

The Last of Mrs. Cheney Coming in Week-End Feature

Catlow Theatre Offer Guest Privilege for Mother's Day Attraction

In "Wings of the Morning," which was produced entirely in technicolor. John McCormack, world-famous tenor, is reminded of his ambition to own a derby winner by the climax of the film...

The "new" George Bancroft, neither hero nor villain, but the rough-hewn, lovable "no-man," makes his appearance in "John Maudie's Woman," a gripping romance co-starring Edward Arnold and Francis Larrabee, which comes to the Catlow Saturday.

Bancroft plays the role of lieutenant to Arnold, ruthless financial tycoon, who refuses to take Bancroft's advice in business and in his dealings with women—with disastrous results to himself. Gall Patrick, John Trent, Sidney Blackmer, Aileen Fringie and many others are in the elaborate cast.

For the fourth time in six years Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery are teamed in the type of intriguing comedy that has placed both in the top ranks of stardom. This time they are teamed in "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," which comes to the Catlow theatre Sunday and Monday.

In observance of Mother's Day Sunday, May 8, the Catlow theatre management has invited all mothers of 60 years or over to be its guests that day. This custom has been followed for the past several years.

The expressive flair for smart, sophisticated comedy exhibited by Melvyn Douglas in "She Married Her Boss" and "Theodora Goes Wild" and the gifted dramatic art displayed by Virginia Bruce in "The Great Ziegfeld" and "Born to Dance" have been eloquently combined in "Women of Glamour," showing at the Catlow theatre Tuesday.

Douglas appears in the role of the young artist, with Miss Bruce in the title character lead. Double featured with "Women of Glamour" is "Devil's Playground" starring Richard Dix, Chester Morris and Dolores Del Rio.

Although Ponda's famous scrap with Fred MacMurray in "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" lasted longer and laid him up for two days, his latest fight in Walter Wanger's "You Only Live Once," coming Wednesday and Thursday, was a tougher assignment, according to the star. But the battles had nothing in common, both were fighting because of Sylvia Sidney.

Speech Classes to Present Two Plays

The speech classes in the Junior high school, which have been meeting from 2:30 to 4:15 on Tuesdays and Thursdays since the Christmas holidays, will close their year's work by presenting for the public two one-act plays May 14 at the school auditorium.

The first play is "The Fifteenth Candle," a short drama by Rachel Field, while the second is a Christmas fantasy written by Don Fetherston, entitled "The Lost Princess."

The cast of the plays follow: "The Fifteenth Candle": Vedette, old schoolmate, Donald Sherman; Stella, his daughter, Ellen Jensen; Ron, another daughter, Polly Ann Brooks; Mr. Goldstein, labor agent, Marshall Staylor;

Miss Roberts, art teacher; Frances Piaggi. "The Lost Princess": prologue, Jeanette Collins; chorus, Mary Ellen Galtley; property man, Betty Weber; Bing Lo, the astro, Barbara Watson; Tee Wee, the princess, Betty Jane Witte; Lo Ho, the bandit, Adolph Triser; Hi Ho, a bandit, Bob Landrade; All See, the bandit's mother, Doris Lovendahl; Joy, the little emperor, Richard Koenig; Li Mo, his foster mother, Audrey Cameron; Hi Tee, his foster father, Bill Hong; the herald, John Hargrave; the scribe, Phyllis Roberg; soldiers, Forest Shepard, Leslie Bennett; bandits, George Whitcomb, George Hager, James Rieke; orchestra, Jeanne Flock, Jean Lovendahl, Mary Jane Blanke.

The members of the speech classes who are not in plays are helping in their production by serving on committees which are planning and assembling costumes, collecting properties and devising the necessary stage settings.
