$88,000 in Bonds Received by War Service Men Here

176 Veterans Get Bonus by Registered Mail Tuesday and Wednesday

World war veterans of this community, with a few exceptions, have applied for and received their adjusted service bonds and "gold square checks" to the amount of about $88,000.

Prior to Wednesday night 176 service men had received their bonds by registered mail delivered through the Barrington post office. Registered letters have arrived for several men who are on vacation or for some other reason have not called for them.

Postal employees, being passing out the mail to veterans Tuesday morning, on Wednesday Joe Robertson, assistant postmaster, began receiving the bonds from those who wished to exchange them for government checks. Forty men called during the day to apply for payment, and a larger number was expected Thursday.

Each veteran received the full face value of his adjusted service certificate minus any amount that he might have borrowed on it up to the maximum 50 per cent and minus the interest accrued from the time he borrowed in the spring of 1931 until September, 1931. The loan rate was 4 1/2 per cent, but this was cancelled after September 1931, on all loans.

The payment was made with $50 bonds and a government check for any amount beyond a figure of $50. For example, if a veteran had $40 in bonds and received nine $50 bonds and a check for $25. These came to him in a registered government envelope. One veteran reported receiving an odd amount check for $12.21. Another reported receiving a check for $19.10.

It is expected that full checks for payment for surrendered bonds will be received by Saturday or Sunday as they are mailed out from the regional disbursing office at Chicago.

A large majority of applications for veterans in this community for adjusted service certificate bonds was made through the Barrington post of the American Legion under able supervision of Roy Willmeyer.

Building Trades Class and Board of Education Entertained at Dinner

Members of the building trades class and the board of education of Barrington public school were entertained at a dinner at Greenwald Grill Tuesday night by Earl Schwemm. Mr. Roselle was presented with a pen and pencil set by Mr. Schwemm and Robert LaPointe won a reading lamp that was donated also by Mr. Schwemm.

Swimming Pool Will Be Opened at 10 a. m. Friday

Free Bathing for Children Each Week Day Morning

North Side park swimming pool will be opened for the season at 10 a. m. Friday following a three weeks delay in the aquatic inauguration date because of the prevalence of scarlet fever since the last week in May.

With the epidemic showing a definite decline, the park board decided it would be safe to open the pool Friday.

Most of the regulations for conducting the pool this year will be the same as last year, but one major change has been decided. Mrs. Genevieve Thacher, pool manager announced. Free swimming for children under 15 years of age will be limited to week day mornings from 10 a. m. until noon. It was noticed that only a handful of children used the pool in the mornings although the full expense of operation was going on. It is believed that change will reduce the afternoon peak. It will also bring the children together at a time when the swimming instructor will be able to give them full attention. Children may swim on week day afternoons from Monday to Friday, inclusive for the nominal admission of five cents. Full details of the hours and admission rates are published in an advertisement on page 5 of this issue of the Review.

The following personnel has been announced by the park board: Mrs. Genevieve Thacher, pool manager; Charles Grom, Clyde Hutchings, Wayne Niemelä and John Koenig, life guards; Lawrence Stout, relief life guard; Miss Jane Marie Cumatt, swimming and diving instructor. Grom will be captain of the life guards.

The children curtailed by the scarlet fever have been resumed in a majority of cases. Miss Olive Dolan, a local librarian, said that the library is now open. She reported that the establishment has been open for the past week but books and delinquents have not been returned fast enough. She also stated there will be no charge for books kept overdue during the period the library was closed.

Village Trustees Authorize Sale of Tax Warrants

$7500 to Be Used on First Interest Payment of Bond Issue

Village trustees passed an ordinance authorizing sale of tax delinquency warrants up to $7500 for the payment of the first six months interest of the sewer and water department bond issue following a motion by Trustee John Daeschler and seconded by Trustee Rudolph Kocher at a regular meeting Monday night.

The revenue from the sale of the tax warrants is needed to meet interest payments on the $275,000 bond issue sold the first of the year and now due. Normally the interest payments would be raised by a rental fee that will apply on the use of the sewer system being installed. The charges will be made from July 1 and will not be collected for approximately 40 days. Bond interest has been in force from January 1, and the sewer water department is without the necessary funds for payments.

Repayments of the $7500 will be made to the general funds by the sewer and water department after the collection of rental charges goes into the treasury.

Following a motion by Trustee Kocher and seconded by Trustee Plagge the board authorized Village President Earl Heile and Village Attorney D. B. Maloney to file an application for an additional grant on the PWA sewer project. An amended application previously filed was rejected; but the local officials are of the opinion that the government will grant more funds up to 45 per cent of the total cost of the project. If an additional grant is made, the amount of loan to be repaid will be reduced accordingly.

A flat rate of $50 was suggested on all water taps. At present short taps are charged $15 and long ones $25. Permits to connect with sewer system were discussed and a fee of $5 was suggested. The village clerk the cost of connecting.

The village clerk, A. C. Burandt, and village treasurer, A. L. Wiedenbeck, were present with D. B. Maloney, village attorney, in preparing a new schedule, using the board's recommendations for analysis.

Easements from the Chicago and North Western railroad and the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad were also accepted by the village board Monday night. The easements grant permission for the extension of sewer and water lines through railroad property.

Gasoline Blast Fatal to Richard Mitchell Tuesday

Youth Dies of Burns Received While Playing in Salem Church Garage

Burns inflicted when the gasoline tank of an old automobile exploded caused the death of Richard Mitchell, 19 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell, 124 W. Russell street, at the Sherman hospital in Elgin at 10:45 Tuesday night.

Richard was burned when the gas tank exploded as he and his brothers, James and Gordon and Dwight Stayer, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Stayer, 204 W. Russell street, were playing in the church garage at the rear of Salem church.

According to information given to E. W. Baade, chief of police, the boys had built a small fire in the garage and had previously dipped twice in the gas tank to saturate the clothes. It was reported that Richard took a glowing stick from the embers and inserted it into the tank.

The resulting blast, which was caused by an accumulation of fumes and gasoline, set fire to the boys' clothing. The boys had gained entrance to the building by a window, the doors having been locked, and Richard crawled back outside with his clothes alight.

He ran screaming to his home where neighbors extinguished the flames with a garden hose.

A doctor was called immediately and upon ascertaining the extent of the injury, took the boy to the Elgin hospital. There it was learned that he suffered first and second degree burns from his ankles to the face.

His condition was hopeful until 5 o'clock in the evening, when he died of the burns. Death resulted at 10:45 o'clock.

The blast did no damage to the garage but started debris on fire in one corner of the building. It was used to store three old cars and it was one of these that the boys had been playing in.

An inquest was conducted by H. J. Vlerke, Kane county coroner, at the North funeral chapel in Elgin Tuesday afternoon. There it was learned that Richard was born in Chicago, January 30, 1926, and had resided in Barrington for more than a year. He was a member of the cub pack of the boy scouts.

Surviving him are his parents, Elmer and James Mitchell, his grandfather, W. Herbert Mitchell of Chester, Nova Scotia, and his grandmother, Mrs. M. B. Broadlove of Martinsville, Ind.

The body was taken to Martinsville Tuesday afternoon where funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon.

Janet Gaynor in "Small Town Girl" Coming to Catlow

Excellent Entertainment Is Scheduled for Local Movie Patrons

"Things to Come," H. G. Wells' predictions of our social fabric of the future, has its humorous as well as its startling moments. It is an exceptional production from the standpoint of both vision and scope. It closes its run tonight.

Separate feature numbers have been booked for Friday and Saturday. In the Friday offering, "Love Before Breakfast," Carole Lombard plays the role of the wise woman who tries to lead on to two boy friends, while she decides which one to marry.

Preston Foster and Cesar Romo dance to Carole's piping. The climax sweeps to its crest on the waves of a storm at sea. "The Moon's On Her Mind" will occupy the feature spot on the Saturday program. Readers of the "Cosmo" will recall this comedy romance of Faith Baldwin's, which races riotously through sparkling situations right up to the moon—or at least someone else up in the air.

Marjorie Sullivan and Henry Fonda take the lead roles. Robert Taylor's great work and his increasing popularity win for him a co-starring role with Janet Gaynor in "Small Town Girl," the Sunday-Monday attraction.

The title tells the story: It's Gaynor of the cinchams who rises to social wisdom and happiness. But what interest is filled with dramatic interest and surprising twists of plot. When the "small town girl" learns the wealthy doctor married her to avoid a scandal, she sets to work to mold the sorry scheme of things in keeping with the pattern of love and beauty she carries in her heart.

It sounds "cinderella," but the Gaynor wins the heart of "Taylor" vitality, and the character portrays of Binnie Barnes, Lewis Stone, Andy Devine and Frank Craven, fame will find this story all that could be desired.

"Don't Get Personal" has the same stars and the same ingredients which made the "Bad Girl" film such a long-remembered one. In fact James Dunn and Sally Eilers are still known as the "Bad Girl" team. Add to their personalities the synopsis' flair of Pinksy Tomlin (reality of making 20 million people sing his song, "The Object of My Affection") and the result is a great trio to head the cast of "Don't Get Personal," which will be screened at bargain night prices Tuesday.

Margaret Sullivan and James Stewart are scheduled for the Wednesday-Thursday following in "Next Time We Love." It concerns a young couple impulsively married, who attempt to pursue individual careers. The story by Ursula Parrott acts a problem for a professional woman who is faced with considerations for her baby, her husband, another man and her ambition for power.

Schools for Pre-School Children

The provision in modern times of systematic training for children of pre-school age may be dated from the village school at Walden, founded by Jean Frederic Herlihy in 1774. Robert Owen started an infant school at New Lanark in 1800. Further impetus and a new direction were given the movement by Friedrich W. A. Froebel, the creator of the kindergarten.

Spring Court of Awards for Girl Scouts Cancelled

Plans for a spring court of awards for girl scouts of Barrington were abandoned by a decision of the council and troop captain this week. At the formal ceremony girl scouts were to have received official recognition of their efforts during the past year.

The fact that many scouts were leaving on vacations and a few were ill influenced the postponement. It was reported.

Ten girls have successfully completed a 12 weeks Red Cross course in order to earn "Home Nurse" badges. LET'S BE CAREFUL

World war veterans who are tempted to blow their bonus money in reckless extravagance should remember the incident of 1931. By the veterans act of that year they were enabled to borrow up to one-half of their adjusted compensation certificates at 4 1/2 per cent interest. Many borrowed who needed it. Others who borrowed now wish they had the full face value of their certificates in bonds rather than half of it. Remember, the bonds are governmental obligations paying 3 per cent interest. They can be sold at any time a real need arises. They are good insurance for a veteran's dependents.

RAILROAD'S ANSWER

This American citizen used to travel by railroad whenever he went anywhere, for the very good reason that there was no other way of getting there. In the fullness of time, however, automobiles and buses were placed at his disposal, and then he made an interesting discovery.

He found that if he used one or the other of these conveyances he could get where he was going for less money than he would have to pay the railroads to carry him. And in that moment the troubles of the railroads began.

Passenger trains that used to run regularly in two and three sections started running in one. Local trains died pitifully among the rolling hills and grassy plains of the rural districts. Pullman porters grew well-learned from looking at cars in which they had only three or four cash customers.

And the railroads' income from passenger trains dropped and dropped as if the bottom of all things had been removed.

A few years ago certain western and southern roads began to meditate on the American's fondness for bargains, and decided that if cheap travel was what the citizen wanted, cheap travel was what he would have. So they cut fares and waited to see what would happen.

What happened was enlightening. Travel by train began to increase again. With it, in spite of the lower rates, rose passenger train incomes. The supposedly moribund passenger business began to sit up in bed and ask for solid foods.

Business goes to the man who sells the most for the least. This holds good for railroads just as it does for other lines of business.

WHERE CAN YOUNG PEOPLE LOCATE?

An editorial writer for an Illinois weekly newspaper discussed recently the continuance of education for those high school students who are graduated in small towns this and next month.

The young folks, themselves, he concluded, should be the ones to determine their future course. Those who could financially afford it were urged to attend college as a further preparation for earning their way in life.

Another problem that arises at this time of year, every year, but of more concern during the recent depression years, is where the graduate from a small town who is finishing either high school or college and is ready to begin work will find opportunity for earning a livelihood.

This is not only a personal concern of the young people but it is of deep interest to those persons who have enough public spirit to want to see their community progress.

In the past years, there have been too few opportunities for the young people in the small cities and this lack of opportunity has sent too many high school and college graduates who were reared in the rural communities and towns into the big cities.

Private initiative has not solved this problem in the past. Since the government has become more concerned within the last few years in a planned society and has announced an interest in the small communities here is a place to start. Young people who are ready to settle into a job and to start at home are a real asset to any small community, and most communities need more of them.—Grayville, Ill., Mercury-Independent.

IT'S SIMPLER HERE

If you are one of those who think that our American party system is too old-fashioned and ought to be reduced to a mere designation of liberals as opposed to conservatives, consider for a moment the situation in France.

There, in the recent elections, the people were faced with a lineup that would baffle the most astute political student. They were required to choose, somehow, from Communists, Dissident Communists, Radical Socialists, Independent Socialists, Dissident Socialists, and just plain Socialists. Left Republicans, Right Republicans, Popular Democrats and Conservatives.

Fortunately, our system is not yet as involved as that of France. But the increasing number of "isms" we have faced in the last 10 years is a warning.

We might in time become as hopelessly tangled up in our voting as the French. That would mean to us just what it has meant to France—ever-changing government.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Out into the hands of 3,100,000 veterans go bonds, immediately exchangeable into cash, totaling almost two billion dollars—the greatest single increase in purchasing power ever placed in the hands of consumers at one point of time. The treasury thus brings to completion its gigantic task of distributing the soldiers' bonus, mailing the bonds and providing for the offices with the cash by which to pay them.

None the less, an incentive for veterans to retain their bonds until 1945 instead of turning them into money. It is payment of 3 per cent annually on face value of the bonds, a return substantially above interest allowed on bank deposits.

None the less, the country's post offices stand ready to deliver the full cash value of the bonds, thereby permitting the flow of money into the channels of trade and industry.

What branches of business will feel most the quickening influence of the new demand for goods? The American Legion has made a survey, on the basis of which it reports expectations as follows, in percentage of total disbursements: To liquidate debts—31.4.

For acquisition or repair of homes—24.5.

For savings, education and insurance—12.7.

For investment—8.

For furniture and household equipment—7.8.

For clothing—7.

For automobiles and truck—6.2.

To extend further the nation's network of highways for the next two years, congress clears the way toward the expenditure of half a billion dollars, most of which is matched by a like amount of state funds.

The enabling measure, an amendment to the federal highway act of 1916, lacks only house approval of a conference report and signature by the president.

No money is actually appropriated, but when the secretary of agriculture approves any project submitted by the states, the federal government commits the federal government to the expenditure.

Here is the money money may be laid out in each of the two years if the maximum amounts authorized are called for (figures round to millions of dollars):

For regular highways—125.

For highways in national forests, parks, and other federal land—34.

For highways approaching or connecting national parks and national monuments—10.

Government jobs to political victors or to those who qualify under standardized tests—that is an issue which raises its head again both in the 74th congress about to end and in the presidential campaign about to begin.

In congress, the O'Mahoney-La Follette bill, gathering up the provisions of seven or eight other civil service measures now in congress, is introduced into the senate and the president is asked to make it a "must" measure.

It would place postmasterships under the rules of the civil service commission, effective January 1, 1938. In addition, some 150,000 other positions would be brought under this classification, although it exempts emergency agencies.

Justification assigned for exemption is that civil service rules would prevent the employment of many conspicuously able persons merely because they failed to have the formal qualifications called for by the commission.

The issue enters the presidential campaign at the dramatic insistence of republican presidential nominee Landon, who in effect, personally amends the platform to demand that all federal employees be chosen on a formal merit basis except cabinet members and their assistants.

A two-year story of enforcing a policy of "let the seller beware" by the securities and exchange commission in the records up to its second birthday.

The SEC is the agency set up to see that security issues offered to the public are not misrepresentations in sales literature and that security salesmen and traders on exchange do not market their wares by fraudulent means. Laws providing for these activities were passed in 1933 and 1934.

Here is what the record shows: Sales of securities up to the value of 100 million dollars have been blocked because statements made by the issuer did not meet the standards of truth and candor required by the law.

Setting up of a "rogue" gallery in which appear 22,000 persons against whom state or federal action has been taken in the past ten years for malfeasance in sale of securities.

Disbanding of five stock exchanges after investigations into their ways of doing business.

Five proceedings now under way to suspend members of exchanges for alleged "market rigging."

The Little Child Learns in the Kitchen

By VIOLA E. HOLLEY

The patter of feet announced the entrance of my little boy as he came into the kitchen this morning when I was busy preparing breakfast.

"See, I'm all dressed," he said. "That's fine," I replied. "Now what would you like to do?"

"Watch you and help," he answered promptly as he carried a chair over beside me and climbed upon it.

Watching and helping Mother in the kitchen all my happy hours for this little boy. And how many things he is learning!

"Will you bring me three grapes, please?" I said to him and he ran eagerly to bring them.

"This is three, isn't it?" he said as he came holding them all in his arms at once.

"It is oranges, not grapes," I may ask him to bring five. He comes with three and I send him back for two more.

In this way, numbers and their combinations are learned and he has an opportunity, too, in the kitchen to handle and examine objects of many different sizes, shapes and surfaces. He becomes familiar with the various tools and utensils that I use in my work.

He is learning to use his hands and to use his eyes and to use his mind in his ability to tackle new and more and more difficult jobs.

I have been surprised at times that how many things a small child can do successfully. This little boy has learned to handle and even wash dishes, to prepare his own orange juice, to pour water into a cup, to stop, and to make an egg beater to round in a vigorous fashion.

He is always eager to explore the boxes and bags of groceries and vegetables that come from the market. Sometimes he holds up an apple asking what color it is. There are many say colors to be found in the kitchen, and pleasing sounds, too. He likes to listen to the singing of the teakettle, to the running of water from the faucet or the tinkling of ice in a pitcher.

There are mothers, no doubt, who will say it is too much trouble to have a small child in the kitchen. I would say, however, or perhaps they are afraid he will break a dish or spill something.

There are such dangers, I think, in true life. I must give considerable time and thought to him no matter how busy I am.

It is with things that many times are more fascinating to him than his toys and quite as educative. I wonder where I could find a place better equipped for his learning than the kitchen.

He needs very helpful lessons in the right kind of obedience, too, as he follows directions, doing things in the right way. He learns to be orderly and to take to assume a little responsibility, taking a small share in the work of the home.

When he looked up at me smiling one day and said to me, "I'm your little helper," I felt well repaid for any trouble it may have given me in his learning.

He also learned to watch and help me in the kitchen. This little boy has learned to What's the Big Hurry?

..and here are some of the things he DID on the way up!

Between 1925 and 1934, inclusive, Chicago drivers took 1,000,000 trips to work, and drove too fast for conditions, as illustrated above. That speed is a more serious factor in deaths on highways than on city streets is indicated by the fact that at city street intersections last year deaths from automobiles numbered about 300,000, whereas on highways about 6,000, less than half the fatalities from accidents on highways.

Last year there were nearly 100,000 automobile accidents which happened on rural highways which resulted in close to 15,000 deaths.

Many of these deaths happened because drivers took chances and drove too fast for conditions, as illustrated above. Many of these deaths happened because drivers took chances and drove too fast for conditions, as illustrated above. Score Eleven Runs in First

Inning of One-Sided Contest at Cary

The Barrington Bears ran their selves dizzy in the first inning of the massacre known in different leagues as a baseball game. In scoring 11 runs against the hapless Cary outfit and continued their merriment to finish with 25 runs while Cary was collected in a classical match at Cary Sunday.

Cary's pitcher, catcher, and umpire did most of the work in the first inning. The pitcher threw the ball, the umpire called it ball, and then the catcher threw it back to the pitcher and the performance was repeated with the same results. In other words 6 men were walked and 11 runs scored. The other runs were scored on errors and a circuit cut.

E. Altenburg on his second trip to the plate. During the first inning big grade 15 batters faced the opposing Cary moundmen.

The Bears were content to cool in from there in a quiet manner, breaking loose again in the fourth and seventh to score four runs each stanza to show that they could be done. Every available Barrington man played in the contest and things took a new turn finally substituted C. Lipofsky of Barrington's Landis of baseball, first base. His efforts were meritorious but fruitless.

Al Heitman did the hurling for Cary for Barrington and struck six while giving the shock to the six errors were being made. By Cary batters struck out six Bears gave up 11 passes and eight runs were made.
