Flowers at Garden Club Show Monday Attract Throngs

Junior Group Serves Tea to Guests; Many From North Shore

Costly floral tables, children's tables, bouquets and unusual paper and vegetable arrangements characterized the annual flower show of the Garden Club of Barrington, held at Barrington Hills country club Monday afternoon.

Members of the Junior Group had been invited to contribute exhibits this year and theirs were among those which won prizes in various divisions of the show.

In former years, the ladies arranged their exhibits Monday morning and then enjoyed a delightful luncheon prior to the arrival of visitors.

Guests came from Wheaton, and several north shore clubs in addition to those from organizations in Barrington and the neighboring communities.

Mrs. Billie White was the efficient chairman of the show and Mrs. Donald Kose was in charge of ticket sales. Members of the Junior Garden club served tea during the afternoon.

Among the exhibits which were of special attention was an outdoor supper table which Mrs. Alexis deWolfe and Mrs. Samuel Ross arranged in yellow and brown with a pumpkin bush nesting in a basket of shiny leaves and red berries as the centerpiece. It won first prize in that class and an attractive floral arrangement by Mrs. William House and Mrs. James Cunningham also secured. All four are members of the Junior Garden club.

Mrs. White won a third prize in the table setting class for her unique buffet table, and another prize for her fruit and vegetable display.

Mrs. Alex Reichmann was the special guest for her charming arrangement of begonias in an East Indian vase.

Mrs. H. G. Zander's vegetables, neatly arranged in a stunning wooden dish, took first prize and Mrs. Paul Corbett's, in a cart, took second.

Formal dinner tables arranged by Mrs. John Roberts, Mrs. R. R. Hammond and Mrs. William Horne won prizes. Mrs. Hammond's use of food-looking baby's breath and eucalyptus for an all-white table centerpiece was particularly attractive.

Every member of the Garden club was required to enter one or more exhibits in the arrangement of flowers in an 8-inch standard container. Mrs. H. Stillion Hart's entry was judged best and Mrs. Robert O. Clark and Mr. Edgar H. Hetzer received ribbons for second and third places. Mrs. Evan Evans and Mrs. H. H. H. won prizes. Mrs. Hammond's use of food-looking baby's breath and eucalyptus for an all-white table centerpiece was particularly attractive.

Mrs. Arthur Jerome's adorable children's table received a blue ribbon the cunning pottery mug and bread bowls, diminutive all-white and centerpiece of attractive fruits causing considerable comment.

Slippery Pavement Cause of Accidents, Even in Summer

A slippery pavement caused by a chemical compound placed on a new strip of pavement on the highway near the Fox Creek bridge was responsible for a series of accidents Saturday night.

Approximately six cars were damaged to some extent when they went into the ditch or struck other cars. No injuries were reported.

The state highway department had paved a short strip of road Friday and in order to allow traffic to cross it Saturday, had placed considerable chemical on it to retain the moisture and prevent blistering. The heat of the sun is held to be responsible for the chemical melting.

The work of the late J. C. Plager was completed for probation by Ed. W. Plager to the circuit court of Cook county this week. Real and personal property scheduled not to exceed $10,000.

Countryside Group Will Help Enforce Conservation Laws

A cooperative movement to protect wild life and encourage strict enforcement of no trespassing and no hunting regulations will be one of the first undertakings to be undertaken by the newly formed Barrington Countryside Property Owners Association.

Frank Hecht, president, reported that the group had been organized to protect the interests of the countryside.

The group will be active in enforcing the laws and will also be interested in the conservation of the countryside.

Village to Accept $10,000 to Help Pay for Outfall

Mr. Cardwell as a representative of the estate owners the sum of $10,000, and the village on the other hand by ordinance agreeing not to hereafter at any time use the creek as an outlet for the dumping of sanitary sewage.

"As you have heretofore suggested some questions have come up concerning the outfall sewer both as to the reasons for constructing the outfall sewer and as to whether or not the $10,000 referred to, is a sufficient sum to warrant the building of the outfall sewer in preference to the condemning of right of way through the estates. At the time I recommended to the board the acceptance of the sum of $10,000, I fully considered these questions and want to again express my reasons for this recommendation.

"First, the construction of the outfall sewer provides a better improvement and.

"Secondly, the construction of the outfall sewer is more economical to the village than condemning a flow of water and effluent from the plant along the creek bed through the estates.

"I may say that the construction of the outfall sewer provides a better improvement for the reason that it prevents the water from the site of the plant from interfering with the intersection with the North West highway provides little or no flow during a considerable portion of this winter season and becomes stagnant. The creek, therefore, in its

Doctors Examine 33 Children for P.-T. A. Round-Up

Check Physical Condition of First Graders Tuesday

A total of 33 Barrington children who will enter first grade in fall registered at the P.-T. A. club at the public school for examination Tuesday morning.

Each child was examined as to height, weight, condition of eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, hands and feet. Dates of vaccination and dates at each case in which there were defects for future reference.

Two local doctors, Dr. Deane P. Brooks and Dr. Allan D. Welch, examined the children and three members of the Parent-Teachers association, Mrs. James Haffner, Mrs. F. Friedman and Mrs. Edith Wilkins, assisted with office work in connection with the clinic.

The clinic was held at the public school and was supervised by Mrs. F. Friedman, chairman of the P.-T. A. In connection with the clinic, a health round-up campaign was held by the local P.-T. A. in connection with the clinic.

Await Approval on Main Street Work

The village of Barrington is prepared to start work on its project to widen Main street from Cook street to Elm street as soon as the state highway department approves plans and specifications drafted by village engineers.

It was learned at the board meeting Monday night that the plans have not been returned by the highway department as yet. When and if they are approved by that department to complete the work.

The cost of the street widening project is estimated at $221,222. The money will be used from the fund credited to the village but not in its actual possession.
