Local Couple Loses Valuables in Holdup in Chicago Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dallstrom of Barrington were members of a theatre party in Chicago Sunday which was the victim of a daring holdup that took more than $20,000 in jewelry and several hundred dollars in currency. With Mr. and Mrs. Dallstrom were Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dahlberg and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Etelson.

The party was returning in a taxicab from a loop theatre at the time of the holdup. They stopped in front of the Drake Tower where the Etelsons live. Just as they were about to alight from the cab a sedan car braked to a sharp stop in back of them. Two men jumped out while a third remained at the wheel.

Commanding the group to remain quiet, the robbers mounted the running board of the car and ordered the driver to proceed. After driving around the near north side as instructed, the driver was told to halt on Superior street.

The Dallstroms and their friends were then ordered to remove their jewelry and other valuables effects and hand them over. As soon as the holdup was completed the robbers ran back to the sedan car which had stalled along and sped away. A call was made immediately to the police station but efforts to locate the trio were of no avail.

Start Installation of Traffic Lights at Main and Hough

A. Electric Co. of Cicero
Doing Project; Predict
10 Days for Job

The long-awaited action on the installation of the traffic signals at the intersection of Main and Hough streets was started Monday morning by the A. Electric Co. of Cicero, contractors.

Since Monday the workers have been engaged in tearing out concrete pavement in preparation for placing the traffic actuator triggers. These triggers will be tripped by the wheels of a car approaching the intersection causing the light to show green.

The stop and go signals will not only be traffic actuated. A preliminary control, whereby the signals are operated on a set time allowance is part of the equipment and will be placed into operation by merely turning a switch.

Pouches of trigger plates are being placed in the concrete pavement in the oncoming traffic lanes. Ditches are being cut for the laying of control wires to the light standards. The pipe conduit for the wires connecting the system is being pushed under the pavement across the streets.

There is to be a signal at each right hand corner. Installation work will be completed within 10 days, officials of the company stated.

The A. Electric Co. was the successful bidder on the project last February with a bid of $5,993. The money being used for the work is coming from the state gas tax fund credited the village of Barrington.

It is noted that the traffic actuator controls, those operated by the wheels of a passing automobile, will be used during normal times while the pre-time signals will be used when traffic is considerably heavier, it was reported.

Offer Settlement of $837 in School- Village Law Suit

W. Bardwell, Attorney for School District No. 4,
Makes Proposal

An offer to settle the law case between the village of Barrington and members of the board of education of school district No. 4 was made Friday by W. U. Bardwell, attorney for the school board, at a conference between him and D. B. Maloney, village attorney. At that time a sum of $827.83 was offered.

Mr. Maloney informed the village board Monday of the compromise offer that had been made. The school board's offer was contingent on the assumption that it will receive a dividend from the closed State bank. According to estimates made by village officials last December when a verdict was handed down in superior court of Cook county against the F. L. Waterman estate and trustees of school district No. 4, the village is in a claim of approximately $3600 due to the village from district No. 4.

Village President Earl Hatje appointed a committee consisting of Trustees John J. Carroll and John Decker and A. L. Wiedenbach, village treasurer, to participate in a discussion with a committee selected by A. D. Church, president of the board of education of the school district. The meeting is planned for the next week or so.

The litigation is based on claims made by the village of Barrington that funds in the State bank at the time of its closing did not belong entirely to the village, as was determined then by Mr. Waterman.

Mr. Maloney was instructed Monday night to serve notice of a motion to dismiss the $56,000 claim against the village, but so far that motion has not been made. The motion was made Monday night to have the case dismissed due to the fact that it was taking a long time for hearing.

A settlement of the Village bond suit in Lake county is also expected to be completed within the next week or so. Mr. Maloney stated Monday night that he will determine if certain village bonds are valid has been before a master in chancery for some time, and a partial verdict was returned last year.

Members of the Christian Catholic church in Zion have abandoned all plans to produce the Zion Passion play this year, according to a statement made last Saturday by church officials.

WHAT'S GOING ON

(Courtesy The United States News)

One tax battle in congress is ending just in time for another to start.

The first battle is resulting in a corporation income tax law and a modified tax on capital gains closely in line with the expressed desires of business men.

Now the new battle will be on a different front.

This time President Roosevelt is asking congress, by simple statute, to provide that income from all future issues of federal, state and municipal bonds be subject to income taxation.

He also wants the earnings of state and local officials subject to federal income taxation and earnings of federal employees subject to state income taxation.

In none of these changes, however, is there a positive effort to seek a balance in the federal government budget through higher taxes.

This situation is in direct contrast to that in Great Britain where the government, on April 24, announced further tax increases to help meet extraordinary budget requirements growing from rearmament.

The British continue to strive for a balance between outgo and income at almost any cost in the way of high taxes.

In this country, official attention will turn from the budget to a battle over the attempt to close one tax loophole.

At present there is a total of $13,000,000,000 in federal debt, the income from about $15,000,000,000 of which is totally tax exempt and the remainder partially tax exempt. To this is added about $17,000,000,000 of state and local debt wholly exempt from income taxation.

In addition, the incomes of 2,500,000 state and local government employees are free from federal income taxation and the incomes of more than 1,000,000 federal employees, including the army and navy are free from state income taxation.

The estimate of the treasury is that taxation of income from debt without exemption would yield the federal government about $140,000,000 of additional revenue while taxation of states and local employees would bring $17,000,000 more.

These are not big figures when contrasted with a prospective federal deficit of at least two billion dollars.

But involved is a constitutional principle. The supreme court, ever since John Marshall wrote the opinion in McCulloch vs. Maryland has held that dual sovereignty precludes the federal government from taxing instrumentalities of state governments and vice versa.

The president is of the opinion that a majority of the court now might be ready to reverse previous interpretations in order to permit taxation that would close an avenue of escape for persons of large income, and for government workers. Others say a constitutional amendment will be necessary.

But even a victory for Mr. Roosevelt in this battle would not materially affect the federal government's budget problem.

The British, unlike the people of the United States, are shown by the official figures to be meeting their problem head on. They will pay an increased tax with a base rate of 27 1/2 per cent. In this country the base rate is 4 per cent.

Corporations in Great Britain will pay 27 1/2 per cent rate. In this country they will pay from 12 1/2 to 19 per cent, depending on size and distribution of earnings.

The 41,000,000 people in England, Scotland and Wales will pay an estimated $5,000,000,000 in taxes to their national government or approximately as much as 130,000,000 Americans are to pay.

Congress still faces the sort of tax battle that the British parliament long ago settled by agreeing to pay the bill involved in a balanced budget.

A conflict of advice on policy toward business and industry has been pitting up at the white house ever since the supreme court invalidated NRA.

After months of apparent indecision, President Roosevelt transmitted to congress on April 29 a message construed by many persons as representing a choice between the principal alternative.

Some observers took the position, however, that he had posed the problem in a way that might lead toward a solution different from that sought in the laws against monopolies.

One group close to him, including Ernest G. Draper and Donald Richberg, had favored a modified version of NRA to allow representation of government and of business to plan together on questions of production and the like, much as such bodies were being devised under the blue eagle.

Another group of which Robert Jackson became recognized as the spokesman, had insisted a freely operating economic system could be preserved or attained only by breaking up private concentration of economic power. They advocated stricter enforcement and strengthening of the anti-trust statutes.

In his statement of the problem and recommendations for action and study to congress, the president sided with the latter group but made reservations.

Members of congress noted especially his recommendation for a $500,000 government study of the effects of price policies, taxes, patent situations, etc., on trade, employment and profits.

They remembered the recent statement that Mr. Roosevelt and Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho, agreed substantially on the broad questions, inasmuch as some economists contend that trust-breaking is impracticable in the existing economic order and Senator Borah demands federal control by licensing of corporations, there was speculation whether the study might produce arguments for the Borah-O'Mahoney licensing bill.

The president did not mention the bill, leaving the long-range solution to congress.

Why the shift of approach in contrast with the NRA method? Following months of research, experts produced figures that impressed him. 47 per cent of American families and single individuals living alone in 1935-36 had incomes of less than $1000 a year, while another group of less than 1 1/2 per cent of the families received as much in total income as that 47 per cent.

Again, tax returns for 1935 showed a tenth of one per cent of reporting corporations owned 53 per cent of all the assets represented and also earned half of the total net income reported.

The government should require businesses to compete in a way that would prevent maintenance of prices for goods at artificially high levels, in his opinion. He wants a legislative attack on "close financial control, through increasing sphere of influence over channels of investment and through the use of financial devices like holding companies and strategic minority interests."

Surviving are the widower, John Kohl; two sons, John and Russell, five sisters, Mrs. Ankele and Mrs. Boegan, Mrs. George Kulsge of Waukegan, Mrs. Max Deylitz of Muskegon, Mich., and Mrs. Marie Miller of Tiltonville, O., and three brothers, Emil, Edmund of Chicago, George of Lombard and William of Lake Zurich.

HERE'S A STAR YOU CAN REACH!

HERE, sir, is the bright particular star of the automotive year: a car to make you proud and happy — you can prove that anywhere on the highway these bright May days.

In it, you can know luxury in your travels and still not over-strain your budget!

Fact is, you feel like a million just sitting in this Buick!

And you know you're commanding the "top" in power the first time you give it its eager DYNAPLASH engine the gun!

At the wheel you feel the buoyant steadiness that is TORQUE-FRAX SPRINGING's special gift to motoring — the firm, fleet roadability of a car that's beautifully poised in all its going.

There's no "hop" on this fast one. It doesn't "gallop" or bounce or pitch.

Its soft stout coiled steel springs let the wheels follow the road — rise to the swells, dip to the hollows — yet pass none of that lively up-and-down on to the body.

You travel level as a straightedge, thrill to turbine-smooth power that's quick as lightning — know a kind of travel-comfort that neither road nor weather mars. Yet what are the facts on costs?

This great straight-eight actually costs less than some sixes! Price almost any other car, and by the time you've added in the extra values included in Buick's figures, you've paid for the matchless performance only Buick can give you!

So don't sit idly wishing for a star! Reach up — get this one! We're ready to show you any day it costs less than you think.

Attend Federation of Women's Clubs Meet in Chicago

Mrs. Elso Schutt and Mrs. Leslie McClure are attending the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs' state convention now in session at the Sherman hotel, Chicago.

In conclusion, Mr. Acheson reviewed accomplishments in the field of social justice within the past two generations in the attitude toward unfortunates, such as the insane, delinquents, orphans, child laborers, employees.

Dr. Albert Edward Wigan of New York discussed "Who Shall Inherit America—the Strong or the Weak, the Intelligent or the Stupid?" Tuesday evening. He advocated cautions in marriage, cautions sterilization of the unfit, extension of knowledge of birth control and good homes.

Florida Struck Island Has a Fountain of Youth

Has a Fountain of Youth—perhaps the Fountain of Youth, because it is the spring Ponce de Leon's guide had in mind when the two set out from Porto Rico on their famous expedition. That the island is a desert, observes a writer in the Detroit News.

That De Leon's guide was a native of Bimini and was merely trying to find the way home from Porto Rico, supports the island's claim as its fountain. That the guide was a woman, an old woman and a bad mannered, accounts for the capricious course she set, the embarrassing accident in Florida and all the subsequent confusion.

Water is rare in the northernmost islands of the West Indies and it is not surprising that reports of Bimini's well reached De Leon at Porto Rico. The well is a rocky cave, its sides green from the damp and shaded even at noon by the pigeon-plum and gum trees that cluster around it. Although it has none of the legendary properties, the water is refreshingly cool and seems to invigorate vigor into the drinker.

Pable roots easily in such a fountain and to Ponce de Leon, facing old age on his beloved island of Porto Rico, it appeared like a magic well to his wish for eternal youth in which to enjoy the beauty of his Caribbean home. Guided by the old woman, he and his followers crossed the islands of the Bimini group and finally landed in Florida, a short distance to the west.

Robert Morris Financial Aid in Washington's Time
Robert Morris called the "financier of the (American) Revolution," was born in England, January 31, 1734, but came to the Colonies where he was just a boy and began to build a considerable fortune.

A member of the Continental Congress, he was reluctant at first to sign the Declaration of Independence. After he had changed his mind, writes Leslie Hartley in the Washington Star, his financial aid proved invaluable, and without his help Washington's soldiers at Valley Forge and at the battles of Princeton and Trenton would have found it almost impossible to survive.

An optimist and a born promoter, Morris possessed an uncanny ability to secure loans which served the Continental army well throughout the war. When Washington was forming his cabinet he requested Morris to serve as secretary of the treasury, but the latter declined, naming Alexander Hamilton in his stead. He served in congress, however, as one of the first two senators from Pennsylvania.

It was the loss of faith that the affairs of the "king of American financiers" should become so involved that he was thrown into prison for his debt to be released only under the bankruptcy act. He died a few years later, a broken-hearted old man.

Early U. S. France Treaties
On February 1, 1778, treaties of defensive alliance and commerce were concluded between France and the United States—the first foreign recognition of American independence. Carried by sailing vessels, it was the only means of communication—copies of the documents did not reach congress until May 1. Meanwhile, the passage of Lord North's Conciliatory bills by the British parliament had conceded practically every point disputed by the colonists. Peace commissioners were hurried from England to America, in the hope of reaching there before the news of the French treaties could have its effect on public opinion. They arrived about the middle of April, but to little purpose. Congress ratified the French treaties on May 4.

The Feudal System
The feudal system prevailed in most of Europe during the Middle Ages, until about the end of the Fourteenth century, when the rise of absolute monarchy broke down the local system. The increase of communication and the growth of the towns, with the expansion of the economic world after the Crusades, did much to destroy the feudal classification of society. The system broke down gradually and in France it was not completely destroyed until the French revolution. Old usages retained in Germany until the Nineteenth century and in Russia until 1917. Many relics of feudalism persist and it has left its impress on almost all institutions of western Europe.

Augustus and Julius Caesar
Augustus Caesar was born September 23, 63 B. C., and was given the name Octavius. Being grandnephew and favorite of Julius Caesar, he became, through adoption, Caesar Octavianus, and upon becoming ruler of Rome in 27 B. C., took the title of Augustus. Although the title of ruler was conferred upon him by the senate, and he had within his grasp the complete power of a modern dictator, both civil and military, Augustus preferred to be called "principlis citizen." He took the work of Julius Caesar where the daggers of the conspirators led by Brutus and Cassius had stopped it, carefully avoiding Caesar's civil errors, and created throughout the Roman world a peace and prosperity which lasted for 200 years.

This WEEK in WASHINGTON

By RALPH E. CHURCH
Representative, 10th Congressional District

Washington, D. C., April 30.—Complete revision and simplification of the American system of taxation have long been urged. With the federal, state and local governments year after year seeking more and more revenue, the tax structure has gradually become a patch-quilt affair of duplications, overlapping inequalities and inequities.

Several factors account for this situation, aside from the constant rise in the cost of government and search for new sources of revenue. In the first place, there are some things like 15,000 taxing jurisdictions in the United States. They are more or less independent of each other and independent of the federal government. Each is inclined to impose a tax without regard to taxes on the same source imposed by the other.

The ultimate result has been conflicts and duplications, as well as innumerable inequalities in a tax system that is dual-overlapping, geographically heterogeneous and multi-layered. In seeking a corrective we are of course confronted with certain constitutional difficulties inherent in the very nature of the American system of government.

A second contributing factor to this patch-quilt tax structure in the United States may be want of a better term, be characterized as "politics." There are constant efforts on the part of legislators to hide the taxes they impose as much as possible from the people who pay them. For example, an elective officer would prefer to vote for an excise tax which enters into the price of an article of consumption than to vote for a direct tax on personal income, even though it may be shown that by the proposed direct tax the average citizen would actually pay less than by the indirect tax. In other words, desirable methods of taxation from the point of view of what is just and equitable are often sacrificed for methods more politically expedient. And, for the same reason, once a particular tax has been on the statute books for any time it is indeed difficult to prevail upon legislators to repeal it to substitute some other.

There is a third factor which has contributed to our cumbersome tax system of many inequalities. That is the increased use of the taxing power for the purpose of regulation or to accomplish certain economic and social results. While the taxing power is fundamentally to be employed to raise revenue, over the years there has been an increasing tendency for the government to employ the power to regulate activities.

It is true that the courts have invalidated laws which were "regulation under the guise of taxation." But the judicial limitations on the taxing power have not prevented the rapid accumulation of tax laws designed to regulate and control various economic activities and sometimes to accomplish social reforms. It can be readily understood how this more extensive use of the taxing power for regulation would tend to introduce more and more complications and inequalities into the American tax system, especially if we appreciate that the structure has been erected

"Merrily We Live" Is Week-End Bill at Catlow Theatre

"Tovarich" Starring Claudette Colbert, Opens Wednesday for Two Days

More than 500 men and women extras were interviewed by Dance Director Bobby Connolly to select 150 to participate in the hillbilly dance sequence he staged for "Bling Your Lady," the comedy with music, coming to the Catlow Saturday.

A feature of this sequence is an old-fashioned square dance as performed by the natives of the Ozarks. Men and women, young and old, beautiful and not so beautiful, but all representing a cross section of Missouri mountain life, participated.

"Merrily We Live," agrarian successor to "Topper," one of last season's daffiest comedies, opens at the Catlow theatre Sunday for two days, with Claude Rains of the former hit once again cast in a comedy portrayal, this time co-starring with Brian Aherne who recently scored in the title role of "The Great Gatsby."

Prominently cast are Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Patsy Kelly, Ann Dvorak, Tom Brown, Bonnie Granville, Marjorie Rambeau, Philip Reed, Clarence Kolb, Marjorie Kane, Paul Everton and Willie Best.

The action of "Merrily We Live" revolves around the antics of the Kibbourne family, as mad, fantastic, and carefree a group as were ever assembled under one roof. Each is a rugged individualist, but together they present a united front that is bewildering to the sedate and conservative suburban neighbors.

He spends his wedding night as a crazy aunt's husband, and that's the bride's nuptial! Make fun of the run's furthest fun! You'll see exactly about this side-splitting romance. "No Time to Marry" coming Tuesday to the Catlow.

Double featured with "No Time to Marry," Tuesday is "Random" starring Buck Jones.

"Tovarich," the world famous comedy dealing with a Russian prince and grand duchess which has been playing on the stage all over civilization for several years, comes in film form to the Catlow Wednesday and Thursday.

Starring Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer, it is said to be the most massive and expensive production that Warner Bros. have turned out since "Anthony Adverse" and "Charge of the Light Brigade."

Court Orders Board of Supervisors to Divide Precincts

A writ of mandamus was issued Saturday by Judge Ralph J. Dady in the Lake county circuit court, requiring that the board of supervisors reappoint the 74 voting precincts in the county. According to the writ the action must be taken at the June 15th meeting of the board.

The supervisors had proposed to act on the precinct problem on their own volition at the June 15th meeting, but in order to make it mandatory the group of "interested citizens" who filed the petition for a writ last winter appeared before Judge Dady Friday.

The order, instructing the board of supervisors to divide, reappoint and adjust the large voting precincts, was issued after State Attorney Charles E. Mason, representing the board of supervisors, stated there were no objections to the plan.

According to the order the Cuba town precinct will be divided into two units. Wauconda township's 25 precincts will be readjusted to 29 or 30. Deerfield, including Highland Park, which has 12 voting districts, will be split into 16.

The total number of precincts after the revision is expected to be increased to 141. Those precincts having more than 500 voters in the last general election will vote their split-up or adjusted size, but none of them will have more than 675 voters.

In Cuba township it is expected the division will be made by having route 29 the dividing line.

Threat to Dynamite House Lands Man in Lake County Jail

Because he threatened to blow up a neighbor's home during an argument, Julius Zelmar, 42, of Half Day, found himself held in the Lake county jail Sunday.

Zelmar had boasted that he possessed nine sticks of dynamite at home with which he was going to wreck his companion's residence.

According to information given Chief of Police Ray Lesch of Wheeling, Zelmar was visiting at the home of George Rutkowski of Wheeling Sunday. While in a belaguered and drunken mood, he grabbed a sledge and started to assault John Liebois, 62, an armless acquaintance.

During the ensuing fracas with Liebois, Zelmar allegedly said that he would blow Liebois' home up with dynamite which he had at half a day. Chief Lesch called for a sheriff's squad and a search was made of Zelmar's home, where three sticks of dynamite were found.

The explosives were retained by the police while Zelmar was placed in the county jail Monday morning. He could remember nothing about his actions Sunday.

GAS Refrigeration Saves
You Money Year After Year

Electrolux, the gas refrigerator, saves because it's different. The little freezing mechanism which makes cold with the tiny blue "thrift flame" is the only freezing mechanism which has no moving parts. No moving parts means no parts to wear—giving you longer life for your refrigerator . . . and low upkeep cost, for there are no expensive replacements. It also costs less to operate, because efficiency is held at the same high level, allowing the "thrift flame" to scrimp on fuel, year after year. Then, too, you get permanent silence—parts that do not move, do not make a noise.

See this beautiful new Electrolux today!
Come in and see the refrigerator that saves—marked at a lower price than ever before—with a generous trade-in allowance and more sensational new convenience features. See the extra roominess, the compact arrangement, the features that cut down on work—safeguard family health with dependable food-keeping. See the thrilling beauty it will bring into your kitchen.

Scuffing, pitting and gouging are due to improper wheel alignment. Ordinary wear—sagging springs, worn bushings, bearings, pivots—throw wheels out of line, drag the tires sideways along the road, scuff and burn the tread, and cut mileage in half.

DOES AMERICA WANT SOCIALISM?

Upon the outcome of the present controversy between the utility industry and the federal government, private versus public ownership, rests the future of private enterprise. As David Lawrence recently pointed out, the principle involved is so far-reaching in its implications that the American people may want to decide at the coming congressional elections whether public ownership is to be a national policy, whether coal mines, automobile companies, railroads, department stores, retail shops and what-not shall be owned by the federal octopus and thus inaugurate the beginning of the end of private capitalism (individual opportunity) in the United States.

Don't be fooled! No matter how small a business man you may be, you are directly concerned in this issue. As has been pointed out time and again, no nation can be half socialist and half democratic. If a policy of state socialism (public ownership) is adopted toward one industry, it will in all likelihood spread to all industry, big and little.

A few private electric company executives have undoubtedly been guilty of scattered abuses of public trust—but, and here is the vital point, these abuses can always be corrected by intelligent public regulation, whereas if the industry were owned by the public and operated by public agencies, the private citizen would be utterly helpless in seeking recompense for injury. He would inevitably find himself fighting a hopeless battle against entrenched bureaucracy.

There can be no further buck passing. This is not a battle against "big business," as many politicians would have us believe. It is a battle over a matter of principle in which every American is deeply concerned. It means changing our form of government.

THE FARMER'S FUTURE

What a farmer plants, and how much he reaps, is already being suggested to him by the federal government. The motive, of course, is sound—to assure him a fair return for his time, investment, and effort. But that is just the beginning of a trend which promises more outside supervision.

Congress is considering a bill to regulate wages and hours. It would specifically exempt farmers. But that very exemption is a clear indication of a belief that congress has the power to set the wages the farmer pays his hands and the hours he works them.

Even more significant are the two other developments. First, the national labor relations board has just decided that it has jurisdiction over farm marketing cooperatives. It instructed the North Whittier Heights Citrus association of Puente, Calif., to reinstate with back pay 27 packing house workers who had been dismissed.

Second is the new Wagner bill, now a subject of congressional study. That really gets down to brass tacks. It would force any person who sells goods to the government to agree to let the government supervise his dealings with his employees. Even the farmer who sells vegetables to a federal veterans' hospital might be compelled to let a Washington agency dictate his relations with his farm hands.

Again, even if the farmer should be specifically exempted from the proposed new law, that would be an assertion of congressional power to apply it to him. And a future congress not so friendly toward the farmer could easily amend the law.

It's certainly going to be an interesting future for the farmer!

THE VALUE OF FACTORIES

A group of Ohio unionists have just proposed a law to restrict or prevent "decentralization of industry," a phrase which means the moving of factories away from present industrial centers.

The unionists fear that many of the Ohio factories in which they work will move to other states and that they have to move too or find other jobs. Even more than that, it means they realize they could have no jobs and no homes without their factories.

When the attitude of this group is put alongside that of a Texas mayor the result is interesting. The mayor recently offered free land and free gas for power to factories which would locate in his town. Thus we find workers in factories seeking to keep them where they are, and a mayor interested in the welfare of his community seeking to get some factories.

In short, both the unionists and the mayor appreciate the value and importance of factories and industry. That they are important not only to communities but to the whole nation is a truism which a few short-sighted planners seem to have forgotten.

DIMINISHING RETURNS

There is ample evidence that taxation in the United States has reached the point where the law of diminishing returns is operative. The shackles of excessive taxation need to be loosened, not tightened, but the federal government and almost all state and local units continue to search for fresh means of extracting money from helpless taxpayers.

The problem is so simple that even a run-of-the-mine politician could grasp it, if he ever could be induced to direct a little attention toward it. Business thrives and enterprise is stimulated when a reasonable part of the profits can be retained by the business man. If government exactions take an unreasonably large part of the returns of individual effort, enterprise is stimulated and smothered.

KEEP THE HENS WORKING

If you are to make money on your hens, they must give you good egg production. They need a feed that supplies the nutrition required for making plenty of eggs. That's the Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash. Its liberal oatmeal content and other ingredients make it a balanced feed that helps the hen make eggs. Poultry keepers find that Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash fed the Ful-O-Pep Way—with plenty of whole oats and grain—produces more eggs at less feed cost.

FUL-O-PEP EGG MASH

keeps up body weight and holds down mortality in the laying flock for it provides the nutrition—not only to make eggs—but that which hens require to keep in sound condition.

Barrington Baseball Team Wins Season Opener Sunday; Score 6 to 4

Elgin Parkside's Are First Victims of Revamped Team

Will Play Bartlett Nine This Sunday: No Home Games
Before June 1

The Barrington Baseball team opened its 1938 season by defeating the Elgin Parkside by a score of 6 to 4 at Trout Park in Elgin Sunday afternoon. Bartlett is next Sunday's game opponent and the contest will be played there. No home games are being scheduled before June 1, William Behringer, manager, announced this week. The new baseball diamond in Northside Park is expected to be completed at that time.

At Hattman and Howard Melners were on the mound for Barrington. Hattman pitched five innings, allowed three hits, gave four passes and struck out seven. Melners struck out three, walked two men and allowed two hits during the four innings he worked. Vanderford and Funk were on the mound for the Parkside and were asked for nine base hits, including a double and triple by B. Condit and a double by Workman.

There are a number of new faces in the Barrington lineup this year, which consists of men employed in Barrington, with the exception of Helms, who resides in Palatine. Heuse, stellar first baseman for the locals, is also a Palatine product but is employed in Barrington. Some of the newcomers in the game are Chuck Elmer, who worked out at third base as did Paulson, another new man. Art Workman was sharing catching duties with Helms. J. Condit, brother of B. Condit, and B. Rieck took care of right field while E. Altonburg, B. Condit, veterans of several seasons and dangerous at the plate, were in center and left field, respectively. W. Altonburg was in at short stop and Klopferstein covered second base. Heuse handled the first base assignment.

The locals went into the lead in the third inning when two runs were scored. The game was knotted up in the last of the fourth by Elgin. Barrington picked up a singleton in the fifth and Elgin made the tally 4 to 3 by getting two in last of the seventh.

Barrington evened matters in the first of the eighth with one run and scored two more in the ninth for the final score of 6 to 4. B. Condit and E. Altonburg led the locals with two hits apiece while B. Rieck of Elgin also collected two safeties to lead his teammates. Box score:

Naperville and Geneva Winners of Classes at Palatine Relays

Naperville and Geneva emerged as winners of Classes A and B at six records fell at the sixth annual Palatine Relays held at Palatine last Saturday. Geneva, with 49 points, led the entire field of 19 schools and took the class B cup. Naperville took the class A trophy, collecting 34 points. Had not Lake Forest been disqualified for illegal cutting in during one of the distance races they would have taken the class A trophy. Before the start of the 880 relay Naperville had 31 points and the Lake Forest Scouts had 30. A win would have given the Scouts 35 points and Naperville would have finished with 34. Lake Forest's time was the best for the event but the bad break disqualified them.

As for the Bronchos none of the qualified in the morning preliminaries. The only local points scored during the meet were taken by the Frosh-Soph relay team which placed fourth in class B. The team consisted of Ray Myers, Wilbur Veath, William Long and Harold Lipofsky.

Records fell in six events during the finals in the afternoon. Folkman of Arlington set a new record of 54.4 for the 440 yard dash, bettering the old record of 54 which was held by Osborn of Barrington and Rohlfing of Argo. Zaccaro of Argo made a spectacular jump of 6 ft 2 in in the jump to down the old record of 5 ft 11 1/4 in set by Jimmy Ray of Libertyville in 1934. The other records set were in the relays.

Geneva captured the 880 class B relay in the record-breaking time of 1:38. The old record, 1:44.8 Phil DuPaul of Grant was individual point winner by collecting 11 points in his three events, the shot, discus and javelin. Friday, the Barrington thinsy clads will go to Highland Park to participate in the Lake county track meet. It is expected that they will do better there than they did at Palatine last week.
