Many Students Are Enrolled For Fall
Terms at CollegesAt Least 44 to Leave; to Have Youth Rally at Camp
Grounds Friday

At least 44 young men and women of Barrington have enrolled in universities and colleges in many sections of the country for the opening of fall school terms this year. A number have already left while the others will all leave within the next two weeks.

This year the number of enrollees is slightly decreased, with the number four less than in 1936 when 48 were registered at colleges and universities. However, the list will be increased shortly when definite plans are made by several students who hope to take evening courses at branch colleges in Chicago and business schools. So far, some are planning to attend evening schools but have not made a final selection of the school.

Those going away have been invited to attend a youth rally at the Barrington Park camp grounds Friday evening. The program is under the sponsorship of the Young People's Christian commission and will start at 8 o'clock. A bon fire will be the focal point of the gathering, and special services in reference to youth training and education will be presented.

Following is a list of students leaving this fall and the schools in which they are enrolled, as far as was ascertained:

Carl Billings, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

John Koenig, University of Illinois, College of Medicine, Chicago, Ill.

William Landwer, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Complete Plans to Improve Village's
Water by Aeration

Engineers Draft Forwarded to State Water Department for Approval

Plans for a water aerator and aerator house were received from the village engineers, Consoer, Older and Quinlan, this week and turned over by the village board to the state water department for inspection. Trustee R. F. Koehler, Sr. moved, at the meeting Monday night, they be sent to the state board for immediate approval.

Designing of plans and drawing up of specifications were recommended by the board a month ago. It is proposed with the aerator system to rid the water of any harmful chemicals and unpleasant odor. The estimated cost was placed at $6000.

The aerator would be housed in a building to be located adjoining the two water reservoirs at the village hall. It would have a capacity of 1250 gallons a minute. If the system were in use, carbon dioxide and hydrogen gas would be removed from the water before it enters the street mains, engineers reported. The iron content of the water would also be reduced.

Prior to digging of the newest well, water was supplied from a system that included an aerating plant. Water was forced from the well by compressed air and was broken down by an umbrella head before entering the reservoir. With the new pumping plant installed with the second well, the aerating system was removed.

It is also planned as a future village project to construct a new water reservoir equal to the one built several years ago. A state water department inspector was in Barrington early this year and informed A. C. Burandt, village clerk, that the old reservoir, built of bricks and in use since the water system was started, is unsuitable for present conditions and will be condemned if changes are not made.

Things appear to be fairly hot here right now although I see no evidence of imminent or great danger. "Julie and the babe are in Chefoo, which we left last Monday, the 15th. I think they are as safe as they can be any place in China. Whether we will get back there or not I don't know, but there is still a division of destroyers and the Black Hawk up there to look after the families we have left behind.

"I am writing this to assure you that I feel that there is no cause for worry as far as any of us are concerned.

"Things were all quiet and normal in Chefoo when I left and I quite certain they will remain that way.

Russell LaPointe, a member of the United States marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo LaPointe, 117 North avenue, wrote his last letter from Swatow, China on August 15. He had been anticipating a transfer from his present regiment but patrol work has altered that.

He related the amount of preparations that had been undergone by the Chinese in anticipation of air raids while he was writing his letter. He stated the marines have been in readiness for duty for some time and a larger contingent is expected from the Pacific coast.

Decree Permanent
Registration for
Cook County Voters

List Requirements for All
Who Register Sept. 27
or Oct. 5

Everyone living in Cook county now comes under the permanent registration law. This means that residents of suburbs and rural sections must register Monday, Sept. 27, or Tuesday, Oct. 5.

The law of registration is not difficult and will take only a few minutes—cards to be signed in triplicate giving name, address and statements of eligibility such as age, length of residence in state, county and precinct.

No, your exact age will not be required—just a checkmark to show you are "over 21" and other marks to indicate you have been at your present address long enough to make you a legal voter, officials explained.

The polling places will be open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.

"The only difficulty," said Dan Carey, attorney for County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, in charge of the registration, "may be with naturalized citizens, persons who become citizens by virtue of their parents' papers or women who become citizens by marriage, but they will have no trouble at all if they know the dates and other details they are required to furnish."

Here are the requirements: "Persons naturalized by virtue of their own papers. Must furnish to the registration officers, the name of the court issuing their papers, the date issued, and the state and city in which the court is located.

"Persons who became citizens by virtue of their parents' papers. Must furnish to the registration officers, the name of the court issuing the papers to the parents, the date issued, the state and city in which the court is located, the age of applicant at time parent was naturalized, and the name of the parent.

Empire Construction
Co. Low Bidder for
Flint Creek Bridge

Bids received at Springfield Friday for a series of highway projects which may be started this fall, included the project for improving Flint creek in Northwest highway at Jewel Park.

Empire construction company was low bidder with a figure of $10,576. The work includes a creek bridge, bridge over the widening the structure at that point and laying approaches.

Awarding of the contract is expected soon.

The village board, through Village President Earl Hatje, requested the state highway department to order the improvement to relieve a fowage problem in Flint creek. The bridge is of the box culvert type with a concrete floor.

The flow of the creek north of the bridge is retarded by the bottom of the bridge, particularly on planting day when the water in Jewel Park sewer line is said to be the result of the bridge condition.

The village, under an amended sewer contract with A. W. Davy, has dredged the creek to provide a faster flow, and now awaits the completion of the bridge work as the final item in the program.

Local Garden Club
Will Hear Lecture
on Shrubs Monday

The Village Garden club will meet at the home of Mrs. Eise Schmitt, 118 Coolidge avenue, Monday, Sept. 13 at 3 p. m. with Mrs. W. D. Hawley and Mrs. R. L. Wells as hostesses.

Kumlien of Dundee, an authority on planting, will give a lecture on planting shrubs. Mrs. Kumlien is a representative of the Illinois Nursery at Dundee.

The club has 24 members. It will coincide a year's work at its meeting October 11 at which time the annual election of officers will be a part of the program.

Swimming Pool Closed

The swimming pool is closed for the year. The park board concluded at a meeting Tuesday night that the attendance would not be enough to warrant keeping it open longer.

Trained Dogs to Entertain Guests of Fall Festival on Two Evenings

Two evening programs given by superbly trained dogs will be features of the Barrington fall festival, Oct. 5 to 9, according to announcement this week by R. E. Willminger, chairman of the entertainment committee.

These will be animals from the Martin Hogan kennels on the How-oll farms in Barrington township. The dogs will be selected from the Labrador and golden retrievers. Pigeons and ducks will be used in the demonstrations. A complete program of the shows will be published next week.

Mr. Willminger reported that other entertainers for the festival will include a championship American Legion drum and bugle corps, to be brought here by Barrington post, vaudeville of the first order to be selected by Sidney Page of Palatine and music by the school band and orchestra if possible. He added that the office of Lake County Sheriff Lawrence A.

Doellittle will offer an exhibition of methods of torture and third degree application employed by law enforcing officers of earlier days. At least one women's organization of the community will be invited to offer an evening of entertainment.

Q. R. Paulson, chairman of the committee on exhibitors' space, reported that many booths have been entered and the demand for them is increasing steadily. With stores and industrial companies vying with each other to produce interesting displays, that part of the festival will in itself be a strong attraction for visitors.

The 125x250 foot tent (large enough to cover five city lots) will be able to take care of large crowds in addition to the entertainers and exhibitors. This tent to have been erected in Barrington in the heart of the committee in charge.

Ransack Home While Occupants Sleep; Get Watch, Purse

Burglars stole approximately $40 in cash, a wrist watch and several purses when they ransacked the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, 528 Grove avenue, Tuesday night. The prowlers entered through a basement door, climbed to the ground floor and passed through a bedroom and living room, apparently searching for money, other valuables having been untouched except for the watch, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were sleeping at the time.

Money was taken from two purses belonging to Mrs. Smith, and the empty purses were left beneath the gas range in the kitchen when the burglar left by the rear door.

Mr. Smith's watch and two purses were retained by the prowlers.

The object of most value taken was a lizard skin billfold, a gift to Mr. Smith from his son, Kirk, last Christmas. He expressed a wish that the billfold might be returned.

The commercial department of Els township high school will receive one of the two typewriters stolen from the school last Monday in time for classes this week, according to information received by Chief Deputy Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy.

The trail traced to a typewriter equipment shop at Detroit, Mich. A man had brought it to the shop for repairs and said he would call for it the next day. Through its owner, it was found to be one of the two stolen from Els high school. To date, the man has not called for the machine, but Detroit police are cooperating with Chief Deputy Kennedy in a search for him.

The machine is being reconditioned and will be shipped back this week.

State Department
Reverses Attitude
on Traffic Lights

Indicate Favorable Action in Letter Received Here
Wednesday

A reversal of policy was made this week by the state highway department in regard to installation of stop and go lights at the intersection of Main and Hough streets, a letter received by A. C. Burandt, village clerk, Wednesday revealed.

George L. Baker, engineer in charge of county roads and city streets, policy 1, wrote in answer to a previous letter from Mr. Burandt, who had written the state highway department asking that it be refused to approve the project.

In his letter Mr. Baker expressed the department's willingness to make an exception to a standard policy. Two years ago, he wrote, the department adopted a uniform policy in regard to installing traffic lights. Since then, he continued, several counties have requested traffic at the intersection, which was not heavy enough to warrant installation.

Because the state bureau of maintenance had recommended placing of stop and go lights prior to the adoption of the policy two years ago, he indicated a willingness to approve the project.

Traffic actuary lights, those controlled by the passing of automobiles and trucks over trigger plates in the road, were recommended by Mr. Baker, although the pre-time also would be acceptable.

A second alternative was offered by Mr. Baker when he asked whether or not the village board would favor four way stop signs instead of stop and go.

Traffic actuary lights and pre-time would cost between $2500 and $3000, and would have to be maintained by the village. The original cost of approved, would come from the state gas tax fund credited to the village.

Roof Drains Still
Connected—Rains
Boost Pump Load

Presentation of the monthly report on village sewage treatment plant pumping figures by Trustee John H. Blanke, at the board meeting Monday night, revealed some important facts in relation to disconnecting roof drains and downspouts.

Trustee John Daeschler had made a report to the board regarding a survey of the village to check disconnections, and Mr. Blanke then read figures from the monthly report presented him as chairman of the sewer committee.

During the first 15 days in August, the report showed, daily average pumping was 261,000 gallons, and during the last 16 days daily average was 323,000. The daily average for the entire month was 293,000.

The low day in the month was August 21 when 180,000 gallons of sewage were pumped.

The highest high days were August 19 when 59,000 gallons were metered and August 21 when 62,000 were recorded.

Mention made concerning the three high days showed the increase was caused by a heavy rainfall which occurred. The reason for the large rise in gallons pumped during that time was said to be that the main roof and downspout drains are still connected to the sanitary sewer lines.

The roof rain water passing through the treatment plant is added expense to the village. It was pointed out, and taxes the plant's capacity abnormally.

Instruct Clerk to Buy Street Signs

A. C. Burandt, village clerk, was instructed Monday night at a village board meeting to purchase street marker signs and posts to replace damaged ones so listed in a report made by Trustee Rudolph Berg, chairman of the street committee.

Mr. Berg looked the village with Chief of Police E. W. Neale and inspected all intersections for missing street markers. In his report he listed the number and where signs had never been placed.

found in the fourth year group.The constant increase in enroll-

Total High School Registration Even With Former Mark

256 Enrolled; Equals Former Number; More Students
Expected to EnterEnrollment at the Barrington public high school reached a new high Wednesday when registration of students was completed. A total of 256 pupils was listed with T.
C. Hooford, assistant principal of the high school, Wednesday afternoon, and he estimated that 10 additional would be added within the next few days—students who have signed up but not made their appearance.The figure of 256 is eight more than in 1936 when 248 enrolled on opening days. It is equal to the 1935 total, and above the 1934 and 1933 numbers. When the expected additional 10 arrive, the high school attendance will then be at a new high in the school's history.Classes were expected to be started in full schedule this morning, Thursday. On Tuesday and Wednesday, registration days, the students were given books, assign-

Peg Behning Moves
Wrestling Arena to Different Location

Professional wrestling in Lake county goes into a new home Friday night for the usual weekly matches; the new site being Peg Behning's new Grayslake sport arena at High's corner of Routes 54 and 20, and headlining the initial program there Fred Grubmiller, famous Iowa school king, takes holds with the colored sensation from the northwest, Jack Claybourn, the Joe Louis of wrestling.

Originally promoters planned to match the winner of the last Friday's McMillen-Claybourn bout with Grubmiller. McMillen was after one of the most sensational bouts ever witnessed here, but rejected offers for a Grubmiller match when promoters refused to bar Fred's famous rib-crushing action. Claybourn, on the other hand, was quick to accept the bout in McMillen's place.

Frankie Talaber, light-heavyweight championship contender who has become a big favorite here, will appear in the semi-main event against handsome "Whitney" Wahlberg, blond Milwaukee strongman of note. Wahlberg won in two appearances at Round Lake and is a real crowd pleaser.

Rudy Kay, rough, tough, bruising heavyweight rowdy who is another local fan, goes against Pat Kelly, Ireland's latest contribu-

HOME EDUCATION

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by National Kindergarten Assn. 8 W. 40th St. New York

COURTESY

By LAURA GRAY

"Come, Bobby, say 'How do you do' to Mrs. Keith," Mrs. Morrow tried to lift her five-year-old from the floor where he was playing. "Won't!" muttered the son with a resentful look at the visitor, at the same time "making himself limp and heavy."

You must. Get up. Say 'Good morning!'"

"No! Won't!" stubbornly repeated the child.

A very pleasant scene was now in progress, embarrassing to both women.

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Keith," apologized Mrs. Morrow. "I can't get Bobby to speak to visitors. How did you teach little Jean to be so friendly? When I was telling up the hill yesterday, she ran out to me. 'I'll help you carry those parcels,' she said pleasantly—and she's three months younger than Bobby! I think some children are born with attractive manners and others are not."

A week or two later, Bobby entered Mrs. Morrow's room. When he had been attending for about three months, Mrs. Morrow received an invitation to attend the Mothers' Day exercises. Bobby met his mother at the door and greeted her with a beaming, "Good morning, Mother. Would you like this seat near the front or that one by the window?"

"That one!" she answered trying not to betray her surprise.

"Like a program?" A little blue-eyed girl carrying a bundle of papers offered one.

"Thank you," nodded Bobby's mother. But her eyes were on her son as he escorted people to seats with smiling grace. Was this her son—the sulky little boy?

When the exercises were over she hastened for a word with the kindergarten.

"Miss Plante, how did you do it?—get Bobby to be like that? He won't speak to visitors at home."

The teacher turned a smiling face and in a low pleasant voice said, "Why I often give Bobby the job of welcoming visitors; he enjoys it so much. I try to make the children feel pleasure in the daily greeting each has with me. They do enjoy these little courtesies, don't they?"

Bobby's mother went home in deep thought. What the kindergarten had done for Bobby could have been done just as well, and better, at home.

The world lays its best at the feet of the man or woman possessing this priceless gift of charm, a quality that can be cultivated. Self-consciousness can often be banished if the small boy or girl is allowed to prepare a gift for the person to be greeted. The child should be encouraged to pick a bunch of flowers for teacher, or wrap up a pot of jelly for a neighbor.

The best means for helping a child to develop attractive manners, of course, is example; the manners of those nearest are readily adopted. The pleasant "Thank you" for sons efforts to please, and praise for the simple form tasks well done form a life-long habit of expressing appreciation.

Daddy's return from the office can easily be made an event to talk about, look forward to, and get really excited over. The greeting will be spontaneous.

The milkman, baker and postman should each have a pleasant "Good morning." Mother should encourage the little fellow who toddles by her side, receiving his introduction to society from her, to have a gracious word for all. But she should never demand this of him, or he is likely to become self-conscious or insincere. She should really lead him to think of the "other fellow" rather than of himself.

Let her talk of what the milkman must do: how early he must start his rounds, how many stops he must climb, how regular he must be. Then the child will be interested in the man.

If the weather is extremely warm or stormy or the streets are blocked with snow and ice, Bobby will be really concerned about the milkman. His greeting will be so sincere as to be full of appeal, and the milkman will respond pleasantly. This will bring a feeling of satisfaction which will urge Bobby on toward further friendliness.

Establishes Social Security Office at Waukegan Tuesday

The social security board established an office in Waukegan on Tuesday, Sept. 7, Regional Director H. L. McCarthy announced this week. The office will service the residents of Lake and McHenry counties on claims for old-age benefits and account numbers and will give information relative to the social security program.

The new office is located in the post office building, with Albert S. Lewis as manager.

With the establishment of the Waukegan office, Illinois now has 12 field offices, six of which are located in Chicago. The others are in Springfield, Peoria, Quincy, East St. Louis and Rock Island. The regional office for the states of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin is in Chicago.

"Increase in the number of field offices carries out the purpose of the board to bring the administration of the social security act close to employers and employees who have questions or problems relating to the act," said Mr. McCarthy. "Although these new offices, like other field offices, are being established primarily to deal with the old-age benefits provisions, every effort will be made to give help to inquirers about other phases of the social security program."

marriage, the name of the court issuing the husband's papers, the date, and the city and state in which the court issued the husband's papers.

"Women who became citizens by virtue of a marriage to a native-born citizen must give the date of the said marriage."

It will not be necessary to show naturalization papers or other documents provided the individual knows the date and the name of the court, city, etc., where papers were issued.

If a person attempts to register without this information, his card will be marked "Incomplete." Then it is that the individual will have to dig up documentary evidence and take it into the county clerk's office to have it recited.

This might take considerable time and can be avoided by having the required information when one goes to register.

"Mr. Carey's preparations are being made to give the deputy registers—there will be two at each precinct—careful instruction in the new law so they can expedite the registration and at the same time secure the information which will keep from voting all those not legally entitled to the franchise."

"A lot of people are going to be surprised to learn that they are not citizens," said Mr. Carey. "Many children of foreign parents just take it for granted they are citizens when their parents may not have been naturalized. It is surprising how many instances of this kind develop."

"Another result will be removing from relief rolls aliens who are entitled to the government aid they have been receiving."

"The important things to remember are the registration days—Sept. 27 and Oct. 5, and remind everyone who is not American born with American parents (either native or naturalized) to have the detailed information required under the law."

A revision of registrations for corrections will be made Wednesday, Oct. 13, but there will be no new registrations on that date. Those who fail to register Sept. 27 or Oct. 5 will have to go to the office of the county clerk, the city, village or town clerk to qualify for voting.

WHAT'S GOING ON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Despite importunities and threats from the administration, congress in its closing days enacted legislation continuing the system imposing quotas on sugar production and imports substantially as in effect since 1934.

Secretary Wallace had protested that countries exporting sugar to this country would have their purchasing power reduced at the expense of American agricultural exports.

Secretary Hull said it was unfair to Cuba and would handicap the reciprocal tariff policy Secretary Rices declared the bill discriminated "an extremely imperialistic manner" against products of the dependencies Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

President Roosevelt talked in advance of senate action, of veto unless adjustments were made.

Representatives of domestic sugar producers and domestic refiners worked on as they had been for months. They argued that the American sugar farmer needed the protected market; that the refining industry—operating at least two-thirds capacity—also needed protection and could not compete with foreign refinery labor.

Of the many delegations visiting the white house before he left the city, the president saw a group of senators from sugar-growing states most frequently. They brought charts, figures and finally—it now appears—promises.

Would he sign or veto the bill? Talk of a special session of congress revolved largely about the prospective answer inasmuch as the then effective quotas would expire with December.

In signing the bill at Hyde Park last week, Mr. Roosevelt found no fault with the measure, but he did object to the restrictions on imports of refined sugar from Cuba, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

"The sugar industry," he said, "relates to a little group of seaboard refiners who, unfortunately, for many years were able to join forces with domestic producers in the maintenance of a continuing and powerful lobby in the national capital and elsewhere. This lobby has cost the stockholders of these refining companies millions of dollars; and it has been wholly unnecessary so far as protection of the domestic beet and cane producers is concerned."

The visiting senators, the president said, had assured him that when the time for renewal of the legislation comes up in 1940, the matter of refined sugar quotas would be dealt with separately; that there would be no discrimination then against the dependencies, that they would attempt to improve labor standards in refiners of the dependencies by legislation; and "that in future legislation they will see to it that the American housewife is protected adequately."

The president viewed these assurances as a "gentleman's agreement" that the unholy alliance between the cane and beet growers, on the one hand, and the seaboard refining monopoly on the other, has been terminated by the growers.

Hope was expressed by him that congress would see fit to repeal or shorten the clause which continues the restriction on refined sugar imports until March 1, 1940. Officials in Washington saw slight likelihood of this, however.

A sharp shift in the attitude toward methods for future control over the farming industry is under way both in congress and among officials of the agricultural adjustment administration. Congress has promised to vote such control as its first order of business on returning to Washington.

The shift taking place is away from a return to rigid control of production and marketing in crops of the kind that this country exports. Experience with rigid control during 1934 and 1935 now is admitted by officials of the AAA to have taught a costly lesson.

A rapidly developing idea, getting increased favor among the experts and among senators, calls for establishment of a two-price system—with one price on the portion of crops available for export and another subsidized price on the portion of crops to be consumed within this country.

Cotton offers an example of the way it would work.

This country produces twice as much cotton as its mills consume. The foreign market is essential to the prosperity of the south. But that foreign market is narrowing.

To meet that situation, the government through the AAA would offer cash subsidies who agreed to cooperate under its plan "parity price" on the domestic portion of the crop. The remainder of the crop would be permitted to seek a market at what ever price it would bring. If world competition necessitated a return to five-cent cotton, the price of the export part of that crop would be allowed to go to that level.

But this plan raises two vital questions.

One is: Where will the money come from to pay for the "parity price" subsidy on the part of the crop consumed at home?

The other is: What becomes of Cordell Hull's reciprocal trade program if this government goes into the business of protecting American farmers from the competition of foreign farmers? Secretary Hull has balked past moves for establishment of a two-price system.

Answers are found in a revived interest in a processing tax that would bear the cost of the subsidy and in evidences of official readiness to disregard the freer trade idea in the foreign field for a more nationalistic approach.

Payments to cooperating farmers would be conditioned on their voluntary reduction of acreage as under the old AAA. Non-cooperators would be forced to market their crop for whatever it would bring.

'Super Sleuth' Is Week-End Feature at Catlow Theatre

"Wee Willie Winkie," Starring Shirley Temple, Opens Wednesday

Mrs. Deeds goes to town again! Check up another outstanding success for Jovely Jean Arthur who shares stellar honors with Edward Arnold in the new and smart "Easy Living," the comedy which opened last night at the Catlow theatre.

Never has the charming blonde been more vivacious, sophisticated, merry and pert. And never has she appeared in such gorgeous attire—over $100,000 worth of finery, including a beautiful sable coat valued at $50,000. It's the coat which makes the plot of "Easy Living," and which wins her handsome Ray Milland for a husband and the boy and why just about make up the ultimate in smart motion picture entertainment.

John Howard plays the leading role in "Let Them Live," which comes to the Catlow Saturday. Biggest earlier success was in "Lost Horizon." Also appeared in "Fallen is the Word for Carrie," "Boak the Rich," "12 Hours By Air," and "Annapolis Farewell." For the first time in their long screen careers, Bert Wheeler and Bob Woolsey will be seen as honky-headed old men, one with a long white beard and the other with a goatee.

Their current RKO Radio comedy, "On Again—Off Again," runs enough reels to find them doddering old men at the climax of the picture.

Marjorie Lord, Patricia Wilder, Esther Mull, Paul Harvey and Russel Hicks have featured roles in "On Again—Off Again," playing Saturday night on a double feature bill with "Let Them Live." A fantastic version of the police "line-up" takes place in "Super Sleuth," co-starring Jack Oakie and Ann Sothern, when Oakie, as an amateur detective, tries to identify a murderer by his voice.

Eduardo Clineff, Alan Bruce, Edgar Kennedy, John Woodbury, Bradley Page, Paul Gullfoyle and Willie Best appear in the featured supporting roles in "Super Sleuth," appearing Sunday and Monday.

An exciting trip along the Atlantic City Boardwalk is given audiences who view "Meet the Missus," in which Helen Broderick and Victor Moore have the top spots, and which comes to the Catlow Tuesday.

The long expanse of beach, the army of wheel chairs, the miles of concessions and amusement booths and the steel pier with its score of attractions and a large hotel are the comedy's back-grounds.

Double featured with "Meet the Missus," is "Melody for Two," with James Melton, Patricia Ellis, Marie Wilson, and Dick Purcell. Marking the beginning of a new phase in Shirley Temple's screen career, "Wee Willie Winkie," the famous Rudyard Kipling story of India, opens Wednesday for a three day run.

Plan Program for PMA Neatest Farm Winners Sept. 17

Fifty-one medal winners in the fourth annual Chicagoan neatest dairy farm project, sponsored by the Pure Milk association, will be awarded gold, silver, and bronze medals on Pure Milk farms day, Friday, Sept. 17, at Soldiers Field, Chicago.

The presentation of awards will be part of an all-day program of events winding up farm festival week of Chicago's Charter Jubilee. Nearby parking space for 10,000 members and ample picnic facilities on Chicago's beautiful lake front have been turned over to the association by Mayor Kelly.

A feature will be the first national farm olympiad, with cash prizes totalling $1500. Pure Milk association directors are now seeking the champion milk maid in their territory to compete with 15 other milk maids, including one Chicago girl, for prizes of $50, $25, and $15.

Spiders' Poison Glands
All spiders have poison glands and use them in capturing prey. But with most spiders the mandibles are so small and weak that they are incapable of piercing the human skin, and if they did the small amount of poison injected would have no deleterious effect. With the large tarantulas it is different, although cases of reported deaths from bites are few and doubtful. The only spiders which are really poisonous to human beings are in the group which includes the Black Widow.
