Library News

We are calling attention this week to a place on the library shelves where those interested in farming will find books that will help them.

"The Operator, Care and Use of Farm Machinery," published by the John Deere Co., is a very complete book giving information about nearly all of the farm machinery, as follows: Part I—Plows, field plows, walking plows, riding plows, tractor plows, disk plows, harrows, etc. This one goes on through all the machinery dealing with planting, cultivating, harvesting power machinery and those dealing with soil fertility. In the 220-page book, there is a thorough manual.

Sees 1937 As Good Year for Poultry

Efficient Illinois grower may well expect 1937 to be a fairly good poultry season, particularly the latter part of the year, according to H. H. Aple, an extensive poultry raiser and writer, University of Illinois.

High prices for poultry in past few months have not been so much a matter of concern as the egg picture, he said. "In Illinois, he cited the average holdings of poultry in 1936 of 100,000, compared with 137 million produced in January of 1937. A short Illinois season in January of 1937, with an increase in the number of 1937, is all that is in sight for settlement over the outlook."

Reviews Biographies

Members and guests of the literature department of this club, at a meeting in the public library Tuesday afternoon of this week, heard a summary of worthwhile biographies published during the past year in addition to an excellent review of Kipling's autobiography, "Something of Myself to My Friends Known and Unknown," presented by Miss Elsie Wygant, director of Country Day school.

Holding up a mirror to actual life is wholesome and especially comforting to adolescents," said Miss Wygant who then went on to tell how the modern attitude toward biographies has changed so much during recent years that it's almost a different type of writing now.

Among the books Miss Wygant recommended as being of particular value to children were "Invincible Louise," Meigs; "Boy on Horseback," Meigs; "The Romantic Rebel," Meigs; "The Romantic Rebel," Meigs; "The Romantic Rebel," Meigs.

Adults enjoy a variety of biographies, she said; some authors submerge characters in the setting, giving a vivid picture of the times; others are dramatic; each includes a great deal of research. All help their readers to share experiences in other people's lives.

Those biographies which Miss Wygant endorsed for adults as typical of the modern illuminating type of writing, included "Footlights and Spotlights," "An American Idol," "Margaret Ogilvie," "B. Nashville Watt's 'Isaiah of America' and Gladys I. Teach," "Barrett of Wimpole Street," "Victoria Regina" and the strikingly different studies of Victoria penned by Lynton Strake and Edith Sitwell.

In outlining Kipling's autobiography, written at the age of 70 but not published until after his death, Miss Wygant read many revealing passages, each indicating the simplicity and modesty of the writer. Kipling constantly stressed the fact that his books wrote themselves, she said. His advice to other writers was "when your demon is in charge do not try to write consciously; wait, drift, obey."

Mrs. E. Landwer, 66, Succumbs to Heart Attack; Rites Today

Last rites for Mrs. Enoch A. Landwer, 631 Grove avenue, will be held at her late residence at 1:30 and at Salem Evangelical church at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, today, with Rev. W. A. Stauffer officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Landwer died suddenly at her home Tuesday night of a heart attack. She had been out during the day and upon her return home was suddenly taken ill. She had not been in good health for some time.

Mathilda Sophia Landwer was born near Plum Grove on August 4, 1870, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thies. She was married to Enoch Landwer in Barrington November 24, 1892.

Surviving her are her husband, three sons, Leroy, Alex and Wilbur, all of Lake Zurich; two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn McCrady of Crystal Lake and Mrs. Amelia Meyer of Barrington; four brothers, William Thies of Elgin, Edward of Chicago, and John and Charles of Barrington; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Berghorn and Mrs. Amelia Landwer of Barrington and 10 grandchildren.

Will of Henry Kropp Admitted to Probate

The estate of the late Henry Kropp of Lake Zurich was admitted to probate by Martin C. Decker, judge of the probate court in Lake county, in Waukegan last Thursday. He left an estate consisting of $6000 personal and $10,000 real estate.

Mrs. Lydia Kropp Sandman, Mrs. Rose Kropp and Mrs. Della Kropp were appointed co-executrices. Said decedent, who will leave each of the above named daughters $1000. A life income from the estate was given his wife, Sophia Kropp, and at her death the residue is to be divided among the three daughters.

J. E. Nightingale Buried Wednesday

Last rites for Joseph E. Nightingale, who died at his residence, 213 W. Main street early Sunday morning, were held at the chapel, 303 S. Cook street, Wednesday afternoon with Rev. H. L. Eagle of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Nightingale had been in ill health for some time and died of cardiac asthma.

Joseph Nightingale was born on a farm near Arlington Heights on September 13, 1859, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nightingale. He married Miss Laura A. Brown of Barrington in 1889 and the couple moved to Fairmont, Minn., where they engaged in farming. They remained at Fairmont for 23 years and then retired, moving to Barrington where they have made their home.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Arthur of Fairmont, Minn., and Roscoe of Farmington, New Mexico, a brother and five grandchildren.

Father P. Hayes Honored at Party

Rev. Father P. J. Hayes, pastor of St. Anne church, was the honor guest at a surprise party held in the parochial school hall last Friday evening. The occasion was the first anniversary of Father Hayes' pastorate in Barrington.

Following services in the church Friday evening parishioners gathered in the hall for an informal program and buffet supper. Mrs. W. P. McNamara was general chairman and was assisted by the following hostesses: Madeline Gordon Cameron, Edward Courrier, T. F. Philbin, Gertrude M. Gundelach, E. W. Olcott and Miss Natalie Bremsman. Mr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Murphy acted on the entertainment committee.

Madame Cameron and Courrier poured at the buffet table which was decorated with a lovely centerpiece bouquet of lilies.

white and yellow anemones and jonquills and attractively set with many dishes and decorations.

M. H. Schreiber, chairman of the church trustees, dwell briefly on the year's events and was followed by Father Hayes who thanked those arranging the party for their kindness.

Slaying of Agents and Gangster Case Revived in Courts

A warrant charging John Paul Chase with the murder of Herman E. Hollis, federal agent killed in a gun battle between Chase and "Babyface" Floyd Nelson and Hollis and Agent Samuel P. Cowley in Barrington on November 27, 1934 was issued in district court in Chicago Tuesday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan. Both agents and Nelson died of bullet wounds received in the fray.

The warrant was issued against Chase, who had been captured and convicted to Alcatraz prison in 1935 for the slaying of Cowley, when federal attorneys remembered that he was eligible for parole in 15 years. If Chase is granted parole in 1950, he can be immediately tried on the second murder charge. The warrant was sent to be filed at the prison.

Law Interpretation Denies Collectors Getting Tax Books

Tax collectors in Lake county will have the tax books for collections this year, according to an interpretation made by the attorney general and by the state auditor, county clerk, this week.

The attorney general's interpretation had been requested by Lake County State's Attorney Charles Mason in an endeavor to clear the question that had come up the last several years.

shown above and the largest increase comes in the town general where it is set at 45c, compared to 17c last year. This increase carries the 10c levy for poor relief made in 1934. Eliminating that the increase for normal was 1c.

The road and bridge rate is 65c, a four cent increase and the high country country club people where by the village will receive a donation of $10,000 to help defray the cost of the outfall sewer. Of this amount $6000 has been received and the balance will be forthcoming soon.

"We are indebted to Ralph Benatti, PWA engineer, who rendered valuable and ample assistance in our project."

Kelsey, Washo, Report in Hearing on County's Costs in Strike Outset

The board of supervisors of Lake county on Wednesday voted an appropriation of $11,000 for the sheriff's office to pay for deputy hire, tear gas, and other items of expense incurred when the officers ousted the sit-down strikers from the Pansteel corporation of North Chicago. Some objection to paying the sheriff's expense was offered by board members.

"I believe the sheriff should be compensated for executing the court order with regard for human life and for protecting property and should be paid," H. D. Kelsey said.

Ray Washo, supervisor from Elia, raised an objection on the claim that the Pansteel company is not highly enough assessed and does not pay its proper share of taxes to the county and consequently should defray the expense incurred in its behalf.

Charlotte Adams Will Represent Girl Scouts at Chicago Convention

Miss Charlotte Adams, daughter of Mrs. R. H. Adams, 549 S. Cook street, has been chosen to represent girl scouts of Barrington at a convention of the Great Lakes section to be held in Chicago Friday and Saturday. Only one girl in each troop is given this privilege.

approved under the last grant are to be started for extra work on the sewers and treatment plant, making the entire system a highly desired project.

"In addition to this federal government grant the village has an agreement with the Barrington Hills Country club people where by the village will receive a donation of $10,000 to help defray the cost of the outfall sewer. Of this amount $6000 has been received and the balance will be forthcoming soon."

"We are indebted to Ralph Benatti, PWA engineer, who rendered valuable and ample assistance in our project."

Paving

"The village was successful in having approved and completed a project to widen Main street between Cook and Elm street from the state gas tax fund."

"This work was under construction when it became my pleasure to announce to the village board that the Cook county highway department approved a plan to widen Main street from Northwest highway west beyond Hager avenue."

"The project is to be started this month at a cost of $50,000, all done with no village expense and no added indebtedness."

WPA Projects

"Three WPA projects are now under consideration with engineers drafting the work schedules. They include leveling and seeding parkways, repairing sidewalks and building a new water reservoir to replace the present oldest one. The method of financing, which will be a minimum to the village, is being developed by the finance committee."

Lighting Contracts

"By placing the downtown ornamental street lighting system on a meter basis last May, the village was able to save about $173.27 in the first year of operation. The cost of lighting was formerly paid on a flat basis for each light, but the meter plan has grouped them for a considerable reduction in operating cost and at the same time increasing lighting. Formerly the 53 lights contained 160 candle power bulbs and now they have 250, 400 and 600 candle power bulbs.

"A similar plan to meter Jewel Park ornamental lights is being developed following conference with Public Service company and village officials."

Bond Suits

"During the year the Volting bond suit was brought to a conclusion with the matter in controversy holding the forgeries as void and no liability on the village. Approximately $3000 was involved."

"The Kuckuck suit on over-issued bonds was also closed with some bonds declared void and others given a percentage of collections, with no liability on the village."

"No decision has been returned on the Castle bondholders committee suit as yet and the litigation pending with the school trustees, directors and treasurer is in court at present."

Indebtedness

"The general indebtedness of the village has been reduced and our statement at the close of the fiscal year will show no warrants outstanding. This is a large item and reflects a better financial condition than at any time in the last seven years."

"In conclusion, permit me to again express my appreciation for the cooperation given me by members of the board, and the wholehearted support and conscientious interest shown in their work by

Village Clerk A. C. Burand and Village Treasurer A. L. Wiedenbeck, whose work has constantly been increasing in detail.

"The work of the police department and also of the water department has been at all times satisfactory. I also desire to express my appreciation for the interest shown in affairs of the village by the attorney for the village who has given liberally of his time and effort to work for a successful conclusion of the many problems submitted him, and also for work done by the engineers in connection with the sewer problem."

"In a final analysis, I am happy in the thought that the major obstacles in the village's development have been or are about to be brought to a satisfactory conclusion. The remaining problems should be completed within the next year."

Respectfully submitted,

John Case Speaks Before Pure Milk Meeting Tuesday

Association Markets Milk for 14,500 Members During 1936 Period

Over 22 million dollars worth of milk was marketed in 1936 by the 14,500 dairy farmers of the Pure Milk association. It was revealed Tuesday by John P. Case, president, in his annual report given before the 12th annual session held in the auditorium theatre, Chicago.

Praise was accorded Pure Milk association members for their co-handle 300,000 pounds of milk daily when completed. Mr. Case also reported that the present plan of equalizing base is working out very satisfactorily, especially since the association is financing the purchase of base by the members over a period of several months to aid them in remedying their milk production situation if they desire to do so.

Built of white washed brick and white clapboard, the structure is modeled on Connecticut Colonial design. The first floor plan shows a large living room extending across the building and joined to the dining room. A lavatory, kitchen and bedroom complete the layout. A two-car garage is attached.

The second floor has four master bedrooms with two baths with showers and a dressing room. The house has been completely insulated and the windows have interlocking weather strip. The latest type air-conditioned oil burner heating plant is installed.

The Orchard Hills development is part of the Hills and Dales subdivision from the estate of the late Spencer Otis Jr.

The interior of the house has not been furnished as yet. Mr. Huszagh reported, although all fixtures are in.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lohman and Claude Rudinski attended the Northwestern-Illinois basketball game Saturday evening in Evanston.

Transparent Metal
The National Bureau of Standards says that there is no transparent metal. Very thin gold leaf is translucent but not transparent. A film of silver can be deposited on glass that will be so thin that with a proper arrangement of lights objects can be seen through it. In this case the glass supports the silver, which could not exist in a self-supporting film of the required thickness.

Drama and Music Feature Bill at Catlow Theatre

"Banjo On My Knee" on Sunday and Monday; "One in a Million" Coming

A naval air base serves as the scene for the pranks and mischief that have made Jane Withers "The Holy Terror," the title of her latest picture, coming Friday to the Catlow theatre. Anthony Marin, Lee Hay, Joan Davis, El Brendel and Joe Lewis are in the cast. With the casting of Eddie Nugent as villain, the screen production, "Man of the People," which comes to the Catlow theatre Saturday, broke a record for changing the types of screen players.

Nugent has always played light comedy roles but in the new picture he tries to steal from Florence Rice and make love to her at the same time.

In this picture Joseph Calleia changes for the first time and becomes a hero instead of a villain.

While Noel Madison gives up his usual "heavy" characterizations and does comedy work Ted Healey sticks to his type, as do Thomas Mitchell and Jane Barnes.

A drama with music, deftly relieved by comedy and enlivened by several new song hits, combine to make "Banjo On My Knee," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Joan McCrea, playing Sunday and Monday at the Catlow theatre, to a hit screen production. Add to this a story that is distinctly different in theme and plot construction; with the locale of Tobacco Road and for characters the shantybeaters who live, love and die on their ramshackle barges on the lower Mississippi and the sum total is something new in movie entertainment.

"The Mighty Treve," which is on the double feature bill Tuesday is a dramatic story told in a simple, forceful direct manner.

"Flying Hostess," starring William Gargan, Judith Barrett, and Andy Devine, is the other double feature offering.

With Bonita Henie, queen of the silvery skates, executing dazzling dances on crystal ice and romancing with Don Ameche, Adolphe Menjou pulling another hilarious performance out of his rag-bag, Jean Harsholt more lovable than ever, Ned Sparks dead-panning his way to new laugh hits, the Ritz Brothers running amusingly amok, Arline Judge cute, captivating and comical, Porrah Mine-itch and his gang playing hot rhythms on their harmonicas, and Dixie Dunbar, Leah Hay and Shirley Deane contributing beauty and hi-de-ho, "One in a Million," comes Wednesday for a three day run.

Set in a brilliant new world of delicious new thrills, "One in a Million" tells a story of love burning as sun on snow, sprinkled with fun, roaring at an open fire, with songs you'll remember as the year's big hits.

Announce Dates for Annual Flower Show

WIRE YOUR SENATOR

Uncounted hours of letters and telegrams requesting, urging and pleading congressmen and senators to vote one way or the other on the president's proposal to pack the supreme court have descended on Washington. To-date the number of messages urging them to vote against it is in the majority.

These messages have undoubtedly prevented an early steam rolling of the bill into law. They have served a purpose. But this deluge of letters which rightfully might be termed a spontaneous reaction of the majority of citizens, has begun to subside.

On Tuesday night the president made a nationwide radio appeal to the people hoping to regain the popular support necessary to pack the court so that it will interpret all laws as he and succeeding presidents want it to do. Undoubtedly his appeal will reap a tremendous response among large masses of people who do not understand the duties or purpose of the high tribunal nor the nature of the scheme behind the packing bill. This response will be in favor of packing the court.

The thinking citizens must stay on duty. Each person who has an honest conviction on the proposal should write or wire immediately United States Senators from Illinois, William H. Dieterich and James Hamilton Lewis. It is useless to write to the congressmen as passage of the measure in the lower house is already assured.

Neither senator has committed himself on the proposal. Each is waiting for total majority sentiment from his constituents. They will receive many thousands of messages of approval from certain large wards in Chicago. It is up to the residents of the suburbs and downstate Illinois to help save the supreme court and the constitution.

Write or wire your senators now!

LET THE PEOPLE DECIDE

Contrary to general impression, congress does not possess the explicit right to alter the size of the supreme court at will.

There is not a word in the constitution which vests in the legislative body any such control over the judicial branch of the government.

It is true congress assumed the right in 1879 and it has never been questioned. But there is a well-settled principle of constitutional law which holds that because a right has never been questioned does not mean it has necessarily been given validity under our constitution.

The reason the right of congress to pass a law fixing the number of justices has ever been challenged is that it has always been assumed the power to fix the number of justices would never be abused.

It has always been assumed, also, that an enlargement of the court would be based on sound reasons related to the business or procedure of the court. It has never been supposed by the American people that congress would abuse its assumed privilege by endeavoring to change the number of justices in order to bring about a change in the decisions of the court itself. This purpose has now been officially acknowledged by the president himself.

The American people never intended to grant to congress power to impair the judicial operations of their government by attempting to make the size of the supreme court contingent upon the character of the decisions of the court.

There is a simple and direct way to override decisions of the supreme court of the United States. It is to let the people do it. Decisions of the supreme court are not now and never have been irrevocable. Again and again in our history when the supreme court, as in the matter of a federal income tax law, found no justification in constitutional precedent for such a statute, the American people promptly supplied the missing power by a specific amendment to the constitution.

Recently it has been contended that a constitutional amendment would be useful whereby congress could override an opinion of the supreme court by two-thirds vote but only after an election of congress had intervened.

Such a plan mixes up numerous collateral issues and the personalities of candidates with fundamental questions of charter right and constitutional grants of power.

The better way is to follow the rule set forth in the constitution whenever the state legislatures, or the people through conventions in three-fourths of the states have ratified the amendment in question.

This wise method enables the people to decide on its merits a question of increasing or diminishing the power of their agents—the government.

Any trend which safeguards the rights of the people is a progressive trend. Liberalism and progressivism are much abused words. But in their truest sense they should be employed to describe that kind of thinking which constantly wants the people to decide fundamental questions of power not covered by the constitution.

The constitutional crisis that has just developed in America over President Roosevelt's demand that congress by legislation add six justices to the supreme court should never have arisen.

For the question is one of fundamental power to alter our form of government and the only tribunal which should be permitted to decide an issue of this kind is the sovereign people.—The United States News.

WHAT'S

(Courtesy The United States News)

Presidents have different ways of getting their ideas across in congress. Some have traded, others tried argument, still others barked heavily on party loyalty.

To the list, President Roosevelt—battling for his plan to change the membership of the supreme court—is adding others.

Senators have gone singly and in groups to enjoy a lunch in the executive offices and to discuss the court and the constitution and the election.

They have basked in the light of the president's persuasive efforts. They have sampled what he intends to tell the country on the night of March 9. They have been tipped that Mr. Roosevelt expects to make the selling of his plan a personal responsibility. And they have been asked to help out with the educational process.

It is against this background that the president's court change program moves towards its first battles on March 10.

On that day hearings start before the senate judiciary committee. And on the night before Mr. Roosevelt makes his first personal statement to the people of the country concerning the issue he has raised.

By that time, too, the law of the land will provide that supreme court judges, after ten years of service, may retire at the age of 70 and draw $20,000 a year for the remainder of their lives, free from income taxation or from the threat of reduction. Six of the nine justices can take advantage of that law.

But what are the chances that President Roosevelt will be given power to appoint additional justices to sit with those who do not avail themselves of the plan now approved by both houses of congress? What can be done if he is given that power? What are the alternatives?

Strategy now calls for senate action first. The problem at the start is to get the plan out of the senate judiciary committee and before the senate. If that problem is solved, then at present counting—it looks as if the opponents of the plan can count definitely on 35 votes and that president can count on 35 votes. Twenty-six are on the fence.

The "Peace Act of 1937"—will it keep the United States out of the next war, or drag it in? In case the act is passed, this is what Chairman Pittman.

of the senate foreign relations committee, and Chairman McElroy, of the house foreign affairs committee, prefer to call the bill which each has reported to his respective branch of congress.

Hitherto, the measures have been loosely referred to as neutrality proposals, designed to replace the present stop-gap law with a permanent declaration of policy for the United States toward the next war abroad.

Whether the bills will actually accomplish their purpose, to isolate this country from war, will come in for heated debate.

The senate debate promises to be a lively one. The opposition will be led by two of the "irreconcilables" of the days when the league of nations issue was before the upper house, Senators Hiram Johnson (Rep.), of California, and William E. Borah (Rep.), of Idaho.

In the house, Representative Hamilton Fish (Rep.) of New York will lead the opposition. He plans to file a minority report with a few days.

The Pittman and McElroy bills, while identical in some respects, differ in the degree of discretion allowed the president in carrying out the "cash and carry" trade policy.

The year 1937 has the distinction of witnessing the first epidemic of sit-down strikes in America. This new labor weapon divides administration, embarrasses law enforcement agencies and gives courts a new problem.

In the field of practice, its effectiveness is currently impressive but with signs that it may possibly be less so in the future.

As sit-down strikes have broken out in two score or more plants, state governors have divided in their attitudes. Employers in some cases have fought them with court orders but in other instances have been influenced by the motive of urgency to effect settlements lest property be damaged.

Labor leaders have felt the influence of this weapon by the added power which it has given to rank-and-file workers. Being easy to use, this strategy has frequently forced the hands of union officials and made them more attentive to the opinions of their followers. In other instances, union officials have adopted this method as less dangerous than mass picketing and often more effective.

Rules of Poetry—and Childhood

By JOSEPHINE E. PHILLIPS
"Your children always seem so happy, Mrs. Elliott. Don't they ever get cross?"

"Of course!" was the laughing reply. "They have their ups and downs. They wouldn't be normal if they didn't."

"But I sometimes wonder if the Elliotts are merely normal," said another mother broke in eagerly. "There's such a joyousness about them. Haven't you a secret about their bringing-up?"

"Well, yes," Mrs. Elliott smiled almost shyly. "I didn't suppose I should ever tell it, but it is what I would help anyone, perhaps I ought. You see, I try to think of the daily life of each of my children as a little poem."

"A poem!" gasped one of the listening mothers. "I surely couldn't compare either of my children's better-kelter lives to anything as rich as a poem. Of course, you who were a teacher—"

"But poetry isn't high-brow," Mrs. Elliott reminded her. "Poetry is for everybody. The first poems were chanted for the whole tribe, you remember, chiefs and warriors, women and children."

"Still, I don't see—" puzzled Mrs. Edwards. "How can you make a poem?"

"Oh, don't really. I only think of it that way. There are two kinds of beauty in poetry: beauty of subject matter and beauty of form. I guess we all try to give our youngsters beauty of 'subject matter' in their lives, try to keep them always in the presence of the best that happy times, rather than vicious, will come to them. And we help them to find the high lights. Even a long narrative poem has its lyric moments of breath-taking beauty, or suspense, or climax! I don't like a day to go by in which Billy and Margaret and Jack do not discover somewhere some lovely moment—and appreciate it."

"And then there is the beauty of 'form' in their daily lives. In poetry we know there are well-fitted laws about the regular recurrence of stresses and verse-patterns. I somehow compare these laws to those which must govern from the moment a tiny fairy-haired baby is first placed in one's arms—laws of health, regularity of all habits. But soon one can put variation into the steady rhythm of a baby's day, the variation of a wee bit of cuddling and play."

"Isn't that like poetry, where so much of the beauty comes from a careful balance between the established pattern and the variations from that pattern? There are certain rules of health and conduct which are inviolable, of course, but one understands these, unless we allow some flexibility and some freedom for the development of individuality, our little folks might as well be brought up 'machine-made' in an old-time orphan asylum. The discipline and in all my dealings with the children, to maintain that flexibility. Perhaps that is why they keep their joyousness. Order is freedom; that is the paradox of the well-managed kindergarten. It is also the paradox of a happy family life. And no one will deny that it is and always has been the paradox of poetry!"

"High lights—habit—order—freedom," mused Mrs. Edwards thoughtfully, gathering up her bundles. "I'd better be getting home to my own little family. I've run very good. And it might be a very good idea to try to get some regulated rhythm into their background—and help them find some high lights!"

The Birthday Child of the Week

This week's Birthday Child column contains six children whose birthdays are spread through the early part of March and two in February.

JOHN FREDERICK POPP

RAYMOND DANIEL STURM

JOHN FREDERICK POPP, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Popp, 107 W. Hillside avenue, celebrated his fourth birthday Wednesday, March 10, by having his picture taken while seated in his new car, a Christmas present from his parents.

RAYMOND DANIEL STURM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sturm, 245 W. Lake street, was very much interested in the whole proceeding when his picture was taken. Raymond is three years old today, Thursday, March 11.

JOYCE HELEN KEMP

WAYNE LISHTARTKE

JOYCE HELEN KEMP was playing outside when the photographer arrived so she decided to have her picture taken in her new snow suit. The little lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berton Kemp, 114 W. Lake street, and was one year old March 2.

WAYNE LISHTARTKE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lishartke, 320 Garfield street, was waiting for his father when he had his picture taken. He celebrated his fourth birthday March 4 and hopes to grow up and help his father on his oil route.

CONSTANCE ANNE LERE

ANN LEE JEFFRIES

The two young missies pictured above had their birthdays in February but a delay prevented their pictures being printed before. CONSTANCE ANNE LERE (at left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Lere, 420 June terrace, was one year old February 26 and is a home companion of ANN LEE JEFFRIES (at right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jeffries. The Jeffries also live at 420 June terrace so the two children are congenial playmates. Ann Lee was one year old February 10.

The members of the 1937 children's confirmation class will be held for third place in both contests. The preliminary judging will take place in the local county communities by local health center judges. The final selection will be made by the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute judges.

Compositions in the essay contest must not exceed 300 words. Each essay will be judged on the following points: originality, accuracy of subject matter, grammatical structure, and expression of ideas.

The poster contest, also open to eighth grade students will be conducted similarly to the essay contest. The final selections and the awarding of cash prizes for 1st and 2nd choices will be made by the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute. The posters can depict any health subject. They will be judged on originality, art quality, subject matter, and execution.

Bronchos Lose to Dundee 26 to 10 at Crystal Lake

Dundee Taken Regional By Winning All Games in Tourney

The BHS Bronchos suffered their destined defeat losing to Dundee by a 10 to 26 score in the Regional tournament held at Crystal Lake Thursday evening.

Dundee kept the Bronchos on the defensive, which was rather weak, most of the game and held them to one free throw during the first quarter. The Bronchos managed to break once for only five points during the first three periods and scored the remaining five in the last quarter. Numerous shots were made by the local team, but few registered. Dundee's victory can be attributed to the fact that they had a group of fast moving and accurate shooting men. While Thursday's game looked rather bad compared to the playing of the Bronchos during the last of the conference games it was a loss that was expected because of the reputation of Dundee's squad.

Dundee comes through the tournament by defeating Woodstock in the championship game played Saturday night. Dundee won all three games played in the tournament. The only close contest that they played was with Elgin. Dundee winning by one point. Dundee's victory at Crystal Lake puts them up against Rockford at Waukegan this week in the sectional meet.

Two High School Interclass Contests on Tap This Week

The annual interclass basketball tournament will be played this week. Tuesday will start the engagements with the Freshmen playing the Seniors and the Sophomores playing the Juniors. The title tilt will be played Thursday afternoon.

The ping-pong ball has finally hit the high school and will work itself out in the form of an interclass tournament which goes under way Wednesday. Representatives from each class have been selected as organizers working under Coach P. E. Clark. They are as follows: Varsity: Jepsen, senior; James Bradley, junior; Floyd Noffs, sophomore; Robert Dasecher, freshman. Each contestant will play a series of three games against his class opponents. The winners of the class games will then play for the high school honors. A total of 41 students have signed up for the tourney—ten seniors, five juniors, twelve sophomores, and fourteen freshmen.

First Zoo League Elimination Games Played Saturday

The high school Zoo League elimination tournament got under way Saturday with a round of four games played.

Schwem defeated Willard 28 to 8 in the first game. Schwem topped the scoring by chalking up 15 points. Dary and Jepsen battled out a tight game that ended in a 20 to 19 score in favor of Dary. Bradley came back after being pushed out of the running for the Zoo League honors taking Wiedenbeck 33 to 13. Nicolai, who won the league title handed Parks, the cellar champ, a close 20 to 15 defeat.

Another round of tilts will be played next Saturday and the games will continue until all but one team has been defeated.

Arrange Card of Bouts for Second Grayslake Event

The second amateur boxing show to be sponsored by the Grayslake Citizens' association will be held at the school auditorium in Grayslake on Friday evening, March 19.

The feature bout will be a return match between Aggie Palen of Waukegan and Bob Jensen of Fox Lake. These boys put up an exceptionally good scrap, and all the fans were in agreement with the referee's decision. This contest will be for 5 rounds. A team from the Franklin Park Athletic Club will appear against the pick of the Lake county fighters, which includes Chick Renahan of Round Lake, John Bolton and Donald Simmons of Fox Lake, Bob Foley and Jack Seisner of Grayslake, and Frank Vesely of Volo.

The Franklin Park boys, who are managed and trained by Danny Spunt, of Aurora, one-time all-Illinois professional fighter, are rated as fighters who will fight, while the array of names of Lake county boys assures those who attend that they will get a full show.

Lake Forest Goes to Waukegan for Sectional Tilts

Lake Forest was the only Northwestern conference team that emerged winner of the regional games and will travel to Waukegan to meet Proviso in the sectional tournament which will open Wednesday.

The pairings for the first round of the sectional to take place at Waukegan are as follows: Waukegan vs. Elmhurst, DeKalb vs. Batavia, Proviso vs. Lake Forest, Dundee vs. Rockford.

Canada's First Railway

Canada's first railway was the 144-mile Champlain and St. Lawrence railroad, between St. John and Laprairie, in the Province of Quebec (then Lower Canada), connecting Lake Champlain with the St. Lawrence river and linking the two commercial ports of New York and Montreal.

Grant Citizenship to Local Persons

Pearl Frances O'Keefe of Barrington, Carl John Carlson of Lake Zurich and Ruth Mary Croysdon of Waukegan were admitted to full citizenship by Judge Ralph Dady following examination of the applicants and witnesses by William Lemke, federal naturalization examiner, in Waukegan last Thursday.

Included with the three aforementioned, 43 other Lake County residents were also granted full citizenship. A reception and dinner sponsored by patriotic organizations was held in the Legion Home at Waukegan Monday night. The Rev. A. S. Freeman, assistant pastor of St. Joseph church in Waukegan, was the speaker. Circuit Clerk L. J. Wilmut, issued certificates of citizenship.
