Union Heads Again Take Skilled Labor From School Work

Four Men Removed Wednesday; 10 Ordered Off
Last Week

Chicago labor unions again this week visited Barrington and ordered members of their respective unions to leave the public school WPA project. This occurred Wednesday and three carpenters and one plasterer, all of whom are affiliated with Chicago unions, were told to go home. Exactly one week previous, on Wednesday, the same group of labor heads visited the project and at that time removed 10 skilled workers, carpenters, plasterers and painters.

Those removed last week did not return to the local job to work. However, a new group of skilled men were assigned here. This was done, Henry Thune, project supervisor, explained, due to the fact that a new work period had arrived. Skilled workers are only allowed approximately 47 hours a month of work because of their high wage scale.

A new memo was sent to the project this week and included in it were the three men possessing union cards. The other skilled laborers were allowed to remain at work.

Construction on the second floor has progressed sufficiently far so that skilled labor in a great quantity will not be used after the next few weeks. Plaster finishing remains in two rooms, the kitchen in the hall and several other rooms. A woven wire screen was placed on the roof playground last week.

The action of union officials has been viewed from different angles by observers. Some feel that the unions would like to have all WPA labor taken from their organization; others feel that the unions are trying to have only skilled union labor used, and others are of the opinion that the tactics are being used to gain high wage schedules.

Pool Opening Date Is Still Undecided

The opening date for the swimming pool in Northside park is still pending warm weather. H. H. Calkins, president of the park board, stated Wednesday night.

The pool personnel has been appointed and the place is in readiness with the exception of the pool proper, which has not been filled with water.

The guards this year have been appointed as follows: Claude Conn, captain; Arthur Castle, Clyde Church, James Marie Curnutt, examiner and instructor; Marjorie M. and Melvin Jurs.

Five hundred summer stock seedlings were planted in the park this week to furnish a perpetual supply for the eventual development of the other park property donated by Jewel Tea Co. last year. Twenty different varieties of trees and shrubs were planted and more will be added each year, it was learned.

Report Two Men Are Held in Connection With Depot Robbery

Identities Withheld by Police
Heads; Seeking Third
Member of Gang

Two men were reported taken in custody in Chicago this week and charged with the daylight robbery of the Barrington ticket office of the C. & N. W. Railroad on January 2. John C. Seymour, C. & N. W. Seymour, ticket agent, was slugged and $1590 in cash taken. Chicago police and the C. & N. W. railroad police were credited with the apprehension of the men.

Identity of the two was withheld pending further investigation and probable arrest of a third person. It was learned that the individual arrested was a minor and no officials refused to divulge the names of anyone until after that person had been completed.

Finger prints left while looting the cash box and identification by Mr. Seymour who went to Chicago to view the suspect last Friday, brought about the charge, reports stated.

The two men sought for the robbery completed the job with swiftness and daring, shortly after the 9:30 train left on the morning of January 2. One individual remained outside the ticket office while his companion went inside to gather up the money. Mr. Seymour was struck over the head when he was slow to do as instructed by the men.

They escaped in a fast car, going south from town on Hough street.

Cuba Store, Operated by Kraus Family for 49 Years, Is Sold

Cuba store, a familiar landmark in Cuba township for the past 49 years, has been sold by its owner, Mrs. Anna Kraus, to Ernest Pittz and Arnt Iverson, who will continue to conduct the grocery business, and a tavern as well. The sale of the property was reported this week.

Conrad Kraus, deceased husband of Mrs. Kraus, built the building, which stands on North West highway and Kiley road, in 1919 and became a successful business. He sold out to Charles Leder in 1931 but assumed control of the place again in 1932. Mr. Kraus died last year.

Cuba store had been the focal point of all activity in Cuba township in the early days, growing and expanding as more settlers and farmers moved into the region. The old settlers supplied the surrounding area with groceries, feed, twice, salt and many other necessities.

Because Cuba station on the C. & N. W. railroad was a milk station, the store was the meeting place of farmers each morning. During the peak period when milk was shipped by train more than 600 cans were hauled daily. Old timers today relate the many interesting events that occurred at

PUBLIC AWARENESS

Public awareness of the need for safe driving was given by the national safety council as the probable reason for the marked decline in traffic fatalities that has occurred since November, 1937. The council gives the press of the nation a large amount of credit for creating this "awareness."

Newspapers and magazines have joined whole-heartedly in the efforts of public safety agencies and organizations such as the American Legion and Parent-Teacher groups, to cut down highway slaughter. Tales of gore and horror, of mangled bodies and broken homes have confronted the potential drunk and reckless driver at every turn. Apparently these "messages from the dead" have had the desired effect. In addition to this form of "education," automobiles and highways have been made safer from an engineering standpoint, better laws have been adopted and enforcement has been more rigid.

If the present downward trend of automobile fatalities continues, those who have died in automobile accidents will not have died entirely in vain. Their sacrifice will have served toward putting an end to needless slaughter of human life on the highway. But, in the months and years to come, there must be no relenting, no let-up in the drive to make our highways safe. The automobile must be "broken," as a domesticated animal, and made to serve man—not destroy him.

BE YOUR OWN FIRE PREVENTER

Every factory is periodically inspected for fire hazards, by men fully conversant with what to look for and what to do when dangers are discovered. You can easily do the same thing for your own home—and a rigorous course of training is necessary to fit you for it.

The great bulk of home fires originate from the simplest and most obvious hazards. Here are a few of them: accumulations of old papers, clothing and other junk; improper storage of gasoline and other inflammable liquids; defects in heating plants and electrical appliances; uncleaned or faulty flues and furnaces; amateur repairs of electric cords and fuse boxes.

It takes no expert to quickly and effectively eliminate such hazards as these. Clean out the attic and give the junk to the junkman, storing what is left neatly in trunks and boxes. Keep paint, varnish and inflammable liquids in covered metal or glass containers—and store them well away from heat and fire. And if heating or other household appliances give trouble, local experts will be glad to repair them inexpensively.

Fire prevention isn't much of a job—a few minutes each week or so is sufficient to accomplish it. And that little effort may save your home from destruction—or even your family and yourself from a horrible death. Fire prevention shouldn't be regarded as a boresome task—it is a duty, which pays tremendous dividends. And never forget that it's better to prevent a fire than to stand around and hope the fire department will be able to extinguish the blaze before everything you possess is destroyed.

GET WOOL OUT OF YOUR EYES

It is generally agreed that healthy heavy industry is absolutely necessary to normal employment, normal spending, normal conditions.

One of the greatest, and ordinarily steadiest, heavy industries is light and power—and yet this industry has been one of the "poorest spenders" in recent years. Why? Put it in one word—government!

In the ten-year period ending in 1932, investors poured an average of $675,000,000 annually into the utility industry. In the four years following, investments in utilities averaged just 3.8 per cent of the ten-year normal—or $22,750,000.

Can it be a coincidence that the almost complete cessation of utility investment started in the year that witnessed the inauguration of the most vicious "utility baiting" campaign in American history?

To continue with the figures, had utility investment between 1933 and 1936, inclusive, been made at the normal level, the total for the four years would have been $2,702,000,000. The actual total invested in that time was $91,000,000. This leaves an accumulated deficit of the normal as against the actual of $26,111,000,000. That deficit is of course much greater now—the same trend obtained in 1937, for which complete statistics are not yet available.

It is estimated, by a government authority, that the industry should spend about $7,500,000,000 of new money for construction in the next five years—which would mean the creation of 1,275,000 useful jobs. What a tremendous potential source of wealth, employment, opportunity and purchasing power exists here—dammed up because of a government policy of competition and intimidation that is socially, economically and morally indefensible, unless a socialistic government is desired. It's time the people got the political wool out of their eyes—and saw the utility situation in its true perspective.

"You cannot win national stability by war. You cannot confirm democracy with hate. America plunges into Europe and Asia will not, unless experience lies, yield gains to the world or to the U. S. The one faint promise is that here in the U. S. a zone of sanity may be laid out, a bulwark for democracy in the midst of madness."—Hubert Herring.

This WEEK in WASHINGTON

By RALPH E. CHURCH
Representative, 10th Congressional District

Washington, D. C., May 25—

Nothing is more destructive politically to a party in power than to have an economic depression set in during its regime. Whatever the causes of the business decline, the public mind fixes the responsibility for it on the party in power. No explanation, however plausible or however true, will completely satisfy the people that those in control of the machinery of government are not fully responsible for the economic conditions.

That story has been recorded many times on the pages of American history. The republican party was credited with the responsibility for the economic collapse in 1929 and the ensuing depression. It was explained over and over again that the collapse was brought about by world and not purely domestic forces. Time and again it was pointed out that every nation in the world was faced with the same condition. It was repeatedly emphasized that a party in power did not have the authority in power did not have the authority in congress.

It is unnecessary to recount the great efforts thus made to convince the people that the party in power in 1929 was not responsible for the business depression. It is equally unnecessary to say that the people could not be satisfied with the explanation. The party in power was held responsible and another party was given its place in control.

Today the democratic party is in power and a business decline has set in. This being an election year it is understandable that the administration is extremely anxious that there be at least some evidence of business improvement before November. It is to that end that the so-called "pump-priming bill" is partly designed. It is more of an expedient than a basic remedy.

To what extent the party in power on this occasion will be able to absolve itself in the public mind of the responsibility for the recent decline in business remains to be seen. It may succeed. It may do.

to the best of my knowledge it will be the first time in history that "depression alibi" have ever been convincing to the people.

Even under ordinary conditions it is difficult to make a "depression alibi" very convincing. Having enjoyed six years of practically complete control of the national as well as state governments, the party in power has an especially strong case to make.

That fact in numbers of course well recognize and it seems to be causing much anxiety as they prepare for adjournment to return to their respective districts.

What form the "alibi" will take we do not yet know. Certainly the present depression cannot be credited to world conditions. In the first place, that was the "alibi" of the republican party. And it was subjected to criticism for which it was not responsible.

The explanation which I have heard most frequently in the course of the debates is that "capital is on strike," that it went on strike simply and solely to punish the administration. That this explanation has been acceptable to some there can be no doubt.

Now and then some constituent writes to express his opinion about "capital being on strike." But it is too absurd an argument to be considered by many.

I should like to know what manufacturer would close down his plant simply to punish some politician or political party for policies not to his liking. It hardly seems likely that any businessman would sacrifice all possible profits, as well as continue to pay taxes and overhead on idle property, to realize some political end. That is the explanation, that is the "1938 depression alibi."

Let it be said, for this seems to be the real explanation for the present situation: capital is not on strike but rather is prevented from working by too much government, too many taxes and too much uncertainty.

"Lessons From Nasturtium Seeds"

By RUTH ARNOLD NICKEL
"I wish Alvin could have a puppy," said the mother, and she watched her cousin's small pink-clad daughter carefully pouring milk into her pet's dish.

"Louise adores Skippy," replied Mrs. Marshall, "and her experience with him has taught her a good deal. I can see that it is developing her sense of responsibility."

"Yes, that is evident," agreed her cousin. "I think every child, and especially an only child, should have a pet, but we live in an apartment house that prohibits dogs and cats."

"Alvin is still a bit young to have the care of a pet—don't you think so?" asked Mrs. Marshall, consulting. "After all, he's only three, and no doubt in a year or two you will move out into the suburbs. Then we can have all the pets we want him to have."

"And if we don't move?" objected Alvin's mother.

"There are always canary birds and gold fish," laughed Mrs. Marshall. "And inventive mother can find a way."

As she rode home in the bus with three-year-old Alvin kneeling on the seat beside her, watching from the window, Mrs. Anderson, thought about the conversation. "I remember how I loved dogs," she said. "Alvin doesn't like dogs. But it's not only the fun—I think having to feed and take care of a dog made me more sympathetic and conscientious."

She thought a little about her cousin's remark. Gold fish had already been tried with disastrous results, for the day after their purchase the two new pets, as gladly welcomed, had been found floating limply on the surface of the aquarium.

Mrs. Anderson did not wish to repeat the experiment. A canary, too, presented problems, for frequent week-ends were spent with a relative.

"We'll have to concentrate on that suburban home," Mrs. Anderson told herself, as she helped Alvin jump from the bus. "Meanwhile, an inventive mother can find a way." I suppose." Her eyes wandered to the florist's window on the corner, attracted by the bright spring flowers.

"Pretty!" exclaimed Alvin, tugging at her hand. Together they paused and enjoyed the blossoms. With the display there were packages of seeds. A sudden thought came to Mrs. Anderson.

"I might try it," she told herself. "We have a nice sunny window." They went into the store and soon Alvin emerged, clutching the fat, brightly labeled package of nasturtium seeds.

The next night Alvin's father made a window box and filled it with garden earth. Next day round four plump seeds. Every morning thereafter the seeds had their drink until the exciting climax arrived when tiny green shoots appeared above the earth. Mrs. Anderson supervised the care of the growing plants, but they were Alvin's responsibility. When right hand made one of the mistakes he learned a lesson. He gravely accepted and remembered their need for sun and loosened earth.

When after a week-end's absence, he found his pants drooping, his relief was great upon seeing their arrival. Mrs. Anderson was successful in getting the pants dry. Alvin's relief was great upon seeing their arrival. Mrs. Anderson was successful in getting the pants dry.

Sometimes Mrs. Anderson thought the very simplicity of Alvin's garden—four seeds in a box—taught her little son more at his age than a larger one would have done. She saw endless future possibilities. There could be an Alvin's garden in every window.

In the winter, they could transform the box into a little landscape with a few small green plants, a mirror for a pond, a bridge and a path of sand or gravel. Alvin, she knew, would love it.

When the nasturtiums bloomed, Alvin experienced the wonder and joy which come to those who help to develop beauty. Young though he was, he had learned some of the lessons of life and effort. He had been led, through his parent's guidance, to accept responsibility and had seen the results of both neglect and care.

"Pretty soon we must have that suburban home," said his father.

"Alvin must have a real garden."

"And a dog," said his mother.

"He'll take good care of a pet now."

But Alvin's experience had convinced even more than that, for this early beginning was to have its influence upon all of his future responsibilities.

Community Woman's Club of Lake Zurich Plans Canning Show

The Lake Zurich Community Woman's Club is sponsoring a canning demonstration to be given by

At the close of the demonstration Mrs. Maxwell will answer questions from persons in the audience.

This demonstration is open to the public, Mrs. C. Weaver, Woman's Club president, stated. Lake Zurich merchants have donated prizes which will be awarded during the program.

In 1923 she joined the extension department of Purdue university as assistant state club leader of Indiana. At this time these clubs were in their formative years and the canning and baking clubs which are now a feature at the state fair were introduced by Mrs. Maxwell. She helped organize and instruct 4-H clubs.

At the close of the demonstration Mrs. Maxwell will answer questions from persons in the audience.

Miss Ward told county women that "a large cash outlay is not always a needed requirement."

She advised thorough study of the kitchen as improvements which the homemaker herself can make on a strict family budget. Each homemaker who attended a group clinic was asked to draw a picture of her kitchen to scale in order to see what changes could be made conveniently.

Among questions of interest to women were: What activities may conveniently be taken out of the kitchen? Where is the best place for the kitchen cabinet to be located? What is the best arrangement of the kitchen? What steps are lessened while preparing and serving a meal? Is the light of the kitchen impaired by large porches or the other equipment inconveniently placed?

men as to the procedure to follow in attempting kitchen re-arrangement.

Home visits were made to eight homes in the county, while group discussion proved of help to 12 women who are not making major changes which would require individual attention, reported Mrs. Volk.

Local Track Team Ends Season With Win Over Palatine

Take Eight Firsts in Meet
Here Friday; Score Is
78 to 49

The Barrington Bronchos finally came through with a track win by defeating the Palatine Pirates in a dual meet at Northside Park last Friday. The final score was 78 to 49. Eight individuals helped the Bronchos to pile up a substantial score. Bob McLaughlin again ran a beautiful mile, clipping more than a second off his own season's mark of 5:04.9. Bob was timed at 5:03.1 and he finished a few yards ahead of Palatine's Miller, Frisse.

First places for the Bronchos were taken by McLaughlin in the mile, Nestlerode in the century dash, Herren in the 200, Speck in the shotput, Collins in the discus, Goss in the javelin, and Wilkins in the broad jump. Saul, Wilkins, and Skinner all tied for first for the locals in the high jump. Summaries:

Week-End Contests Spoiled for Local Baseball Troupers

Rain and a cancellation spoiled plans of the Barrington baseball team for a full holiday week-end of baseball. The game at Aurora Sunday had progressed one and one-half innings when a torrential rainfall halted the contest. The score at that time was 1-0 in favor of Aurora.

Meiners hurried for Barrington during that brief span and allowed two hits, giving one walk and striking out the batter.

The game with Des Plaines for Memorial Day was cancelled by Des Plaines, making the week-end a complete flop for the local nine.

The opponent for this Sunday is the strong Kenosha outfit. Barrington will travel to that town for the game.

Ela Softball Team Defeats Locals, 8-6

The Barrington high school team lost a game to Ela by a score of 8 to 6 at Lake Zurich last Thursday. Considering that this was the first game that the team had played in interscholastic competition, they made a good showing. The battery for Barrington was Clinge and V. Wilkins and for Ela, Blau and L. Gleason.

Ela got five of their eight runs in the first inning on seven hits. Home runs were hit by Greenhank and Miller for the locals and by Blau for Ela. The game was scheduled for six innings.

Golf Team Loses

McHenry's golf squad defeated the Barrington Bronchos golfers at Barrington Hills Country club Tuesday by a score of 14 1/2 to 9. Gerry Wilkins scored the lone half point for the Bronchos. Others participating for the locals were Bill Saul, Clyde Church, Warren Jahnke and Bob Overholt. Lee Smith of McHenry was low man of the afternoon with a 77.
