

"Stolen Holiday" Week-End Feature Coming to Catlow

"Camille," With Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor, on Bill

Packing the Cagney punch-bowl with sensitivity and literaryness and told against a background that is refreshingly new and different, "Great Guy," James Cagney comes to Catlow on Friday and Saturday.

"Camille" pictures the popular star as a deputy in the weights and measures department of a large city, which depicts the rise of the department through the aid of politicians and grafters, who pocket the short weight racket.

Max Clarke plays opposite Cagney, and the picture has the romance interest generated when they appear in the "Public Enemy" and "Lady Killer."

Kay Francis, "perpetual favorite in this village, comes to the screen Sunday and Monday, in "Stolen Holiday," which depicts the rise of an obscure little French man who by every modality becomes the position of queen of fashion for the world.

The popular Kay Francis instantly captures our visions of magnificent gowns and no list of time-worn women in the country fails to include her. "Stolen Holiday" is said to be not merely a fashion show, but is a tense drama, with rioting mobs on the streets of Paris, international, political, and financial complications, and no end of suspense.

The advance reports indicate that there are plenty of "1937" to be seen as Miss Francis advances her career as a designer, the beautiful costumes are merely incidental to the story.

Gay Kidney, roamed comedies, and Alice Brady, riotous laughter, are joined as the newest comedy item of the screen. They are playing together in "Mama Says Out," on the bill at the O.A.L. on the Tuesday night.

The picture features "Mama Says Out," on the bill at the O.A.L. on the Tuesday night. The picture is a comedy of foreign society and matchmaking.

Double featured with "Mama Says Out" is "Once a Doctor," with Jean Harlow, Donald Woods, Gordon Oliver, Joseph King, Henry Travers, and Gordon Hart and Joseph Graham.

The coupling of Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor for "Camille" proven to have been a stroke of genius.

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and a brilliant cast in support, the picture love story is an ideal vehicle for the two most glamorous stars of the modern screen. The picture brings a new drama Wednesday.

The distinct direction which Cabot demonstrated in his recent work on "Romance and Justice" has been equalled in "Camille." Added to this, the characterization of Marguerite affords Garbo the most perfect role of her striking career, and Taylor, as Armand, the lover, is superb.
