

"Stage Struck" Comes to Catlow Sunday, Monday

"Ramona," in Technicolor, to Start Three-Day Run Wednesday

"Give Me Your Heart," with Kay Francis and George Brent starring, will be screened the last time tonight.

On Friday and Saturday moviegoers will have the chance to see translated to the screen P. G. Wodehouse's famous Saturday Evening Post story, "Piccadilly Jim."

The story revolves about an irresistibly funny predicament of that of a young cartoonist who achieves success with a comic strip depicting a family he has observed, to learn later to his intense embarrassment that his girl is a member of this clan.

The leading characters, taken by Robert Montgomery, Madeline Evans, Frank Morgan, Eric Blare and Robert Benchley, carry the story to heights of comedy that even its author did not vision at the time of the writing.

"Stage Struck," the Sunday-Monday feature number, has for its stars those sure-fire and popular actors, Dick Powell, Joan Blondell and Frank McHugh.

Patrons may chuck up in advance another clean sweep of fun, romance and song with the Yacht Club Boys and Warren William assisting in the merry-making.

A color cartoon, color scenic and late descriptive news are added subjects for this bill.

Another of the popular double feature programs is scheduled for bargain-basement Tuesday. "Bengal Tiger" and "Women Are Trouble" are the films listed, and offer a complete contrast in entertainment.

"Bengal Tiger" is a thrilling stunt picture with the circus forming the background.

"Women Are Trouble," with Stuart Erwin starring, is fast, light and funny, with comedy complications arising throughout the misdirected efforts of in-laws.

"Ramona"—without color, is one of the greatest stories of all times. But with the new and perfected Technicolor, "Ramona" becomes one of the greatest pictures ever made.

Filmed almost entirely out-of-doors, there is a sense of limit-less space. The sweeping action photography is undeniably thrilling.

"Ramona" has a cast of thousands, with lovely Loretta Young, Don Amechi and Kent Taylor in the leads.

The days on which "Ramona" is scheduled will be memorable ones to lovers of the screen, and those red-letter days will be Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

"Monoxide gas, is colorless, odorless and undetectable and is present in the exhaust fumes of all automobiles," said Secretary Hughes. It causes its victims to become drowsy and lethargic. Fresh air, however, renders it harmless.

"During the first ten months of this year it was the direct cause of approximately 60 deaths in Illinois alone."

"The greatest danger from monoxide gas results from the careless practice of starting the car on cold mornings with the door and windows of the garage closed."

Secretary Hughes in the bulletin, urged motorists to open the windows of the garage and car before warming up the motor. While driving, he said, always keep one window open; make sure that exhaust and manifold gaskets are not defective; check manifold heaters carefully to prevent leakage of the gas from this source and be sure that all floor boards are tight.

Architectural Work of O. Cerny Top of Building Stock

An article dealing with the architectural and personal background of Oskar Cerny, architect, 122 College street, is published in the December issue of the Barrington Review and is a real contribution to the knowledge of the community.

Cerny has taken in American colonial design for homes.

Mr. Cerny maintains an office in Chicago but has made many trips to Barrington for new projects in this community. The article reveals that he considers the American colonial style as one of the most suitable to the requirements of the locality but only because it is really American but because it tries to offer advantages for those who are not of dwelling.

The article further relates that "Barrington and its environs are the most beautiful place in the world better than the majority of places near Chicago from the view of new buildings and architecture."

According to Mr. Cerny, this year producing 11,000,000 worth of construction, the majority of which consists of new buildings. The homes are ranging in price from $20,000 to $70,000 and a large number of them are erected on spacious sites.

"Mr. Cerny was born June 1898 in Vienna and came to Chicago with his family in 1904. They made their home in Chicago where he attended the Altman school from which he graduated with B.S. and M.S. degrees in 1924 he won the Le Brun scholarship with a design for a read-meal center for soldiers and a year studying at the American Academy in Rome and in Italy. His home is at 122 College street in Barrington.

"One of the non-residing structures he designed is the 6th Country club. Besides being well known as one of the young architects he is an ardent collector of stamps."

Arrange Benefit for Victoria Hospital, Castries, St. Lucia

Chester Caslow, Catlow theatre, announced this week completion of plans for a benefit movie for Victoria hospital, Castries, St. Lucia, at the local theatre Saturday, Dec. 12.

Mr. Catlow, who spends his winters at the south island winter resort, has been actively interested in the hospital work being conducted among islanders by the staff of Victoria hospital. Last year a benefit movie was given here to raise a fund for the purchase of surgical equipment.

"The Count of Monte Cristo," with Robert Donat and Eileen Landi starring, is the vehicle selected for the benefit. The translation of Alexander Dumas' great classic to the screen has resulted in a noteworthy achievement in motion pictures.

The benefit is being sponsored by Lewis Hernandez, British Consul General of Chicago, and Robert Ross, British Consul of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Work and the president and executive committee of the Barrington Woman's club.

The entire proceeds of the matinee will be turned over to the hospital, as all expenses are being defrayed by the local theatre organization.

WHY STRIKES?

Modern civilization rightly urges peaceful settlement of disputes. Peace treaties are made so that millions will not die; laws are enacted providing trials because that is better than the old rule of tooth and claw.

In the field of relations between the employer and his employees the same idea exists. It is, therefore, startling to find this in the American Federation of Labor News Service clipping:

"Strikes Increase Trade Union Strength." The story goes on to deny the well-known fact that employees do make gains through negotiation. It points to the recent French strike as the model way of doing things. In effect, it says: "Don't try to settle your disputes peacefully and by negotiation or mediation. STRIKE!"

In the old days of feudal overlords, that might have been all right. But in these days, when any individual or group that suggests a strike with its hunger and deprivation and violence, without first trying mediation or negotiation, is certainly not above criticism.

It is even worse when the proposal amounts to endorsement of a general strike in which millions of persons through no fault of their own are threatened with a loss of everything, even food.

The secret, of course, is that employees who are called out on strike are more dependent upon their union, and the labor agitators want to advance the importance of their unions in the minds of union members—whatever the cost. For union leaders have jobs they want to hold, and their salaries are paid by dues.

WHEN TWO LAWS CLASH

What happens when one law conflicts with another? Under our constitution there can be no conflict between congress and courts, but only between different laws. The conflict arises because our system of government provides for laws of four different degrees of authority as follows:

1. The Federal Constitution (the "supreme law");
2. Federal laws passed by congress;
3. State constitutions;
4. State statutes passed by state legislatures.

State laws (3 or 4) are inferior to federal laws (1 or 2) and a law passed by congress (2) is inferior to the constitution (1).

Obviously, a citizen cannot obey two laws that conflict with each other, because if he obeys one he disobeys the other. Therefore the inferior law necessarily must give way to the superior law. In such cases, "we the people" specify in our constitution that the supreme court shall act for us and decide. But the court does not decide whether a law is good or bad; it merely lays the inferior law alongside the constitution as the supreme law and decides that the two harmonize or conflict. If they conflict the court simply so states—that is, declares the inferior law "unconstitutional."

The rule is simple and the procedure unescapable: When one law conflicts with another, the inferior law necessarily must give way to the superior law.

Without such a procedure, inferior laws would take precedence over superior laws and ultimately nullify our constitution, which "we the people" specify is "the supreme law."—Max Berns, the Weekly Constitutional.

RECKLESS SPEED

The desire for reckless speed is still in the minds of many drivers. Speed to get somewhere at a wild pace, although when you get there you have nothing better to do than turn around and return. Needless, heedless hurry. Cutting all corners, taking all the chances that might be taken, beating every light and signal, driving like a demon through crowded streets.

Trying to pass everybody, talking, laughing, eating, drinking, and in the next minute a crash.

Death!

What is the sense of it? Who is to blame? Such an occurrence or description of speed is a common report in newspapers daily. The American public shrugs its shoulders and reads on.

Not until we arouse a safety consciousness in the minds of the entire public will such recklessness stop.—Fred W. Braum in Safetygrams.

When male eyebrows are plucked out, as per an edict of the national beauty congress, what's the embattled taxpayer going to hang on by?—Milwaukee Journal.

The alphabetical agencies may have cost the country a lot of money, but not as much as WAR.—Norfolk Virginia Pilot.

The treasury-post office department appropriation calls for a mere billion dollars this year. Protests are expected from near and far.—Springfield Union.

After the federal debt has been increased 13 billion dollars to relieve unemployment, there are still more than 10 million men out of work.

WHAT'S GOING ON

(Courtesy The United States News)

An outpouring of money in extra dividends unparalleled even in the halcyon days before the depression combines with continuing reports of rising business to excite mingled gratification and concern among administration officials.

Gratification, while diffused through all agencies, taken on a special meaning for the work progress administration and the treasury.

The WPA reports continued falling off in applications for relief, promising a substantial reduction in the burden of caring for the needy.

The treasury, working on its budget estimates, revises upward again its figures regarding the amount of new revenue that will be produced by the tax on undivided profits. While the enlarged dividend payments are intended partly to avoid tax payment by the corporations, they are expected to enter the taxable income of individuals.

Such revenue is now estimated at 300 million dollars higher than it was when the law was adopted last year.

Concern over the brightening business picture is felt most by the federal reserve board, which counts the total of all checking balances and of money in circulation at 35 billion dollars—the highest in America's history. What the board fears is that this amount of active money may produce a boom too expansive for the nation and may lead to precipitate deflation later. The board has three devices which it may use as brakes.

Recognition of unemployment as a permanent part of industrial life and adoption of a common-sense method of dealing with it. Insisting on these two points, Relief Administrator Hopkins outlives before the national conference of mayors in Washington the part which he believes the government and industry should play in ordering America's business.

Support of the labor reserve, otherwise known as the job-cost plan, in a manner that preserves their morale and their skill, through wages and not by a dole, is the only intelligent and civilized way of handling the problem. Such

Anchor as a Symbol
The anchor, a Christian symbol of hope, probably originated in St. Paul's typification of the hope reposed in God's promises to the faithful "as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast."

The Birthday Child of the Week

JOAN KINGERY

JOAN KINGERY, who was four years old last Friday, November 27, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kingery, 202 W. Station street. Joan was just recovering from several days of illness when the picture was taken and was bravely determined to be a well little girl again.

PETER JAMES STURTEVANT, is a good prospect for an auto salesman, may be, at any rate he is interested in looking over the new car announcements. Peter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sturtevant, 312 E. Lincoln avenue. He was two years old Friday, November 27.

LE ROY REUTER

LE ROY REUTER was five years old Wednesday, December 2. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Reuter, Russell and Grove. LeRoy's little sister Irene was a birthday child last month.

MARILYN JANE SCHREIBER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schreiber, 108 E. Lincoln avenue, was born at her great big bunny to bed. Believe it or not, she has twin bunnies that size. She will be three years old Thursday, December 3.

DO YOU KNOW ILLINOIS?

By EDWARD J. HUGHES
Secretary of State

The secretary of state of Illinois is the state librarian et-officio. The state library and archives division under his jurisdiction contains of particular interest to readers and which are not covered in this column will be answered immediately. Address all communications: Edward J. Hughes, Secretary of State, Public Information Department, Capitol, Springfield, Illinois.

Q. When was the first anti-slavery law in Illinois passed?

A. The ordinance of 1787 prohibited slavery in the Northwest territory, of which Illinois was a part.

Q. Was this ordinance rigidly enforced?

A. No. The settlers threatened to move into Missouri and Illinois by then it was agreed that those then holding slaves could continue to hold them.

Q. When did the Illinois system of rural free delivery begin?

A. In 1897. The postmaster-general was allowed $40,000 that year for the entire United States. Within eight years this annual allotment grew to $200,000, Illinois profited by its proportionate share.

Q. When was the first school of commerce founded in Illinois?

A. At the Northwestern university in Chicago. This school was sponsored in 1908 by sixty Chicago business men.

Q. How many times has the old Chicago courthouse been moved?

A. Two. In 1904 the courthouse was shown at the St. Louis exposition. Two years later the Chicago Historical society moved it to Jackson Park in Chicago.

Q. Where did the Field Columbian Museum obtain its first specimens?

A. The initial collection was based in large part upon the various specimens sent in Chicago by the Columbian exposition.

Q. When was the Illinois State Historical society organized?

A. In 1899 at Springfield. An act of the general assembly in 1903 brought it into organic relation with the state historical society.

Q. Does Illinois legislation provide for full education?

A. Under a state law passed in 1927 any community may establish classes for instruction of persons over 11 years of age, and pay the necessary expense out of the school funds. Except for work done in Chicago, however, little

Youths Shaken Up as Car Rolls Over Steep Embankment

Three high school boys, Clyde Church, Bob Collins and Kenneth Frye, received a severe shaking up Saturday afternoon when the car in which they were riding swerved off Brinker road, rolled over and landed upright at the bottom of a 20 foot embankment.

The accident occurred about 3 p. m. Clyde had been driving north when, as he came over the hill not far south of the Seipp estate, another car (headed south) appeared. Turning out to miss it, he got into loose gear and lost control of the car which then plunged down the embankment. Bill Saul, another high school lad, was driving behind Clyde and saw the accident. He took the injured youths back to Barrington while Bob Plagge and Dick Watson, who had been driving with him, stayed at the scene with the Church car. None of the youths were seriously injured but the car was badly damaged.

Methodist Women to Present Program

Members of the Women's association of the Methodist church will meet at the church at 2 p. m. today, Thursday for a program and social hour.

Mrs. Percy Dwyer will give a talk on the "Map of Africa." Mrs. W. D. Dwyer will review two chapters of "Gospel Crosses." Mrs. Reuben Plagge will give a musical reading, "The Holy Prince" by Oscar Wilde, and Mrs. D. B. Dwyer will present a Christmas reading, "The Black Madonna." Members of all circles and societies of the church have been invited to attend the meeting.

Organize Second Class in Hygiene

A second class in home hygiene will meet at the village hall from 3 to 5 p. m. every Monday for 12 weeks if a sufficiently large number of local residents come for study regularly.

State Conservation Department Wants Data From Hunters

Prior to the hunting season, the department of conservation received approximately 5000 check pheasants and 3500 quail, all equipped with metal leg bands bearing identification numbers.

The department seeks the cooperation of hunters, asking each to return bands from birds killed to the department, accompanied by data as exact as possible as to location, date, kind of cover and also of cover. The department keeps an accurate record of all birds released, and makes every effort to release birds in locations suitable from the standpoint of food, cover and protection. It was reported. Bands and data returned to the department serve as valuable reference material in determining the original source of the pheasants for liberating birds raised on state game farms, the total of which was this year, 15,500 pheasant and 6,000 quail.

Authorities Anticipate Heavy Increase in Christmas Business

The United States postal department through the local unit has requested the cooperation of mail patrons in mailing holiday mail early in order to relieve the heavy burden encountered each year by the department.

C. C. Snyder, local acting postmaster, estimated the volume of mailing to be done before Christmas will be many times in excess of the normal volume. In order to maintain constant service, substitute help is to be employed and additional window hours arranged.

Open All Day December 19

The Barrington post office will be open all day Saturday, Dec. 19 from the hours of 7 a. m. until 5 p. m. Mr. Snyder reported on Christmas eve the regular daily schedule of hours will be kept. No service will be given Christmas day. The regular daily hours are 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Looking forward to one of the best Christmas seasons in years, the Railway Express Agency, Inc., in Barrington will have extra help so the office will be open continually from 7:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. daily beginning December 15, according to B. H. Bates, local agent.

Foreign Mailing

The latest date for foreign mailing is December 14 and postal authorities request proper declaration of packages for foreign customs to expedite delivery.

Imparting Liquors

Christmas spirits, or intoxicating liquors, are barred from the mails, postal regulations state. Any mail of that nature is to be confiscated and the sender is liable for a penalty. In mailing large unmounted photographs, the department requests heavy pieces of cardboard be used to protect the picture in the package and to prevent crushing or breakage.

Christmas Seals

Use of seals on mail or packages is permissible if used on the reverse or opposite side of the address side. If placed on the address side of the parcel or envelope, seals are often confused with stamps, a bulletin states, and for this reason the department has banned their use in that manner.

Add New Train

Effective Monday, Dec. 7, a new train was placed in service daily except Saturday and Sunday by Chicago and North Western railway in its suburban service between Barrington and Chicago. It leaves Barrington at 8:59 a. m. and arrives in Chicago at 9:23 a. m. Stops are made at Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Des Plaines, and Park Ridge.

Shoppers Pleasure Large Stocks of Shoppers in Barrington are greeted by artistically decorated show windows behind which are stores made gay with holly, bells and miniature Santa Claus cutouts and with shelves and counters heaped high with Christmas merchandise.

The spirit of Yuletide shopping is different this year. It is noticeably different from the December atmosphere of nearly every season since 1923 with the possible exception of last year when the first definite signs of recovery were felt. More persons are shopping in Barrington this December—probably more than are shopping in every community. A large and more exciting variety of merchandise greets them and among this are many good money bargains. From all appearances, prosperity has returned.
