

Janet Gaynor in "Small Town Girl" Coming to Catlow

Excellent Entertainment Is Scheduled for Local Movie Patrons

"Things to Come," H. G. Wells' predictions of our social future, has its humorous as well as its startling moments.

Separate feature numbers have been hooked for Friday and Saturday, in the Friday offering, "Love Before Breakfast,"

"The Moon's On Her Face" will occupy the feature spot on the Saturday program.

The climax swoops to its crest on the waves of a storm at sea. "The Moon's On Her Face" will occupy the feature spot on the Saturday program.

Robert Taylor's good look and his increasing popularity win for him a co-starring role with Janet Gaynor in "Small Town Girl."

The title tells the story: It's Gaynor of the pinheads who rises to social wisdom and happiness.

But what intervenes is filled with dramatic interest and surprising twists of plot. When the "small town girl" meets the wealthy doctor married her to avoid a scandal,

"Don't Get Personal" has the same stars and the same ingredients which made the "Bad Girl" film such a long-remembered one.

But what intervenes is filled with dramatic interest and surprising twists of plot. When the "small town girl" meets the wealthy doctor married her to avoid a scandal,

It concerns a young couple impulsively married, who attempt to pursue individual careers.

"She Strives to Conquer," Frances Maule—Miss Maule has placed in book form just the information a good personal director would like to give to any girl entering the firm's employ—It she had time.

In the business girl's own vernacular, it states her problems and offers practical solutions, based on present-day requirements of the hard-boiled business world.

It cannot fail to raise the level of service and efficiency of every girl who reads it. Moreover, both novice and expert will enjoy reading it.

Although written for girls, Miss Maule's book will also prove very helpful to boys starting out in the business world.
