Mrs. R. Huszagh and Daughter Hurt When Truck Hits Taxicab

A satisfactory recovery was reported today for Mrs. R. L. Huszagh, injured in a light truck smashup in Chicago last Thursday. Mrs. Huszagh has been suffering from a head bruise, concussion and body bruises. X-rays taken following the accident indicated that there were no broken bones.

A 1930 Buick sedan, owned by Mrs. Huszagh, was slightly damaged in the accident, which occurred in the subway under Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Huszagh and Diane, returned from a trip to Castle Park, Mich. were riding in a taxi from the boat landing toward the North Western depot, when their conveyance was struck by a Chicago Tribune truck. Mrs. Huszagh was thrown against the side of the cab and rendered unconscious for a moment. Diane, whose nose was bruised, but who was not seriously hurt, furnished information for the traffic investigation and had her mother taken to Flenoth hospital for treatment.

The store has been completely remodeled and decorated in black and white. New counters and fixtures have been installed and merchandise placed in position. A Friedrich system of air cooling and refrigeration has been installed in the meat display counter and in the ice box.

Box Car Tuesday Night

Fire of an unknown origin partially destroyed an empty box car located on a spur track of the Chicago and North Western railroad at the foot of Hager avenue Tuesday night. The blaze, which started quickly, was extinguished by the fire department but not before a large portion of wood parts of the part-steeled car were consumed.

Expect Sewer Job to Be Completed by September 1st

Installation 49.9 Per Cent
Completed; Treatment
Plant 23 Per Cent

Completion of separated sanitary and storm water sewerage system may be expected about September 1, according to information given to the board of trustees at the meeting held in the village hall Monday evening.

The Allied Bridge and Construction company has finished 75 per cent of the laying, according to its monthly report, with 49.9 per cent of the total contract work completed. The remaining items consist mostly of repair work and interception.

A. L. Jackson and company has finished 23 per cent of the treatment plant. A comparison of percentages favors the tile contractors, but this is due to heavier initial work encountered at the treatment plant. It is estimated that repair work will take considerable time on sewers.

A resume of work on the sewers, as compiled by John H. Blanke, resident inspector, shows the following lines completed, under construction, or yet to be started:

Line from treatment plant to North Hough to connect Jewel Ten sewers to be finished this week.

Hayward street line up Lageschulte and Dundee with line up North avenue to railroad.

Line on Washington street from Skinnor place to Elm and Main has already been intercepted.

Franklin street between Cook and Hough nearing completion with use of old line.

Laying storm sewer from Elm to Cook on north side of Main to start this week.

Hough street system is completed on Applebee street to the rear of the Calton theatre and will continue up Hough to Russell under the sidewalk and intercept old streets.

Russell lines are yet to be laid on north side of Russell from Grove to Lill, south side of Russell from Skinnor place to Elm and Main and on west side of Lill from Russell to Cook.

Sanitary line is to be laid on the east side of Hough from Lincoln to Russell.

Storm sewer will go from Jahnholz to Cook.

Line on Cook between Lake and Station may be used from an old system.

A 205 foot tunnel under the line on W. railroad at Summit street will be started this week.

Sanitary line will continue up Hough from Summit street and an eight inch line on south side of Russell to Spring.

A sanitary line will be laid on the north side of Russell to Prairie.

All street inlets have been cleaned up and a number of change orders in the plans have been made. All connections to the Killebuck sewer have been made in several cases old sewer line has been used with a saving to the village.

The Chicago and North Western railroad has granted the village an easement to extend the outfall sewer along 4000 feet of right-of-way to the creek at the Northwest highway.

An additional expense in the construction of the outfall sewer is expected by increased excavation made necessary when it was not possible to gain the planned easement from the state to run the line entirely along the highway.

The exact cost is being determined in conferences with village engineers and contractors.

HOME EDUCATION

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by National Kindergarten Assn. 8 W. 46th St. New York

The Child and the World He Lives In

By LOIS SNELLING

"Since you have moved to New York," Lucy Parrish said to her cousin, who was visiting her in Chicago, "the twins are going to miss most of the things about which they talk so intelligently. A child in a big city doesn't get much chance to see the world's outdoor wonders. Mine know only their own home premises and the surrounding neighborhood."

Mabel French gave her a questioning glance. "But, my dear, Harold and I have spent practically all of our time in cities since the twins were born."

"Really?" Lucy exclaimed in surprise. "But the way they talk! Why, they know so much about the things which my country child is pathetically unfamiliar—birds and flowers and trees, animals, fish, and, oh, all of the things that a country child enjoys and the city child doesn't know!"

"But haven't you ever heard the twins speak of things that the city child knows and the country child doesn't?" questioned Mabel. "Factories, museums, zoos, and so forth."

"Yes, I have. Just this morning I heard John telling my Bernice about a trip he took through a big candy factory. Bernice probably didn't understand what he was talking about, for she has never been closer to a candy factory than the corner drug store where she gets her sweets. I certainly wish, though that she and Ruth could talk about things the way John was describing that factory."

"They could, if they had a chance! Forgive me for being so frank, Lucy, but I saw as soon as I came here that you are making a mistake that so many parents make, one Harold and I have tried to avoid. I mean the mistake of not showing the children the wonders that are in the world. These wonders are everywhere. Are they not? They are in the city, the small town and the country. Harold and I have formed the habit of taking our children wherever we think they may find things of interest and learn worthwhile lessons. You say Bernice and Ruth know only the immediate neighborhood. Why, dear? You have a car! Why don't you show them some of the outstanding features of Chicago? My youngsters have learned more from an afternoon at a zoo than I could teach them in a week of lessons! And Jane is already interested in cooking, because she so loves to cook over a campfire."

"My girls never cooked over a campfire," Lucy mused, suddenly wistful. "We just never thought about it. They are still so small and—well—"

"Children are never too small to be introduced to the things that will interest and amuse," Mabel suggested. "Of course, interest cannot be forced, and its spontaneity depends on previous experience and also on mental age level."

A five-year-old and his twelve-year-old brother may be equally interested at the zoo, but their interests will differ. We should never forget that the young child's span of attention is short, and in planning trips on which he is to go, we should see that the possible interests and activities are many and varied. One trouble with waiting for boys and girls to "become older" before they are introduced to the woods with its birds and flowers and its campfire spirit, besides their present loss, is that they may grow up not to care for those things. You have seen people like that—both old and young! Never having gone out to seek for interesting things, they know nothing about them and care nothing. Nature, they are never so well educated, no matter how many colleges they may attend, as they would have been had they learned to take advantage of what lay around them."

"I want my children to have the very best education possible," Lucy declared. "I'm going to start right now. Where shall we go?"

"Well," said Mabel, "the twins once visited a big dairy with their Daddy and they came home telling me more about cows and milk than I had ever heard before. Suppose we had a dairy—it has interests for all development levels. The twins would like nothing better, and just watch your little girls!"

Replacing the former czar's phrases are the words: "My son and my father were executed and I reap the harvest of immortality. I am standing here as a cautionary screw for the country which has forever thrown off the yoke of despotism."—Collier Weekly.

Presence of Red Spider Explained by Master Gardener

If the foliage on your evergreens begins to take on a rusty color during the hot dry summer weather, it may indicate that they are infested with red spider. The red spider is a sucking insect and is responsible for a reduction in the vitality of infested plants. The insects themselves are so tiny that it is extremely difficult to discern them with the naked eye, but the presence of red spider is often indicated by the small white webs on the tree, and if a white paper is held beneath a branch and the branch shaken vigorously, the tiny red spiders may be distinguished on the white background.

This pest cannot withstand moisture, and one of the best and simplest remedies is to spray the tree with a strong stream of water, which will dislodge and kill the spiders. Be sure to wet the under side of the foliage also. Other good remedies are spraying with a glue spray, or dusting with dusting sulphur.

Remember that the roots of evergreens require that they be kept moist and cool in summer. A mulch of peat moss is very helpful in this respect.

Water your evergreens well in summer—not necessarily often, but deeply when you do water them. It is best to water in the late afternoon or evening, letting the hose run slowly around the base of each tree until the ground is saturated to a depth that will reach the deepest roots.

Plays Electric Guitar

ELMER D. HERRICK

Elmer D. Herrick will demonstrate the electric guitar which he is shown playing here at the Town Show Saturday, July 11, from 2:30 to 5:15 p. m. He is a competent player and has done concert work for a number of years. He is also a teacher with studios in many towns along the North Western from Chicago to Arlington Heights and Palatine. Barrington is his latest addition to the chain. Mr. Herrick has been teaching in the vicinity for six years.

The guitar which he uses has many exceptional advantages including sweetness of tone and volume sufficient to make it practical for either solo or accompaniment purposes with the largest orchestra. It is an ideal radio instrument, carrying full volume with no distortion of tone, and with four control buttons which permit the performer to secure the exact shade of tone he desires at exactly the right volume, instantly.

"As pastures get short, livestock will eat almost any vegetation, including such poisonous plants as black night shade, wild snake root, water hemlock, whorled milk weed and jimson weed," Pieper said.

"To prevent serious losses of valuable livestock, the poisonous plants should be eradicated or the animals kept away from them," he continued. "In following either of these practices, the farmer must first be able to recognize poisonous plants when he sees them. The local farm adviser can assist him in becoming acquainted with the more common poisonous plants or he may send any suspicious specimens to the college of agriculture at Urbana for identification."

Pieper particularly warned against the practice of turning livestock into vegetable gardens or throwing weeds from the vegetable garden across the fence to hungry animals. A cultivated place, rich in soil fertility, is ideal for black night shade, he explained. The stock is also found near old straw stacks and fence rows of cultivated fields. White snake root is found in timbered areas and water hemlock in damp places.

The practice of permitting livestock to graze the foliage of trees is also fraught with danger, he pointed out. Trees such as buckeye, wild cherry, locust and Kentucky coffee tree are poisonous to livestock. He also warned against trimming laurel, lilac and other decorative plants and feeding the branches to livestock.

Drouth Increases Danger to Stock of Plant Poison

Danger of plant poisoning which annually kills a million dollars' worth of Illinois livestock grows greater as the extended drouth adds to the poor pasture condition of mid-summer, said J. J. Pieper, association professor of crop production, college of agriculture, University of Illinois, in warning Illinois farmers against pasture practices which fail to take poisonous plants into consideration.

MONEY DOESN'T GROW ON TREES

The money which governments spend does not grow on trees. It comes, almost every bit of it, from the pockets of the men and women who work for a living. It is they who pay the bulk of the taxes no matter what may be done to make it look as though only the rich pay.

Many of our citizens really believe that a tax stays where it is originally put. They think that when the railroads, the utilities, the manufacturers and the merchants are taxed that the owners pay the levy entirely out of their own pockets. They do not see where the tax burden finally rests, because most of the time this is carefully hidden by those levying the tax.

As a matter of fact every dollar added to taxes is a dollar added to the cost of living, and approximately a fifth of the nation's income goes for taxation. Most of us, even though we may not pay income taxes, foot our share of the bill in proportion to the number of things we buy and the amount of money we spend.

Everytime we ride on a train or in a bus, every time we switch on an electric light or turn on the gas, we pay taxes. Everytime we buy food or clothing, pay our rent or board, the government extracts its part from us. We begin to pay hidden taxes on a loaf of bread when the farmer pays his tax at the court house, and before the bread gets to us more than 50 taxes have been piled on to the loaf. On a 15 cent package of cigarettes we pay a 40 per cent stamp tax, and in many states the taxes are more than the actual price of the tobacco. We pay a levy on our telephone bill, our admission to the movies, our telegrams, our gasoline.

It is impossible to escape the tax collector. That is why we should be interested in what our government costs.—Waynesboro, Va., News-Virginian.

THE POOR, THE RICH, THE CLOWNS

Incessantly one hears complaints against the rich from some of the poor who insist on creating some of these same rich.

The wealthiest newspaper man in the United States is not in the world is William Randolph Hearst.

Who gives him his enormous wealth? The plain people, the workers, give it to him. Forty years the well-to-do and wealthy have been denouncing Hearst newspapers and the working people have been buying them.

Another tremendous newspaper success is The New York Daily Times, a "tabloid," said to have the largest circulation among American newspapers. The so-called refined, polished "upper class," the Wall Streeters, have little to do with supporting it, the "workers" buy it, and they have made Major Patterson, its owner, immensely rich. The financiers and aristocrats buy the "tony" newspapers.

Who gives Miss Mae West her income of more than $300,000 a year? The rich are not one twentieth of one per cent of the people who go to her shows, and that is true of all the popular actors and most of the popular entertainers of every kind.

If one whose organizing or inventive talents bear fruits in the erection of a great factory or chain of factories giving employment to 5000 people is a rascal and oppressor because he is paid a salary of $50,000 and accumulates $3,000,000 in a lifetime, why are the publishers of clean newspapers and the lowbrow entertainers who earn double as much considered saints?

It is a singular fact that most of the prejudice against the rich has its expression in attack on those of the rich who are most useful.

The so-called "common people" seem eager to part with their last dime to the clowns.—Charleston, S. C., News.

WHY ADVERTISING MUST BE PERSISTENT

Editors have been told a million times or more by certain men in the community that they do not need to advertise because everybody knows them. Maybe so, but "everybody" can forget.

When in Columbia recently we enjoyed a visit with Floyd Shoemaker, secretary of the state historical society. While there, an inquiry came over the phone: "Who was the vice presidential candidate with Hughes in 1916?" Shoemaker could not recall, neither could the writer. We scoured through the "blue books," whose election figures, though complete, gave only Hughes' name in the tabulations. A clerk in the library finally stumbled onto a document with the missing name. The man had been for years one of the most prominent men in the nation, and for six hectic months his name was in the mouth of every citizen of the United States. Who was he? You tell!—Holden, Mo., Progress.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Less than two weeks after the republican national convention approves the declaration that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable, two moves are made by the administration to break up alleged monopoly practices in the steel industry.

One is an order of the federal trade commission requiring 15 steel companies to cease restricting "stock plates" by making tin cans to two making companies and to foreign buyers.

The other is a request to the department of justice that it prosecute four steel companies on the basis of a report from the same commission, which states that, in submitting bids on contracts with the government, collusion by the companies is complete, tangible and effective.

Each company, it is alleged, uses an agreed-on formula so as to produce identical bids for delivery steel on a given job, no matter from what company or from what plant the steel comes.

The result, according to the commission: Competition in price is entirely eliminated. The government, being required by law to choose the lowest bidder is reduced to the necessity of allotting contracts by lot or on some other principle.

Use of the formula was permitted under the NRA code, which was a concession in return for agreeing to labor provisions of the code. When the latter were disallowed by the supreme court, the industry retained the price-fixing provisions. Hence the anti-trust laws.

Says the commission regarding the collusion: "The tendency of other industries to adopt similar methods further adds to an already ominous outlook."

Is the depression cloud lifting? Three lines of evidence are brought forward converging toward an affirmative answer. They are:

1. For the fourth consecutive month the number of new jobs climbs. May showing a rise in the face of the usual seasonal contraction. The labor department shows, in the section of industry reporting it, that 58,000 persons returned to work in May, making total increase since a year ago of 550,000. In all occupations, the total gain may perhaps be twice this number.

2. Work relief rolls have dropped in the past four months by 25 per cent, leaving those still supported by the federal government's work program less by 700,000 than last January.

3. Profits earned by business so far this year are estimated to run at least 50 per cent above last year. The estimate comes from the standard statistics company, based on corporation reports.

This is the news that comes to the president as he signs two important measures fashioned by the state congress for meeting the swollen bill by the depression. One is the relief bill appropriating 1425 million dollars for support of the destitute. Hope rises that this sum will suffice with no additional request next January.

The other is the tax bill. News of tangible recovery brings with it the possibility that new revenue expected may be much in excess of the estimated 500 million dollars which had been counted on for next year.

To the supreme court once again goes the New York state law fixing minimum wages for women, the state asking a reversal of the court's previous decision, which declared the law unconstitutional. Reason why this is asked is that the previous verdict is declared to have decided merely that the New York law was indistinguishable in principle from the minimum wage law outlawed back in 1922. A reversal of that precedent is specifically requested.

The New York law and the earlier one had differed in the basis of the minimum to be set, the earlier one specifying a wage based on health needs, the later one on fair value of services and health.

Why does the law seek minimum wages for women only, and not for both men and women, as the national women's party for sex equality would prefer?

Secretary of Labor Perkins answers the question thus:

First, because past decisions of the court had indicated the most that could be expected would be a minimum wage for women and children, based largely on health considerations.

Second, because women's wages in practice are the actual minimum wage paid and experience shows that, when these are raised, wages for men tend to rise also. This is in reply to the contention of the national women's party and some labor groups that a minimum wage for women only handicaps women, preventing their employment when men can be secured to work for less.

Report Expenses of WPA Projects in Lake County

Complete figures for all expenditures up to June 15 reveal that $782,559 has been spent in federal funds in the 21 counties in this district. Sponsors have contributed $447,454. The combined amount, $620,023, represents funds spent on completed, suspended, and operating projects. Projects now under construction or temporarily halted are estimated to cost the WPA $14,707,290 when completed. Figures for district-wide projects operating in all counties are: estimated cost to WPA, $1,695,173; contributed by sponsors, $5,355; expended by WPA, $105,011.

In Lake county the total estimated cost to WPA of completed, operating or temporarily halted projects is $1,062,843; sponsors have contributed $109,525; and the WPA has expended $413,427.

Barrington Bears Lose One and Win One on Holiday Baseball Slate

Highwood Indians Sunday Opponents at Local Diamond

Lose to Downers Grove on Fourth; Beat Johnson Motors Sunday

Barrington Bears split a twin-bill over the week-end, losing to the Downers Grove nine by a score of 1 to 2 on the Fourth and defeating Johnson Motors by a 7 to 6 score Sunday. Both games were played on the local diamond.

Stanley Altenburg pitched the entire game with Downers Grove yesterday, and did a nice job of it, allowing only three runs to be scored.

The Bears, Bease started the inning in the first inning connecting with a single followed up by a single by Willie Altenburg for two runs. In the fourth, Williams also made a single and Emmitt Altenburg came back with a single in the sixth.

Chesler did the hurrying for the Downers Grove boys, striking out eight men and walking one man.

The hitting for Downers Grove was rather scattered. In the first a single was hit by B. Barnack, L. Unger started off the second with a single, followed by a single from E. Menezes. In the fourth L. Unger contributed another single.

The fifth, sixth and seventh were dead as far as hits were concerned. In the eighth a single was hit by Chesler. The pitcher, Downers Grove ended its hitting in the ninth when K. Barnack and D. Barnack connected for a single.

The Bears emerged victorious from the game with Johnson Motors defeating them by a score of 1 to 6 Sunday.

Al Hestman pitched the entire game against Johnson's with a nice showing of eleven strikeouts and only three walks with right arm. Most of the scoring done by Johnson was due to flailing misplays not faultily pitching.

Bease again started the game for the Bears with a single accompanied by singles from Willie Altenburg and Emmitt Altenburg.

In the third Lazansky hit a single, followed by a single from L. Unger in the fifth inning. The sixth was graced with a nice triple by Unger. Followed by a single from Stan, Charley Burg again hit a single in the seventh inning. In the eighth, Nolan again hit a single.

In the ninth inning the game was tied up six all on a run scored by Moody.

Going into the tenth inning, George pinch batted for Williams, connecting with a triple. Kenny was safe on an infield hit, George holding third. The inning came to an end on a long fly to center by Willie Altenburg.

Moody, who did the pitching for Johnson Motors, made a good showing with six walks and eight strikeouts.

Johnson's first hit was made in the third inning with a single by M. Stanak. In the fourth Pastewicz made a single accompanied by a single from Lyner. A single was made by Edwards in the fifth.

In the seventh M. Stanak, L. Stanak and Moody each connected. In the eighth, M. Stanak came back in the ninth with a single.

The local Bears will meet the Highland Indians on the Barrington diamond Sunday, July 12, at 10 p. m.

Herman C. Bohnenstengel Announces

HERMAN C. BOHNENSTENGEL wishes to announce the application of his name to the store for men that has been under his active management now for many months, formerly known as Fordrecher. Herman was associated with the late Joseph Fordrecher in the conducting of the store for over twenty years. Now in the course of events, he has assumed complete interest and will henceforth conduct the store in his own name.

As one of the leading clothing stores for men in Elgin and northern Illinois, Herman's has an interesting background and heritage of dependability. The store was originally established in 1876, sixty years ago, by the D. J. Chamberlain Company and was known to many as the "Big Boston." At a later date, the business was acquired by Joseph Fordrecher and was operated under his name at the original location, corner of DuPage street and South Grove avenue until 1934. In that year Herman moved the store into its present modern quarters at 11 South Grove avenue. The policy has ever been consistent with highest quality, nationally advertised and approved merchandise at the lowest possible prices. The same service will be continued in every respect.

And now starting at 8:30 o'clock, Thursday morning, July ninth, Herman gives to the public the finest of merchandise, all regular stock, at amazingly low prices to celebrate in a great

No Baby Clinic to Be Held This Month

There will be no child health conference this month owing to reports of contagious diseases in the vicinity. It was reported Tuesday the clinic, which would ordinarily be held in the village hall Tuesday afternoon, will be eliminated this month and regular meetings will be resumed in August, according to Mrs. James Haffner, chairman of the child welfare committee of the Barrington Woman's club which sponsors the clinic and assists the rural public health nursing service in charge of the project.

Left-Handed Kings

How many have noticed that all the four kings in a pack of cards are left-handed. They are Caesar (Spade), Charlemagne (Club), David (Diamond), and Alexander (Heart)—the most powerful monarchs in history.

Lines as Spies

A German general says bees can be enrolled as spies. They have strong homing instincts and can carry messages by means of varying colors painted on their backs.

Former Resident Dies

Word was received here last week of the death of Walter Stratford of Santa Monica, Calif. Mr. Stratford was a former resident of Barrington and is survived by his widow and little daughter. Mrs. Stratford was Amanda Sandman before her marriage.

Motoring East

Dr. and Mrs. Earl E. Kleinwacher left Friday for a motor trip south and east. They were planning to stop at Mammoth Cave, Ky. and Lookout Mt. and to spend several days at Washington, D.C. It was reported.

Cape Hatteras

Cape Hatteras is a low extent of land on the North Carolina coast, forming a part of a sandbank. Here the coastline turns from northeast to due north and severe storms are frequent; so are shipwrecks. The first Hatteras lighthouse was built during John Adams' administration. This first structure of sandstone, 122 feet high, was completed in 1795. It was located more than a mile from the shore, but the Atlantic kept eroding and eating away the sandy bank that forms the dangerous cape until the old tower had to be abandoned in 1870.

How Indians Tanned Hides

One process used by the Indians in tanning deer hides was first to scrape off all fat and flesh adhering to the skin. The fat was then rubbed into the flesh side and the skin rinsed out in water repeatedly. It was a long and tedious process to create a really fine piece of buckskin, states a writer in the Detroit News, but the Indians did not mind for they had plenty of time on their hands and, anyway, the skins did most of the work. Two kinds of buckskins were created; one was white and the other smoky-tanned. The last was repeatedly smoked during the tanning process over a small fire with plenty of smoke.

Alaska's Vegetables

Although the Alaskan summer is short, the country grows everything on a large scale. For instance, potatoes weigh four pounds each. Cabbages weigh four pounds. The Boston romanesco grows as large as roses. The violet, as large as a daffodil, grows on a stem a foot high. Plenty of rain with long days of sunshine make up for the short growing season.

First Fatality in Six Years Occurs at Lake Zurich Sunday

One man was drowned in Lake Zurich at Waukegan and one died of a broken neck while diving in Lake Zurich over the weekend to make the first swimming fatalities of the year in this community and the first death in Lake Zurich in the last six years.

Walter Alechewicz, 2515 S. Forty-sixth street, Chicago, was drowned Sunday while swimming at Bangs lake at Waukegan. Alechewicz and a couple had come from Chicago to escape the heat. He had gone out a distance while swimming and disappeared. T. bathers at the lake formed a line across the lake and tried to find him and started searching for his body. They soon recovered Alechewicz, but efforts to revive him failed.

Fred Mooney, Atlantic City, N. J., a race horse groom at Arlington Park, was drowned Sunday while diving in Lake Zurich. He was injured when he dove in shallow water at Lake Zurich early Sunday morning.

According to information given to Lake county coroner, Dr. J. Taylor, at an inquest conducted at the village hall in Lake Zurich Monday, Mooney had been visiting at Lake Zurich Saturday night. Between 3 and 4 a. m. Sunday he had his clothes and dove from platform, believing the water was deep enough.

Mooney's head struck the bottom of the lake which is shallow at the point near the platform. He died shortly after the accident.

A third victim, Fred Nolles, 3540 N. Seeley avenue, Chicago was drowned in Pistakee lake when he fell from a rowboat as was stepping to the pier Sunday.

These deaths bring the total Lake county to nine since the first of the year, six in the past week.

Local dairies reported Wednesday that they had taken no action as yet on price increases to consumers as have dairies in other communities.

"Dairy farmers in the Chicago milk shed are facing ruined prices and an acute feed situation because of drought conditions not existing," declared Case. "Therefore, a price increase is welcome news to our membership."

The agreement with Chicago milk distributors represents an increase of 15 cents over the 25 cent spread over condensatory price agreed for the first 15 days of July and 20 cents over condensatory price spread for the month of June. The price increase represents an increase of 10 per cent over the arrangement for first half of the month, and 15 per cent over the June method of base payment.
