

"The White Angel" Week-End Feature at Catlow Theatre

"San Francisco" Will Play for Three Days With an Outstanding Cast

Two of early Autumn's greatest productions are listed in the program of the Catlow theatre for the current week; they are "The White Angel" and "San Francisco." Also falling within the current schedule are "Hearts Divided," "Little Miss Nobody," "The Country Beyond," and "Border Flight."

"Hearts Divided" has its final screenings tonight. An imposing cast headed by Marion Davies, Dick Powell, Charlie Ruggles, Claude Rains and Edward Everett Horton deftly handle the characterization in this romance.

Jane Withers and Frank Morgan carry off the honors in "Little Miss Nobody," the feature playing Friday night.

It is a humorous yarn of laughter and tears concerning about the trials of a lovable and mischievous orphan whose roguish antics cast a delightful spell over the entire picture.

Comedy, Cartoon and Pathé news are short subjects on this bill.

Saturday's number is James Oliver Curwood's story of the "Mounties," riding the monolingual wilderness of trackless snows in the far Northland.

Rochelle Hudson, Paul Kelly, Alan Hale and Robert Kent have the important roles while "White Dog Hero" of the "Call of the Wild," takes a featured part worthy of star mention.

To this program will be added a group of short features, and the 9 p. m. gift event in which is included a grand prize of a $50 Zenith radio.

Humanity's immortal heroine, Florence Nightingale, will be portrayed by Kay Francis in the production scheduled for Sunday afternoon, bearing the title, "The White Angel."

Movie goers will find in this pictureization a close adherence to history, and a soul-stirring drama of suspense in the struggles and sacrifices of this sublime woman who elevated the profession of nursing to the position of dignity it now enjoys.

Ian Hunter, Donald Woods, and 12-year-old Billy Baugh in the role of the drummer boy, are names at the head of the featured players.

Fans will look to the skies next Tuesday, when "Border Flight" will be presented as the week's bargain offering.

It is the real story of the coast guardsmen who take the war on crime into the clouds, fighting smugglers on Uncle Sam's borders.

Not since the release of "Mutiny on the Bounty" has there been a production to create such a furor as the picture, "San Francisco."

The Catlow theatre announces a three-day run of this film, to begin next Wednesday.

The stars are Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald, with Spencer Tracy, Jack Holt, Ted Healy and Jessie Ralph in featured roles.

The story deals with a homeless girl who finds herself in the boisterous atmosphere of the Barbary Coast and who rises from an entertainer in Clark Gable's gambling resort and cafe to great heights as a famous opera star in San Francisco's historic opera house.

Artificial diamonds were made many years ago by a French chemist, Henri Moissan. He got his idea when they diamonds were found in fragments of iron meteorites, according to a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine.

Knowing diamonds were crystallized carbon he attempted to reproduce the conditions which had once existed in the meteorites. Dissolving carbon in molten iron he then suddenly cooled the mass. This caused the outside to harden first, forming an outer shell which contracted and exerted a tremendous pressure on the inner substance. When the entire mass had cooled and hardened Moissan dissolved the iron away with hydrochloric acid and found that tiny diamonds had been formed from the carbon.

DO YOU KNOW ILLINOIS?

By EDWARD J. HUGHES
Secretary of State

The secretary of state of Illinois is the state librarian ex-officio. The state library and archives division under his jurisdiction contains much information concerning your state. Any questions which are of particular interest to readers and which are not covered in this series will be answered immediately. Address all communications: Edward J. Hughes, Secretary of State, Public Information Department, Capitol Springfield, Illinois.

Q. Who invented the first steel plow?

A. John Deere, known as the world's most famous blacksmith. Deere came to Illinois in 1836, opened his blacksmith shop and factory at Moline and founded the company which was to make that city the agricultural implement manufacturing center of the world.

Q. What is the average number of citizens per square mile in Illinois?

A. The total land area of the state is 56,943 square miles; the average number of citizens per square mile is 135.2.

Q. How many autos were there in Illinois in 1911 as compared with 1935?

A. 35,269 autos were licensed in Illinois in 1911 and 1,342,904 last year.

Q. How many chauffeur licenses were issued in Illinois last year?

A. 78,931.

Q. Does the state library loan books?

A. The state library lends books to citizens of Illinois. Service is given direct where no local public library service is available but if there is a public library loans from the state library go through that library on the request of the librarian. There are no charge except for the transportation of the books and since the rate on library books by special permit is only 5c for the first pound and 1c for each additional pound the charges are very small. Books may be borrowed either from the general division or the library extension division.

Q. What books are loaned by the general division of the state library?

A. The general division of the state library has a good general reference collection of about 128,000 books in social and political science, economics, biography, history, general literature, natural science, technology, periodicals, and government publications. There are practically no recent novels and very few children's books in this division. Books are sent out a few at a time by parcel post for a loan of two weeks with privilege of renewal for two more weeks unless the books are in special demand.

Q. When were women first allowed to vote in Illinois?

A. In 1911 women were permitted to vote in school elections. The franchise was extended to 1913 to all offices not constitutional in their origin and the 19th amendment to the federal constitution removed their last barrier.

Q. What is the earliest original record in the state archives?

A. The proclamation by Gov. William Henry Harrison of the Illinois territory, Feb. 6, 1801, defining the boundaries of Knox, Indiana, Randolph and St. Clair counties, Illinois.

Q. Who operated the first cafeteria in Illinois?

A. The first cafeteria in Illinois was operated in 1895 in Chicago (on Adams street between Clark and LaSalle streets) by Ernest Kimball. In 1899 he moved it to the basement of the New York Life Building and remained there until 1925.

Tracks of Wagons Preserved
The last signs of the covered wagon caravans that crossed the continent during the gold rush days of the 1850's can be seen on the salt beds of Utah. Owing to the peculiar nature of these salts, the tracks of the wagons have been preserved on this desert by a distinct discoloration. — Collier's Weekly.

Snakes' Teeth Very Harmless
Snakes have solid teeth, whereas poisonous snakes have several hollow fangs linked with a poison gland.

Building Gains in Suburbs Continue

An increase in July of nearly a million and a half dollars over the same month of last year and nearly a million dollars over June of this year was reported in new building in the Chicago Suburban region. The figures are $2,350,962 for July 1936 as compared with $1,316,498 for July 1935, an increase of 71 per cent. The gain of July over June's $2,397,138 is 4 per cent.

Homes, homes and more homes—175 of them costing $1,572,741—make up nearly one-half of the total for July and with alterations, additions and repairs to homes amounting to $399,565, the total expenditure for homes is roughly two-thirds of the cost of all the building work in the Chicago region.

Building in Barrington kept pace with the general increase, with only one permit was issued by prospects for the months of August and September tend to show a small increase over July.
