

"China Clipper" Week-End Feature at Catlow Theatre

"The Great Ziegfeld" Starts
Four-Day Run Tuesday;
Matinee Friday

"The Road to Glory," which finishes its run at the Catlow theatre, tonight, tells the story of individual deeds of courage and sacrifice—an intimate cross-section which was a piece of the personal heroism that redeemed the sorrows of the Great War.

Warner Baxter, Francis March, Lionel Barrymore and June Lang are starred. Performance hours are announced for 7:15 and 9:25 p. m.

The intensely human story, the all-color photography and an outstanding cast, elevated the production of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" into a film-event of more than passing interest.

Moviemakers have urged a return screening of this picture, and it is due to this demand that it will be returned Friday night. It will be remembered that Sylvia Sydney, Fred Stone, Fred MacMurray, Henry Fonda and Spunky McFarland take the leading roles; due to the length of the film, starting hours are set for 7:15 and 9:30 p. m.

Fatey Kelly has developed a group of enthusiastic followers who will welcome her Saturday night in her first feature comedy, titled "Kelly the Second." Charlie Chase, Port Kellon and Quin Williams are co-starred in this year in which Patsy trains a truck driver for pugilistic honors.

Comedy, Sportsland, Pathe news and the 9 p. m. gift event are added items of interest for the Saturday bill.

Not until American spanned the world's greatest ocean—the Pacific—could the most audacious of all air dramas be filmed. From the log of this first flight has evolved the production, "China Clipper." It will play the local theatre Sunday and Monday.

Pat O'Brien, Ross Alexander and Beverly Roberts were chosen as stars for this story which has for its setting the earth's mightiest ocean.

Bob Bencher's timely slant on "How to Vote" will carry off the biggest laugh of the season; this short subject, with a new Silly Symphony cartoon in color and late descriptive news reel, completes the Sunday-Monday program.

The Catlow theatre is announcing an extended run of the original 3-hour production of "The Great Ziegfeld." It is scheduled for five screenings, with one show only each of the four nights shown: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with a matinee Friday, beginning at 2:45 p. m. The evening show begins at 8:15 p. m.

"The Great Ziegfeld" has the greatest cast in the history of talking films. William Powell, Myrna Loy, Louise Rainer, Frank Morgan and Fannie Brice are among the stars.

Local Pastors Are Joining National Preaching Mission

Plan Eight-Day Session
Conclusion of Other Programs

A series of articles pertaining to the National Preaching Mission being conducted in many parts of this country is to be published by the Barrington Review and will be written by members of the Barrington Ministerial association. Following the Preaching Mission in Chicago, it is planned that no be conducted locally.

The first of the series of articles is written by Rev. Henry Koenig, pastor of St. Paul Evangelical church, and is as follows: "This Fall a National Preaching Mission is being conducted in various strategic centers which eventually is scheduled to bring a new or more of nationally famous preachers into 25 of the largest cities of our country. The purpose of this joint undertaking on the part of the cooperating denominations is to dramatize the fact before our nation that Christians are convinced that the promise of Almighty God, 'My Word shall not return unto me void, but shall accomplish that which I please,' is as true and potent today as it ever was.

All Christian workers realize and appreciate the fact that the preaching of God's Word, Sunday after Sunday, from the various pulpits throughout the length and breadth of our land cannot be supplanted by one united effort such as this National Preaching Mission. Nor is that the purpose of the mission. Its aim is to emphasize the unshaken faith of Christians in the power of the spoken Word of God, in the confident expectation that such a united demonstration will bring about that many who have become unmoved in the pursuit of a transitory thrills and satisfactions of life that they have no time for or interest in the Word of God, may be won to a renewed study of the Bible and a redefinition to the timeless truths set forth by God in His Holy Word.

In Chicago the National Preaching Mission will be held November 19-22. From the bulletins of the Federation of Churches we learn that, "there will be approximately 20 of the great preachers of our own and other lands visit Chicago during those days of preaching in strategic centers conducting seminars for ministers and laymen as well as you people."

Following the Chicago Preaching Mission, the cooperating churches of Barrington will sponsor an eight-day preaching mission in our village. The dates have been definitely set for the week beginning Sunday, Nov. 25, and continuing each night (excepting Saturday) until Sunday evening, November 6. The local ministerial union requests all organizations of our community who are interested in the spiritual and moral welfare of our village to give the local preaching mission the right of way that week. We are convinced that great good will come from this united effort and want you to share in it.

In subsequent articles pastors of the village will discuss the preaching mission and its purpose as they see it; they will also keep you informed concerning the details of our plans as they take more definite shape from week to week. Please look for these articles, read them, and pray for the success of this most important undertaking.

A & P to Celebrate 77th Anniversary

Next week marks the 77th birthday of A & P food stores. Back in 1859 A & P was one small store located on Vesey street in New York and from that humble beginning grew the modern A & P organization which serves over 6,000,000 customers each day.

George Huntington Hartford, founder of A & P, was newly arrived in New York in 1859 and he found himself in a position to buy an entire shipload of tea, cutting out many middleman's profits involved in such a transaction. This led him to open a store and sell his tea to the public at about half the prevailing price. America was rapidly growing at that time and it was only natural that this tea store, with its entirely new principle of doing business, should spread all over America. Since 1859 the principle of the founder has been applied not only to tea, but to all of the many food items, numbering close to 1400, now found in the modern A & P stores. They have advanced from one small store to a large organization distributing food to millions of Americans.

Announcement has been made of a large sale to be advertised in the newspapers during next week to commemorate this 77th anniversary.

Confusion or Order?
By LAURA GRAY

"Mother, what'll we do?" Jeff and Joan Jenkins, aged five and six, stood at the sitting-room door where their mother and a friend, Mrs. Knott, were talking.

"Play in the playroom," answered the mother.

"There's nothing to play with!" piped Jeff with a wan look on his little face.

"No. We want to go to Mary and Billy Knott's house to play."

"Yes, let them go!" Mrs. Knott answered quickly. "My two are alone, and will love to see your two."

"But Jeff and Joan are always at your house. I can't understand why they are not content to stay at home. We've bought them everything they can think of. Come and see their playroom!" invited Mrs. Jenkins.

"I should love to see it!" agreed Mrs. Knott.

The mother opened the door. It was a bright, airy room, but in such confusion, there was scarcely space to step inside. "You see they have everything—dolls, motor cars, blocks, trains, books!"

"They certainly have a great deal!" said Mrs. Knott, but she could not help feeling that such a room would make even a child shun the room. There were shelves, but everything was on the floor—toys, books, a jar of painting water and an open paint box, a pot of paste, dry because the lid was lost.

No table! Yes, one, but upside down and full of "things." No where but the floor to work on, and not much of that!

"Please, Mother, let us go to the playroom!"

"Do you keep a supply of toys on hand?" inquired Mrs. Jenkins.

"No, but at Christmas the children enjoy more than they can carry away at once, so I put many of them away."

"I should love to see it!" agreed Mrs. Knott.

T. B. Tax in Lake County Is General Election Proposal

Proposition to Establish a Sanatorium on Ballot for November 3

Residents of Lake county will vote upon the establishment of a tuberculosis sanatorium in Lake county at the general election November 3.

The proposition calls for approval or rejection "of a levy not to exceed one and one-half mills of each one dollar of assessed taxable property in Lake county to the extent of the statutory limit of twenty-five cents per one hundred dollars valuations for county purposes for each of the years 1937 through 1940." It has been estimated that the levy would raise $80,000.

The proposition has been adopted by the county board of supervisors, and a resolution calling for the referendum was adopted by that group following the presentation of a petition signed by more than one hundred legal voters of the county June 8.

In a bulletin issued by the Lake county Tuberculosis association urging the favorable passage of the proposition the following statements were made: "The sanatorium law, or Glack bill, which is to be voted upon the November 3 election in Lake county would solve a pressing alarming health condition at a cost estimated to be $1.50 for the average home owner."

"The Lake county Tuberculosis association has 100 cases of tuberculosis on its files and there are 22 beds in the county hospital for the care of tuberculous patients."

"A case of tuberculosis should be in a sanatorium in its early stages because of the danger of infection to other members of the family and community. Once in a sanatorium the patient can be taught how to live with his disease so that the sanatorium routine may be carried into the home when the patient is released."

In presenting the estimate of the handling tuberculous patients, the association reports that a patient could be cared for at a daily expense of $2.14 which would include surgical treatment.

THROUGH SEVEN YEARS

Seven years have passed since the Day of Reckoning in October, 1929.

Seven years have elapsed since, as some of the clergy might say, the hand of God caused punishment to be visited on the Sodas and Gomorras of modern times.

Seven years have passed since the easy-going ways of the speculator with fascinating allurements drew millions to the ticker tape.

Seven years have passed since the high-pressure salesmen who sold bank stocks, and aviation stocks and equities in unusable skyscrapers found themselves confronted by the inexorable law of value, the down-to-earth calculation which coldly appraises wealth in terms of goods produced and not just imagined.

Less than seven years have passed since we began visiting our wrath on the "money changers" and on the "crooks" of big business and high finance with so little, ah so little, blame on ourselves as the true disciples of cupidity and selfishness who wanted not to earn but to get something for nothing.

When business breaks down, when savings are wiped out, when panic comes, the mood of a nation is one of reflection. The word "maladjustment" comes conspicuously into the vocabulary of the reformer who begins to urge at once a surgical operation on the economic body.

The symptoms might be simple immortality, simple lack of character, simple deviation from the laws of honesty and fair play. But, no, there must be something deeper, something malignant. Then come the nostrums.

Depressions furnish fertile ground for all the "isms" that mankind has for centuries considered, thrown away, reconsidered, and discarded again. Over the cycles of time, there is but one true law of humanity—the law of nature.

Nature makes us acquisitive, individualistic. It permits us to conform to discipline in the common interest but it does not rationalize us into equality, economic or otherwise. It does, however, breed in every man's breast ambition, hope, a striving for betterment of his standard of living both for himself and his family.

To protect man against man, to prevent injustice, social or economic, the state is established.

The moment the state becomes master and no longer servant of the people there is tyranny.

When the state decides that a small group of elected leaders can change economic law and repeal the laws of human nature, the seeds of rebellion are sown.

During the seven years just past we have witnessed in Europe the entrenchment, for the time being, of the totalitarian state and we have witnessed in America the rise of a school of thought which believes the common man too weak to govern himself and in need, therefore, of an all-powerful and benevolent autocracy.—The United States News.

WHAT'S GOING ON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Three situations of direct concern to business men dominate the official Washington scene at this time.

Uncertainty surrounds the effect of each, although the white house attitude is that at least two of the three developments will work out to the definite advantage of American business.

The other right now is causing an acute official headache, with chance that this headache will spread to employers next January.

In the immediate line-up are the following:

1. Administrative and policy problems surrounding the unemployment, insurance and old-age insurance systems, with the time rapidly approaching when the new insurable words of the social security law take on a dollars-and-cents meaning.

2. Trade and currency problems growing from the latest realignment of gold standard currencies and the revived interest in tariffs.

3. Problems of adjustment of federal power distribution policies to fit into a possible cooperative arrangement with private utilities.

More than a market for TVA power—so the White House feels—is involved in the negotiations underway between the government and private utility interests in the Tennessee valley.

The thought is this: If that situation can be straightened out out of a legal battle long drawn out, then one important obstacle to pent-up utility plant expansion and utility re-financing may be removed.

The last depression log jam recently admittedly has been centered in the heavy industries that depend on investment spending for their activity. It is in these industries that much unemployment lies.

Of late there has been stirring in the field of railroad equipment, with some officials predicting that the rebuilding of railroads will rival the automobile boom of the 1920s for its effect on general industry.

Home industry is getting underway on an expanding scale.

But the utility industry, although power sales are expanding and in some cases taxing capacity to produce, has shown little inclination to start a broad program of plant expansion. The relationship between the federal government and the private companies is given as a reason for this hesitancy.

If the government intended to go into the business of developing power on a broad scale and of competing with private companies for the available market, utility managers wanted to go slow.

But if there now can be devised some basis for pooling government and private power so that there could be a development of markets on a cooperative basis, the hesitations might disappear and a period of plant expansion might open.

Such is the expressed idea.

The social security board, faced with administrative problems that stagger its experts, has decided to go ahead with its old-age insurance plan on schedule.

That means:

1. Registration of 26,000,000 individual workers and the setting up of savings accounts for each of them by January 1.

2. Instruction of between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 employers in their obligations and liabilities under the law, as well as in proper methods for reporting on the accounts of each of their employees.

3. Development of machinery for collecting taxes from each of these employers each month in the year.

Officials at work on this task say that no job of comparable size ever has been undertaken by the government. They are delaying a start until after the November election and as a result will have less than two months in which to carry out preliminary work.

The question of governmental right to set wages is on the way to final court decision in two different forms and in two different sectors of economic life.

In one form it comes before the supreme court in cases based on state laws which ordain the payment of minimum wages to women.

The court had to rule New York last June that its law framed for this purpose was unconstitutional. New York and two other states ask a rehearing of that case, and from the state of Washington comes appeal against a state court decision upholding a similar law even after the supreme court's verdict in June.

Reply of the supreme court is that it will not reconsider the New York law decision but will hear the case based on the Washington law.

The other form in which the wage question rises is a challenge in New York against the federal government's right to insist on wage rates on the contracts which it lets. The case concerns the public work's administration, but the principle involved is vital to the Wash-Healey act, passed last August, under which all those having contracts with the federal government must pay prevailing wages and abstain from employment of children.

Chief facts of the case: The Meach Construction company, having a contract with the PWA under which wages of $18.00 a day are to be paid, is alleged to have paid $4 a day and kept the difference.

As the government seeks to collect the unpaid wages and penalties, the company contends that

Barrington Hills

A beautiful tea given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cardwell was the occasion for an announcement of much interest—the engagement of their daughter Virginia, to Raymond Wisbey, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Wisbey. No definite date has been set for the wedding although they are hoping it can take place in the early spring.

Another very lovely party was the dinner party given Saturday night at the club by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Woodhead. Mrs. Robert Woodhead, who is a very talented violinist, was accompanied by Mrs. York and charmed listeners with several musical selections.

Mrs. Julia Otis of Chicago was a weekend guest at the home of her sister Mrs. Arthur Scott of Wauconda.

Mrs. Arthur Scott and Mrs. Frederick Gross of Brussels, Belgium, left Sunday night for Los Angeles. Mrs. Scott will be gone only about a short time while Mrs. Gross will remain for several months and hopes to get an apartment near Mrs. Ruth Hammond in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. McMurray of Pasadena, who have been in Chicago for some time, motored to Barrington Sunday, calling on several of their old friends.

Miss Elizabeth Howard, who is a patient at the Hilling Memorial hospital, is reported improved and hopes to be home next week.

The Kaffee Klatch meets today at the home of Mrs. M. C. Deymer, two distinguished guests at the Robert Work home Friday night were Mr. Nidrach, who is curator of birds at the Colorado Museum of Natural History at Denver, and Mr. Alfred Bailey, who is director of the same museum.

Mr. Bailey gave a most interesting talk to the members of the Barrington Bird club Friday evening. Week-end guests at the Work home were Mrs. Wilbur Blackford of Beverly Hills and Miss Harrah of the Chicago Academy of Sciences.

Mrs. Potter Smith entertained at luncheon Tuesday.

Mrs. John W. Thompson will entertain at luncheon tomorrow.

Mrs. Rosewing will give her next home review on Saturday, Oct. 23, at the home of Mrs. H. B. Ryan.

Mrs. John K. Esmond with her son Ford E. Vanlaren and Bobby Hammond, motored to Kenosha Saturday to spend the day with her daughter Mary Clara, who is a student at Kenosha hall and whose birthday was Saturday.

Mrs. McAllister of Park Ridge is again giving bridge instructions at the club every Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith motored to French Lick Springs Friday for a week to ten days' stay.

Miss Renault Smith, daughter of the Potter Smiths, and Miss Penelope Thompson, the John Thompson's daughter, are studying dancing at Bourneville at the club every Thursday.

The Mark Kemper will entertain at a barbecue luncheon Sunday.

These beautiful autumn days are luring everyone who finds it possible to the bridge paths and the golf course, Sunday saw an almost record number of riders around Barrington.

Tuna from the Pacific Our supply of canned tuna fish comes largely from the warm waters of the Pacific, off the coast of Central America and Mexico. Most of the fish are caught a thousand miles or so from the canneries, which are located in a small territory in southern California.

Bronchos Suffer 6-0 Loss at Arlington in Close Contest Saturday

Bronks to Meet Lake Forest at Lake Forest Sat.

Locals Lose Third Game 6-0 in Second Quarter of Fast Game

Saturday, the Bronchos will clash with the Lake Forest eleven at Lake Forest. Last year's Lake Forest team came out to Barrington and defeated the locals 14 to 12 in the Bronk's season opener.

Lake Forest has four veterans with them this year. All have had two years' experience. These men are Adams, center; Powles, tackle; Stanley and Kidd, backs and average 153 pounds. New men who may prove worthy are Michaelson and Williams, backs. They weigh 145 and 165 pounds respectively. Coach E. W. Lindemeyer states that "the group as a whole are small boys, only one back over 150 and he's a new man." However, Lake Forest beat Libertyville, who has a high rated team, by 6 to 2 two weeks ago and a week earlier held Niles Center to a 0-0 score, the same as Barrington. These facts speak for themselves. Prior to the Arlington game, which was the best game of the season in playing standpoint, the Bronchos are expected to give Lake Forest a stiff battle.

Saturday's Game

The fall six of the Bronchos team rolled up against them in the Arlington game Saturday at Arlington. While the Bronchos found no points it was obviously the best game thus far this season. Saturday's score of 6 to 0 has followed the locals through the season, but it is to be broken tonight or later, probably sooner. Harrah kicked off for Arlington sending the leather deep into the Bronk's territory to Caldwell. He brought it back for a short distance. Both teams based their attacks mostly on punting and line plunges. The Cards kept the punting well into Barrington territory during the first quarter. The Cards were going strong due to some excellent interference. The period ended with the ball on the Bronk's 15 yard line.

Cards Score

The Cards made their first down with difficulty through the Bronk line. Through fast plays the Cards worked the ball deep into the opponents territory. The Bronkos then punted to the equalizer. Arlington punted and recovered a fumble by Barrington on the 25 yard stripe. Mueller Card full half broke through the Bronk's tackle to score. The Cards looked for the extra point but the ball was too low and to one side. The Bronchos took the ball after the kick-off to Arlington's 25 yard mark. A pass was attempted

Awaiting Opening of Midwest Field Trials Here Saturday

Shown above is the type dog, Labrador retrievers, that will compete with other types of the same breed and water spaniels at the second meeting of the Midwest Field Trials association to be held on the Magnuson estate on Dundas road. The meet starts Saturday and closes Sunday evening with live pheasants and ducks under. The program, which brings to Barrington many championship dogs of the retriever type, will start at 9 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. each day. The association has extended an invitation to the public to the trials which have no admission charge.

"The democrats were going to cut down the number of men and women on the federal payroll. That was the promise. But the accomplishment is an addition of 250,000 civil government employees. They were going to stabilize the currency; so they gave us a 59 cent dollar."

Mrs. Russell in speaking on the subject of communism in America told why she is a member of the Liberty League. She attacked the social security act declaring that a man can pay the same amount of old age annuity insurance for $20 a year less than the amount to be deducted from his salary for old age pension. And he would have greater assurance of receiving his old age income from a responsible insurance company than from a government accumulation of bonds administered by a group of politicians, she said.

Village trustees and engineers offered to examine the outfall sewer Sunday afternoon with Mr. Homuth and Mr. Kuhlman. The question concerned the type of fill used on several spots of peat along the right of way for the village. Village engineers contend that it is adequate while Mr. Kuhlman and Mr. Homuth felt it was not constructed to hold the fill in the soft ground.

A report of construction of the outfall sewers was ordered prepared by the engineers and presented at a later board meeting.

Double Liability on Bank Stock to Stop July 1, 1937

First National Joins Other in Terminating Old Regulation

The double liability on capital stock in the First National Bank of Barrington will terminate July 1, 1937, as the result of a decision taken by the board of directors at a recent meeting and advertised in The Review this week.

This is in conformity with the revised national banking laws permitting all national banks to withdraw the double liability of the stockholders. State banking laws in most of the states have been altered to permit this change, and the result of these revisions, national and state, are that the majority of large and small banks are taking advantage of it.

The double liability provision for banks has been in effect for years. It was supposed to protect the interests of depositors, but during the various banking crises proved of little value in stabilizing institutions.
