Local Men Land Big "Muskie" During Wisconsin Fishing Trips

One of the largest fish catches ever to be taken from the lakes of Wisconsin was made by Bertoll Pederson of Barrington when he the bait. After an hour's battle in deep water, he managed to bring his catch to the boat where he was landed by net. Not having landed a giant "muskie" in Little Crawling Stone lake near Lac du Flambeau in northern Wisconsin last Thursday afternoon.

The muskellunge weighed 30 lbs. and measured 48 inches. Mr. Pederson, accompanied by a guide, had been out on the lake for a short time when the big fish struck a gun along to shoot the fish before landing made the job more difficult. The desperate efforts of the angler, fish twisted the landing net frame completely out of shape.

The muskellunge was brought to Barrington Friday by Mrs. Pederson and Miss Louise Pederson, who were at the lake with him. A fish dinner was served to his friends at the Bank Tavern Saturday evening. Mr. Pederson remained at Little Crawling Stone lake to continue his fishing.

This total equals 72.35 per cent of the presidential vote cast in the fall of 1936. Tuesday was the last general day with 777 names being placed on the books.

Precinct four showed the greatest increase over the first day's registrations by making a gain close to 200 per cent while the other three were able to show approximately 200 per cent raises over former marks.

Newton O. Plagge

Newton Plagge, 44,
Dies; Funeral at
M. E. Church Today

Served Community on Boards of Village and School
District 4

Funeral services for Newton Plagge, village trustee, who died at his home on West Main street Tuesday morning, will be held at the Methodist church at 2 o'clock today. Rev. H. L. Eagle will officiate, and interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Plagge, a well known business man and civic leader of this community, was 44 years old. Illness forced his retirement from activity about nine months ago.

Newton Oliver Plagge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Plagge, was associated with the Equitable Life Assurance society.

He married Miss Leah M. Meyer August 29, 1914, and went into business with his father-in-law, A. Meyer, selling men's furnishings. Later he opened a furniture store at the same location known as the Plagge Home Furnishing Co.

In 1934 he sold his business and joined the Kimball Piano Company. For the past two years he was associated with the Equitable Life Assurance society.

Mr. Plagge was a charter member of the Barrington Lions club, which he served as president for one year, and was a member of the Barrington school board from April, 1929 to April, 1932. He had served on the village board since 1925.

A member of the Barrington Methodist church, he was interested in all its activities serving on the board of the official board of the choir, and as Sunday school superintendent. For years he directed a community band at Barrington.

He is survived by his wife, Leah, daughter, Betty, and three sons, Mrs. Walter Cannon and Mrs. D. B. Pomeroy of Barrington, and Mrs. Charles Pawlik of Wheaton.

2063 Paid Attendance at Barrington Festival

Many Visitors at Colorful Show on
First Two Nights

More than 2700 persons including 2063 who paid admissions at the tent, have attended the Barrington fall festival on its first two nights. The roughly estimated number of guests admitted free include those holding exhibitors passes, entertainers and children of pre-school age.

The central entertainment, surpassing in quality and number of acts the program as promised in advance, is only one feature of the biggest show ever held in Barrington.

The exhibits with their intriguing and novel displays and offerings successfully held the interest of guests, and the favors and prizes given away by the Lions club and the individual exhibitors proved a very strong drawing force.

In order to find some similar show with which to compare this festival, one needs to go back nine years to the fall of 1928 when a six day affair was held. The paid attendance of the present show is averaging more than double that of its predecessor.

More passes were issued nine years ago, according to a record of that affair taken from old files of the Barrington Review. The first three days attendance then was: Monday, 275 paid, total $20; Tuesday, 413 paid, total 1013; Wednesday, 447 paid, total 1155.

A comparison table of the two shows follows:

	Paid Admissions	1928	1937
Monday	275	285
Tuesday	413	413	973
Wednesday	447	447	1090
Total	1145	1145	2063

Grand Jury Frees Fred H. Berlin in Manslaughter Case

Evidence Is Insufficient for True Bill; Case Heard

Fred Herman Berlin, 33 years old, of Lake Zurich, was freed of a manslaughter charge when the Lake county grand jury heard evidence produced by witnesses was insufficient to warrant a true bill being sworn. The jury heard Berlin's case and five others Monday and returned true bills in all cases except that of the Lake Zurich man.

His case was brought before the grand jury by State Attorney Charles E. Mason on the recommendation of a coroner's jury, which held that the death of Fred Collins, 51 years old, a former school teacher and retail mail carrier from Prairie View, was due to injuries received during an altercation with Berlin at a Lake Zurich tavern on July 25.

According to information given at the coroner's inquest held at the death of Collins, the two men became engaged in a quarrel over a $7 rent bill. During the altercation Berlin was stabbed by Collins, striking his head. Collins was found on a disorderly conduct charge following the incident and the matter appeared settled.

A week after Collins was taken ill, it was learned he suffered a fractured skull in the fall. He was taken to the Waukegan hospital where he died.

Novel Exhibits and Bright Decorations Pleasing to Guests

Variety of Entertainment for Visitors Every Night

Autumnal colorings, gay lights, booths indicative of well-stocked stores and swarms of people make the Barrington fall festival now in progress the big tent on north Fourth street a colorful spectacle. Arrays are enlivened by the use of fall leaves, rich in color; berries, flowers, streamers and colored lights.

Elements of the unusual may be found in the various displays. One concern shows a series of lamps, dating back to 900 A. D. Another shows a collection of Indian corn and the first initial of the firm's name formed by gigantic leaves of bread, seven feet in length.

Fragrance of delectable foods comes from many of the booths and samples of puddings, pancakes, cakes, cookies, candies, fruit and vegetable juices are served to the passersby.

Still camera views at another booth attracted the crowds, many of whom are fascinated by the grim horror of some of the accident scenes, others intrigued by the exquisite beauty of childhood as photographed informally. The public has been asked to vote for its favorite picture in the amateur class exhibit.

Meat examine the newest cars, on parade, and farm machinery, heating and water softening units. Their wives marvel at new laundry equipment, easy to operate.

Other groups were seen lingering over a booth dedicated to personal loveliness and modern methods of its achievement. Next to it, is a fall dining table, set for Thanksgiving dinner, perhaps, glowing colors adding a touch in keeping with the fall carnival.

The schools are represented, showing phases of their work, and that public servant, Uncle Sam, has a booth outlining the procedure from the dropping of a letter into a mailbox to its final delivery (with especially illustrated poses by local clerks).

Here's a replica of a log cabin at one booth and a roof of brightly colored handkerchiefs on another little house. Suggestions for the fair wardrobe and modern methods of leaves bring comments of admiration.

Radios provide music during interludes when there is no program proceeding on the center stage, where vaudeville continues.

"You Can't Have Everthing" Here Sunday at Catlow

Disney's "Academy Award Reveal" on Twin Bill and Matinee Saturday

Miriam Hopkins and Joel McCrea come back to the Catlow theatre Thursday and Friday when "Woman Chases Man," a riotous comedy, begins a two day engagement.

"Woman Chases Man" marks the fifth production in which the stars have engaged together. Walt Disney's unbroken five year reign as king of the animated cartoon makers is fittingly symbolized in the production of the "Walt Disney Academy Award Reveal," coming to the Catlow Saturday on a double feature bill.

There will be a matinee Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with a single show, "The Academy Award Reveal."

The five prize-winning cartoons, all Billy Symphonies in technique, are "Flowers and Trees," (1932), "Three Little Pigs," (1933), "The Tortoise and the Hare," (1934), "Three Orphan Kittens," (1935) and "The Country Cousin," (1936).

Double featured on the evening bill is "Silent Barriers," with Richard Arlen, Little Palmer, and Harry Mackay.

Rhythm, sweet, tremble and low-down; song hits by Gordon and Revel; scrumptious girls; a parade of personalties headed by Alice Faye, the Ritz Brothers, Don Ameche, and Rubenoff and his violin; sizzling fiddles, trumpets, and crooners; dancing feet like rain on the roof; and the innumerable antics over from the Ritzmaniacs, is "You Can't Have Everthing," new musical opening Sunday at the Catlow.

Two recruits from vaudeville have important roles in "Dance, Charlie, Dance," which comes Wednesday.

They are Tommy Wonder of the well-known team of Tommy and Betty Wonder, and Collette Lyons, both former headliners. "Dance, Charlie, Dance," is the story of a small town boob, played by Stuart Erwin, who comes to New York and accidentally puts over a big Broadway show.

Double featured with "Dance, Charlie, Dance," is "Bad Guy."

James Plagge Starts to Instruct Classes at U. of C. Monday

James C. Plagge, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Plagge, 145 Grove avenue, met his first full term class of pre-medical students at the University of Chicago Monday. Plagge, who received an appointment of assistant instructor on the Department of Zoology last March, is teaching a course of vertebrate embryology this term.

During the winter session he will instruct freshmen in general zoology, one of the university's new plan courses in which students are permitted to set their own rate of advancement. During the spring term he will again instruct the pre-medics in a course of comparative anatomy. These students are at the junior and senior level.

Plagge is also engaged in graduate research work in biology at the university. He is investigating the functions of the thymus and salivary glands in albino rats and other laboratory animals, work that may eventually uncover a significant relation to human ailments.

but a gala note at frequent intervals. The performance of Frank Hogan's nationally famous retriever dogs Tuesday evening deserves particular mention, each having obeyed orders perfectly. Retrievers carried live chickens jumped into a pool for live ducks, returning each unharmed to the handler, and fished coins out of a pail of water. Barefoot dances will have their last opportunity to see the dogs at work Saturday evening.

The program Wednesday evening included the following vaudeville acts: a dance team, a tenor, a magician, all of exceptional ability, and a wild animal act, two lions and a tiger looking fierce as they went through their paces. An unexpected pleasure for the crowds was music by newswomen, Mrs. and Mrs. Homer Phillips. Mrs. Phillips was formerly Miss Blanche Frye of Barrington. Dr. W. A. Fanning, president of Lions, gave a short address of welcome and Roy Wilmersing represented the Lions as master of ceremonies.

Start Construction for New Deep Rock Oil Service Plant

Preliminary construction work was started this week on the new service station and oil service plant and offices at West Main and Lakeshule streets. Excavation for supply tanks for the service pumps is being completed.

Actual construction is expected to get underway this week. Modern Construction Co. of Fox River Grove and Schroeder Hardware are the contractors for the major contracts. The estimated cost of the structure is placed at $3500. The building, to be of common brick exterior, will be 27 feet by 44 feet and will have service drives on Main street and Lakeshule street.

Three 3000-gallon and one 1000-gallon tanks will supply the station's gasoline pumps while the bulk plant will continue to service the delivery trucks from their present location.

Space for the local business office of the corporation will also be housed in the new structure as will be a complete arrangement of service station equipment.

Before we finished feeling we received word from the Commander in Chief of the Asiatic Fleet that the Parrot was to remain tied up at the Texaco dock while the Edsall was to proceed about five miles up river and tie up at the Standard Oil dock. Our purpose in being here is to protect the Texaco property in the event that the neighboring Chinese should start rioting and try to enter the compound; it would be absolutely impossible for us to offer the Texaco people any protection against Chinese or Japanese armed forces except in that the presence of an American warship might act as a possible deterrent toward their firing in this direction or dropping any bombs in this immediate vicinity.

Shortly after trying up here we began to become convinced that a war was in progress; Japanese war craft began steaming up and down the river past us; a Jap battleship was seen on the river directly across the river from us and occasionally took pot-shots with their guns at some Chinese who were hidden in the remains of an acid factory on the shore. Jap planes were flying over head all day long and we could see them make occasional bombing forays on the Chinese troops. On the horizon across the river from us are numerous

It was a lovely day and I looked out for a pleasant trip entirely free from the discomfort of the afternoon; however, late in the day, although the weather continued to be perfect, we ran into ground swells. I had heard about ground swells before, but had never seen any and didn't realize what they could do in the sea. The ship was moving, but I soon found out, for though I tried bravely I just couldn't bring myself to eat any supper and had to resort to the only effective remedy I have found for seasickness—the horizontal position.

ECONOMIC SANITY

In an era of instability when war and threats of war terrorize the world, the voice of America must needs carry an enlightened counsel.

Fortunate we are to have a statesman of the vision of Cordell Hull who will self-effacing modesty yet with unrelenting zeal has preached consistently the gospel of economic sanity.

The speeches of our secretary of state last week were in the same vein as many others he has delivered in the last three years, but never have they seemed to be so pertinent, never so definitely applicable to world events as they are today.

Mr. Hull diagnoses the ills of the world. Economic nationalism has grown out of economic isolation. Nations afflicted by a diseased world economy have been compelled to adopt measures of self-regimentation and restrictive control. Governments of politicians, in short, have gone mad with a strange philosophy of economic suicide. The lifeblood of peace—world trade—has been poisoned by exchange quotas, tariffs, and monetary fanaticisms.

Small wonder that dictatorships have arisen. They are but the inevitable alternative to anarchy and chaos. Bewildered peoples have learned sadly to prefer the temporary equilibrium of a dictatorship even with lost liberties to the instability and miseries of a bankrupt government and a broken-down national economy. How true the words of Secretary Hull in his Boston speech:

"The broad unresolving economic problem of distribution is how actually to find customers to enable the machinery of production to operate continuously and fully, economically and profitably. Our modern civilization definitely has within its grasp the productive means and resources for supplying the material needs of mankind and a standard of living never yet attained.

"But production continues to fall short, at times tragically short, of its possibilities, and we are still far away from achieving the peace and security of a world of contented people."

What Mr. Hull is saying in substance is that the key to world prosperity is more production and a better distribution of worldly goods. This suggests to me a question: If redistribution of wealth is a sound doctrine for 1,000,000,000 persons living in the United States, how much more sound is it as a philosophy of world progress when applied to 1,000,000,000 persons—David Lawrence, the United States News.

DEMOCRACY VS. "ISMS"

The only workable form of democratic government which the world has ever known is not based upon the theory that everybody should have absolute liberty, but rather that everybody should have as much liberty as possible without hurting the whole society. Unrestricted liberty for all is anarchy. Complete liberty for special groups leads to communism or fascism or some other "ism."

It is strange, therefore, that some Americans who prize their democracy should let one group in its society have almost complete freedom from control. Labor unions have fewer legal restraints upon them than any other group, yet every day they demand and take more freedom.

It used to be a crime to interfere with the United States mails. Yet in the mid-west, strike pickets censored mail before they let it go into factories.

It used to be that a man could work if he wanted to. Yet strike pickets make men go on relief by refusing to let them work.

It used to be that a man could either join or refrain from joining a union. Yet it is reported that a recent Chrysler plant sit-down strike was called to make some union members pay their dues and to force others to join.

It used to be that a man did not have to belong to a union to hold a job. Yet a General Motors sit-down strike was threatened because two unionists did not like to work alongside two non-unionists.

It used to be that when a man worked hard and long and built himself up a business he could run that business. Yet another sit-down strike recently forced such a man to retire from control of his business.

It used to be that a contract was a contract. Yet there have been nearly three-score sit-down strikes in automobile plants since contracts were signed forbidding them.

Where and how must it end? In another "ism" or the restoration of real democracy?

NOW DO SOMETHING!

Congress, during the last session showed some signs of "economy mindedness." It is no secret that the towering national debt, which recently reached an all time high of $86,600,000, is worrying legislators.

They certainly should be worried, for the principal adverse effects of a gigantic debt, with its necessary accompanying of rising taxes, falls on the poor and the moderately well-to-do.

Concern over the debt, now exhibited by congress, should be followed by "doing something about the debt." A policy of budget balancing, and regular debt reduction, would do more for real recovery than all the expensive political pandering ever devised.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Is the American government moving toward application of the neutrality act in the undeclared Sino-Japanese war?

A short distance in an affirmative direction drifted the Roosevelt-Hull watchful-waiting policy last week. Merchant vessels owned by the government were formally forbidden to transport arms, ammunition or implements of war to China or Japan. Other privately owned ships were engaged in that they would continue to carry such cargoes to the contending nations only at their own risk.

Under formal application of the neutrality act, such an embargo would have applied to all vessels under American registry. The ban actually declared affects only a small fraction of the fleet engaged in trade with the Orient. Most directly it touches 13 ships of the American Pioneer Line, leased from the government.

But the limited embargo served as a sop to those elements which have been strongly demanding that the president recognize a state of war and put the neutrality act into effect. It served also as a "trial balloon" to test public sentiment on the question whether full application of the neutrality act would be popularly approved.

The order furthermore had a direct effect in forestalling a possible diplomatic clash with Japan, which might have resulted had a Japanese attempt been made to board and search an American government-owned ship, the "Wichita," bound for China with 19 bombing planes and some cases of revolvers and cartridges.

Two weeks ago the "Wichita" sailed from Baltimore. It was recalled at once that an embarrassing situation might develop if it should stop here. This might have involved the state department in a sharp exchange of diplomatic representations. Or at least it might have forced the American government to declare the existence of a state of war between China and Japan and to put its neutrality law into effect, for Japanese search and seizure of contraband in a neutral vessel could be carried out only as the exercise of asserted powers in enforcing a war-time blockade.

But as it happened, the "Wichita" had not steamed beyond reach when the executive order was issued. The ship touched at San Pedro, Calif., where the planes and planes she carried were unloaded.

In Japan the new American move led to no official action. From China came formal diplomatic protest, on grounds of discrimination. American vessels carrying war shipments at their own risk to unblockaded Japan would encounter no risk. It was expected, however, that Japan's "peaceful blockade" might be extended in a way seriously to hamper American shipments to China.

In the United States, six leading peace organizations, while commending the step, renewed demands for full invocation of the neutrality act to "carry out the clear mandate of the people."

Thus, workers in manufacturing now have 15 per cent more buying power than in 1929; workers in transportation, utilities and communications, 21 per cent better buying power than they had in 1929; and workers in mining on the average, are 9 per cent better off than in 1929.

But workers employed in the less highly organized industries such as trade and the service industries have less buying power than in 1929. Workers in trade can buy 4 per cent less than in 1929 and workers in service industries can buy 1 per cent less.

The Barrington high school Broncho football team will resume its schedule Friday afternoon after a two week's lay-off, and travels to Ours where the Warren township high school gridirrs will face a revamped Broncho line-up.

During its two-week vacation from active schedule, the Broncho eleven has been engaged in a series of practice sessions designed by Coach Paul Clark to strengthen weaknesses that were noticeable in the season's opener at Niles Center on September 24. He has shifted Jack Mountain to the fullback position on the offensive in an effort to gain weight for plunging line plays. Church, who started in the fullback berth, has been moved to right half back and will continue in the capacity of kicker and passer. Cling will remain at left half and Shepard at quarterback.

Johnson, who was first slated at right half back, has been benched by the move. By having Johnson available on the side line to fill in at half or quarterback, Coach Clark is increasing his reserve backfield strength, which up to the present, had been a problem.

On defensive, Mountains will go back into the line at left end and possibly Rice will go back into the defensive fullback position and one of the guards to shift over to the right end position. Arthur Castle, a member of last year's squad, reported for practice for the first time this week and will add to the team's reserve strength. Last year he filled in a guard and backfield position.

Friday's contest will be hard fought. Warren was regarded as highly fortunate in defeating Grant 3 to 0 last Friday. A solid goal in the last quarter, after they had been consistently outplayed for three quarters, saved Warren's skin.

The Bronchos should be able to make large gains through the Warren line around mid-field but inside the 20-yard markers, stiff opposition can be expected. The lightweights play their second game of the season when Crystal Lake comes here this afternoon, Thursday, for a scrimmage. The lights lost their first game to Libertyville last week and in doing so, learned a number of pointers that may prove to their advantage this afternoon. Coaches Clark, Hunsford, and Bricker and Superintendent Smith went to Bensenville last night to attend a meeting of the Northwest conference.

Purdue University Experiment Favors All Wood Houses

Kyes of this home building nation have been watching with interest for some months now the Purdue university experiment in small home building costs.

Under laboratory conditions with records carefully kept, five small houses have been built during 1936 and 1937 at figures approximating $5000 each. For comparison purposes one house was built of stucco and frame, another prefabricated with steel framing, another of reinforced concrete. House four is of steel, and house five is all-wood. According to the report the cost per cubic foot was as follows:

All-wood house 28 cents, steel house 26 cents, concrete house 31 cents, frame and stucco house 38 cents. The size of house built for $5000 was: all-wood house 17400 cubic feet, steel house 13,850 cubic feet, concrete house 16,186 cubic feet, frame and stucco house, 12,712 cubic feet.

Council-Wide Scout Session Oct. 8-9-10

The second annual Gim-O-Gash Pow-Wow for scouts and coaches of the Northwest Suburban council will provide a program which will be very interesting to spectators particularly the program Saturday afternoon and evening.

The Pow-Wow will be held at the Elk Grove forest preserve south of Arlington Heights on October 8, 9, 10 and it is the annual event planned and carried out by the Gim-O-Gash Tribe of the council. Martin Hapeman of Park Ridge is tribe chieftain.

On Saturday afternoon a program of competitive events will be held and Saturday evening a large campfire will be held with a program of interest to everyone. Events of the afternoon will consist of a scout pace race, bridge building, fire making by flint and steel and rubbing sticks, tug of war, patrol drill, snap-jack cooking and knot tying.

The Gim-O-Gash Tomahawk award will be presented to the troop securing the greatest number of points throughout the entire Pow-Wow and in addition to the event of Saturday afternoon the following activities will count the same as any one event. Percentage of scouts registered at Pow-Wow, percentage of visitors registered at Pow-Wow, percentage of overnight campers Friday, best patrol (8 scouts) during camp inspection, best troop for personal inspection at retreat, best stunt at camp fire, best songs at camp fire, troops showing the best scouting spirit and sportsmanship throughout the duration of the Pow-Wow.

Plant Narcissi

BY THE MASTER GARDENER

There is a mistaken idea among some gardeners that all of the spring blooming plants should be planted as late as October and November. This is true of the tulip and hyacinth, but with the crocus, snowdrops, scilla, glory-of-the-snow, and other small, very early blooming bulbs, as well as the narcissus, September planting is preferable. Such bulbs do better if they have a little extra time for root development.

The very early blooming small bulbs are often neglected, but they provide such cheery spots of color in the spring that everyone should be sure to plant as many as the garden budget will allow.

These small bulbs have such varied uses, too. Plant them in shady spots; crocus and dogtooth violet are especially good for this purpose. The scilla, snowdrops, winter aconites, and crocuses make a beautiful showing planted about the base of trees. The crocuses, snowdrops, scilla, and glory-of-the-snow are very suitable for naturalizing in the lawn, but be sure to pick a section of turf which need not be mowed early, as the foliage must ripen before the grass is cut, else the bulbs will suffer.

Scilla, snowdrops, winter aconites, and snowflakes are suitable for a north border. Under evergreen trees, glory-of-the-snow, winter aconites and snowdrops will do well.

The crocus, winter aconite, snowdrop, snowflake, and glory-of-the-snow and scilla should be planted at a depth of about 3 inches. Narcissus should be planted at a depth of 6 inches.

"JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES, I'M PRETTY WELL PLEASED ABOUT IT"

"Yes sir, there's a lot of satisfaction in having an individual telephone line again. Not that I have anything against our old party line. It served its purpose during the depression when we had to watch every penny, and yet didn't want to do without telephone service."

"But now that things are better, I'm kind of proud to have 'our own' telephone once more. It's right there—ready for us—when ever we want it or whenever anybody wants us. There's no one else using it when we're in a hurry."

"And it's surprising how little more it costs than our party line did. Might be a good idea for you to look into it, and see if you don't want to change back too."

St. Matthew Church Celebrates Annual Mission Festival

St. Matthew Lutheran church will celebrate its annual Mission Festival, next Sunday, Oct. 10. This festival, which stresses and emphasizes the important and interesting phases of mission work carried on by the church, will be commemorated in two services. In the morning service at 10:30, the Rev. Alvin E. Wagner, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church of Forest Park, will deliver the address. Pastor Wagner is known in Lutheran circles as a forceful and interesting speaker. The choir of St. Matthew church, directed by Miss Gwendolyn Wolf, will sing two anthems.

At the evening service at 8 o'clock, Rev. A. D. Wanger, pastor of Taber Lutheran church, Chicago, will deliver the sermon. Pastor Wanger, as chairman of the Mission Board six years ago, was helpful in the beginning and organization of St. Matthew church. The Men's Chorus of Immanuel church, Palatine, under the direction of Prof. H. C. Zimdahl, will sing several festive anthems.

777 Register in Barrington Tuesday

Two general days will be permitted to do so with either H. O. Sott, Barrington town clerk, if they reside in the country area, or with A. C. Herand, village clerk, if they reside in the village. Registrations may be made with them after December 6, 1937 and until January 20, 1938 at their respective offices. After that it will be necessary to go to the office of Michael J. Flynn, Cook county clerk, in Chicago in order to have names placed on the poll books. It was reported. Unless voters will have previously registered, they will not be given the ballot at a general, county, village or school election during 1938.

At the village board meeting Monday night, the registration law and how it affects the village in both counties was discussed. It was suggested that the proposal made by Mr. Bur-and last spring that two precincts be created should be adopted. He made the suggestion in order to reduce the amount of tallying work at village elections. The permanent registration law was adopted by the last general assembly as a measure to provide "honest" elections.

Village Department Cooperates in Fire Prevention Program

The Barrington village fire department is cooperating with the state of Illinois and other fire units in spreading publicity for fire prevention week Oct. 3-9.

No active demonstration has been planned locally it was reported but pamphlets and posters concerning the movement are being distributed. Fire prevention received official recognition in a proclamation issued by Governor Henry Horner, requesting that individuals and committees assist in reducing the number of fires and fire fatalities throughout the state.

During 1937, statistics show, property valued at 11 million dollars was destroyed by fire in Illinois and the number of fires was 16,492. Decreases have been noted in the amount of fire and damage each year, and by the publicity of fire prevention week, fire authorities expect greater reduction can be noted.

Special emphasis will be made on fire prevention methods at local schools and those in the state, it was reported.
