Cook County Clerk Announces County Town Registration

Place 169,281 Names on Books
in Two Days; Total Is Near 1934 Mark

Cook County Clerk Michael J. Flynn announced that a total of 169,281 voters had registered in the country towns, under his jurisdiction, in the year 1937; under the new permanent registration law which was passed by the last session of the legislature.

The number of registration under the new law found 66,659 persons registering; the other 102,622 registered on the second day, October 5, 1937, which was the last registration held.

In 1934, 174,827 people registered in the country towns. The greatest registration was in the presidential election of 1936 when 235,629 persons registered.

Those who registered in the two days set aside for this purpose will have to apply to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn or the clerk of the township or village of their residence.

The county clerk's ruling which stated that women are not required to give their exact age, but merely giving their age as over 21 was very favorably received and facilitated matters greatly.

Republican Club Has Election; Arranges Party at Biltmore

H. D. Kelsey was again elected to head the Cook township Republican club at a meeting of that group held in the council rooms of the village hall Monday evening. Leslie Niemier was elected vice president; Lloyd Graham, secretary; Charles Miller, treasurer; Sam Petrik, assistant treasurer.

The club adopted a program calling for a "good will" party to be held at Biltmore on October 20. An eight-piece orchestra will be engaged for the evening. It was reported, and there will be other entertainment and refreshments.

Last year the club was also sponsor of a "good will" party, and Mr. Kelsey reported the affair this year would be larger, with a plan to refrain from any politics. The public from Barrington and the community has been invited to attend.

Three Motorists Killed by Train at Cary Saturday

Disregard Watchman's Warnings Signal and Drive Onto Crossing

Racing to pass before a speeding Chicago and North Western passenger train Saturday night cost three Chicago men their lives when the car in which they were riding was struck and demolished on the Main street crossing in Cary.

Victims of the crash were: Alvin L. Courtols, 55, of 2235 N. Troy avenue, Chicago; S. O. Berenson, 62, of 3633 N. Francisco avenue, Chicago, and Andrew Anderson, 55, of 2517 Belden avenue, Chicago.

The men had been fishing on the River at Cary where Courtols had a summer cottage. Enroute home they were traveling west on Main street. The speeding passenger train was approaching at an estimated speed of 70 miles an hour.

August Wenzel was the crossing watchman on duty at that time and was using two lanterns to halt cars. Courtols, who was driving, drove past the halter car and onto the tracks despite Wenzel's warning cry and waving of the lantern.

A door was knocked from the machine in the crash that followed an instant later, striking and breaking the lantern held in Wenzel's hand. Debris was carried down the track more than a quarter of a mile and the occupants tossed along the right of way.

A hasty examination by members of the train and eyewitnesses who were present revealed the men had been instantaneously killed. They were severely mutilated by the crash.

Identity of the men was not learned until an hour after the crash when the license plate number was traced by the Illinois state highway police department. An inquest conducted Sunday morning a verdict of accidental death was returned.

Schick Tests to Be Given October 20

Local school children have been given consent slips for parents to sign if they wish their boys and girls to have a Schick test at the public school Wednesday, Oct. 26, to determine whether immunity to diphtheria has been established. Diphtheria toxoid was administered to about 175 school children six months ago at a minimum rate and the subsequent tests will be given at the same price. Preschool children will be eligible for the service also.

This program is being sponsored by E. S. Smith, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. W. A. Woman's club, local doctors, and Chicago Tuberculosis Institute.

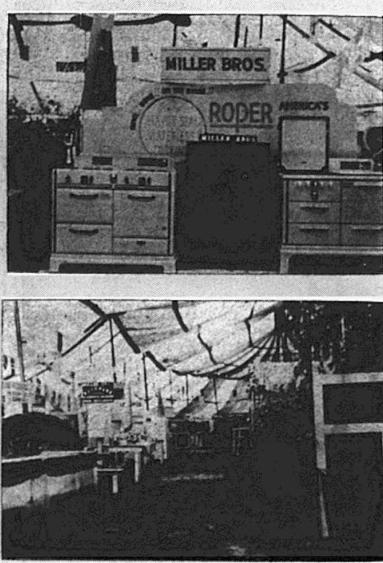

The car driven by K. Shoup of Barrington was damaged Tuesday evening when it was forced from the road by an approaching machine and struck the guard rail on route 22 near Biltmore road. Mr. Shoup was uninjured but the car was damaged at the right front.

In addition to elections, the annual meeting included reports by committee chairmen and a social hour. Mrs. E. F. Wichman was the hosting hostess.

Attendance

A chicken pie supper will be served to the public at St. Paul church, Wednesday evening, Oct. 26, starting at 5:30 p. m. Tickets are being sold by members of the Woman's Union. The menu for the meal will be found on page 4 of this issue of The Review.

Paul Clark Visits Father Burned as Hot Tar Splashes

Paul Clark, 432 N. Cook street, spent the weekend with his father who is a patient at the Peoria hospital, Peoria. The senior Mr. Clark was badly burned while doing highway work last week, a driver having skidded into a truck and against a tar kettle filled with seething tar. The hot liquid splashed on Mr. Clark's face and arms, burning him severely.

The men had been fishing on the River at Cary where Courtols had a summer cottage. Enroute home they were traveling west on Main street. The speeding passenger train was approaching at an estimated speed of 70 miles an hour.

"The Life of the Party" at Catlow Sunday, Monday

"Confession," Starring Kay Frances, Opens Two Day Run Wednesday

Those who like their movie-men rugged and strong—plenty good if they're good and plenty bad if they are so inclined—are due for a treat when "San Quentin" comes to the Catlow Saturday.

On the good side the fans will see Pat O'Brien, which ought to be satisfactory enough. He's the man of the year in "San Quentin." On the bad side you have Humphrey Bogart and James Cagney as a couple of tough prisoners, plus big Barton MacLane as a crooked jail official.

Double features with "San Quentin" Saturday is "One Mile From Heaven," with Claire Trevor, Sally Jane, Douglas Fowley and Fred Kohlhepp.

To the rhythm of a new song, "Yankee Doodle Dandy," Ann Miller does a whirlwind tap dance in "The Life of the Party," which establishes her in a class with queens of rhythm. The film will show at the Catlow Sunday and Monday.

Accompanying Miss Miller is her terpsichorean triumph in a short, slim dress, which is a hit with male partners. Pretty Harriet Hilliard, who plays the romantic lead in the production opposite Gene Raymond, sings the number with a choral and orchestral accompaniment.

Raymond and Miss Hilliard share starring honors with Joe Penner, Phylynn Lee, Helen Broderick and Victor Moore in "The Life of the Party," a story of a modern Cinderella who rebels when her mother wants her to marry a wealthy goof; and a milieus scene when falls in love with her despite his mother's will which threatens him with loss of an inheritance.

"Black Gold" is struck in a big way, and causes no end of exciting drama in the feature, "Outlaws of the Orient," coming to the Catlow Tuesday. With a locale that ranges from New York's skyscrapers to the sands of the Gobi desert, the film features a large cast including the famous star, and Mae Clarke, James Cagney, Harold Huber, Beulah Roberts, and others.

Double featured Tuesday with "Outlaws of the Orient," is "It Can't Last Forever," with Ralph Bellamy, Betty Furness, Robert Armstrong.

Legion, Auxiliary Leaders Speak at Joint Installation

District Officers Describe Welfare Work Wednesday

"This post has a spirit of which it can and will be proud. It can be as influential in your community as you want it to be. Continue to serve in the future as you have in the past," George E. Rhode, ninth district commander of the American Legion, told members and guests of the Legion and Auxiliary at the joint installation program of both organizations held at the Masonic temple, South Cook street Wednesday evening.

Senior Commander Joe O'Brien of the ninth district complimented the "fine spirit of comradeship to be found in these northwest suburban towns" and outlined projects of various posts.

J. V. Cook, president of Lloyd Cunningham, described the Legion program of youth activities, saying "Today, the Legion sponsors more troops of boy scouts than any other organization in the world.

It promotes junior baseball also, emphasizing sportsmanship, clean play and clean living. It is aggressive in child welfare work and in youth education, awarding medals for scholarship, citizenship, oratory, and sports. It holds conventions and parades as sponsored by the Legion annually."

Commander Rhode installed the following recently elected officers: A. G. Mariens, senior vice commander; Harry Coffman, senior vice commander; Jack Matyske, junior vice commander; Dr. C. H. Kellam, finance officer; Andrew Bjornberg, sergeant-at-arms; Dr. C. H. Sandel, chaplain; Cecil E. Paxton, historian; Hugo Albrecht, adjutant.

BUILDING TO BURN

The first five minutes of fire are more important than the next five hours.

T. Alfred Fleming, of the national board of fire underwriters, quotes a number of instances of fires which became uncontrollable within an incredibly short time after their discovery. For example, a clothing factory in an Eastern city took fire at 2:30. By 2:35 the building was such an inferno that firemen could not endure the radiated heat across the streets and 35 factory employees had already been cremated.

The main remedy for this condition is safer construction. It is much cheaper to fight a fire at the architectural drawing board than at the hydrant. But safer construction cannot be achieved until building codes in towns, large and small, are revised and modernized. Not long ago a review was made of the building codes in 281 municipalities containing 81 per cent of the population of a state. An alarming proportion of these codes were found to be inadequate and out of date.

New discoveries bring new hazards. Air-conditioning, for example, breeds fire hazards not provided for in the codes of 99 out of 100 cities, according to Mr. Fleming. A truly adequate building code must cover such contingencies as this. Improper ventilating systems are another prime cause of fires. In recent years there have been a score or more of total loss fires in schools where ventilating systems were completely responsible.

Fire Prevention Week should have inspired every community to scientifically examine its code in the light of needed revision—and if it has no code, to start preparing one. Don't build to burn!

Evacuation Work in War Torn China Is Described This Week

Following is the second installment of the article relating to the Sino-Japanese conflict written by Lt. Kirk Smith, stationed aboard the USS Parrot at Shanghai:

August 19

The continuous installation of ships up and down the river made possible again the traffic in the mountains, on the British side of the country on the opposite side of the river from us as they went. Jap planes are continually in the air prosecuting their bombing activities, but we have seen only one Chinese plane; probably the reason for this is that the latter are outnumbered another 100 passengers. We then swung around with the tide and went back down river to shored in the stream about 1/4 mile below the Tzuozou dock. None of the evacuating merchantmen have been coming any nearer Shanghai than that point. Many ships with cargo destined for Shanghai have returned to their ports of departure or are unloading it at other ports. The Chinese government will not issue war risk insurance covering the war at this time.

One of the few somewhat ludicrous aspects of the fighting is the way we exchange salutes with the Jap ships. It is customary for warships of different nationalities when passing each other to have the men on deck stand at attention and the men on the other ship fire a broadside or a broadside from a small whistle; as the Jap steam up river past us the men on their port side stand at attention while saluting us while the starboard side they will be letting go a broadside at something ashore.

Today the manager of the Texaco plant took through his layout in order that we might be familiar with things in case we were called upon to protect the property. They have about 60 acres in the compound all of which is surrounded by a concrete wall about 8 feet in height topped by a couple strands of barbed wire; they have numerous gasoline tanks and fueling tanks, oil blend plant in addition to several large warehouses for storing drums of oil and tons of gasoline. They also have a factory where they make their own 5-gallon tins for gasoline; the tin comes out in sheets from the tanks and is shaped into cans in this factory; the process of making the cans is identical with ours.

The manager and assistant manager are both Americans hailing from Texas and are married; the other foreign members of the force are English, German, Dutch and American and are all bachelors (eight in all); all the rest of the help is Chinese. Most of their Chinese workers are married and help Chinese.

The respective consulates have encouraged all women and children to leave and have informed those who wish to remain in Shanghai that at the stage of the game to do so at their own risk.

Tonight there are many more fires on the horizon and there has been rather continuous and heavy firing up until about midnight. Some oil tanks on the Asiatic Petroleum company's compound about three miles up river from us, which has been burning for several days, finally ignited the gasoline tanks in the same area and we could see six huge flares and hear six dull booms as the gasoline tanks blew up tonight.

The radio stations in Shanghai are continuing to operate and much of their time is occupied by receiving news of the day's activities, giving information with reference to securing evacuation, warning them as to precautions to be taken to avoid being injured by shellfire and broadcasting messages from people in Shanghai to relatives in other parts of China as to their safety, evacuation plans, etc.

It is reported that with the departure of today's ship approximately 19,000 foreigners have been evacuated. The radio also announced that judging from the number of people treated in the local hospitals this affair has been much more serious and costly as far as human life is concerned than the fight of 1932.

They looked terror stricken as they came aboard and I don't blame them after what some of them have been through.

We took about 250 men, women and children aboard the Parrot and the Edsall had a similar number; I wouldn't have believed that it was possible, but by using deck space we could have easily accommodated another 100 passengers. We then swung around with the tide and went back down river to shored in the stream about 1/4 mile below the Tzuozou dock. None of the evacuating merchantmen have been coming any nearer Shanghai than that point. Many ships with cargo destined for Shanghai have returned to their ports of departure or are unloading it at other ports. The Chinese government will not issue war risk insurance covering the war at this time.

This process of evacuating had been going on for a week or more prior to our arrival. The women and children are strongly urged to evacuate by their respective counsels and many men who need to remain here have been advised to do so. Those who are also leaving are those who do not have money to pay for their passage are looked after by their consulates. The British citizens are being evacuated on British vessels to Hongkong while U. S. citizens are being taken out by ships of U. S. registry to Manila and the regular vessels of these ships have been canceled in order to make it possible to immediately remove all foreigners who wish to leave. Consequently both Manila and Hongkong are now overcrowded and I hate to think of how crowded the conditions must be for living accommodations for those who have been forced to leave. In Manila after leaving Shanghai for 15 or 20 years and have been to several previous warlike situations, but all of them seem to feel that this one is of more serious proportions and that they were only too anxious to take advantage of the opportunity to leave the city.

The respective consulates have encouraged all women and children to leave and have informed those who wish to remain in Shanghai that at the stage of the game to do so at their own risk.

Tonight there are many more fires on the horizon and there has been rather continuous and heavy firing up until about midnight. Some oil tanks on the Asiatic Petroleum company's compound about three miles up river from us, which has been burning for several days, finally ignited the gasoline tanks in the same area and we could see six huge flares and hear six dull booms as the gasoline tanks blew up tonight.
