A board of review will be held next Tuesday evening, December 14, at the Boy Scout cabin for scouts of Barrington, following which a scoutmaster's round table meeting will be held.

W. R. Chappell is chairman of the board of review and Henry Lipofsky is district commissioner of the northern district. This will be the last opportunity of the year for scouts to qualify for advancement, it was reported.

Life of Lepers Is Talk Topic at St. Paul Church Sunday

Miss Magdalena Kroeher, a missionary from India, who is at home on a furlough, gave a lecture and five reels of moving pictures of the leper colony at Chandur, India, at St. Paul church, Sunday.

Miss Kroeher is the superintendent of the nurses' training school at the colony.

Dressed in a native costume, she gave an unusually interesting and educational address on the leper colony. Among the pictures she showed were scenes typical of life at the leper colony and how those able to do so are taught to be self-supporting.

Other films pictured the missionary work among the lepers and medical procedure in the treatment of leprosy.

Proceeding Miss Kroeher's talk, a delightful musical number was given by a trio with Miss Sylvia Ott as vocal soloist, Miss Marie Basso as violinist and Kenneth Grom at the organ.

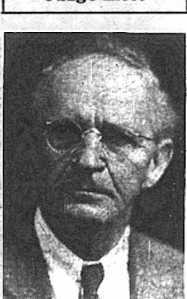

Highway Bridge to Be Opened to Traffic Within Few Days

The Flint creek bridge on Northwest highway near Jewel Park will be opened for traffic either Saturday or the first of the week. Village Trustees Randolph Berg and others, who are in charge of the bridge, are expected to complete the work by the end of the week.

Judge-Elect

William L. Pierce, Belvidere attorney and republican candidate for the seventeenth judicial vacancy, was elected to that post with a total of 51,316 votes in Lake, McHenry, Boone and Winnebago counties Tuesday, beating the democratic candidate, George R. Lyon, Waukegan attorney, who received 41,147 votes, by a majority of 10,169.

Pierce, who led his opponent 692 votes in Lake county, received his greatest majorities in Boone and McHenry counties.

One record was established locally in an otherwise tight poll in the district. Cube township had the biggest vote of any polling district in Lake county with the republican candidate receiving 377 votes in his democratic opponent's 123. The Cuba republican vote was the highest Pierce received in Lake county.

In Kila township the voting was close. Pierce getting 145 votes and Lyon 160. Waukegan township was one of the few outlying rural voting districts to favor Lyon. He received 167 votes and Pierce 159.

Curator of Mammals at Field Museum to Speak Here Dec. 28

The speaker at the dinner meeting of the Barrington Alumni association Dec. 28, in honor of the class of 1903, will be Colin Campbell Sanborn, curator of mammals at Field Museum of Natural History.

Mr. Sanborn was born in Evanston and has spent most of his life in or near Chicago. The study of natural history has always been his main interest. As a boy this took the form of studying birds, a subject he still follows in connection with the local bird club. After graduation from Deerfield Shields high school, he served in the Army two years and later published a list of birds he had observed in France and Germany during the war.

He joined the staff of Field Museum in 1918 and spent the next eighteen months in Brazil, Paraguay, and Argentina. On this trip he collected material for four large groups of birds, mammals, and reptiles. On his return he entered the division of mammals.

In 1926 he was again sent to South America and spent the next eighteen months in Brazil, Paraguay, and Argentina. On this trip he collected material for four large groups of birds, mammals, and reptiles. On his return he entered the division of mammals.

Following a motion made by Trustee John Buechler, the board voted to start one suit and then instructed the clerk, A. C. Burandt, to have papers served on all users. Total delinquent bills are over $20.

According to the number of papers served Wednesday, 11 persons owning improved property, or the agents for improved property, will appear at the hearings. The delinquent bills can be paid before the hearing Saturday, but the cost of filing serving papers, amounting to $5.10, will be charged just the same, it was learned. Though only 11 suits were filed this time, it is expected that the number will become delinquent at the end of the present 30 day period. Many bills are just below the $5.10 figure but at the end of 30 days will become delinquent with the current bill raising the totals over that amount.

Imperiled By Wires When Auto Crashes High Tension Pole

Louis Cernocky, of Fox River Grove, narrowly escaped death by electrocution Friday morning when the car he was driving left the pavement near the intersection of Plum Grove road and Northwest highway, north of Palatine, and crashed into several trees and smashed a culvert. He was reported to have been killed.

The smashed car came to rest amid a tangle of electric wires. Although Mr. Cernocky suffered no injuries from the crash, he was impaled by a high voltage power line, the wires against the car. Fortunately for him, the power automatically shut off when a fuse in the line blew out immediately after the crash.

He petitioned the board to have the surface of Lakeshore street, which is graveled, lowered approximately 2 feet to conform with sidewalk and driveway grades furnished the contractor by village engineers when the concrete was poured.

At present a bump exists where the road is higher than the concrete surface of Lakeshore street, it was learned. The matter was taken under advisement by the street committee, headed by R. Berg, which will call for bids on the proposal to obtain an estimate of the cost.

File Amended Bill in Gieske-Thorne Sewer Damage Suit

Complaint Entered By New Attorneys in Case at Waukegan Monday

An amendment complaint in the Gieske-Thorne damage suit against the village of Barrington was filed Monday in the circuit court of Lake county by W. U. Hardwell of Eckert and Peterson of Chicago, attorneys, who have replaced former legal representatives for the complainants in the case.

The new bill seeks for the same amount of money, $55,000, for damages alleged to have been done to property owned by Mrs. Adelaide Gieske of Barrington and Mrs. Dorothy Stone of Chicago. Seven pieces of property and five residences on Russell and Summit streets are listed.

The case was instituted last April and damage claims are based on alleged faulty construction and operation of the sewer system, including storm sewers. A survey report of the system by engineers for the plaintiffs is contemplated. It is understood, but as yet no firm has been engaged.

The original bill of complaint was ordered stricken when Judge Ralph Dady, sitting in circuit court at Waukegan, sustained objections of D. B. Maloney, village attorney, that damage claims were not specific.

Discuss Liability on Business Signs; Propose Ordinance

A proposal to require business houses to carry liability insurance on their outdoor signs was discussed at the village board meeting Monday, following the reading of a report compiled recently by Trustee John Blanke. His report listed the number of signs and sidewalk encumbrances in town. The village can be held jointly liable for damage caused by a falling sign, D. Maloney, village attorney, reported.

At the end of the discussion, the board and ordinance committee was instructed to study the situation preparatory to drafting an ordinance requiring liability insurance that would protect the sign owner and the village.

To Ask Approval on Improvement Plans for Village System

A. C. Burandt, village clerk, was instructed at the village board meeting Monday night to forward plans and specifications of proposed improvements to the village water system to the state sanitary water board for approval.

It is not expected work will start on the improvements immediately, but members felt that the work could be gotten underway more swiftly when the time arrived if approval had been received beforehand.

Extension of the piping system from the pumps and present supply reservoir at the village hall and installation of a water system are now included in the proposal.

S. S. Numbers Are Employment Aids, Director Reports

Persons who hope to obtain employment during the Christmas holidays may improve their chances by getting a social security account number immediately.

"This is especially advisable because many employers are hesitant about hiring anyone who has no account number," explained H. L. McElvick, regional director of the social security board. "Every wage-earner in covered employment should have an account card."

"The employer must see this number in order to be able to submit wage-credit reports to the board. These wage credits are important to the worker for computing his wage record and benefits due under the older-age insurance system."

"Account numbers may be obtained at any field office of the social security board. In case of an account card is lost a duplicate is obtainable, but no one should have more than one account number."

Keen Perception Is Key to Burglary at Wauconda Saturday

Keen perception by Oscar Pfuge, Wauconda night watchman, brought quick solution of a crime in that community early Saturday morning. Raymond Krell, 31 year old, awaits grand jury action charged with breaking into the gas station operated by Herman Maiman at Wauconda.

Krell was on his way home about 12:30 a. m. when he met Patrolman Pfuge, who noticed dirt and mud stains on his trousers.

A few minutes later Pfuge discovered the burglary. He found a window had been broken and forced open, and he noticed marks where the prowler's body had come in contact with the wall.

Pfuge suspected Krell and notified the sheriff's radio squad. The deputies and Pfuge found Krell in bed. When first questioned he denied knowledge of the crime. He later admitted breaking into the place and taking $3.60 from a vending machine.

Krell was removed to the county jail for a hearing before Justice of the peace, Henry F. Wallenwein.

Charges Against His Department Refuted By County Assessor

In a statement made to the press this week, John B. Clark, assessor for Cook County, answered charges that his department was allowing confidential information to be given parties not entitled access to his records. Following is the defense offered by Mr. Clark:

"Word came to me last week that Governor Henry Horner had received a few protests that information contained in certain federal income tax returns had been divulged to persons other than the individual taxpayer. I also received information that District Attorney Michael L. Igoe had received two or three anonymous telephone calls. This news was not surprising to me in the least because a few disgruntled persons who are to be legally taxed for the first time on their valuable holdings still can not understand why their easily concealed stocks and bonds should not continue to be free from legal taxes, as they had been in the past. On the other hand there are thousands of owners of this same class of property who are willing to pay their taxes in accordance with law.

"The federal income tax returns should have been available to me for local tax purposes last year, but again a comparative few were able to hold up this important tax information more than a year.

"We now have the returns and for the first time in the history of Cook County a uniform assessment is being made. It will not produce more money to spend, but will result in a decreased tax rate for this year. Under the program all honest taxpayers will be benefited, for the reason that others who formerly were able to evade their legal share will now be forced to pay. Some of them seem to appear to take it very hard.

"It is unfair to allow a constructive program such as this to be embarrassed by a few people of means who desire the other fellow to pay, in addition to his own taxes, their share of taxes. "If Governor Horner refuses to allow me to peruse the federal income tax returns of 1936 the harm is being done the honest taxpayees and the good work now done to equalize taxes in Cook County will be curtailed.

"The charges made are untrue. The information contained in our files is guarded as strictly as it is by the Federal government. My employees are all placed under oath not to divulge the information to any one but the property owner. In addition thereto, any employee of my office, including myself, is subject not only to a fine but also a jail sentence if the federal law is violated.

"On account of the seriousness of these charges I think I have a right to demand of Governor Horner that the names of the parties making these charges be given to both the public and myself. I am willing to face both his Excellency, the governor, and the complaints. I also respectfully request the District Attorney, Michael L. Igoe to investigate my office on this matter so that the public may know as to whether or not the federal law has been violated."

The Heart Is Busy
Normally, the heart forces all five quarts of the body's blood through the circulatory system about once a minute. This can fluctuate from four quarts a minute when the body is at rest, and nine quarts a minute during moderate exercise, up to sixteen quarts a minute during violent physical exertion. A drop of blood can make its round trip through the circulatory system in twenty-two seconds. Each hour, says a writer in Literary Digest, the heart swishes a barrel of blood through the body, seven and a half tons of blood a day.

In twenty-four hours the heart performs work equivalent to lifting a one-ton elevator to a height of eight stories.

Poinsettias for Christmas Cheer

By The Master Gardener

It wouldn't be Christmas without our cheerful poinsettias! But don't you often wish you could keep your beautiful gift plants in good condition for a longer time? And would you like to know what to do to carry your poinsettias over for growth another year?

First of all, it's well to know the poinsettia is native to the semi-tropics, having been discovered in Mexico by an American minister to that country, Joel R. Poinsett, for whom it was named. Being of a semi-tropical nature, it consequently requires warmth and humidity if we are to prevent the dropping of leaves caused by the transfer from the humid air of the greenhouse to the dry air of the average dwelling.

The poinsettia needs sun; it needs a warm moist atmosphere, as stated above; and plenty of water when blooming. It thrives best in a temperature ranging from 70 to 80 degrees. It is sensitive to sudden changes in temperature and must never be placed in a direct draft. If the temperature drops much below 40 at night the leaves will begin to turn yellow and drop prematurely.

When you receive your plant, place it in a sunny window promptly. To maintain the necessary humidity in the atmosphere surrounding the plant, place the pot in a saucer of damp sphagnum moss. Water regularly, twice a day if necessary. If the air is dry, sprinkle the top daily.

Remember that the leaves will fall if the plant gets too dry or too cold; also it will lose its foliage if drainage is not good and the soil becomes waterlogged.

Apply a pinch of complete balanced plant food every two weeks, and water in well.

If cared for properly, the plant should remain presentable all thru January. By that time leaves begin to fall, and the plant is entering its dormant state. Allow the soil to dry off gradually, then place the plant, pot and all, on its side on the basement floor, and just forget about it for the following three months. The plant will dry up and to all appearances seem to be without life.

In late April or early May, repot, using a good potting soil, enriched with a half teaspoon of complete balanced plant food per quart of soil; thoroughly mix the plant food with the soil. Also place a piece of charcoal in the bottom of the pot, to keep the soil sweet. Before repotting, wash all the old dirt off of the roots of the plant, and cut the stems back to a height of 4 to 5 inches—one or two joints above the soil. Place the newly potted plant in a sunny window, and give water gradually. When new growth starts, water regularly; also feed every six weeks with a complete balanced plant food.

using about a level teaspoonful for a 5 to 10 inch pot.

When all danger of frost is over, sink pot and all in a semi-shady situation in the garden where plenty of light and good circulation of air, but not too strong sunlight, is available. Keep well watered during the summer, but keep the plant stocky by pruning.

Bring in the house about September 1, as the poinsettia is very sensitive to cool nights. By bringing indoors early, the plant also has a chance to acclimate itself to the indoors atmosphere gradually. Keep in a sunny window and out of drafts, and water well; spray the leaves with clear water every 4 or 5 days. If the pot is sunk in a larger pot filled with peat moss, and this peat moss is kept moist, it will provide the moist atmosphere needed. Feed every two weeks with a pinch of a complete balanced plant food. Late in November, the "flowers" or colored bracts should begin to show, and by Christmas the plant should be in bloom.

Ohio Once Had Many Snakes
Snakes once were so numerous in many sections of early Ohio that the settlers would organize snake hunts. Armed with clubs, axes and guns, the farmers would comb a section of the forest from morning to night, leaving hundreds of poisonous serpents dead in their wake.

The Well-Balanced Diet
A well-balanced diet must consist of proteins, carbohydrates and fats, with adequate vitamins and minerals. A person engaged in mental work needs about 2,500 calories per day. The diet should contain animal protein, either eggs or meat; some cereals, as bread; fats, as butter and cream; with fruits and a variety of vegetables to furnish minerals and vitamins.

Daring Piece of Engineering

The great International Bridge at Niagara Falls was a daring piece of engineering. The span was 821 feet, and the height of the towers 90 feet. It was the first suspension bridge designed to carry railroad traffic. And it was only because locomotives were being built so much heavier that it had to be replaced by a steel arch in 1898.

Farm Demands for Hybrid Seed Corn Limited for 1938

With half of Illinois corn acreage to be planted with hybrid seed in 1938 W. J. Mumm, associate in plant genetics, college of agriculture, University of Illinois, points out that the potential outlet for hybrid seed is limited.

Once the seed requirements of the corn belt are met, there is a limited outlet in other sections for the hybrid seed crop except as commercial corn, he said. Therefore, the industry can not afford to produce a large surplus.

Another fact is that good hybrids will gradually be replaced by better ones. Mumm continued, as he looked into the future of the hybrid seed corn industry. Seed companies have a constructive breeding and testing program so that they can keep on bringing into production superior hybrids.

It will pay large producers to scatter their production of hybrid seed so that a hail storm, drought, insect outbreak or other misfortune will not destroy their business, he said. Production has already been well scattered into areas where soil fertility levels are high since economic production depends upon high yields.

Furthermore, scattering the production fields makes the labor problem less acute. Labor needs of hybrid seed producers are seasonal, requiring a large amount of labor at certain stages, such as detasseling time, and at other times very little.

"Hybrid seed producers need to maintain the good will of their customers by keeping their standards high," Mumm said. "Many buyers are farmers who have been careful in selecting and storing seed for themselves. They know the qualities that good seed should have."

HOME EDUCATION

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by National Kindergarten Assn. 5 W. 40th St. New York

YOUNG BOOK-LOVERS

By Laura Gray

"Tell me why you like these," said Aunt Mary, seating herself on the couch beside Tommy who was engrossed in the "funny pictures" of the Saturday paper.

"Look at this big, fat man. He tried to play a trick on the twins and fell into the trap himself!" Tommy giggled. "And this boy thought he was letting his brother's rabbits out, and then found they were his own! O, boy! Aren't these lovely colors?" Is the jungle really like these pictures, Aunt? "I'm going to read everything again."

Nearly an hour was spent over the colored supplement, then with a sigh it was tossed aside. "What a long time to wait 'til next Saturday!"

"But you seem to have quite a lot of books on these shelves. Why not look at them while waiting?"

"They aren't any fun, Aunt."

"Robinson Crusoe" not any fun? "She lifted down a heavy, well-bound volume."

"There are only three pictures and such a lot of reading and hard words!" The book opened naturally at the pictures.

"And 'Kidnapped'! Don't you like that?"

"There aren't any pictures—'cept on the cover."

"Let me read a little to you." Aunt began one of Dickens' stories that she remembered having enjoyed two or three decades ago. Bye and bye she stopped. Tommy had disappeared!

A friend entered smiling. "I met Tommy. He told me—"

"Yes. How have you managed to make your children such readers, Mrs. Brown?"

"I began when they were babies, with simple pictures of objects they understood—a cat, a dog, a ball. I taught them how to handle and love books. On rainy days they enjoyed making some of their own, using pictures cut from magazines. As the children grew older I sought help from a children's librarian in choosing books popular among boys and girls the same age as my own. Children like up-to-date literature as much as we do."

"But isn't there a chance that they may never become acquainted with the best books?" ventured Aunt.

"The way to make a boy dislike a classic like 'Kidnapped' is to give it to him before he's capable of understanding it and to keep urging him to read it! It is better to lead up to classics, as yet too difficult for a child, with simpler stories."

"Libraries are so wonderful these days. It's hardly necessary for children to own books, it seems to me. What do you think?" asked Aunt.

"Libraries are good browsing places. They help one in choosing and in becoming acquainted with books generally. But to most children, I think, an owned book means far more than a borrowed one. It can be read and reread. The very binding becomes imprinted in memory."

Mrs. Brown paused, then continued, "Books related to current activities hold added interest. A Japanese girl played with my boys and girls one summer. For awhile, I couldn't find enough Japanese material to satisfy the demand. Articles, stories, anything about the 'Land of the Rising Sun,' they devoured."

"I see," said Aunt Mary. "The reading readiness which is considered so important for beginners is important for older boys and girls, too."

"Yes—I hadn't thought of it that way—but you are certainly quite right."

adult and 1774 juvenile books now on hand, according to a statement compiled by Miss Olive Dobson, librarian.

Also during the month there were 12 new adult borrowers registered and 351 adults re-registered. Twenty-eight new children readers joined the library and 202 re-registered during the same period.

Circulation reached 2295 books in November with 1304 adult and 979 children books being read.

The Barrington library was recently redecorated in new light shades, harmonizing with the woodwork of the shelves. New indirect lighting which was installed this summer is being enjoyed by readers at the library.

Plagge, Henderson Attend Meeting of Young Republicans

Hear Senator Bridges Issue
Party Challenge at Convention

Dr. A. G. Gieske, republican committeeman of Barrington township, sent Wallace Henderson and John Plagge as delegates to the state conference of the Young Republican organization of Illinois, held at Springfield Dec. 4 and 5. During their stay at Springfield, Mr. Henderson and Mr. Plagge attended every session of the convention.

The Young Republicans placed a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, one of the founders of the republican party, Sunday morning.

Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, main speaker at the convention, challenged the republican party to "solve the problem" of insuring the survival of democracy in the United States.

"All persons who have made a study of world affairs realize that democracies are being subjected to a stern test and know that whether democracy can survive in this country or not depends upon the policy we adopt for the purpose of correcting the dislocation of our present-day society," Senator Bridges stated.

He suggested that the party's constructive program should include the repeal of the Emergency act of 1933, which he called the Thomas Inflation amendment, revision of the tax laws, enactment of a common sense minimum wage and maximum hour bill, a neutrality act that will keep America at peace, and a national labor relations act that will give both sides to the controversy a fair hearing.

"The need of young and vigorous leadership is paramount if we are to succeed," he said in conclusion.

Meet to Discuss Scout Cabin and Rules of Conduct

Representatives of various organizations sponsoring boy scouts, camp fire girls and girl scouts met with the scout cabin committee Tuesday evening at the cabin to discuss new improvements being made and also to formulate rules of conduct for groups using the meeting place. The cabin committee consists of R. W. Willmering, John L. Bell and Hugh H. Calkins. It was learned that several additions are being made and the cabin is being renovated. New drapes head the list with lavatory addition, drinking fountain, new recreation game installations and a number of other items under consideration. A ping pong table was purchased by a committee headed by W. B. Chapeau, of the scout council with funds raised at the boy scout booth at the Lions fall festival in October.

Among those present representing organizations were: Mrs. Geo. Walgren and Mrs. Otto Schmidt, Royal Neighbors; Mrs. F. Smith and Mrs. Frank Partridge, W. R. C.; Mrs. Dowell Durbin, Barrington Woman's club; Otto Miller and Rev. Hermann Koenig, troop 29; Noel Stagner, A. G. Bjornberg, cub pack; Arthur Martens, Legion; W. A. Fanning, Lions club, Miss Bonnie Jean Clark, girl scouts; Mrs. Stanley Cor, camp fire girls.

Plan Demonstration of New Park Ridge Vapor Light System

F. Lyndon Smith, director of the department of public works and buildings, will represent Governor Henry Horner as chief speaker at the dedication of the state's first installation of sodium vapor highway lighting Thursday, December 16, in Park Ridge.

Also listed to speak at the dinner at Malone township high school, which will precede the dedication of the 15 highway lighting units now being installed at the dangerous S-curve on Busse highway at the Potter road intersection, are Leonard Applequist, state commander of the American Legion, and Sidney J. Williams, director, public safety division of the National Safety council.

Toastmaster will be Mayor Arthur L. Jones of Park Ridge, who will be introduced by Stewart J. Owen, president of the Park Ridge safety council, the organization which, in cooperation with the Park Ridge Business association, is sponsoring the dedication ceremony.

Immediately following the program, which will be concluded between 9:30 and 10 p. m., a motor cavalcade escorted by local and county police will drive to the section of lighted highway where Mr. Smith will deliver the dedicatory address over a public address system.

Arrangements are going forward to have the demonstration broadcast over a Chicago station. It is planned to have a commentator drive over the section of highway first without benefit of the lighting system, describing the visibility of such obstacles as a stalled truck and a dark parked car. Later the sodium vapor lights will be turned on and the announcer will go over the same route telling the assembly of the increased visibility and elimination of the hazard of the sudden curve.

Announces Series of Dairy Cattle Feeding Meetings

H. C. Glickerson, Lake county farm adviser, announced this week that Lake county dairymen will be given an opportunity to check their feeding practices at a series of dairy cattle feeding schools to be held at Warren township high school December 20, Antioch township high school, December 21, Elmhurst high school, December 22. The meetings will start at 1:30 p. m. on the days scheduled.

In commenting on the feeding meetings, Mr. Glickerson said: "Some dairy men in northeastern Illinois produce milk as much as $1.64 per 100 pounds cheaper than others according to a dairy enterprise cost study made by the departments of Agricultural Economics and Dairy Husbandry at the University of Illinois. The margin between cost and selling price is much greater when costs are low. The way cows are fed has a lot to do with cost of production. The feed cost of producing milk has been reduced on Illinois farms as much as 40 cents per 100 pounds and the net returns have been increased $50 a month or more by making needed adjustments in the ration and method of feeding."

Columbus' Party Did Not Have Very Large Ships

Columbus, on his voyage to America, did not equipped with large ships. Of the three vessels provided for the voyage, the two furnished by the village of Palos were little caravels. The third, hired with funds contributed by the queen and by Columbus, was called a ship, although it was about the size of a coast schooner. The crew of the Nina, the smaller of the caravels, consisted of eighteen men, commanded by Martin Alonso Pinzon, brother of Nina's captain. Most of the crews were volunteer sailors of Palos. The Santa Maria, Columbus' flagship, was manned by a crew of fifty-two, including some citizens of Palos, honest sailors, pirates, adventurers, convicts from neighboring Mediterranean ports, from inland towns and from Spanish prisons. Included were Arthur Barlow, an Englishman, and William Harris, an Englishman, and there also were a number of Jews, banished by an edict of the Spanish crown. Bear sailors, there were soldiers, an assayer, a lawyer, a tailor, a physician, a barber, a number of cabin boys, a personal servant for Columbus and an interpreter.

Columbus had no scientific appliances of any sort. It was not possible to tell time accurately, for there were no clocks—only the half-hour sand-glass and, on fair days, the sun. He could estimate within a few degrees his distance north from the equator by measuring the height of the north star, but he could only guess how far west he had traveled. The calculation of the day's sailing depended much upon the strength of the wind and the ocean current. The sailors measured their speed by floating objects.

Judge Extols Dog From Bench in Damage Suit

In rendering an opinion in a damage suit in which a man lost his life trying to rescue a drowning dog, a Georgia supreme justice devoted a half hour to extolling the virtues of dogs and two or three sentences to his decision, states a writer in the Chicago Tribune. Part of the justice's remarks were as follows:

"From the dawn of primal history the dog has loomed large in the art and literature of the world. In metal and in stone his noble image has been perpetuated, but the dog's chief monument is in the heart of his friend, man. As a house pet, a watchdog, a herder of sheep and cattle, in the field of sport, and as the motive power of transportation, especially in the ice fields of the far north, the dog has ever been a faithful companion and helper of man. In the trackless forests of the new world he was on the firing line of civilization in the task of subduing all enemies, whether savage man or wild beast.

"Literature is enriched by the story of Ulysses' dog, Argos. After twenty years of war and wandering this king of Ithaca returned, unrecognized in his ragged rags, but as he entered the courtyard his hound raised up his head and picked his ears.

"Among many of the most beautiful of nature's plants and trees we have the dogwood, dog daisy, dog laurel, dog rose, dog violet, and like.

"Baron Cuvier considered the dog 'the most complete, the most singular, and the most useful conquest man has gained in the animal world.' 'Alexander H. Stephens wrote for his majestic poodle, Rico, 'Here rest the remains of what in life was a satire on the human race and an honor to his own—a faithful dog.' 'The tribes might be multiplied almost without number. Like man, not all dogs are good dogs. They have left behind them records showing every degree of good and bad.'

U. S. Flag at Fort McHenry
The flag which flies at Fort McHenry, where "The Star-Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key, is raised and lowered according to regular governmental regulations. The flag at Fort McHenry flutters from a pole which is located as near the site of the flagpole of 1814 as can be determined.

Nehemiah Grew's Seed Men
It was Nehemiah Grew, English naturalist, who first announced to the world that no flower seed would develop without the union of the pollen and ovule. But the theory was so novel that scientists of his time were reluctant to believe it, and it was not until 1735, more than 100 years later, that Linnaeus affirmed the theory.

"Heidi," Starring Shirley Temple, Week-End Feature

"Broadway Melody of 1938" Starts Three-Day Run Tonight at Catlow

"Broadway Melody of 1938" as its title indicates, is a year ahead of its time.

The scintillating musical opens at the Catlow tonight for a three day engagement, co-starring Robert Taylor and Eleanor Powell, with a cast that is virtually an all-star aggregation.

It includes George Murphy, Blanche Baines, Buddy Ebsen, Sophie Tucker, Judy Garland, Robert Wildhack and a chorus of lovely girls.

Shirley Temple as "Heidi" has millions of fans over her, have been enthralled by the warmth, tenderness and charming beauty of Johanna Spyri's beloved story of Heidi and all the colorful folk who lived and laughed and loved up in the high air of the Swiss Alps just beneath the stars. Translated into all languages and read everywhere, it is a story that had to wait for its star before it could be brought to the screen. The production of "Heidi" starring Shirley Temple, coming to the Catlow Sunday and Monday, is the picture for which she'll be remembered always.

"Heidi" brings a Shirley Temple more glorious than has ever been known, in the picture she is asked to make by thousands of fans. Bringing love to hearts filled with hate, and a twinkle to eyes filled with tears, "Heidi" tells of an embittered mountain-top exile, brilliantly portrayed by Jean Herschell, reclaimed from his fierce hatred of the world, of a young girl who finds the strength and courage to walk again, and of the little heroine who brings everyone new zest for life.

Two reckless lovers — a dizzy playboy with a million-dollar personality and a gorgeous blonde with over four million in the bank — heading straight for a hundred million hearts — in the gayest picture that ever launched a pair of sweethearts! That's the tantalizing theme of "It's All Yours," coming Tuesday to the Catlow, with Madeleine Carroll, Francis Lederer in starring roles and Michael Auer in support.

Playing the double feature bill Tuesday is William Boyd in "Texas Trail," a Hopalong Cassidy story. Nearly 10,000 properties, including hundreds of the world's greatest treasures in antiques and museum pieces, many of them priceless, were applied for dressing the various sets for "The Prisoner of Zenda," which brings Ronald Colman, Madeleine Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. to the Catlow theatre Wednesday for a three day run.

Hi Ho on Kite Flying
"Kite Flying," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "is a pleasant pursuit. But, like theories, kites are safest for those who are content to send them into the air, without trying to ride upon them."

Made Hercules a Hero
Hercules was one of the heroes of the ancient Greeks, who chose him as the patron of strength. When Hercules was young he was roused by the jealousy of the King of Argos, into forming the twelve labors. During these 12 years the king set Hercules 12 tasks, all of which he carried out. This was one of his tasks. A lion, which came out from the forest from time to time and killed the inhabitants of the neighboring village, was terrifying the people of a district of Argos. It was a remarkably powerful beast, and no one dared to attack it, and no sword or arrow could pierce its skin. Hercules seized the lion in his powerful arms and forced it on its back. Then he knelt upon it and strangled it with his hands. The hero removed its invulnerable skin, and wore it ever after round his own shoulders.

Some Men of Years Ago Had Wonderful Memories

Some men who lived long ago possessed extraordinary memories, observes a writer in Pearson's London Weekly.

Magliabechi, of Florence, was called "The Universal Index and Living Cyclopaedia" and died in 1714 at the age of eighty-three. From all accounts he could recite from memory everything he had ever read or heard.

Then there was P. J. Beronclous, who knew by heart Horace, Virgil, Cicero, Juvenal, both the Plinys, Homer and Aristophanes. He died in Middleburg in 1673 so was alive in Magliabechi's time.

A man named Andrew Fuller was said to have been able to repeat 500 lines without a mistake after hearing them read twice. It was not even necessary for him to read them to himself as is the case with so many memory-men.

Fuller could also tell, either backwards or forwards, every shop sign from the Temple to the extreme end of Chapside, London, and the articles displayed in each of the shops.

Another man, named Thompson, could repeat the names, trades and particulars of every shop from Ludgate Hill to Piccadilly after walking the distance once only.

Finally we have the case of a memory-man named Woodfall who could carry in his head a complete debate, and repeat it word for word, a fortnight after it had been spoken.

Ella Buesching Is Given Class Pin at Graduation Friday

Friday, December 3, seventy-nine graduates of the Lake College of Commerce in Waukegan received their diplomas at the annual graduation banquet held at the American Legion Home. Paul W. Helen Sengenberger of Waukegan received the shorthand pin, and Ella Buesching of Lake Zurich captured honors in bookkeeping. The best all-around student award was given to Berly Parks of Waukegan for his capabilities in scholastic studies and his participation in extra-curricular activities.

The main address of the evening was made by Professor A. C. Tomlinson of the Lake Forest university. His speech was titled "Lost Horizons," and he presented a vivid picture of hopes that can be materialized.

Arlington Heights Cagers Defeat Broncho Teams Here Friday Night

Locals Scheduled to Meet Palatine, Wauconda Next

Heavies Beaten 24 to 20 in Closing Minutes; Ponies Swamped 33-16

The Barrington high school cagers dropped two basketball contests to the Arlington Cardinals on the home floor last Friday evening. After the Ponies dropped the opener 33 to 16, the Bronchos met with a 24 to 20 defeat in a game with a thrilling climax. As in the Crystal Lake game two weeks ago, the opponents won in the last few minutes of play. The Bronchos had a 19 to 18 lead at the end of the third period but contributed only a free throw in the final quarter while the Cardinals tossed three field goals, which proved enough to win the game.

Clings Again Stars
Kenny Clings, fast breaking forward of the Bronchos, again took the honors in scoring, chalking up nine points, which helped the Bronchos to keep their lead until the fourth quarter. Johnson opened the game with a field goal; Milligan fouled Castle, who dropped a free throw and that was all the scoring for the locals in the first period. For Arlington Milligan, sophomore center, sank a field goal and O'Hagan and Grimsar each added a free throw to complete the Cardinal scoring for the quarter. Johnson added another field goal and Shepherd, who replaced Castle, also chalked up a 2 pointer at the start of the second quarter. Clings sank a field goal and three free throws while Grabenkort and Rice each donated a charity shot. Arlington only scored four points in the last quarter and the Bronchos led by a score of 14 to 8 at the half.

Arlington Stars Clicking
Although Milligan fouled out, the Cardinals seemed determined to come back in the third quarter. Phillippe, O'Hagan, and Grimsar accounted for ten points for the visitors while, for the Bronchos, Clings sank two field goals and Grabenkort dropped a charity toss. The score at the end of the third quarter read, 19 to 18 with the locals out in front.

After three minutes of play in the final period Mayerck broke away and dropped a field goal to put the Cardinals ahead. Shortly afterward Grimsar duplicated it. Rice was fouled and sank a free throw to make the score 22 to 20. O'Hagan sank a field goal just before he fouled out and the score remained the same until the final gun. O'Hagan was high point man for the visitors.

Ponies Downed Again
In an opener the Arlington lights defeated the ponies by a one-sided score of 33 to 14. The locals held a 7 to 3 lead at the end of the first period but weakened in the last three quarters as is shown by the big difference in the score.

Meet Palatine
Next Friday, the local squads will travel to Palatine where they meet with the Palatine Pirates. Although Palatine was defeated by Elia last week the game is forecasted to be a thriller as have all other games in the past between the two rival schools. Saturday evening the Bronchos will meet the Wauconda cagers on the home floor. Wauconda has a veteran team this year. The games will start at 7:30.

Salem and Methodist Win in Church Cage Contest Opener

On the opening of Barrington church league basketball the squads of the Salem and Methodist churches came out on the long end of two hard fought games in the high school gym Monday evening. Methodist took the first game from Baptist by a score of 36 to 21. The game was very close in the first half but in the second half the Methodist broke away and scored 22 points to finish out in front by a score of 36 to 21. Latta was high point man for the Methodists with 11 points.

In the second game a strong Salem team, led by Norris Grabenkort, scored a victory over the St. Paul team. The score was 32 to 19. As in the first game the score was very close at the half but with Norris Grabenkort and Russell Overheu starring, the Salem squad moved far out in front.

Grabenkort and Overheu scored 13 and 10 points, respectively. W. Altenburg was the high point man for St. Paul with two field goals and five free throws. The games next week will be St. Paul vs. St. Anne and Salem vs. Baptist.

Urge Support for Health Seal Sale

"Increased effort is needed to eliminate tuberculosis from this country," President Roosevelt declared in his recent proclamation, endorsing the thirty-first annual Christmas seal sale. The sale is sponsored locally by the Barrington health center, affiliated with the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute.

"We must wage with increased vigor our fight to eliminate this plague as one of the greatest foes to health," the president stated.

Supplementing the president's endorsement, Mrs. Frank C. Kirchman, chairman of the Barrington Christmas seal committee, urged the following health services, rendered by the Barrington school health center, from the revenue of the 1938 sale: help sustain the services of Miss Lillian MacLellan, RN, who assisted at the center's monthly infant clinics; provided for a community and school health service beginning in the fall of 1938, which included an immunization program for the prevention of smallpox and diphtheria; made possible medical examination for high school athletes; provided bi-weekly health conferences attended by parents and conducted by the health center nurse.

Hear Lecture on Europe Uncensored

S. L. Smiley, Miss Althea Christiansen and Miss Beulah Beckley of the local faculty heard Ben Ames at North Park college, Chicago, Tuesday evening, in an illustrated lecture on "Europe Uncensored."

Mr. Ames is a special correspondent of the United Press and other syndicates in Europe, and was the chief correspondent for the United Press in Ethiopia during Italy's conquest.

Railroads Petition for Rate Increases

The powerful forces for recovery involving the reemployment of tens of thousands of persons and the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars, will be at naught if the railroads are allowed to earn adequate revenues. The interstate commerce commission was told in Washington this week at the start of the most important railroad case in history.

"Normally, the railroads are a billion-dollar-a-year customer of all industry," said J. J. Pelley, president of the association of American railroads, the first witness for the carriers. The dollars which railroads spend for the thousands of things they buy, like the dollars which they spend in payrolls, spread over the entire United States and go into almost every industry.

"Services to shippers cannot be maintained at present standards, employment cannot be enlarged and purchases of material and supplies cannot be resumed in a normal volume without increased railroad revenue," he said.

Fred Rieke Elected I.O.O.F. Noble Grand

Fred C. Rieke was elected noble grand of the local chapter of I.O.O.F. at a meeting held Thursday night. He succeeds Delbert Weber, retiring noble grand. Installation of officers will take place January 6.

Others elected to office were as follows: Walter White, vice grand; E. W. Baade, re-elected secretary; Charles Miller, re-elected treasurer; Henry Wisot, Arnold Kohner, Chester Rice, J. Goldmann and Geo. Johnson, trustees.

Approve Crossing Expense

A resolution setting forth the village's share of expense in improving the Main street crossing of the Chicago and North Western railroad was approved by the village board Monday night, following a motion made by Trustee R. H. Berg and seconded by Trustee R. Kocher, Sr. The village's share of the cost is $3,448.

Visit Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. John Griesheimer, 146 Hager avenue, went to Kenosha, Wis. Tuesday evening to see their daughter Mrs. Norman Johns who is a surgical patient at the Kenosha hospital.

Johns underwent a major operation Friday. She is making a satisfactory recovery, her parents reported.

Lizards and Birds Can Make Bodies Invisible

In Burma there is a brilliant lizard with a skin that almost rivals the color of the gorgeous kingfisher. The body is a glorious ultramarine blue, with reddish brown parts, while from head to shoulder there are broad white bands. If he thinks he is not being watched by an enemy, he will take a quick-change artist can do.

He runs down the trunk of a tree, and the blue has disappeared, for he is almost invisible against his sombre background. He lands on the ground, standing on bare earth, and he is now clothed in a dull brown coat which makes it difficult to distinguish him. When he gains confidence, he runs up the tree again; he is once more in the sun, shining among the green leaves, and his glory returns. No matter where he is, his coat will agree with his surroundings.

Birds that nest on the ground seem to know that if they remain motionless they will be almost invisible. The woodcock, as it sits on its eggs laid among a mass of dead leaves, is passed unnoticed by most of us, but if the light falls upon its big eye it resembles a brilliant black diamond, and for this reason the bird will sit with its body flat on the ground, and its eyes almost closed.

The same applies to the nightjar. As it sits on its eggs laid on the bare ground, its eyes appear to be closed, but all the time it is really watching through two narrow slits at the base of the eyelids.

Rose-Noble, English Coin

A rose-noble is an English gold coin which was current in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. It was so called because it was of the same value as the noble, a money of account, and was stamped on one side with the figure of a rose. It ceased to be coined in the reign of Henry V.

Rome Built in a Day

The old saying, "Rome wasn't built in a day," will have to be modified, for records have been found stating that it was built in a day. Likewise, it is stated by the historian Strabo that the great cities of Archelaus and Tarnus were built by Sardanapalus both in one day, according to the inscription on his monument. The Latin word used for the word "day" has several meanings, however, and does not refer to a day of 24 hours, but, like the "day" used in the first chapter of Genesis, refers to a "period of time." We still use the word in that sense occasionally, when we refer to "the day of our youth." So Rome probably was built in a "day" after all—but it wasn't in 24 hours, asserts Pearson's London Weekly.

In Death About "Dog Days"

The ancients regarded the conjunction of the rising of the dog star Sirius with the rising of the sun as one of the causes of the sultry heat of summer and the maladies which then prevailed. This association with the star gives the days their name. Popular theory has the days included in the period of from four to six weeks between the early part of July and the early part of September. Since the conjunction of the sun and Sirius does not occur in all latitudes at the same time and is constantly changing in the same region, there has been much variation in calendars regarding the limit of the "dog days."

Origin of Word "Bunk"

The member for the Waukegan district in the congressional discussion of the Missouri Compromise (1820) persisted in long speeches despite the boredom and impatience of his fellow members. The incident is reputed to be the origin of the name as well as the words bunkum and bunk.
