

"The Singing Kid" Brings Al Jolson to Catlow Theatre

"Under Two Flags," Featuring Prominent Stars, Is Also Billed

A mystery-detective yarn that adds a running-fire of merriment along with thrills and suspense, is the description of "Marron on a Hidden Path," playing the Catlow theatre, Friday.

James Gleason plays the role of the wise-cracking Brooklyn sleuth, while Helen Broderick takes the part of the spinster detective who shares the inspector's assurance by reconstructing the crime from evidence that has escaped him entirely.

Thursday brings Peter B. Kyne's widely read romance, "Three God-fathers," with Chester Morris, Lewis Stone and Walter Brennan playing the roles of the three bandits.

Ernie Hervey takes the feminine lead, with Sidney Toler and Roger Imhoff cast in important parts.

A new high spot in film production, even for Al Jolson, is his latest feature, "The Singing Kid," booked for Sunday and Monday.

It is a tuneful tour for Hollywood to Harlem with Cab Calloway and his band, The Yacht Club Boys, with Sybil Jason, Edward Everett Horton, Claire Dodd and Allen Jenkins assisting Jolson in the singing feat. Hi-De-Ho show of the season.

"Sutter's Gold," with Edward Arnold, Binnie Barnes and Lee Tracy will be the bargain offering for Tuesday.

The twist to this story of gold and the wild rush in the day of '49 is not fictional, but rests on facts connected with the life of General Sutter.

Sutter colonized a portion of territory now known as California. His land was discovered the gold which brought 100,000 wild-eyed treasure seekers within a year.

Their frenzied lawlessness brings ruin to Sutter and his "empire," and it is this train of events that forms the story of "Sutter's Gold."

The following Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be devoted to the screening of the great spectacle drama of the Puritan Colon, "Under Two Flags." Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert, Victor McLaglen and Rosalind Russell are starred.

"Under Two Flags" is cited as the "Best Drama" of modern pictures—a glorious recital of man's heroism and women's devotion with the background of the burning sands of the Sahara.

Celebrate on Day of Dead on the Day of the Dead all the women in Mexico dress in their belated costumes.

Some Comets Are Tramps
Some comets regularly belong to our sun's family, and these travel in the same paths around the sun always. Others are sudden visitors from far-off spaces. These are tramps whose actions cannot be counted on, and often they disappear as strangely and as swiftly as they came. Scientists believe that they have straggled from other sun families, perhaps, and are veering crazily through space, attracted by an sun which they approach.
