in Auto Accident

Victim Visiting Home of R.
Towns; Crash Saturday
at Arlington

Miss Anna Jane Towns, 21-year-old student nurse from Clatsop, Ore., and sister of Raymond G. Towns, Raymond avenue, Barrington, died of injuries received Saturday night when the car in which she was riding, a 1930 Buick, crashed into a four foot embankment at the west end of Campbell street at Wilkie road, Arlington Heights, the day in an ambulance enroute to the Mount Prospect hospital. Her death was due to hemorrhage and shock resulting from a broken neck.

After the crash, which occurred at 1:30 p. m., during a heavy rain, Fall, she suffered a lacerated face and severe knee injury, took the girl from the car to the hospital and halted a passing motorist.

Hall testified at a coroner's inquest conducted into the death of the girl at Arlington Heights Monday morning. He related that they left Meyer's Park at 11:30 a. m. and drove west on Campbell street. He said he was traveling at 35 or 40 miles an hour. Seeing a car heading from the south, he slowed down, but when the other car appeared to be stopping for him, he kept on and attempted to make a left turn.

Afraid of hitting the other car, he continued straight ahead, he said, not knowing Campbell street ended there. The result was a head-on crash across the sloping ditch and the other car went on, he stated.

Frank Towns, father of the girl, testified that she was studying nursing and had taken her examinations the previous Thursday. She had been making her home with her brother in Barrington for a week prior to the accident.
