LET'S PLAN A CLEAN-UP

According to the calendar, spring will be here next Sun-ay, but actually spring has arrived and settled down in Baragton already. Transplanting of the trees to permit widenng of Main street, an open winter, balmy weather, mud, and course dozens-maybe hundreds-of the first robin, have d the community to the realization that spring is All right, no argument there. But what shall we do out it?

For the last several years, this community has engaged annual spring clean-up campaigns. The village board maily decides on a date for rubbish disposal and assists sidents by hauling away winter accumulations of cans, s, and other trash. This is a very worthy cooperative ertaking and helps make the community clean, tidy and attractive. Accompanying clean-up is a fair degree of paintnd fix-up effort. The plan is admirable. Any criticism that might be

The plan is admirable. Any criticism that might be due should be directed against the limited amount of clean-upeffort and spirit and the tardy date when the campaign usually gets undervay. If the annual event is thought about and talked about enough in advance, it will attract enough interest to be successful. The date should be set for late in April rather than the middle of May, so lawns will be raked. ens planted, houses painted and porches fixed well in of Decoration Day when the community likes to apr at its best.

TRAILERS, A NEW PROBLEM

Trailer regulation is one of the most complicated and iffcult questions that will come up for consideration by numus state legislatures in the months immediately shead, eph H. Braun, general counsel of the Chicago Motor club.

Joseph II. Braum, general counsel of the Chicago notor cau, declared recently.

"Already several municipalities have taken action against the trailers and court fights have resulted," Mr. Braum said. "In some cases, the trailer wheels have been removed, and the 'traveling' fourgiour' piaced on briefs or removed, and the 'traveling' fourgiour' piaced on briefs or property of the provisions of the building code.
