

Mrs. E. Erickson Elected President of P.T.A. Tuesday

Mrs. J. W. Heylman, State
Department Chairman,
Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. Edward Erickson was elected president of the Parent-Teacher association at the meeting held in the school auditorium Tuesday evening. Elected with her were the following: Mrs. S. J. Landwer, vice president; Miss Grace Wandke, secretary; Mrs. Frank Kirchman, treasurer.

The guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. J. W. Heylman, state chairman of the music and art departments of the P.T.A. Her subject was "Developing Character in the Art of Music."

"Music is a national necessity," Mrs. Heylman stated. "It cultivates character and helps satisfy the cravings of the soul. We seldom begin the instruction of music young enough, but are never too old to learn," she said in conclusion. Mrs. Heylman also displayed many books which she considered helpful in music appreciation.

An interesting exhibit of posters and drawings by the art classes was presented by L. T. Smiley, art director. Two musical demonstrations by the high school orchestra opened the meeting.

Emil Schaefer Lists Days of Collection of 1937 Cuba Taxes

E. F. Schaefer, tax collector for the town of Cuba, announced this week that he will establish an office in the First National bank of Barrington, and will be there on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week following for the purpose of collecting 1937 real estate and personal property taxes. George Krueger, collector for Lake county, has selected the First State bank of Lake Zurich for his headquarters.

Tax bills for the village of Barrington on the Lake county side are now completed and will be mailed out Friday, it was learned. The rural area of the township is not completed, but will be ready for mailing next week.

Some legal action was indicated by members of the board of supervisors of Lake county recently in an effort to regain control of the tax books, but as yet nothing has been done. Several conferences have been held but no official statement has been made.

Varied Program to Be Given at Spring Music Concert Friday

The second annual spring concert by the music department of the public schools on March 18 at the school auditorium will feature the singing of Walter Allen Stults, basso-cantante and member of the "Mount Harney" and the overture "Invincible" will be their selections. Mr. Stults has been a member of the faculty at Northwestern since his graduation from that institution, where he completed a course in singing, piano and theory as well as taking collateral courses in the college of liberal arts. At present he is president of the Chicago council of singing teachers.

The program he has chosen for his appearance in Barrington is one of wide variety, paying tribute to both classical and modern schools of song and one that should prove interesting to his listeners, Miss Zwing stated.

As the first group of his songs, Mr. Stults will sing "The Horn," "Der Schilftrager," "Do Song" and "Young Tom O'Donovan." The orchestra will play selections from "Naughty Marietta" and the overture "Egmont."

Included in the second group of Mr. Stults' songs are "Pilgrim's Song," "Ships of Arcady," "Hill Horse," "Water Boy," and "Sho'nin Bread."

"Winter and Spring," a cycle of songs by Franz Schubert arranged by Julius Harrison, will be sung by the 200 students in the junior and senior high school choruses with accompaniment by the orchestra.

Miss Irene Johnson will accompany Mr. Stults and Helen Jurs and Mary Jane Blanke will be the other accompanists.

Funeral Rites for A. Nerheim Today

Funeral services for August Nerheim, of Cuba township, will be held at the funeral chapel, 149 W. Main street, this afternoon, Thursday, at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. A. Stauffer will officiate and burial will be in White cemetery.

Mr. Nerheim, who celebrated his 59th birthday February 28, died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. Linders in Cuba township. Old age and complications were said to be the cause of death.

He was born in Germany in 1849 and came to this country 60 years ago. After working as a blacksmith in South Bend, Ind., for 30 years, he and his wife came to Chicago where they resided for 19 years. They moved to this vicinity 19 years ago. Soon after their arrival here his wife, the former Minnie Saul, died.

Surviving are seven children, Mrs. Anna Erns of Chicago, Mrs. Augusta Schlee of Chicago, George Nerheim of Mauston, Wis., Frank Nerheim of Aurora, Mrs. Alice Bahnsen of Aurora, Mrs. Lillian Becker and Mrs. Ernestine Linders, both of Barrington, and four grandchildren.

Take Dental Gold From Local Office

Entering the office of Dr. Floyd W. Lindberg, 127 E. Main street, during the lunch hour Thursday, some unknown person took a quantity of gold estimated in value between $150 and $200. Most of the gold was in finished dental work and the exact loss cannot be determined at present.

Entrance was gained by using a "limb" to pry back stripping around the door frame and force back the door. This was the second time that the Lindberg office was ransacked.

Although the exact was committed during the noon hour, no strange persons were noticed in the vicinity.

Report of a similar incident at Park Ridge on the Monday night previous added strength to the statement that both thefts were committed by the same person. At Park Ridge $180 in gold was taken from the office of Dr. Carl M. Jochim during the dinner hour.

Rehearsing Annual Ela Varieties Show

The annual Ela Varieties, a show sponsored by the chorus, band and dramatic club of the Lake Zurich high school at Lake Zurich, will be presented at the school Friday evening, March 25. Proceeds from the sale of tickets, which are being sold by the group presenting the affair, will be used to finance a definite undertaking, Mr. Rude stated. The band proposes to purchase uniforms, the dramatic club is seeking stage equipment and the chorus is planning to obtain miscellaneous theatrical supplies.

Speaker Discusses Politics, Business at Woman's Club

Mrs. Helen R. Adams Reviews
"Current Events"
Wednesday

Mrs. Helen R. Adams summarized business conditions in the United States and politics in Europe at a meeting of the Barrington Women's club held at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon. She is a noted journalist and lecturer.

The hope of business today lies in the possibility of tax revision and a "hands off" policy by the government, the speaker stated, adding, however, "world conditions do not warrant a policy of prosperity."

Mrs. Adams listed two factors as the cause of the present situation in Europe: (1) the treaty of Versailles, (2) Communism. Conservatives turned away from communism in Europe to fascism, she declared.

In conclusion she stated "the fundamental problem is that of the better distribution of the world's raw materials. If public opinion is alert, better individuals will bring about a better world."

Owen Berger, pianist, played three selections from Chopin as the musical portion of the program.

Flynn Publishes a Complete List of Election Officials

For the first time in the history of Cook county the complete list of judges and clerks of election day of the country towns in Cook county under the supervision of the county clerk will be published; so that the voters will know in advance the name of the persons who are to serve them on election day.

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn feels that the proper place to publish the names of these individuals is in the community newspaper of their respective townships or village. With this thought in mind he has submitted the names of all judges and clerks to the publishers of the country town newspapers for the benefit of the public.

This announcement, appearing on page 7 of this issue of The Review, is in keeping with the "open door" policy which County Clerk Michael J. Flynn has maintained for the benefit of the people since he took over the duties of his office.

In School Road George Landwer of Barrington will play the trumpet in the Drake university concert band directed by Gordon Bird when it presents concerts during a stay tour of southwestern Iowa, March 21 to 24. Mr. Landwer, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Landwer is a sophomore in the college of fine arts.

Father and Son Are Reunited After Many Years of Separation

Donald Robert Stevens, 232 E. Main street, had the joyful experience last week of learning that he was not an orphan. After the death of his mother in December of 1937 the young man believed himself alone in the world due to the fact his mother had told him his father had died.

In reality, his father had entered the U. S. army during the world war, shortly after separating from his wife. During the ensuing years Mr. Stevens used the name his mother had told him was correct. Repeated efforts to gain knowledge of his father from relatives proved uneventful until after the death of his mother last December.

At that time an uncle in Iowa wrote telling him that his father was alive and could be reached in Denver. After corresponding with each other, his father, R. Charbonneau, came to Barrington last week for a visit.

Mr. Stevens has now learned his correct name is Steven Edward Charbonneau and that his parents were divorced in 1914, two years after the birth of their son.

The elder Charbonneau was injured in an ammunition explosion during the war and has been incapacitated since that time. He recently underwent an operation on his spine.

According to present plans the father and his son, who is married and has two children, Barbara, 3 1/2 years, and Caroline, 2 years, will all go back to Denver to make their home. The young man is employed as machinist at the Strand Dress Co. here.

P.T.A. Sponsors Lecture by Robert K. Burns April 1

The local Parent-Teacher association is sponsoring a lecture by Robert K. Burns of the University of Chicago to be given at the school auditorium Friday evening, April 1. Mr. Burns addressed the Women's club earlier in the year on the subject, "New Careers for Youth" and was so well received by those who heard him that the association felt the entire community would appreciate the opportunity of hearing him.

Mr. Burns will direct more attention this time to the careers open to youths who are not going to college. It was learned and he will also show how young men and women can work their way through college in many different ways. Mr. Burns has toured the world twice and is thoroughly informed on the subject of modern vocations and their possibilities.

P.T.A. officers reported. In addition to the lecture there will be music by the men's chorus of the Jewel Tea company, Inc. under the direction of T. E. Davis.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, stunts were enjoyed and refreshments served. R. E. Willmering is scoutmaster and Lloyd Graham is assistant scoutmaster.

No Names Filed in Dist. 4 Election; Deadline Saturday

Three Members to Be Elected;
President Undecided on Candidates

With the deadline Saturday, Mar. 19, for filing petitions for candidacy for election to the board of education of school district No. 4, only a few days remain for present members whose terms expire or potential candidates to get their names on the ballot. At present no one has filed for the three offices to become vacant, those of president and two trustees. All three are for three years.

The situation is made more complicated by the indecision of P. L. Anderson, president of the board, who stated he was unable to decide whether to be a candidate for re-election. The other two retiring board members, Carl Billings and Arnett C. Lines, will have their names on the list, they said.

Mr. Billings was preparing his petition Wednesday evening while one was being circulated for Mr. Lines.

No other potential candidates for the offices were reported this week. Should Mr. Anderson decide not to run for re-election, it will require some last-minute efforts to secure a resident to become a candidate for the office of president.

The election will be held April 8 in the public school auditorium. E. S. Smith stated, and the polls will be open between the hours of 2 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Fire Department to Hold Free Lecture at School Tuesday

The Barrington fire department will present a free lecture and demonstration on "Fire Prevention in the Home and School" and "First Aid to the Injured" at the school auditorium Tuesday evening, March 22, at 8:15 o'clock. G. E. Hawthorne will present the lecture and in addition will bring several reels of motion pictures.

The local committee arranging the lecture consists of Sam Landwer, Kenneth Grebe and Donald Schroeder.

Mr. Hawthorne has spoken in over 1600 schools in various states and will receive a large city fire department for nine years before beginning lecture work. According to reports, he is highly qualified to talk and give demonstrations on fire prevention.

The motion picture reels contain scenes of some of the country's major fire catastrophes, was said, and present a graphic lesson to the audience.

To Start Work on School Addition Project Monday

To Complete Entire New Wing of Building With WPA Assistance

A project to complete the south wing addition to the public school building will be started Monday, according to information received by E. S. Smith, superintendent of schools. Fourteen laborers and four carpenters are to be assigned to the job. Officials of the WPA did not report whether the group would include any local workers.

V. D. Hawley, supervisor of Barrington township, has been contacting the Chicago offices of the works progress administration for sometime in an effort to have as much local help used as possible on jobs here. A number of men from Barrington employed on out-of-town projects have requested him to obtain transfers to the school building in order to save traveling expense and time.

The work to start Monday is a continuation of the original project under which the first and third floors were completely finished for classroom use and a roof playground installed. A playground to the west of the addition, included in the original project, was completed also.

The work was ended last December and the continuation plan suggested in January. The construction, it was reported, will be done at very little expense to school district No. 4. Classroom space not yet completed on the second room floor will be fitted for use.

To Conduct Smallpox Immunization Tests at School March 22

Immunization against smallpox will be instituted at a clinic held at the Barrington public school Tuesday, March 22, at 10 a. m. Miss Lillian McLeish, R.N., stated in a letter sent out to parents of school children this week.

In her letter, Miss McLeish pointed out that many persons believe the dangers of smallpox have decreased, but that conception was an error. During the first nine weeks in 1935, she said, 428 cases were reported to the state health department in Springfield.

Also, it was pointed out, there are 300 school children in Barrington who have not been vaccinated. The immunization work has required the cooperation of the P.T.A., Women's club, local physicians and the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute, Miss McLeish said.

She asked that parents whose children have not been vaccinated, or were vaccinated more than five years ago, join in the program. There is a small fee for the work. The effort includes school children of those of pre-school age and infants.

A consent slip was attached to each letter sent out this week and Miss McLeish stressed the importance of having the letter read by all parents.

Inaugurates Private Watchman Service in Stores Area Tuesday

A private watchman service for the downtown business district was inaugurated Tuesday night by Harry Coffman, who has been engaged by 21 local firms to patrol their property.

The service was started after several weeks of discussion among merchants and members of the village board. It was first proposed that the village assume part of the expense. However, the village is not connected with the plan, Mr. Coffman stated. His estimate was estimated at $2000 in personal property when his widow, Edith, was appointed administrator in last week's court. The village, he said, is not sharing the salary cost.

Mr. Coffman stated his duties will consist of a regular nightly patrol of stores and buildings united under the system.

Suburban Building Maintains Average Level in February

First Two Months in 1938 Equal Same Periods in 1937

New building in February in the Chicago suburban region is reported to the amount of $1,185,498 by 63 building commissioners, according to the survey released Saturday by Greenbaum Investment company.

Analysis of the returns proves the situation to be better than the total reported indicates. The apparent falling off as compared with January, which had a total of $2,039,871, does not mean any real reduction in the amount of suburban building between the two months. In February only one public project of considerable size was reported, the Roosevelt school gymnasium at 15th avenue and Harvard in Broadview, for which John C. Howe, of the building commissioner of that suburb, issued a permit in the amount of $125,000. In January, to the contrary, two such items alone added over a million dollars to the total—$300,000 for a field house for the Proviso township high school and $771,000 for the Niles township high school. The inclusion of such unusual figures in any month almost invariably makes the succeeding month seem poor by comparison.

If these school projects in both January and February be left out of consideration, it will be found that general building in the suburban region was considerably better in February than in January, just as it was last year. To see the entire situation fairly, however, it should be noted that February of this year with $1,185,498 shows a falling off from the $1,889,962 of February, 1937, which however also included two unusual items amounting to over $600,000, so that it may be said that suburban building in February of this year was about level with that of the same month of last year. Privately initiated building in the suburban region, distinct from public construction, actually increased heavily last October, the month of the stock market slump, dropped off acutely in November, rose again in December and fell once more in January. It is gratifying to note that it increased again in February, though the total including all kinds of building showed a falling off, as explained.

The best proof of this is the fine showing made in home construction as compared with January. The total number of homes reported by the commissioners in February is 84 and the permits issued for these amounted to $690,010. This compares with only 57 in January valued at $459,965. A large increase in permits for repairs, alterations and additions is also indicated, the figures being $178,246 for February and $128,646 for the preceding month. This is improvement of the soundest type and there are striking indications that it will continue.

Bottling Company Appeals Ruling on Antioch Ordinance

An appeal transcript was filed in the Lake county circuit court Monday by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Chicago from the ruling of Police Magistrate Elmer E. Brook of Antioch, who held that the company acted in violation of the village ordinance by not paying the $25 annual license fee.

At the hearing before Magistrate Brook on February 25, the company claimed that the village ordinance providing for the examination and health tests of the bottled contents did not apply to the Coca-Cola company's deliver-

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by National Kindergarten Assn. 5 W. 40th St. New York

"The Child and a Sense of Values"

By LOIS SNELLING

A child cannot be expected to have an instinctive understanding of values. Take the case of little Ann, whose mother owned two vases. One of these was a pretty glass affair from the ten-cent store, the other thing a priceless thing from the Orient. Ann thought the ten-cent vase with the dragons and birds painted on it was perfectly beautiful, and she was delighted when it was permitted to fill it each day with flowers. She was very careful, but accidents will happen, especially among children. One day she dropped the vase, shattering the lovely dragons and birds. She was stricken with dismay, and hurried to tell her mother. And, O, the relief the child experienced when Mother said reassuringly, "Never mind, darling, we will get another one when we go to town. Just try to be more careful."

Ann did try to be careful, as carefulness goes in the child world. It really had been her fault that the dragon-vase was broken, and she knew it. But a few days later, when the vase from the Orient was shattered, it was not through any actual fault of Ann's. She had never handled the valuable vase, having one of her own which suited her perfectly, but neither had she been forbidden to handle it. But as her own flower-container was gone, she one day lifted the vase from the table and started to her mother to ask if she might put roses in it. The dog tripped her, she fell, and the vase was broken.

Mother, heartbroken over the loss of her treasure, scolded unmercifully. Poor Ann could not understand. Of course, she was sorry about breaking the vase, just as she had been sorry before. But why was her mother making such a fuss and scolding so about this, when she had been so unconcerned about the other, and to Ann, much more beautiful, vase? It seemed inconsistent to her baby mind, and a child cannot understand inconsistency.

Ann was bewildered and hurt at receiving so severe a scolding when she had committed no deliberate wrong. How much better it would have been, had her mother, refraining from hard words, admitted the child freely into her grief and disappointment and explained to her carefully the difference between the two vases. The incident, then, instead of becoming a separating wedge, between mother and daughter, would have formed an additional bond of sympathetic understanding.

The song service begins at 7:45 p. m. and the message will be brought by Rev. Belland, pastor of the Jefferson Park Bible church. There will be special musical numbers at each of these services.

Rev. Donald Landver, pastor of the Palatine church, reports a large attendance at the services and has invited all interested persons to be present at the two concluding meetings.

Eel Family Is Hatched Off the Bermuda Coast

Every eel in American or European rivers was hatched off the coast of Bermuda, according to an authority in the Washington Post.

The German, English, French, etc. species have their spawning ground southeast of Bermuda while the Americans produce their young in a zone west and south of the European, although the two areas overlap somewhat.

The life span of an eel is 9 to 12 years. Females attain a length of three feet and inhabit fresh waters. Males seldom grow beyond 14 inches and occur in coastal waters which are salty.

Reaching maturity, the eels leave their fresh water homes and head for Bermuda. There is a migration once a year. It takes the European eels three years to make the swim, the Americans one year.

With their eggs safely hatched, the adult eels roll over and die. And life begins for their young, which instinctively start out for the right place—Europe, if their parents came from Europe, and North America, if their parents came from North America.

The eels feed, grow and reach maturity, then the process is repeated all over again. The mystery of their origin has baffled mankind for hundreds of years. Some people, though, refuse to be baffled and are content to think eels result from a horseshoe being placed in water.

Nephew of Local Man Hurt by Automobile

Stanley J. Bates of Belvidere, 22 year old nephew of B. H. Bates of Barrington, was severely injured Friday morning when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Mittle Falt of Bay View Beach, Crystal Lake, on U. S. 20, near Bloomington.

The young man was taken to the St. Joseph hospital in Elgin where an examination revealed that he was suffering from leg and hip fractures, a severe laceration above the left eye, bruises and shock.

Lloyd McWilliams, 18 years old, also of Belvidere, and young Bates were returning from Chicago early Friday morning when a tire came off their truck east of Bloomington. They drove the machine into the village and walked back to search for the tire.

After recovering the object, they started rolling in along the highway to Bloomington. Mrs. Falt was driving west and she told State Highway Patrolman Omer Olson that just as she was about to pass the pedestrians, another car traveling in the opposite direction swerved toward the left side of the highway. In order to avoid a collision, she turned to her right hand traffic lane and her machine struck Bates.

Mr. Williams was not injured. He placed Bates in Mrs. Falt's car and brought him to the hospital. Bates is a son of Paul Bates, supervisor of Flora township in Boone county.

Zion City Seeking New P. O. Building

Although the city of Zion has more than 6000 residents and has the rating for a first class post-office, the community has never possessed a government owned building. The present office is located in a building erected in 1901, and is considered unsafe and not fireproof by members of various civic bodies, favoring the erection of a new building.

For several years past members of political parties, civic groups and city representatives have petitioned the federal government for a new building. A sum of $75-

000 was allotted at the time, it was reported, but no further action has been taken.

A recent movement to modernize the Zion business district has been successful in many sections, new buildings being erected and many old ones renovated. In keeping with this program, construction of a new post office was deemed advisable by local spokesmen.

Service Commission Issues Warning on Fraudulent Schools

The United States Civil Service commission last week issued the following statement:

"The public should not be misled by promises of government positions by so-called 'civil-service schools,' their agents or their advertisements. No school is able to fulfill any such promises. The public is also warned against schools or agents that would lead one to believe that they represent the government or are connected with the government in any way, or that give assurance of success in passing civil-service examinations on the completion of their course."

"Extravagant claims of this type are bringing some such schools under government investigation. Recently the post office department issued fraud orders against a number of these schools denying them further use of the mails after evidence had been submitted that they had used the mails to defraud. In one of these cases prosecuted by the government, the promoters of the schools were later tried in criminal court and given jail sentences. The federal trade commission also investigates complaints."

"The aim of the government is to protect the public against misrepresentation by these schools. It is of course impossible for the government to secure or aid in securing the refund of money paid into the schools. The public is therefore urged to heed this warning and to cooperate with the government by making inquiry in every case concerning such claims by civil-service schools or agents before enrolling for courses."

"Caution is particularly made against claims by schools that their courses are required in order to take the examinations of the U. S. Civil Service Commission; that they are given advance information regarding civil-service examinations; that they have influence with the federal government to procure employment for applicants; that they can secure special advantages for those taking their courses; that they have been authorized by the federal government to give examinations. Such claims are false."

Origin of Name "White House"

The name "White House" is supposed to have been given the Capitol after it was painted white to efface the blackened walls, the result of its partial destruction by the British in 1814. There is some controversy about this, however, one claim being that it was so named because Martha Custis was owner of "White House" when she and Washington first met. It was first popularly known as the President's House, but by the year 1828 the nickname "White House" had come to be widely used.

Nick in Coat Lapel One of Oldest Clothes Fashions
How many people realize that many little curiosities of the male attire are relics of styles from the past? asks a writer in Pearson's Weekly.

For example, the slick in the coat lapel originated some 150 years ago. It enabled the collar to be turned up without disturbing the lapel. (This was in the days of enormous collars.)

The waistcoat was first worn in the reign of Charles II, and was knee length. For convenience in walking, it was later shortened to the waistcoat style we know today.

In order to allow the Beau Brummell of Edwardian days to show off his fancy socks, and to prevent the bottoms of the trousers legs from getting muddy, the tailors hit on the idea of the turned-up trousers, which nowadays is such a handy resting place for dust, germs, and lost three-pennies.

The stripe down the side of evening-dress trousers originated in the side-bottoms of Victorian sky-tight trousers. The stripe began as a strip of cloth to hide the buttons.

St. Thomas More
St. Thomas More lived some 200 years after St. Ives, being to prominence in legal and royal court circles in England during the reign of King Henry VIII as Sir Thomas More. St. Thomas began his career as a lawyer and was elected a member of parliament. He was made privy councillor, knighted by the king and subsequently made lord chancellor. He held the latter office only three years, resigning after a clash with the king. When he refused to take the oath of supremacy in 1534 he was imprisoned in the Tower of London. Charged with high treason he was sentenced to death and on July 6 of the same year beheaded on Tower Hill.

At the April or May meeting of the P.T.A. the girls of the clothing classes of the Barrington public school will present a style show under the supervision of Miss Margaret Everett, home economics teacher.

The girls from the three clothing divisions, junior high, clothing I, and advanced home economics will model the garments they have constructed.

The seventh and eighth grade girls will begin the style review by displaying an array of aprons. Following this blouses, smocks, pajamas, and house coats will be modeled. In the next division the girls will wear simple spring frocks.

The clothing I girls will present four groups: aprons, pajamas and smocks, simple dresses, and better dresses.

From the advanced class a wide variety of garments and materials will be shown. Two special features from this class will be made-over garments and children's clothing.

A complete program of this style show will be announced later, Miss Everett stated.

Why It Is a "Bridewell"
Long ago a hospital was built in London on the site of a former royal palace over a medicinal spring known as St. Bride's Water. This was contracted to Bridewell. After the Reformation, according to London Answers Magazine, King Edward VI chartered the London hospitals to different work. Christ's hospital was devoted to the education of the young, St. Thomas to the cure of the sick, and Bridewell was turned into a penitentiary for unfortunates and vagrants. Thus "Bridewell," gradually slipped into use as a general name for prisons.

ing passed close to Barrington. It snapped off an electric line pole and wires, slashed through three trees in the Schutt yard, and then plunged to the ground, hitting with such force that the wreckage bounded approximately 40 feet into a fence.

Although the crash was heard by the Schutt family, they believed it was an auto collision. It was not until Alford staggered to the Schutt home and called for aid that they were aware of the nature of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Schutt took the injured man into Elgin for first aid. State Highway Patrolman William Gallagher was sent to the scene to guard the plane until an investigation could be made. Mrs. Alford, who was waiting at the airport for the return of her husband, drove to Elgin when she learned of the crash.

Government officials removed the weather observation instruments from the plane, which was totally wrecked.

Radium Wonderful, Dangerous, Chemist Tells Lions Club

One of First Scientists in Field Speaks at Meeting and at High School

A single gram of radium, valued at two million dollars an ounce, is the total that can be extracted from 400 tons of Colorado carnation ore, and that requires the efforts of hundreds of men, a year of time and many thousands of tons of acid, water and rock. Dr. Luther S. H. Gable, one of America's leading scientists in the radium field told members of the Lions club in an address Monday evening.

He had given an interesting talk to the pupils of the Barrington high school and junior high school during the afternoon.

Dr. Gable was one of the group of scientists who first started to recover radium in America on a commercial scale. The company which was organized to promote their work was closed up when the ore with much heavier radium deposits was discovered in the Belgium Congo making the work on American ore unprofitable.

However still richer deposits were found in the Arctic, and this carried back to America by airplane, made it possible to resume commercial operations here, Dr. Gable explained.

"Metallurgical radium will completely disintegrate into 'dust' or salts in a few days. The salts will continue to release energy, in proportion to the volume, indefinitely," he said. "The salts will burn out only one-half of their weight in 1680 years. The remaining half will lose half its force and weight in another 1680 years, and the remainder will lose half its energy in another 1680 years, and will be repeated ad-infinitum."

"Who can tell when the last spark of radium will fade and go out?" The speaker reviewed the tremendous life work of Madame Curie in first discovering radium. He told of the many scientists who had died from burns because of early lack of knowledge about handling the mineral.

"Strange fire, gas, heat and penetrating rays of burning radium have been harnessed to work for its master—but will slay him in a careless moment when man neglects control."

Warns Farmers on Foreign Seed; Soil Testing Schools Scheduled

Bargain hunting in red clover and alfalfa seed is an activity in which wise Lake county farmers will not participate," says Farm Advisor Gilkerson.

"For one thing," Mr. Gilkerson said, "alfalfa and red clover seed from certain states and territories is not considered as adapted under the 1938 agricultural adjustment program. When performance is checked against the 1938 farm program, only red clover and alfalfa fields seeded in 1938 with adapted seed will qualify."

Red clover and alfalfa seed grown in Canada and the following states will be considered as adapted: Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and certain counties in Oklahoma, Oregon and Washington.

It would be well for Lake county farmers to obtain evidence of origin of seed purchased and keep all tags so that the county agricultural conservation committee, it was pointed out.

A series of meetings have been held, attorneys consulted and methods discussed to halt the unrestricted sale. Reports, however, indicate that the promoters are within the legal bounds. An attempt was made, it was reported, to purchase the entire section of land now being sold, but due to a heavy mortgage and other outstanding claims, negotiations fell through.

Stanley Falls on Congo River
The Stanley Falls on the Congo river mark the termination of the Upper Congo's northward flow, and change the course in a 60-mile curve to the westward. The falls are not of great height—the total fall is about 200 feet—but they are factually prevent navigation between the waters above and those below except by canoe. The first five cataracts are close together, there being only nine miles between them. The sixth fall is 22 miles down stream, and the last 26 miles beyond.

We Don't Know All

To assume the pose that we are above mistakes is absurd; better far admit most frankly if we occupy a prominent position before the public, that we make mistakes, many of them, and we expect to go on making them so long as we live. This will dispose of any claim to infallibility, but it will place us on much firmer ground, and help men to realize that we are just as human as they. This, in itself, does not alienate men, but rather draws them to us.

Organize Committee for Youths' Hostel Center at Antioch

If plans of a committee of residents of Antioch materialize, a youth hostel will be created there as part of a chain which is to extend around Lake Michigan. The youth hostel plan has been developed in the east where over-night stopover camps are being through the New England states for the benefit of young travelers.

Both young men and women are received at these hostels while traveling. Many of them use a bicycle as a means of conveyance.

Last year, Misses Blanche Nicolai, June Jurs and Esther Jepsen of Barrington traveled in the east and made use of the hostels. A committee of 15 residents, headed by H. H. Reichers, faculty member of the Antioch township high school, is developing the plan and is scheduled to meet March 18 to further the enterprise. At the meeting held last week motion pictures were shown and Mrs. M. M. Stillman of Detroit, Mich., talked on the movement, which first gained favor in Europe.

According to reports, camps are also planned for Elgin and Camp Lake.

Attention Voters!

The Democratic candidates listed below heartily endorse the following "Declaration of Principles," and offer the same for your consideration, together with their candidacy.

1. We believe in electing men and women to office who are adapted to the science of government.
2. We believe our local government needs a housecleaning, an audit and inventory, and a frank disclosure of the cause for constant increase in our local taxation.
3. We believe that our local taxes are being wasted and are devoting our efforts to combat that waste and reduce the expenditures.
4. As all taxes on real estate and personal property are levied, collected and spent by taxing bodies in this county, we feel that immediate relief from high taxes can be obtained right here at home.
5. We stand for the election of public officials, who will administer the county offices economically, honestly, fairly and efficiently.
6. We are encouraging candidates for public office who regard the welfare of the community and the interests of the citizens far above their natural selfishness.
7. We want some plain, sound decency and honest common sense in the conduct of our local government; the restoration of ideals tempered with experience; tolerance and respect for the rights of the governed so that the younger generation may engage in politics without forsaking their principles.
8. We believe that it is the right of every American to live under a government strong enough to suppress the lawless, wise enough to see beyond the selfish desires of the moment, and just enough to consider the welfare of the people as a whole.
9. We want to elect men and women to office who are strong and courageous enough to refuse to yield to pressure or demands for special privileges or give way to lust, greed or corruption in public affairs.
10. We want to see the affairs of the county conducted in a modern businesslike manner.
11. In order to accomplish our program, we recognize that the Democratic Party in this county needs more leadership, and are determined to have as leaders those who support these principles.
12. We want good government.

RESTORE FREE COMPETITION

In a recent address, Judge John D. Miller, president of national cooperative council, said: "An attempt by the government to correct monopolistic abuses should be loyally supported. However, if the government is to adhere to its policy of curbing monopolies and restoring free and fair competition, some of the recently enacted statutes still effective should be immediately repealed. Among these are the Guffey Coal act, the Robinson-Patman act, and the Miller-Tydings act."

So organized agriculture is now adding its voice to the great chorus which is asking the repeal of measures whose principal result is to artificially boost prices, throw the machinery of sound competition out of joint, and stick the consumer at every turn. The Robinson-Patman act and the Miller-Tydings act, by legalizing price-fixing, and prohibiting merchandising methods which help lower the cost-spread between producer and consumer, hit every family in the land. Whether you buy a loaf of bread or an automobile, the price is likely to be higher than it would otherwise be—because of such laws.

When will congress finally learn that free competition is essential if the public is to be served efficiently and economically—and the 130,000,000 consumers of the country are to be protected from legally-forced exploitation?

RECIPE FOR RECOVERY

Testifying before a senate committee, Bernard Baruch, the well-known financier, although a close friend and advisor of the president, said that the present depression can be ended by a change of the government's attitude toward business and a wise readjustment of the tax structure. He stated that he agreed with the president's view that the national income could reach $100,000,000,000 a year, as against about $67,500,000,000 at present, and added that a business upsurge is now being prevented by a feeling of insecurity—the fear that reasonable profits will be confiscated by "inordinate taxation" and that assets will be subjected to some "great arbitrary change in the value of money."

A short time before this, the United States Chamber of Commerce issued a report pointing out that all the essentials of recovery—men, materials and demand for goods—are present—yet recovery does not come. It does not come because of that feeling of insecurity of which Mr. Baruch and a thousand other authorities have spoken—that feeling which causes capital, industry, workers and farmers to retrench, and to hold back the spending that would create real productive jobs, new opportunities in industry, new markets for agriculture, and normal conditions in this country.

Government has reviled and fought business. Government has taxed business to death. Government has held out a constant threat of still more severe "reprisals." The political drive for government ownership of much private business is destructive of private investments. The inevitable result is depression, and all the political promises and hot air will not fill the bread baskets. The more business is taxed and "lawed" against, the lower will drop the national income and the harder jobs will be to get. These are facts that cannot be laughed off. The longer they are ignored, the worse the depression will be.

WHY THE CONSTITUTION?

Something over eight months ago, a German citizen, The Reverend Martin Niemöller, an outstanding anti-Nazi protestant pastor, was arrested in Berlin because of his outspoken opposition to the dictatorship of Adolf Hitler.

Later he was found guilty of the "crime" of having discussed and criticized government measures from the pulpit. He was sentenced to seven months in prison and a substantial fine. Because he had been in prison for a longer period awaiting trial than that to which he was sentenced, he was set free. But—he was immediately arrested by secret police and without trial was sent to a prison concentration camp.

All too often we take our own constitution and the rights it gives us too lightly.

In contrast to Germany, the Reverend Niemöller under the protection of the American constitution would in the first place never have been arrested for criticizing the government or its acts; he would not have been held for eight months awaiting trial and then upon his release could not be arrested and sent away to a prison camp without trial. All because such things are forbidden by our constitution.

MEN AND MACHINES

Today there are many misinformed and misguided persons who are setting up modern machinery as the big bogeyman responsible for unemployment. So the machinery institute set about getting at the facts and used as the basis of its study the official reports of the United States government's census bureau and other governmental agencies.

Here are the facts revealed by the institute's study: "It is not logical to assume that the machine is the cause of unemployment."

"Factory employment today is 83 per cent above the 1899 level when little machinery was used, while population is only 72 per cent above the 1899 figure. Had there been no increase in mechanization since then, a 94-hour work week would be required for factory workers to produce the goods necessary for the current standard of living."

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

Railroads soon will put into effect the first permanent general upward revision of freight rates since 1920.

But it now appears that the application of the increases announced March 5 by the Interstate Commerce commission will do little to dissipate the pessimistic outlook for the railroad industry. For railroad officials have expressed themselves as "greatly disappointed" that their request for a full 15 per cent increase was not granted and have asserted that the estimated net increase of 5 per cent, with a total of 175 millions in additional revenue, does not go far enough.

The official figures show that thirty out of every one hundred miles of track and approximately one dollar out of every four of railroad capitalization—a total of 37 class 1 roads—is now operated by the government.

Another reason for pessimism is that this picture of insolvency steadily is getting worse. The RFC estimates that 27 more class 1 roads may be forced into receivership this year. Nearly 50 per cent of the railroads, figures of the American Association of Railroads show, operated in the red last year.

In normal years the railroads receive an operating income equal to from 8 to 9 per cent of the entire national income arising out of productive operations.

So long as the railroad carriers continue to be threatened with bankruptcy and cannot raise the capital required for efficient operation a substantial barrier is raised against restoration of prosperity.

That is given as the reason why President Roosevelt has announced he is planning further study of the railroad situation.

An immediate result of the failure to get the requested rate increase was the recommendation of the board of directors of the American Association of Railroads March 11 that the railroad brotherhoods be asked to accept a general wage cut.

The economic malady which now afflicts the railroads goes back a long time, says a Washington holding that it began in the early '20's when the first serious inroads on revenues were made by a new form of competition—the passenger automobile, bus and truck.

Against the new competition the railroads deployed their best engineering and inventive skill, succeeding in cutting unit cost of moving freight one-third.

But to no avail. The growing seriousness of the evil is shown by the fact that, whereas, a decade ago only 2 per cent of the railroad mileage was operated by receivers, today, as has been pointed out, more than 30 per cent of the mileage, or more than ever before, is operated by receivers.

Railroads shared, of course, in the general decline of business following 1929. But since the spring of 1933 their rates have not advanced to correspond with the sharp increases in certain operating costs. Other industries are free to set their own charges but the railroad rates are fixed by the ICC.

Government attorneys have been saying for some time that they did not know what to expect of the supreme court on tax questions from one week to the next.

Roosevelt Magill, under secretary of the treasury, put their feelings into words last fall when he said some decisions had led lower federal courts into a "wilderness of fine distinctions."

A principal cause of confusion was the lack of a definite line marking the authority of federal and state governments to tax agents and instrumentalities of each other. It had been claimed that apparently contradictory decisions had been rendered on that question.

As a result of two decisions just handed down, however, the opinion in the capital is that the attitude of the highest court is crystallizing toward a broadening of both the federal and state tax fields.

The dispute goes back in a sense to 1819, when—in McCulloch vs. Maryland—the court held that a state could not tax a federal bank. Time and again it has ruled against such taxes on the ground that "the power to tax is the power to destroy." The numerous exemptions from taxation thus held to exist narrowed the revenue fields.

The situation caused official concern. Mr. Magill listed three possible approaches to the problem: amendment of the constitution, attempts at legislative remedy, and restudy of the situation and the law by the supreme court.

"Consider how much the administration of federal income tax would be improved," he said, "if the sixteenth amendment were now held to mean what it says—to confer the power actually to tax incomes from whatever source derived."

Meanwhile, the supreme court already was tending toward a broader conception of the taxing power. It has ruled that independent contractors must be distinguished from regular government employees and agencies in the matter of tax levies; and that employees who might be under government jurisdiction but were not being paid out of government funds were subject to taxation by another government.

Swine Growers' Day

at U. of Ill. March 31

A favorable feeling ratio for hogs and an increased number of pigs to be fed on Illinois farms this spring is causing farmers throughout the state to make plans to attend the annual swine growers' day at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, Thursday, March 31.

"At present 100 pounds of hogs equal in value to 14 bushels of corn, whereas at this time last year 100 pounds of hogs was equal in value to nine bushels of corn," it was pointed out by B. W. Fairbanks, associate chief in animal husbandry, who with H. P. Rusk, head of the department of animal husbandry, will have charge.

"With increased numbers of hogs to be marketed, it is likely that spring pigs sold earliest will bring best prices," he continued. "With these facts in mind, the program for swine growers' day has been built around results of experiments to find better ration and more efficient and more economical methods of handling sows and their litters."

During the morning visitors will have an opportunity to tour the college farms, inspect at first hand the college swine plant and study the equipment used. Here they will see demonstrated the method used by the college in handling sows and litters. At the swine plant Wise Burroughs, assistant in animal husbandry, will discuss the feeding of sows during gestation and ration for dry lot and pasture management.
