

Judge Dismisses Motions in School and Village Suit

Grants Extension of Time to Allow More Motions; Opened Tuesday

In a letter addressed to the village board Tuesday, D. B. Ma-

The case was opened for hearing before Judge Niemeyer in the superior court of Cook county Tuesday as result of a motion by attorneys representing directors of school district No. 4 to dismiss it on the claim that they are not proper parties to the suit, and as result of a motion by attorneys for the remaining school trustees and directors to quash services and dismiss the suit.

An extended hearing was granted to both parties and both motions overruled. An extension of 15 days was granted to directors of Lake and McHenry school districts to file additional motions or answers, and attorneys for the former school treasurer were granted 30 days extension to file answer.

Attorney Maloney expressed a belief that the case will proceed.

to a hearing following the extensions. He expressed desire that the suit be settled on the facts presented without the court having to appoint an auditor to duplicate work already done.

Following is an excerpt of his letter that explains the audit's history and reasons to want the best:

"Several times recently, it has come to my notice that there seems to be some misunderstanding concerning the basis of this suit. In order that the matter may be order that the matter may be on record in the village. I desire to say that this suit is not based upon any controversial matters between the schools and the village. The litigation grows out of the fact that for many years the then treasurer of the schools and of the village kept the funds in one account in both banks. When the State bank closed, without any basis of which I have knowledge.

the treasurer determined that the village funds were all in the State bank notwithstanding the fact that for twenty years before that time the funds in both banks were treated as a rotating fund.

The treasurer turned over to the schools all funds shown to be due to their credit on his books, so that the treasurer solely on his own responsibility sought to save the schools from any loss for money deposited in the State bank while the village would thereby be required to absorb the entire loss resulting from the funds which had been deposited in the State bank. You will recall that the audit of the school funds prepared by an auditor who at that time had no previous connection with the village of Barrington showed that the schools had deposited in the First State Bank of Barrington a sum greatly in excess of the amount of money withdrawn for school purposes and that the schools had drawn out of the First National Bank more money than had ever been deposited in the First National Bank in school funds, the reverse of this situation was true with the village, the village having deposited in the First National Bank more money than had been withdrawn.

'Dodsworth' Comes to Catlow Theatre Sunday, Monday

"My Man Godfrey" Billed for Three Days Starting Wednesday

Walter Huston and Ruth Chatterton head the cast of Samuel Goldwyn's screen version of Sinclair Lewis' "Dodsworth," which comes to the Catlow theatre Sunday and Monday, Jan. 10 and 11. Huston again plays the title role of Sam Dodsworth, the easy-going American husband, in which he scored on the stage for more than two years, and Miss Chatterton has the role of Fran, the pretty, frivolous, selfish wife whom he adores.

Sidney Howard, who wrote the stage adaptation, is again author of the screen play, which is enacted by a great supporting cast including Paul Lukas, Mary Astor and David Niven.

Columbia's new drama of the Arctic regions, "North of Nome," starring Jack Holt, will play at the Catlow theatre January 12.

It is a story of adventure and romance involving Alaskan seal poachers and some upper-crust folks from civilization. Evelyn Yanshie, Gail "Big Boy" Williams, John Millan, Roger Imhoff and others are featured with Holt.

"Come Closer, Folks." Columbia's new comedy dealing with pitchmen, or sidewalk salesmen, comes to the Catlow Tuesday as part of a double bill with James Dunn topping the cast. Marion Marsh, Wynne Gibson, Herman Bing, George McKay and Gene Lockhart are also featured.

"My Man Godfrey" is a gay, debonair modern comedy, light as thalideworm, madder and merrier than a million March hares mastering the multiplication table. This Universal laugh riot, starring William Powell and Carole Lombard, opens at the Catlow theatre January 13 on a three-day run.

The screen story relates the adventures of William Powell, portraying a butler in the delightful ditty Bullock family. One daughter, played by Carole Lombard, falls in love with him. Her sister tries to have him jailed. The maid falls in love with him. The mother likes him, but she has a parlor pet of her own.

Farmhand Dies of Injuries Received When Hit by Auto

James Gibbs, 63 years old, employed on the Paul Doherty farm near McHenry, died at the McHenry county hospital in Hartland of injuries received several hours earlier when struck by an automobile last Wednesday evening. He was walking along route 176 near Burton's Bridge, two miles west of Wauconda, about 6 o'clock in the evening.

Gibbs was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Douglas Smith, residing near Wauconda, who was accompanied by her husband. He received a double fracture of the skull and compound fractures of both legs. He died at 10:30 Wednesday evening.

Smith and his wife told authorities they did not see Gibbs until he stopped in front of the car. Mrs. Smith averted the auto to one side in an effort to avoid the accident but Gibbs was struck and thrown to the pavement.

The injured man was taken to a nearby tavern and then to the hospital. He never regain consciousness.

At an inquest conducted Friday afternoon, Mrs. Smith testified that she was driving down a slight grade and that a heavy downpour of rain made it impossible to see Gibbs walking on the highway until the car was nearly upon him.

Funeral services were held at St. Patrick church in McHenry Saturday morning with burial in St. Patrick cemetery.

County Auto Death Toll Is 61 in 1936

Lake county traffic accidents took a death toll of 61 in 1936, or 58.65 fatalities per 100,000 people. This was the greatest toll since 1931 when a high of 86 lives was reached.

While 17 more lives were taken in Lake county in 1936 than in 1935, motor traffic increased nearly one-third. The major reason attributed to this was an increase in resort business which was the greatest in their history owners report and the majority of patrons came by automobile.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 1936 will set an all-time record for traffic fatalities, surpassing the 37,000 dead in 1935 by 450.

County Marriage Licenses Decrease

With December showing the first gain in the number of marriage licenses issued in any single month since County Clerk Russ Alford took office on November 1, 1935, a total of 4080 licenses were issued during the past year, or 17.7 less than in 1935.

During the past December 345 licenses were issued. This number was 41 more than was issued in December 1935.

The decrease during the entire year, as compared to 1935, is approximately 30 per cent. Including the 10 months of administration by former County Clerk Dew A. Hendee and the two months of Alford's administration in 1935, a total of 5820 marriage licenses were issued.

Lake county's banner year was in 1934, when the World's Fair in Chicago brought many couples from all sections of the country to Waukegan to be married. That year 6161 marriage licenses were issued.

In the past year marriage licenses were issued only during regular business hours of the clerk's office, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

QUESTIONABLE RESULTS

Washington's labor union leaders, to their surprise, find themselves out on the end of a limb—and they don't know how to get off.

The steamship and glass strikes are responsible. They may force labor organizations to accept legislation which they have been ducking for years but which Great Britain has had for 10 years and which even the present Labor British government won't repeal.

The story is this: Labor organizations for several decades have defeated every attempt to make them responsible, collectively, for their actions. They denied that if, during a strike, property was destroyed by strikers, the labor organization to which they belonged should be subject to a suit for damages.

Some state laws tending in that direction have been enacted, but nothing really tangible has resulted. The only recourse of a man whose property is damaged is to prosecute the individual strikers or to sue them individually for damages. Obviously, neither a prosecution nor a suit will restore the property.

That was the situation when the shipping strike started on the Pacific coast. It is still the situation. But some things have happened out there, labor organizers fear, which may lead to legislation.

For example, the price of lumber already has risen high because of the shipping strike. The lumber already cut can't be shipped. And thousands upon thousands of lumberjacks have lost their jobs and been forced upon relief because of the strike. Consumers have to pay the higher prices and the extra taxes for relief, but they can't recover from anybody.

Incidentally, folks in Washington generally are interested in a number of things that have happened in San Francisco. For instance, men who work or who run businesses within the strike zone—but who are not involved in the strike in any way—have to get special passes from picket lines before they can get to their jobs or plants. Even the United States navy, it is reported here on good authority, has been forced to obtain passes from pickets in order to load supplies aboard warships.

The glass strike started, so it is understood, because one glass factory and its workers could not reach an agreement. Other factories are out in a "sympathy" strike.

A potent factor in this dispute is that unless it is settled quickly, the "sympathy" strikes will put the whole country in a hole. Many states forbid the sale of automobiles not equipped with safety glass. The present safety glass supply is nearly exhausted. Because it is nearly exhausted, the result is not only voluntary unemployment in the glass industry, but involuntary unemployment in the automobile, steel, and other large industries.

THE OTHER SIDE

Those few who have been heard to declare that the supreme court had better take a tip from the election returns and have a change of heart "or else" are guilty of shortsightedness of the worst degree.

There are two implications in such statements that are repugnant to the American conception of free government. One is that the court's interpretations of our constitutional law are subject to its members' desires to be on this or that bandwagon. The other is that they are subject to browbeating.

Aside from the obvious absurdity of such implications, is an almost unparalleled exhibition of bad taste and ignorance.

With such declarations they indicate that they have no more sympathy with an abstract justice than a Chinese war lord.

Suppose we now set the precedent to forward some item of legislation or some minority cause, of packing, bullying or hamstringing the supreme court, thereby making it the star chamber of each successive administration. What defense would any group then have against unconstitutional repression under a thoroughly reactionary or radical regime?

BE PREPARED

A small country weekly published the following subscription notice:

"If you have frequent fainting spells, accompanied by chills, cramps, coma, bunions, chilblains, epilepsy and jaundice, it is a sign that you are not well, but liable to die any minute. Pay your subscription in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice."—Exchange.

Police say that motorists are triple parking. Well, if there's not enough room in the streets to park, let 'em use the sidewalks, pedestrians can crawl underneath or over the top—so think some motorists.

The new cotton highways are full of amusing possibilities. Fancy the distance from coast to coast being cut 1500 miles on account of shrinkage.—Milwaukee Journal.

A good speaker is one who says the things you would like to think of or say the way you would say them if you thought of them.—Heron Lake News.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Knocking five times on the door of the head offices of the General Motors corporation, Homer Martin, an ex-employee, seeks assistance with a message of significance for the entire motor industry and other industries with employees running into the millions.

The message: The voice of employees, speaking through the United Automobile Workers, demands that the corporation bargain with the union as representative of all employees in all subsidiary companies of the system. Five times the demand is made. The fifth time, the company replies:

The management will meet in conference with the union, but for collective bargaining the company will speak only through the individual plant managers, and then only with unions as spokesmen for those workers they represent and not as spokesmen for all workers.

At the same time the officials complain that sit-down strikes have tied up numerous plants and thrown nearly 30,000 out of work without as much as consultation between unions and managers regarding the grievance alleged as cause of the tie-up. Orders from union headquarters are said to be the reason for the interruptions of work.

Meanwhile in a nationally broadcast radio address, John L. Lewis, head of the committee for industrial organization, rallies the workers. He defends their course in what appears to be the beginning of a spontaneous strike that may paralyze the automobile, glass, steel and possibly coal industries.

Says Mr. Lewis: "The strike which has broken out here is the result of employer trouble. Employers who tyrannize over their employees, with the aid of labor spies, company guards and the threat of discharge need not be surprised if their production lines are suddenly halted."

"It is absurd for the General Motors corporation to pretend that its policies are settled locally. A conference must be arranged with persons who have the power to negotiate."

Mr. Lewis warns the senate committee investigating labor espionage and industrial armament that industry must be shorn of its lethal weapons lest labor men on their march to industrial democracy should have to take by storm the machine gun emplacement guarded by the rapacious moguls of corporate industry.

He warns also the leaders of industry that labor will not tolerate the use of arms against the strikers, but will expect the protection of the agencies of the federal government in the pursuit of its lawful objectives—collective bargaining as defined in the National Labor Relations act.

While other leading nations of the world confer on forbidding the export of arms to the embattled factions in Spain, America's government, though desirous of following the same policy, finds itself without the legal right to do so.

Purposes of the embargo at issue is to prevent outside nations from taking part in Spain's civil struggle and thus aligning themselves into opposing ranks of Fascist versus popular front powers.

World peace is the price at stake. Yet the department of state reluctantly grants a permit for the sale of airplanes and parts to the Spanish government since an American exporter insists that it be granted; notifies other governments of its "embarrassment."

The first shipment of war implements, valued at $2,777,000 is thus given clearance through a large loophole in the neutrality act, which expires in May.

The act forbids such export to belligerent powers, but does not cover the case of civil war. Alberto American exporters, heeding the state department's plea that shipment of armaments to Spain would embarrass the government, have refused to ship.

The event focuses attention on renewal of the expiring law. Senator Key Pittman (Dem., Nev.), serves notice of intention to seek enlargement of the act to cover civil strife.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.), proposes to fight for enlarging its scope to cover export of all materials that may be of use in war—a policy which, he declares, "may be touch on cash registers but much easier on our souls."

President Roosevelt comment: It shows the need of lodging discretionary power with the executive.

Odd Playthings

BY LYDIA LION ROBERTS
There are many things in the average home that will make odd and interesting playthings for the children, if a bit of thought and ingenuity is given to their presentation.

An old umbrella may be used in several ways. It provides an ideal cave, a shelter on a desert island or an Alaskan igloo. Balls or marbles may be rolled from the top of it to a certain spot on the floor, the one coming the nearest winning the game. Then, too, if the umbrella be carried, tiny paper kites or airplanes tied to the ribs by long strings will bob and sway merrily in the breeze as one walks along.

Great fun may be enjoyed from a large sheet of light-colored wrapping paper—a sheet larger than a child. Place the paper against a wall, let one child stand up against it with arms hanging loosely and let another child outline his figure with crayon or pencil on the paper and then fill the features and dress or suit in colors. Various hands, arms and feet may be outlined on the paper in the same way making a comical collection which can be cut out and saved for further play.

Cereal boxes of any shape make amusing faces if features are cut out and bright-colored paper pasted at the back of the holes. Perhaps the children would like to paint all over the boxes first, each box a different color. A whole circus may be evolved from these boxes if clothepins are used for the legs of the animals. Cereal boxes make fine trains; strings should connect the cars, and a large and small box may be combined to form the engine. Also, the boxes may be piled up for towers, barns or doll houses.

An unused inexpensive mirror, or an old picture frame enclosing silver or cellophane paper instead of a picture, will make a delightful skating rink for paper dolls, a pond for boats or even a glacier on the side of a cereal-box mountain, for explorers.

A discarded window shade on a roller can be changed into a morning picture if various figures and scenes are pasted on it and then it is unrolled slowly. A whole story might be illustrated by pasting on appropriate scenes, with animals and people. One may work, of course, from the bottom to the top of the shade. Both sides may be utilized.

Suppose there is no possibility of buying playthings for the boys and girls this season. The overzealous mother, reading of the possibilities of an old window shade may say, "Oh, if only had time I would make one of those 'movies' for the children." Don't be tempted, dear parent! Let the children make it. It is the making that it most of the fun.

Conservation Laws Old.
According to Authority
Definite mention of conservation of birds and trees is made in the laws of Moses over 2500 years ago, cites a writer in the Detroit News. On trees we find this: "When thou shalt beseege a city a long time in making war against it to take it, thou shalt not destroy the trees thereof by forcing an axe against them, for they may eat of them, and thus shall not cut them down (the tree of the field is man's life) to employ them in the siege." Deuteronomy 20:19.

Then touching on birds we read: "Sparrows best chance to be before thee in the way in any tree: on the ground, whether they be young ones or eggs, and the dam among the young, or upon the eggs, thou shalt not take the dam with the young." Deuteronomy 22:6.

Men and Women in the U. S.
Statistics reveal that for every three men between seventy-five and eighty years old in the United States, there are four women. For every three men more than eighty years old, there are seven women.

Branchos Lose to Arlington and Palatine; Leyden Wins Two Tills

The Leyden Eagles of Franklin Park smashed their way to victory in the Christmas basketball tournament between Arlington, Palatine, Leyden and Barrington Tuesday and Wednesday, December 23 and 24.

Barrington lost to Arlington in the first game Tuesday night by a 26 to 22 score. Leyden took the second game of the evening from Palatine in a fast game that ended with a 22 to 14 score.

Wednesday night the losers of Tuesday's games, Barrington and Palatine, played the first game which ended in a 22 to 18 score in favor of Palatine. The winners of the previous games, Leyden and Arlington, played the final game of the tourney which resulted in Leyden's 24 to 19 victory over the opponents.

The Branchos opened the scoring on free throws and led the game for the first quarter. Arlington slowly pulled away from the Branchos in the second period to lead the score 13 to 12 at the half. Barrington again took the lead in the third period until a minute of playing time was left and a Cardinal opened up with a nice open field goal making the tally Arlington 15, Barrington 17. The Branchos kept a close tab on the Cards for the last quarter trailing most of the period and were only four points behind as the final gun made the score 26 to 22.

Shooting Percentage Low
The Branchos percentage was a new low for them. Barrington worked in plenty of shots in this game, but scored only ten percent of them. The Branchos, however, had an edge over the Cardinals in charity throws scoring 14 to Cards eight. Grabenkort was high point man for the locals sinking seven free throws and one field goal. High scores for Arlington were Pingel with three field goals and three charity tosses.

Leyden Defeats Palatine
Leyden found tough competition in the Palatine Pirates and trailed most of the first half. Leyden was behind at the half 13 to 12. The Eagles literally walked away from the Pirates in the third quarter and continued opening the gap until the final gun ended the game 22 to 14.

The Branchos-Pirate game seemed the first half and ended with a 6-6 score. Palatine pulled away from the Branchos with not much of a margin which was narrowed as the fourth period closed. The Branchos ran their shot percentage a little over the previous ten per cent.

Leyden Victorious
The Arlington Cardinals led the score for the first half by a close squeeze. Leyden picked up a 6 point lead on the Cards, but lost it right away, then tied the score 12 all on a free throw. Leyden lagged again with a 17-15 tally. The Eagles then closed in to end the game with a score of 22 to 19.

Red Faber to Head State Tournament at Elgin July 20

Urban "Red" Faber will act as director of the 1937 Second Annual Illinois State championship semi-pro baseball tournament to be held in Elgin July 20 to August 5. This announcement was made Wednesday by state commissioner A. D. Dunn. The veteran White Sox pitcher will have complete charge of the competition in the state tournament. He will draw up the schedule, have charge of the umpires, rule on any protests and will personally supervise the play of every game of the championship meet.

Faber is only one of the former major league "greats" who are getting back into baseball through the efforts of the national baseball congress. Hans Wagner will again act as commissioner in chief. Last year Wagner visited most of the state tournaments including the one at Elgin. He will be assisted this year in various states by Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson and Fred Clark.

According to the Commissioner Dunn, the tournament program will differ somewhat from the 1936 tourney. This year the state will be divided into 16 or more districts, with a tournament in each district. Only district champions will be allowed to compete in the state championship tournament in Elgin. There will also be a district tournament held in Elgin which will open in June. A complete list of district tournament sites will be announced by March 1.

The first annual semi-pro baseball tournament was held in Elgin in July, 1936. It was won by the Elgin Semi-Pro club in Three gridmen of the Northwest conference in which Barrington participants were given honorable mention in the 1936 edition of the All-Illinois high school football eleven.

Jack Mountain, the Barrington Broncho's dependable tackle, Wednesday of Leyden, back and Turner of Arlington, end, were the players named.

Tuberculosis Cures Are Reducing Death Rate, Nurse States

"Our chances of enjoying good health in 1937 from the clutches of tuberculosis are four-fold greater than they were 30 years ago," were the encouraging words of the chairman of the Barrington seal committee, affiliated with the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute, the organization which sponsors the anti-tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale.

Statistics show that 30 years ago, when the Christmas Seal with the double-barred cross was introduced, more than 195 persons out of every 100,000 of the population in the country were dying of tuberculosis. Looking back 60 years, records show that one person in every 1000 became a victim of the dread "White Plague."

Miss Lillian MacLeish, the local school nurse, explained that, "Today we have enough scientific knowledge to bring the 'White Plague' under control, if not to eradicate it. But to do this requires the education of many millions of persons. Everyone must become familiar with the causes of tuberculosis and the methods of preventing it."

"Our double-barred cross Christmas Seal has been sponsoring such an educational campaign for many years. In recent years tuberculosis associations such as the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute have added a clinical program of case-finding. Our case-finding project in Chicago has provided tuberculin tests and chest X-rays for more than 20,000 Chicago high school students."

This tuberculin skin testing program is but one of the many programs sponsored by the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute for Chicago throughout the year.

Missionary to Talk at Church Meeting

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, author, lecturer, and Christian missionary to the people of Asia, will be the guest speaker at mobilization meetings of the Methodists of the Rock River conference in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Evanston, Sunday morning, Jan. 17, and in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Oak Park, on the evening of the same day. Dr. Ernest P. Tittle, pastor, will be of the morning meeting; and Dr. O. A. Fowler, host of the evening gathering.

DR. E. STANLEY JONES

Dr. Jones is probably the best-known missionary evangelist in the world today. In India, Japan, Korea, Burma, China, and in Malaya, he has been heard by hundreds of thousands of people of the educated classes. South America, a few years ago, throughout a series of meetings which he held in their principal cities, and his following in the United States and Canada is probably unequalled by any other living religious leader.

Dr. Jones was the most eagerly-sought preacher in the National Preaching mission which during the past three months held great meetings across America under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ. His address at Madison Square Garden, New York, drew an audience of 18,000 people.

Dr. Jones' visit to Evanston and Oak Park is in the interests of the "Million Unit Fellowship Movement"—a movement in the Methodist Episcopal church to make the cause of missions and benevolence a "milliard concern" of the whole denomination. This Fellowship was established at the general conference of the church, in May, 1936, and is being spread by Dr. Jones in visits to some 30 important Methodist centers throughout the country. Methodists in this area will secure tickets for admission to Dr. Jones' meeting from the pastors of their home churches.

Dismiss Motion in School-Village Suit

without giving an accounting therefor. Practically the entire amount of the money belongs to special assessment funds and unless the village recovers the funds from the schools, the taxpayers of the village will be required to make up the loss to the bond holders."

"This being the situation, I recommended to the village the filing of this suit after having exhausted every possible avenue of amicable settlement. Again I desire to express to the village my regret that it should be necessary for taxpayers in and about Barrington to engage in costly litigation over a situation, the justice of which seems to me would require some amicable settlement."
