Farm Life Subject of Sixth Annual Jewel Tea Picnic

Employees and Families to Gather for Sports and Entertainment

To a country setting on the grounds of the home office of Jewel Tea Co., Inc. in Barrington, more than 750 employees will bring their families Sunday, July 11, for the sixth annual picnic of the company. The event is looked forward to as the big get-together of the year for staff members of Jewel Food Stores in Chicago and suburbs and the employees of the headquarters office and plant in Barrington. Approximately 1500 persons are expected to be on hand.

The program of entertainment and the decorations about the grounds of this business home were planned in keeping with the theme of the 1937 Jewel Tea Jewel Farm frolic. A hay rack and a character farmer will greet the guests as they arrive at nine o'clock in the morning for a full day of fun. J. J. Weber, vice president of the Barrington employees' organization, will appear in the dress of "Old MacDonald," the farmer, immortalized by popular song. The farm atmosphere will be copied further by the presence of cows, sheep, chickens, horses, geese, ducks, and a variety of such farm equipment as plows, cultivators, and harnesses.

A picture of the size of the gathering is suggested by the volume of food which is being packed into the lunch boxes: 750 chickens, 25 pounds of butter, 100 loaves of bread, 280 pounds of potato chips.

Formal Opening of New Funeral Home

Danielsen and Willmering, funeral directors, have announced formal opening of their new funeral home at 149 W. Main street Wednesday, July 14 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Modern in every detail, the new home departs from the usual trend of chapels. The layout is designed in such a manner that it resembles a home when services are not being conducted. The main service room is like the reception room of a large home or club house. Attractive lamps, upholstered chairs and small tables add a decorative touch. Venetian blinds and green brocade drapery ornament the windows, complementing the copper-rust carpeting. Similar drapes are used at arched doorways throughout the rooms. All woodwork is walnut.

A smaller service room, of similar design but slightly different color scheme, adjoins the larger one and will be used when two funerals are being held at the same time. A music room, family room, and lavatories complete the main floor.

Downstairs are the display room, an operating room containing modern equipment of sanitary construction and the heating plant.

A four-car garage adjoins the main floor at the rear. The top floor is an apartment home for Margaret and Mrs. J. Willmering. Landscaping of the grounds has been completed, with the exception of planting.

Will Start Suit for Collection Delinquent Sewer Rental Fees

A. C. Burandt, village clerk, was invited to Tuesday night to gather data to be used in a suit against Paul W. Schroeder, as receiver, for delinquent sewer rental charges. The property involved is occupied by the Brandt Dairy on James street. D. B. Malone, village attorney, was instructed to file the suit.

This is the first of several suits contemplated by the village board following a study of collections of sewer rental service charges and water accounts. As soon as it becomes possible, legal action will be started against others, trustees decided.

Brandt Dairy may be named as a party to the suit, A. C. Burandt stated. According to reports, both the receiver and Brandt Dairy, leases, refuse payment of the sewer charges, although the dairy has paid the water bills.

The suits in prospect are along similar lines, cases where payment has been refused or withheld.

Grader and children Billy and Doris Anne of Seattle, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. John Lentz of Peoria (Mrs. Lentz is another sister), a brother, Gill Thompson of Plainfield and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thompson and son Jack of Indianapolis (Mr. Thompson is a brother also).

Mail Notices in Cuba Township for Delinquent Taxes

Judgements Will Be Sought if Payments Are Not Made Within 10 Days

The first steps in the collection of delinquent personal property assessments in Cuba township were taken this week with the mailing of notices to delinquent personal property owners by Justices of the Peace J. J. Claude and E. Gross.

The action is part of a drive sponsored by the state tax commission to collect $3,500,000 in personal and property taxes for the 185 taxing bodies in the county. The lists and notices were compiled by the tax commission and forwarded to the justices. If payment is not made within ten days after the mailing of the notices, summonses will be served, and judgments against the personal property owners asked.

In Cuba township there are approximately 150 delinquencies on the list. The justices reported Justice Claude was furnished with an alphabetical list from A to L and Justice Gross has a list from L to Z.

Justice Claude reported they were acting in conjunction with the desires of the Lake county board of supervisors when it established the tax commission to clear up delinquent personal and real estate assessments.

The matter of penalties is the matter of most concern. Justice Claude stated. He cited one instance where one individual was delinquent since 1928. For the 1928 tax of $7.50 on $150 assessed valuation, a total of $6.84 in penalties has accrued. The penalty is one per cent a month, and in the instance of delinquent 1928 taxes, it amounted to 95 per cent of the total tax.

Payments made before the 10 day period will not affect the delinquent property owner court costs required in litigation. The only fee necessary is $2 for mailing notices, plus the delinquent tax and penalty.

In the meantime over 100 personal property owners in the township are approaching the tax commission to clear up delinquent taxes. Continued on page 5

Results of Two Holiday Crashes Near Here

A crowd of onlookers in the upper photo view the wreckage left after C. Wagenknecht, residing near Elgin, drove his car into the side of an eastbound Chicago and North Western limited train at the Main street crossing in Elgin. The motor was torn from the chassis and debris struck a passenger standing on the station platform when the automobile was tossed against an iron platform beam. Wagenknecht lies in the Sherman hospital in Elgin in a critical condition. He is suffering from a fractured skull.

The lower picture gives the reader an idea of the great force with which the wrecked car driven by Mrs. Margaret Felder, 28, of Elgin, impacted another vehicle. S. R. Johnson, 28, of Elgin, was severely injured and nearly bled to death before reaching a hospital. Two blood transfusions have been given to save her life.

Barrington Bears Win in District; Eligible for State

Win Five Ball Games to Place Second in Tournament Held at Elgin

The Barrington Bears earned the right to enter the tournament for the state baseball championship by winning five contests while losing two. The district rounds completed in the district tournament Wednesday evening.

Barrington met the Elgin West Ends team Wednesday night to determine which would rank higher in the final district standings. The Bears lost a close 6 to 5 decision in a game marked by errors. The two high teams in the district entered the state tournament to be played at Elgin starting July 26.

Before meeting the West Ends, the Bears had played a schedule six games and won a record of five wins and one loss. They scored 59 runs in all games played 20 more than their next highest opponent.

Lad Cuts Lip on Barbed Wire Fence

Donald W. Johnson, 8 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Deha who live west of Dundee, severely lacerated his lip Sunday when he ran into a barbed wire fence while playing near his home. He was taken to the office of a physician at Dundee. The wound required several stitches.

Report Few Injured Due to Fireworks

Fourth of July was enthusiastically celebrated around Barrington with a general day of family reunions, picnics and a host of other pleasure diversions. Although firecrackers were used extensively around here, only a few accidents were reported.

John Hine, Dundee road, Barrington township, was burned about three fingers on his right hand when a firecracker exploded while he was holding it. Mrs. George Arvid of Long Grove had a similar accident when a firecracker exploded before she could throw it away.

What may have been the most serious accident occurred near Prairie View according to an unverified report that a young girl had suffered a severely burned hand due to a careless mistake by a fireworks stand salesman.

According to the report, the girl was sent to the stand with a six-cent piece to purchase a roman candle. Instead, she was given a sky rocket. She lit it and held it in her hand, expecting it to shoot out stars like a roman candle. The backlash of flame from the rocket burned her hand badly.

Fireworks displays at several nearby communities and Barrington Hills Country club attracted large crowds.

Prepare Delinquent Assessment Report

A. L. Wiedenbeck, village treasurer, announced this week that work is being started in preparing the first delinquent assessment rolls. By July 15, the deadline before damage date, property owners can save redemption and publication fees.

The deadline for the village of Barrington on the Cook county side is July 20 and on the Lake county side is July 20 on the Lake county side.

Man and Woman Critical Victims of Odd Accidents

C. Wagenknecht Hits Train at Grove; M. Felder Nearly Bleeds to Death

Two persons are in hospitals in Elgin this week in critical conditions, suffering from injuries received in auto crashes on the Northwest highway.

Charles J. Wagenknecht, 71 years old, Kelsey subdivision near Fox River Grove, received a fractured skull and possible internal injuries when the car he was driving ran into the baggage car of the Chicago and North Western railroad. Twin City Limited at the Main street crossing in Fox River Grove at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Wagenknecht had turned off the Northwest highway to travel east, apparently failing to see the speed train traveling east. The springs of the baggage car struck the front of the car, twirling it sideways and then hurling it in the air the same direction the train was moving.

The wreck struck an iron upright beam holding the platform canopy, throwing Wagenknecht from the car, hitting the motor in an odd direction and tearing the lower body wide open.

Mrs. C. VanGilder, 78, Campbell street, Arlington Heights, was standing on the platform near the iron beam and was struck in the head by a piece of flying debris.

Wagenknecht was rushed to the Sherman hospital where his condition is still critical.

Miss Margaret Felder, 12 years old, 278 Central street, Elgin, has received two blood transfusions in an effort to save her life. A

Many Persons Are Hurt in Holiday Motoring Crashes

No Fatalities Reported Here As Largest Crowd in Years Uses Roads

Thousands of motorists jammed the roads around Barrington Monday afternoon as the largest crowd in years was returning to Chicago and other points from their holiday vacation. As usual, the great flow of traffic resulted in numerous accidents. The majority of them occurred on Monday when the motorists who had left Elgin, Saturday, and Sunday were returning.

Mr. and Mrs. Marti M. Krebs, 7745 S. Marshfield avenue, Chicago, were returning home Monday night when Mr. Krebs swerved his car off the eastbound lane of traffic on Northwest highway, sending it into a ditch and tipping it over. Car had been halted at the Hough street intersection to allow north and south bound traffic to proceed, and Mr. Krebs was forced to pull off to the side to avoid striking the car in front. The accident occurred several hundred yards west of the crossing.

Mrs. Roy McFadden, Madison, Wis., Wanda Lee Burchell (Mrs. McFadden's daughter), Miss Clara Whitmore, Milwaukee, Wis., and Harry Swanson, 5663 Normal boulevard, Chicago, were injured in a three car collision on the Northwest highway near Cuba late Monday evening.

According to information given to McFadden's mother, state highway patrolman, the accident was caused when William Botham, 5737 N. Artesian street, Chicago, stopped to repair a flat tire. His machine was parked facing east with the left wheel three feet on the lane of traffic.

Paul Baer, 1721 Gordon terrace, Chicago, approached from the rear and stopped when he could not pass against the westbound traffic. The machine, which was struck at the rear left, bender by Botham, was driven by John Adams, 2320 Malvina avenue, Chicago, and owned by Swanson. The car then swung out into the westbound lane when it collided head-on with a car driven by Mrs. McFadden's husband, Roy McFadden.

Mrs. McFadden was severely injured about the body and legs when she was thrown through the windshield. Swanson received a deep wound in the forehead when he was struck by flying glass. The others received bruises and cuts from the glass.

Frank Sedak, 25 years old, 2106 S. Hamlin avenue, Chicago, received a severe laceration of the right arm and cuts and bruises about the face and body early Sunday morning in an accident that occurred on route 62, near the intersection of route 62 and four miles southeast of Barrington.

Sedak had turned off the Northwest highway to travel east, apparently failing to see the speed train traveling east. The springs of the baggage car struck the front of the car, twirling it sideways and then hurling it in the air the same direction the train was moving.

The wreck struck an iron upright beam holding the platform canopy, throwing Sedak from the car, hitting the motor in an odd direction and tearing the lower body wide open.

Miss Margaret Felder, 12 years old, 278 Central street, Elgin, has received two blood transfusions in an effort to save her life. A

"I Met Him in Paris" at Catlow on Week-End Bill

"Marked Woman" Now Show-ing; "History Is Made at Night" Coming

In celebration of the making of her thirtieth movie, Bette Davis was recently guest of honor at a delightful little party given for her by friends at the studios, where she was working in "Marked Woman," playing Thursday and Friday at the Catlow.

"The Man Who Played God," in which she played opposite George Arliss was her first, and "Marked Woman" which stars her in the title role, is her thirtieth.

Music and laughter are equal ingredients mixed in liberal proportion in "Turn Off the Moon," musical comedy hit which comes to the Catlow Saturday.

Charles Ruggles heads the cast of movie and radio stars in "The Moon" which comes to the movie list. He is aided by Eleanor Whitney, Johnny Downs, Kenny Baker and Phil Harris and his orchestra.

Double featured with "Turn Off the Moon," is "Let's Get Married," with Ida Lupino, Walter Connolly and Ralph Bellamy.

The legion of Claudette Colbert fans have a treat in store next Saturday. Miss Colbert, the lovely blonde star arrives at the Catlow in "I Met Him in Paris," a screen career, Guy Gibson got a comedy witty and scintillant.

For the first time in his long part in "Mountain Justice," coming to the Catlow Tuesday, which gave him a chance to follow his off-screen hobby, which is fishing.

"Mountain Justice," a story of the remote hillbilly country and its people, co-stars Josephine Hutchinson and George O'Brien.

Double featured with "Mountain Justice" is "Trapped," starring Charles Starrett, ace of western stars, and Peggy Stratford.

Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur the screen's newest team of film romancers, come to the Catlow in "History Is Made at Night," for two days, Wednesday and Thursday.

This smart, fast-paced romance cast Boyer in a totally new type of role as Paul Duval, dashing man-about-town and the most popular head water on the Continent, while Jean Arthur is seen as a lovely New York mannequin. They meet in Paris under thrilling circumstances. The pair become involved in a gay, ultra-modern romance that carries them from France to America against a series of stunning, ultra-modern settings, including a crack luxury liner and the smartest restaurants of New York and Paris.

The picture, "Sequoia," starring Jean Parker, is making a request return engagement for one day only on Friday.

A wise man is bound to yield when he finds that the same argument which weighs with him has weighed with thousands before him, and is such as has borne down all opposition.

Plans for Farmers' Picnic Progressing

Nine different committees met at Diamond Lake Monday and Tuesday evening of this week to make definite plans for the Farmers' Picnic which is to be held at Diamond Lake Wednesday, July 14. Arrangements have been made for the Crystal Lake Drum and Bugle corps to be there. Fred Popp, chairman of the

An Honorable Profession

• Yes . . . forgery can be an honorable profession. In the larger cities one can find several persons skilled in the art of writing another man's name with such astonishing accuracy that the man himself would honor the signature as genuine.

• Important persons must frequently send out hundreds and thousands of letters . . . skilfully executed form letters that must carry the touch of individuality. Consequently, they must be signed, for no rubber stamp, no careless scrawl of a subordinate will answer. Is Mr. and Mrs. Important Individual going to spend hours or even days executing these signatures? Not by any means. They will turn the job over to an expert who will oblige with perfect reproductions at the rate of five or six hundred an hour . . . all identical, all convincing.

• In the field of furniture we also have our legitimate forgeries. "Charles o' London" living room suites . . . copies of a style popular in England. "Early American" in bedroom suites, following closely the quaint beauty of the original style of that period. "Duncan Phyfe" in dining rooms . . . a faithful copy of the original designer's work. These dress our homes, delight the eye and give American dwellings the charm that makes them famous 'round the world. Indeed, it is our pleasure to supply just such merchandise at the lowest prices consistent with high quality.

Haven Garden Wedding

A very beautiful wedding was solemnized in the orchard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Richter, 317 E. Lake street, at one o'clock Sunday afternoon when their son, Vernon A. was united in marriage to Miss Grace E. Blood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blood of Twin Lakes, Wis.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Charlotte Reinhardt of Beloit, Wis., a friend of the bride, sang "O Promise Me."

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played on the piano by Henry Wichtman, the bridal party, with little Lila Blood, sister of the bride, carrying a basket of flowers, left the house and entered the orchard. They stood under a flower decked arbor for the ceremony.

The bride was escorted by her father who gave her in marriage. She was attired in a white satin-trimmed chiffon gown and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls.

Miss Vivian Richter, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a gown of peach lace and a wreath of flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of gladioli and lilies of the valley.

Miss Iva Blood, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. She wore a pale pink lace gown and a wreath of flowers in her hair. Her bouquet was of pink roses.

Robert Blood of Twin Lakes, brother of the bride, and William Wilson of Barrington attended the groom, who was dressed in white.

Following the single ring ceremony read by Rev. H. E. Koenig, pastor of St. Paul church, the bridal party and about 50 invited guests and relatives motored to Twin Lakes where a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was formerly employed at the Anakele Bakery.

Such prizes as country hams, country bacon, and country sausage are to be given away during the day. The varied entertainment will include attractions for all: sporting events, children's games, cards, and dancing in the air-conditioned auditorium.

Interest in the picnic is even greater than usual this year because the food stores have a chance to win permanent possession of the company's athletic plaque which is awarded each year to the "victor" in the day's sporting events. Barrington Jewels won the plaque in 1935 while the Food Stores were victorious in 1934 and 1936. Three wins out of five earn permanent possession of the trophy.

Propose Measures on Fireworks and Destroying Weeds

Many Complaints Responsible for Penalties—Board Members Indicate

Two ordinances were proposed at a meeting of the village board Monday night. Trustees R. F. Kocher Sr. favored the adoption of a measure to regulate the use and sale of fireworks in the village. Mr. B. Maloney, village attorney, recommended to the board the formulation of a "noxious weeds" ordinance after the problem of weeds on vacant property was discussed.

Mr. Kocher spoke to the board on the number of complaints received by himself on the use of fireworks this year. A. C. Burandt, village clerk, also reported a number of residents had spoken to him on the subject.

It was the consensus of opinion that an ordinance should be formulated to forbid the sale and use of fireworks. A resolution to have an ordinance drafted by the ordinance committee "regulating the sale and use of fireworks" was approved following a motion made by Mr. Kocher and seconded by Trustee R. L. Berg.

Mr. Kocher also presented the question of what procedure to adopt in reference to vacant property where weeds are allowed to grow without being cut all summer. Paul Purcell, superintendent of streets, reported the cost to the village each year to cut parkways was approximately $200.

Mr. Maloney informed Trustee

J. F. Daeschler, chairman of the ordinance committee, that he had an ordinance available and would present it to him for consideration at no expense to the village.

Stock Show May Be an Attraction at Fall Festival

Sub-Committee Will Be Picked to Plan Big Autumn Event

One of the features of the Barrington fall festival, to be conducted by the Lions club in October, will be a 4-H club livestock show, if a proposal being considered by the central committee proves feasible. If it can be worked out, the livestock exhibit will prove one of the brightest drawing cards to be offered in connection with the festival.

The central committee held a breakfast meeting Wednesday at which time they worked out several tentative plans for the show. The central attraction of the event will be commercial and industrial exhibits to be offered by Barrington companies. The committee decided definitely to offer special entertainment.

Awarding of valuable prizes to guests of the festival is a tentative plan, and mobile or some valuable pieces of household furniture or equipment may be given as a major award.

The festival will not be the sole responsibility of the Barrington Lions club. All business men of the community will be invited to participate, and several, in addition to members of the club, will be appointed on sub-committees. Car Out of Control Uproots Poplar Tree at Boy Scout Cabin

A six-inch poplar tree was uprooted from the parkway in front of the boy scout cabin on East Russell street Saturday night when the driver of an unidentified car lost control while turning the corner from Division street Saturday night. The accident occurred at 11:30 o'clock.

Families residing in the neighborhood were aroused by the crash, and reported seeing the car back away from the tree and drive west on Russell street to in front of the Chippewa Hitchcock residence where it stopped.

Three men hurriedly left the car to examine the damage, driving off again before their identities could be learned. Pieces of the radiator were found at the tree by William Behrens, night patrolman, who was called to investigate. Water on the street revealed a damaged radiator.

Tire marks on the pavement indicated the car was going north on Division street at a high rate of speed when the driver realized he did not continue across Russell street. He attempted a sharp turn, the machine apparently got out of control.

Awarding of valuable prizes to guests of the festival is a tentative plan, and mobile or some valuable pieces of household furniture or equipment may be given as a major award.

The festival will not be the sole responsibility of the Barrington Lions club. All business men of the community will be invited to participate, and several, in addition to members of the club, will be appointed on sub-committees. There will be sub-committees on the following subjects: grounds and tent, prizes and awards, entertainment, commercial exhibits, finance, and advertising and publicity. Watch Children
Motorists are urged to approach children to use the horn, but to depend upon it to blow if a child is in the street, to place the brake. When the children are trying to cross the street motorists are asked to give them a chance and wait for them as the average parent would like to have another motorist wait for some one who is near and dear to him.

NEEDED MOTOR LAWS

Legislatures in fourteen state have laws under consideration which would greatly increase the penalties for driving while under the influence of liquor.

This development has come about through an intensive drive for improved safety legislation in practically all of the states where legislatures are now in session, Mr. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, said.

"Drivers' license laws have been introduced in six states now without such a law," he reported, "while fifteen states with license laws are considering more stringent regulations. New or improved safety-responsibility legislation has been introduced in eleven states and already has cleared the legislative hurdles in Idaho.

"Nine states are considering measures which call for periodic inspection of motor vehicle equipment with most of the bills calling for inspection in state-owned and state-operated stations.

"Penalties provided in the proposed drunken driving laws range all the way from whipping at the post to life suspension of driving privileges.

"There is no question of the need for review of drunken driving statutes by the state legislatures. Today, penalties that may be legally imposed for first offense convictions range all the way from one cent to $5000 while jail sentences provided by states range from one year to five years."

"I'm greatly distressed about my neighbor, Mrs. Toft," said a mother one day to a friend, Mrs. Brown. "Mrs. Toft was always friendly—although I didn't know her very well. Now she doesn't speak to me. I can't think what I've done to offend her."

"I believe I know," Mrs. Brown answered. "I overheard your little Mary talking to her. 'Mother does it! It's like your blouse,' she said. 'She says you look terrible in it!' No one should take a think like that seriously—even if it hurts. But I could see Mrs. Toft was annoyed."

"Dear, I'm really sorry," Mary said. But I didn't think Mary was listening. 'Imagine the child going and telling Mrs. Toft! I must be more careful of what I say."

Just then six-year-old Mary came in, crying loudly. "Look what Jimmy Toft did—threw mud on my dress, and pulled off my hair ribbon. Now it's all spoiled!"

"The world be! How I恨 and grieve! Let's sit and play with girls! You just stay away from him!" the mother replied hotly.

Mary tossed her head, dried her eyes with apparent satisfaction, brushed her frock and went out again.

"I'm afraid I'm quick-tempered. I shouldn't have said that! Mary, she'll tell Jimmy, and Mrs. Toft'll be angry than ever. What would you do, Mrs. Brown?"

Before she could answer, nine-year-old Nancy came limping into the house, tearfully clutching a badly grazed knee. "I don't like Billy Morton!" she said. "He knocked me off my scooter—on purpose too!" Then she broke into loud crying.

"Hush, dear," said the mother. "We'll soon have this attended to. Let's sit on the couch. Her voice was weary, her manner wearying, and her fearsome as she bathed the scraped knee. Long before the task was finished the child had stopped crying, soothed by her mother's manner—and the little rest.

"Now, dear, tell me how it happened."

Nancy still lay there. "Billy was pulling me on my scooter behind him."

The woman made no remark, but waited.

"And I fell off when he went round a corner," concluded the child.

"Then it was just an accident," the mother patted the girl's cheek.

"Yes," she smiled, getting up. "Billy must be feeling very unhappy—wearing out my clothes now that you've told him. Here are two apples. Take him one. What you're playing is dangerous for both of you. Think of something else to do."

WHAT'S GOING ON

(Courtesy The United States News)

With concurrence of the senate last week in the house-approved bill appropriating $1,500,000,000 for work relief, enactment was assured of what may be the last emergency relief appropriation.

Those contending that it will be the last such bill of emergency have said the coming spending resolution sponsored by the administration which calls for a sweeping inquiry into unemployment and relief. The inquiry envisages framing of a permanent policy relating to these matters.

The senate, like the house, defeated all attempts to restrict the president's discretion in the spending of the funds. Senator Byrnes had sought a bill limiting state spending to 40 per cent of the total of work relief projects and majority leader Robinson sponsored a modification of this requirement—25 per cent to be supplied by states. The senate rejected both limitations.

With this appropriation, the federal government has now for five years voted sums for relief which add up to nearly 12 billion dollars.

In 1932 saw the first break with the older policy that relief was a private and local matter. In that year half a billion dollars was set aside as the "dole" and distributed to the states to maintain the destitute. Before the fiscal year ended in July, 1934, an additional $600 million dollars was found for the purpose by drawing on the war funds and through loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The next year a total of two billion dollars was voted which went for relief, mainly of the "dole" or direct gift type.

Then in 1935 a new policy was adopted, under which the federal government would cease direct relief payments and would provide instead relief jobs paid for by prevailing wages. Those who were unable to work were to be made the responsibility of the states. For this new program, a total of $4,800 million dollars was appropriated. This sum included money to be spent for the CCC camps and for public works, which had previously been taken care of in separate appropriations.

The government got along with less than half of this amount in 1934, mainly by drawing on suspended balances available from the previous year. The total voted in 1932 was $216 million dollars.

This year's appropriation is the smallest of any since 1932, thanks partly to the reduction of unemployment, which is estimated to be about 1,500,000 less than a year ago. Another reason for its smallness is that states are contributing in larger measure to the relief burden.

On the basis of figures prepared by the works progress administration,

"How very true!" was the laughing response.

With a happy smile the girl ran out.

"I wish I had your calmness!" declared the first mother. "You never get excited."

"Indeed I do. When Nancy came in just now I'd like to have been as nervous as ever before."

"I'm sorry. In my case I've found that second judgment is usually the better. And I always remember something a friend once said. 'Never take part in children's quarrels. Last Rites for C. Krause, 77, Today

Funeral services for Conrad Krause, 77 years old, prominent resident of Cuba township, will be held today, Thursday, at 2 o'clock at the funeral home, 149 W. Main street, with Rev. Hermann Koenig officiating. Burial will take place in Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Krause died at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning. He was taken ill with a stomach disorder last February but had been able to attend until recently.

Born in Hochburg, Austria, on February 19, 1860, he emigrated to this country at the age of 16 and made his home with his late Uncle John Bloner, who resided near Cuba.

He engaged in carpentry work and in 1889 built the store at Cuba which he conducted until 1891. Charles Lederer purchased the business and re-sold it to Mr. Krause in 1892.

Miss Anna Strohbach became his bride on May 11, 1892, and they continued to live at Cuba conducting the store, retiring from active work 10 years ago. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America for the last 27 years.

Surviving besides his widow, are three children: Gussie of Cary, Mrs. Frank Kirby at home and Frank of Chicago, and eight grandchildren.

A Banquet of 1463
In 1463 the Knights of the Order of the Teutonic Knights were hosts to a banquet which must have hit an all-time high for lavish feasts. An ancient cook book that is a prized possession of Harvard University's Widener Library records that the following was consumed: three hundred animals, 500 fowl, 31,000 birds, 4,000 jelly dishes, 6,000 custards, 2,000 pies and 400 barrels of ale and wine.

To Tell Age of Fish
The halibut sits on its left side, which is white. The other side is dark. The side uppermost toward the sun is actually dark brown and this is part of the fish's body which has two large eyes. A Toronto scientist has made another interesting observation, to the effect that the age of a fish can be told by looking into its ear.

Oldest Organ in the World
The oldest organ in the world is probably the one discovered at Aquincum, a former Roman settlement now a suburb of Budapest. An Englishman states that the instrument was built in 226 A. D. Its two wind chambers and 33 pipes were remedied so that it can be played as well as ever.

School-Village Suit Hearing Up Monday

Hearing of the litigation suit between the village of Barrington and trustees and directors of school districts will come up in the superior court of Cook county Monday, D. B. Maloney, village attorney, argued.

The litigation is based on division of funds held in the First State Bank of Barrington at the time of its closing by the village treasurer, who was also treasurer of school districts involved. Village and school funds were kept at the First State Bank and the Chicago Bank, and the village treasurer at the time of the closing determined that all money in the defunct institution belonged to the village.

Municipal officials contend that all the money was not theirs, and that the school districts should bear some of the burden.

It is believed that the village delayed paying an attempt to compromise settlement by the village. Following numerous conferences, a plan had progressed satisfactorily, trustees reported, but received a set-back when trustees of the village and school district failed to reach a compromise.

At the board meeting Tuesday night, Earl Hause, village president, contacted members of the board of education for district 4, requesting a meeting. It is planned that another conference may be held before Monday.

Establish Rates on Sewer Connections

Establishment charges to the village sewer system were determined at the meeting of village trustees Tuesday, following the presentation of a recommendation made by Trustee John H. Blanckenhorn of the sewer committee.

It was decided that the charge of $5 will be assessed all property owners who have previously paid for a sewer, but who are not connected. A charge of $40 is to be made for property owners who have not previously paid for a sewer.

Trustees are to be incorporated in an ordinance for presentation, approval and passage by the board in the near future.

Halcyon means calm, peaceful;

the halcyon days, the winter solstice, when the kingfishers nested in a floating nest at sea and kept the weather peaceful not to upset the nest during incubation. Our kingfisher nests in spring in a deep burrow tunneled in a sand bank, five to six feet deep.

Belted Kingfisher Has an Interesting History

The belted kingfisher, whose scientific name is Ceryle alcyon, has rather an interesting history if one believes the mythologies, says a writer in the New York World-Telegram.

Once upon a time, long and long ago—so long ago that the people of those days believed many things that were told them by poets, prophets and soothsayers—the kingfisher was a man, King Trachina, and he was called Cery. He was Lucifer—which should have given him plenty trouble—but he had the good luck to marry a faithful woman, Alcyone, daughter of Aeolus, god of the winds.

Cery was drowned while on a hunting trip, and the people of Cery learned of his death and were searching for his body on the sea shore where he found his body in the edge of the water. Her sorrow was so great she threw herself into the water, and the kingfisher, who was a man, took her up and turned her into a kingfisher, and called them Alcyons, hence the kingfisher's name.

Niagara Falls

The water that flows over Niagara has flowed from the four great lakes and the hundreds of rivers that flow into them more than half the fresh water of the world, according to one authority. The fact that evaporation and precipitation in the form of rain and snow are continually going on in the enormous area of the great lakes region makes it unlikely that the Great Lakes will ever be drained in this manner.

Gold Belt
Much of Australia's gold belt, which is 2,000 miles long and 800 miles wide, has never been touched, according to a government report.
