very bitterly. His little sister looked unhappy too, and seemed quite ready to join him in an outburst. It happened so often. Miss Dade was Bobby's Sunday school teacher and she was fond of him. Later in the day, she stopped in to have a friendly chat with his mother and heard some of her difficult duties.

"You see, it's like this, Miss Dade. The children behave so badly at meals, especially at breakfast, that I'm always having to scold them. They interrupt Dad and me when we are talking. They don't like this and won't eat that. Altogether our meals are very unpleasant. I do not know what to do about it. Your sister's children nearly always look contented and happy. I wonder how she manages."

"Well, for one thing, Nan is very particular what we talk about at breakfast and, indeed, at all meals. She thinks this very important. She says, when the conversation is light and cheerful, food digests better. I suppose it does. So we make a point of not discussing annoyances at the table. Each member of the family has more or less acquired the habit of contributing something pleasant and interesting. We look forward to mealtime at Nan's because it is sure to be a good time. The children seldom interrupt when others are speaking. They know it is bad manners. Of course, sometimes it is hard for them to wait, but Nan sees to it that all have a chance to express themselves, for of course it would be unfair not to give each a turn. We ask them about their school work and laugh at their little jokes; we really enjoy their whole-some fun."

"That's a very well, but suppose some one has to reprove them at table? That is sure to happen sometimes. They resent this, and then there is a fuss."

"No one but brother John ever reproves the children at table. I think Nan and he must have an agreement about it. He seldom does more than call the child by name. He uses a certain intonation which is at once understood. But neither John nor Nan scolds a child before the family at any time, though there are many heart-to-heart talks in private.

"Another thing," Miss Dade continued, "None of us are supposed to make any remark one way or the other about the food. It is a great temptation when something is so peculiarly good. But John says a little child often gets the suggestion of like or dislike by contrast, so it is better to wait until the meal is finished before expressing pleasure. This rule is not hard and fast, but we do try to conform to it."

"I'm so glad you came in," said Mrs. Jones, as Miss Dade was to go. "My children have ability, yet they rarely stand high in their classes. Today we had a very stormy breakfast and they went off so unhappy. I could not forget it and wondered if the fault lay with me. I see now that it does to a large extent. I think I'll get my husband to help my try your sister's plan."

Arrangements have been made by Mrs. Walter Wolf, assisted by Mrs. Reynier Olson, for a special style show at Billmore Country club Tuesday afternoon, June 16, at 2 o'clock.

In addition to the style show, entertainment has been planned and a special luncheon is being prepared for those coming early. Miss Olive Swanson, who conducts dancing classes in Barrington, will furnish the entertainment.

According to Mrs. Wolf, a complete wardrobe of summer styles will be exhibited to show what is being worn this season in women's social, business and athletic worlds.

"Don't Mean So Much

Scouts of the Northwest Council Lay Plans for Summer Camp Opening

A great deal of enthusiasm is being shown by scouts and scouters of the Northwest Suburban Council for the summer season of Camp Oh-Da-Ko-Ta which will open for the scouts of this council at Dyer Lake near Slides Crossed, Wis. June 28.

Due to the fact that the opening of camp has been postponed from June 21 to June 28, the open house for scouts, scouters, parents and friends of scouting will be held June 21 instead of June 14 as previously announced. However, anyone who desires may visit camp June 14 as some of the staff will be there.

It is preferred, however, to have visitors June 21 as the camp will be more nearly set up and ready for inspection at that time.

Assistant Scoutmaster Edward Foster of troop 25 of Niles Center will serve as director of the Indian village; he is well versed in Indian lore, is a veteran scout and has been a member of the staff at Camp Oh-Da-Ko-Ta for four years.

Members of the junior staff are as follows: eagle scout John Harpam of troop 11 of Park Ridge, Indian village; assistant scoutmaster Fred Cheever of troop 20 of Des Plaines, pioneer village; a eagle scout George Hand of troop 1 of Park Ridge and star scout Raymond Harwick of Des Plaines, base camp.

Scout Executive Donald E. Kayser will serve as advisory camp director and will be in camp a portion of each period.

Restrictions Are Lifted After Drop in Scarlet Fever

24 Persons in Quarantine Present; Six Cases This Week

Six cases of scarlet fever were reported to E. W. Haede, health officer, since last Wednesday, making a total of 34 in the red wave of cases. At present families are quarantined and cases are confined within five to 19 cases, showing a drop of this week.

Those reported in quarantine this week were: Evelyn Marion Hughes, Wayne Rice, Fred Pakke, Elmer Kleinmiller, Mary Jane Shepard.

The restrictions placed on public gatherings has been temporarily lifted upon the recommendation of health authorities.

If no great increase is noted for Sunday, activities such as Sunday school, movies and other public gatherings where children are a part will be resumed.

In an interview given to Barrington Review Wednesday, C. VanWormer, state health officer for this district, stated, "The situation is well in hand in Barrington with everything going along fine. There is little cause for alarm. It can be expected more cases will be reported, but they should not be of great extent. I am well pleased with the manner in which Mr. Haede and Miss Schader have handled the matter."

He also reported that the number of cases was down to a general exposure early in the season so that he felt some cases would be noted from time to time but proper handling would not produce them.

Ministers of the local church were instructed to prepare for suspension of Sunday school classes and the restriction made by R. Catlow, manager of the local theatre, against children at movies has been removed upon advice of the health board.

New Features Are Added Attractions at Brookfield Zoo

Even those persons who have been to the Chicago Zoological park at Brookfield many times since its opening will want to visit the zoo again this week for the many new features which have been added.

One of the most popular and unusual of these new attractions is the Monkey Island which has just been opened.

This island, designed by Edgar Miller, is located just west of the main entrance to the park.

Just arrived at the zoo is a female Eland antelope from South Africa. This is the largest of the antelope family and has a white striped back, resembling a football.

Another recent arrival is a female tapir from Malay, which has a short twelve inch trunk and a white saddle back. Both of these animals were brought to the zoo as mates for the males of these species which have been at the park since its opening.

The Elands are lodged opposite the Australian house and the tapirs may be seen in the pachyderm house.

There are 11 exhibition buildings, the last word in zoo construction, among which are buildings for elephants, giraffe, hippopotamus, rhinoceros, monkeys, chimpanzees, orang-utans, snakes of all descriptions, birds, lizards and other animals too numerous to list.

In all there are nearly 500 mammals, 100 birds and 700 reptiles and amphibians in the collection.

The Chicago Zoological park occupies approximately 120 acres within its grounds and approximately 60 acres outside for free automobile parking facilities.

Teacher Wins Verdict of $1172 in Suit Against Cary School District
School district No. 26 at Cary was loser in a suit brought in circuit court of McHenry county by Paul Willet charging breach of contract and asking $2000 damages. The jury verdict, returned Tuesday, allowed Willet $1172.50.

Willet charged that the school board had entered into a contract with him June 4, 1934, to teach in the school for nine months for a salary of $104.50 a month. He claimed that on July 3, 1934, he was informed by the directors that the offer was withdrawn.

Willet alleged that as a result of the failure of the school board to fulfill the contract he was unable to secure work for the year and that he suffered damages of $2,000 as a result of the action.

BETTER CHANCES

Exceedingly good news awaits the college graduates of 1936. University departmental heads, who usually have advance information on possible jobs for senior students in their departments find more jobs are open for them than at any other time since 1931.

Agriculture, industry and business are looking for college graduates this year. Many business and industrial organizations have been faced with a gap in their personnel forces because of depression economies. As a result, not only are there four times as many requests for college graduates this year as in 1935, but the starting wage level has risen.

Whereas the top salary a young graduate could expect last year was $100 a month, compensation this year is $125 for the best positions and $100 for "average" jobs. Those that formerly paid practically nothing now offer up to $85 a month.

This represents the beginning of a foothold for youth. The absence of that foothold has been one of the great tragedies of the depression—Iowa City, Ia., Press-Citizen.

STILL GOING STRONG

It appears now that the American public has weathered the depression pretty well, after all. At least, says Dr. James S. McLeister, president of the American Medical association, a nation-wide survey shows that no widespread under-nutrition likely to affect the general health has developed from the hard times.

On the contrary, he tells us, the American people seem to have learned a very good lesson from the whole affair. Economic misfortune became the mother of a more enlightened and practical viewpoint on diet and survival.

"Here we have, on one hand," says Dr. McLeister, "the fact that we have suffered great material losses during the last five years, while, on the other hand, there is no clear evidence that the nutritive state of any appreciable number of people is inferior to that of pre-depression days. Cumulative enlightenment is responsible for this."—Chippewa Falls, Wis., Chippewa Herald-Tribune.

GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

Closed by the supreme court is a pathway by which New York and 16 other states sought to forbid payment of less than fair and living wages by employers to women employees.

The federal government has already been foreclosed from regulating labor wages, notably in the NRA case.

In a 5 to 4 decision the court followed its precedent set in 1923, when an earlier minimum wage law was invalidated. The new law had based the minimum wage on fair value of services and a living wage; the old one, on a living wage alone.

Grounds for the decision: The "due process" clause of the constitution protects the right to make contracts, and this right can be restricted only under exceptional circumstances. In this day of equal rights, women of mature age do not require protection to the point of restricting this constitutional right guaranteed to them and to their employers.

Of the minority, Chief Justice Hughes reads a dissenting opinion concurred in by Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo.

The first dissenting opinion holds that the new case should not have been decided on the precedent set in 1923, but that the law should be upheld.

The second dissenting opinion delivers a withering attack on the interpretation given by the majority to the "due process" clause of the constitution. Says Justice Stone:

"There is grim irony in speaking of freedom of contract of those who, because of economic necessity, give their services for less than is needed to keep body and soul together. Payment of low wages creates serious public problems. Legislation must be free to choose ways to meet them, unless government is to be rendered impotent."

Hereafter those who seek to influence legislation must disclose what interests they represent and how much they receive or pay for the service.

This footnote to the right of petition is practically assured by agreement in conference on the anti-laboring bill. It awaits only the assent of the report and the signatures of a willing president.

Alleging that it is not an abridgment of the right of petition, sponsors of the bill say it is designed to protect the public by letting its representatives know the motivation behind the petitions.

Organizations sponsoring lobbyists must file with the house and the senate their names and purposes and the amount of money they pay their agents. Agents likewise must file their names, the interests they represent and the manner in which their funds are laid out.

In addition, those seeking to influence any executive agency of the government are required to register with that agency and disclose the information required by it in conformity with the law.

Support of the destitute through work relief goes on as before with the necessary funds voted for at least the major part of the coming year.

Congress so ordains and the president prepares to affix his signature to the ordinance as soon as differences between the house and senate versions are ironed out.

In approving the 2431 million dollar appropriation bill by a 42 to 14 vote, the senate writes in an amendment for enabling the public works administration to use 200 million dollars in its big-project program. This involves no increased appropriation, but allows the PWA to sell bonds raised as tokens of its past loans and to allot the proceeds for new projects, 45 per cent being grants and the remainder, loans.

The relief portion of the appropriations amounts to 1435 million dollars, which will be added to a year's relief fund. Next largest item is half a billion dollars for security into reserve funds for the social security program.

Numbered are the days of spectacular market rates in the commodity exchanges of the nation. The reason: A measure regulating the operation of these exchanges goes to the white house for the presidential signature.

This is a companion bill to the securities and exchange commission and to observe rules that forbid manipulation of prices for the purpose of misleading investors.

Similar rules are in prospect for those who trade in grain, cotton, dairy products, potatoes and other farm commodities, except hogs and cattle. Trade in these is on a supply and demand basis.

A commodity exchange commission is placed in control, consisting of the secretaries of agriculture, commerce and justice. It is their duty to see that, if fictitious sales are executed for the purpose of "rigging" the market, those responsible are penalized. The markets heretofore have been largely self-policed.

In addition to protection of those trading in the markets, the measure aims at cutting down the spread between the farm prices of commodities and the prices which the consumer must pay.

Cary Merchants Next Opponents for Local Nine

Heitman Ties Up Opponents' Bats as Locals Roll Up Lead

The Barrington Bears continued their winning march by taking the comparatively easy Elgin Parkside into camp by a 10 to 3 score on the local diamond Sunday. The game was lacking in flashy competition so often demanded by the cash customers.

The Bears started in hitting in the first inning and pushed over one run on two hits and one error. They didn't score in the second but counted four tallies in the fourth and continued again with three in the fifth and two in the sixth. At that point substitutions were made to allow the secondary men to get a workout.

One enjoyable moment was experienced when Ward Flock took over the third base job in the 7th. Ward looked like a major league player in his work.

At Heitman did the hurling for the Bears and controlled the situation throughout. Charley Herz is still on the relief list with an injured finger and the catching job was handled by Flock.

The Bears turned to meet the Cary Merchants on the river diamond this Sunday. Local fans can expect some flashy game action as the teams listed to meet them in the future.

Bears 10—432 008—10

Heitman allowed three runs on two hits while giving up five walks and striking out nine batters. Two passes issued by Heitman accounted for two of the three runs. He was effective when needed, leaning down in the latter part of the game when the opposing batters worked the string out for free trips on the bags. He was guilty of hitting two batters with wild pitches. Excepting his off moments, Heitman gave a good performance, but did not appear to be tending himself at any time.

Young and Vanderford gave up 19 runs on nine hits, three errors and five walks. Seven Bears were out by the strikeout route.

Farm Co-ops Will Hold Meeting at State University

National Organizations to Discuss Marketing of Dairy Products

Chester C. Davis, administrator, agricultural adjustment administration, Washington, D. C., discussing European outlets for agricultural products will feature that part of the 12th annual session of the American Institute of Cooperation devoted to problems of international trade, reports H. C. M. Case, head of the department of agricultural economics, college of agriculture, University of Illinois, who is in charge of local arrangements for the meeting. It will be held at the university, June 15 to 19.

"Having spent the past three months in Europe making a special study of outlets for agricultural products, Davis will have a message full of first-hand information on this subject," Case said.

The institute centers its attention upon the immediate problems confronting farmers' purchasing and marketing associations. Discussions of international trade will occupy the interest of the institute at two evening meetings, June 15 and June 18. Administrator Davis will speak at the Monday evening general session which will be presided over by Edward A. O'Neil, president, of American Farm Bureau Federation. More than 3000 are expected to attend the conference.

will be welcomed by Dean H. W. Mumford of the college of agriculture. Following Davis on the program will be W. P. Peterson, Calgary, Canada, discussing international trade problems as illustrated by wheat.

Thursday evening's program will feature L. R. Kaminster, Washington, D. C., head economic analyst, trade agreement section, state department of the federal government.

"Kaminster can be regarded as an official spokesman of the state department," Case said. "The Thursday evening general session will be presided over by C. V. Gregory, editor of Prairie Farmer."

Leaders of the general discussions on international trade problems will be H. M. Conway, Chicago, National Livestock Marketing association; N. C. Williamson, New Orleans, American Cotton Cooperative association; Charles W. Holman, Washington, D. C., American Institute of Cooperation, and M. W. Thatcher, Washington representative Farmers' National Grain Corporation.

How to get more money to the producer for his milk, cream, eggs, poultry and produce in general will be prominent among the talks and discussions of the institute.

Pure Milk Group Buys Processing Factory at Lisle

Pure Milk association officials announced this week that they have purchased the country receiving and processing plant of the Union Dairy company of Chicago at Lisle, Ill. This plant is located about 15 miles from Chicago, and is receiving about 50,000 pounds of milk daily at the present time.

The purchase of the plant was in accordance with the wishes expressed by the voting delegates of the Pure Milk association's 14,500 members that the cooperative embark upon a processing and manufacturing plant program to take care of the organization's surplus milk. The Lisle plant is the first move in this direction following the annual meeting held March 12, 1936. Negotiations for purchasing other plants are now under way, but have not yet reached the stage of completion.

"We are especially pleased with the purchase of the Lisle plant," declared President John P. Case of the Pure Milk association, "because it occupies a strategic position so far as our west side Chicago and west suburban distributors are concerned. We are now in a position to shift milk to any of these dairies quickly, should the occasion demand."

The Pure Milk association now has three plants with which to take care of its surplus milk, including a cheese plant at Elgin which receives about 60,000 pounds daily. With plants running full capacity, it is estimated that about 200,000 pounds of milk can be cared for daily, especially since the Lisle plant is to be renovated with additional equipment purchased.

$88,000 in Bonds Received by War Service Men Here

176 Veterans Get Bonus Registered Mail Tuesday and Wednesday

World war veterans of this community, with a few exceptions, have applied for and received the adjusted service bonds and bonus figure checks to the amount of about $88,000.

Prior to Wednesday night 176 service men had received the bonds by registered mail delivery through the Barrington post office. Registered letters have arrived for several men who are on vacation or for some other reason not called for them.

Postal employees began passing out the mail to veterans Tuesday morning. On Wednesday J. Robertson, assistant postmaster, began receiving the bonds from those who wished to exchange them for government checks. Postmen called during the day to apply for payment, and a large number was expected Thursday.

Each veteran received the face value of his adjusted service certificate minus any amount he might have borrowed on it to the maximum 50 per cent at the time he borrowed in the spring or summer of 1931, on all loans he received. The loan rate was 4 per cent, but this was cancelled after September 1931, on all loans he received.

The payment was made with $ bonds and a government check for any odd amount beyond a five dollar limit. For example, a veteran had $175 due him, he received nine $50 bonds and a check for $25. These came together in a registered government envelope. One veteran reported receiving an odd amount check for $12.11. Another reported receiving a check for $49.10.

It is expected that full check in payment for surrendered bonds will be received by Saturday Monday as they are mailed out from the regional disbursing office at Chicago.

A large majority of applications by veterans in this community for adjusted service certificate bonds was made through the Barrington Post of the American Legion and the able supervision of Roy Williams.
