

Two Committeemen Will Be Appointed for Cuba Township

Divided Into Two Precincts; Welch and LaPointe Probable Selections

Two new precinct committeemen will be added to the Cuba town political machine this month. It is probable that Joe Welch will be the republican selection and Leo LaPointe the democratic choice.

Here-to-for Cuba has operated as a single precinct; but as the result of action taken by the county board of supervisors in July, the township will be divided as follows: all the territory east of route 59 (Hough street), precinct 1; all territory west of route 59, precinct 2, with a committeeman for each precinct.

The party central committees have not yet announced appointment of the committee men to preside over the newly formed precinct but it is expected they will accept the recommendation of the former township committeemen who will become precinct committeemen in the second precinct. These men are Rudolph Berg, republican and John Trestik, democrat.

If their recommendations are accepted, the committee men will be republican party, precinct 1; Welch, precinct 2; Berg, democratic party, precinct 1, LaPointe, precinct 2, Trestik.

The division was made necessary by the increase in number of registered voters. Eight hundred is the maximum for a single precinct, but Cuba has more than that for several years.

New Municipal Code Proposed to Board of Trustees Monday

Resolution Made By J. Blanke Given to Ordinance Committee

A resolution requesting that a new municipal code book be prepared to replace the present antiquated ordinance set of the village of Barrington was presented at the meeting of the village board Monday night by Trustee John H. Blanke. The resolution was turned over to the ordinance committee for consideration following a motion made by Trustee John Carroll and seconded by Trustee John J. Daeschler.

Mr. Blanke pointed out in his resolution that the present municipal code book was compiled in 1903 and during the past 35 years additional ordinances have been kept in looseleaf form. The old laws were never revised or taken from the records. He contended that present conditions warrant the compilation of a new municipal code every 10 years.

Trustee Blanke estimated a new code book could be prepared for approximately $225, of which $275 would be for the preparing and drafting of the code and the additional $350 would be for printing costs. Two hundred and fifty copies of the code could be printed at the latter cost, he stated.

Mr. Blanke also stated in the resolution that Thomas A. Matthews, associated with the Illinois Municipal League, should be contacted with reference to drafting the new code. Mr. Matthews had made the verbal offer to do the work for $275, it was brought out.

It was pointed out that an effort had been made a few years ago to draft a new code of ordinances, but the work was abandoned due to the loss of the original copy of the village's sewer problem. Village Attorney D. B. Maloney was doing the work then.

Village trustees expressed themselves favorable to having the ordinance brought up to standard and the old measures outmoded by recent changes discarded. The ordinance committee is to bring in a recommendation.

Barrington Has Municipal Per Capita Rate of $5.44 in 1937

The July issue of the Illinois Municipal Review contains some comparative 1937 tax figures that should prove to be of interest to every taxpayer in Illinois. The entire issue of the magazine is devoted to a comparative breakdown table showing the per capita tax in every community.

Compared with other villages in Cook county, Barrington ranks fourth with a per capita municipal levy of $5.44. Wheeling, with a population of 467, has a per capita rate of $4.46, the lowest in the county. Arlington Heights ranks second and Niles third.

With a given total of 3213 persons, the per capita rate in Barrington is figured at $5.44. In brief, if each person in the village paid his or her share of the municipal levy the amount would be $5.44. The municipal levy of $19,276.55 is used to determine that amount. The total municipal rate is $4,300 and the assessed valuation is $114,057. The per capita assessed valuation, again using the census figure, is $37.69.

On the Lake county side the village of Barrington again ranks well, being seventh in the entire county. The lowest is Highwood with a total of $2.50 and a population of $530. Only $261.74 is levied by the Highwood village board. A preponderance of taverns in Highwood brings in revenue sufficient to reduce substantially any tax collections needed.

Lake Zurich, on a basis of 368 population, has a per capita rate of $10.98, while Wauconda has one of $8.99.

Two factors have been evidenced in the survey compiled by the Illinois Municipal Review that are needed to lower the per capita rate. They are: increased population and the adoption of revenue raising licenses. A gain in population would lower the per capita cost by virtue of a greater spread, while the additional income would lower the municipal levy.

Team Bolts, Hurling Man Into Blades of Hay Mower Friday

Hurled under a hay mower when his team ran away on the John J. Ward estate near Barrington, Luke Mulvaney, 20 years old, fell beneath the blades of the machine and received deep and painful lacerations on both legs and his face Friday.

Mulvaney was given treatment by a local physician and then taken to the Sherman hospital in Elgin by ambulance. According to later information, an infection had set in but his recovery is expected. The flesh of both legs was considerably torn. It was learned, by the machine blades.

Suddenly the horses started to run. Mulvaney was hurled from his seat and fell directly in the path of the hay mower. Before he could jump to his feet or roll to safety, the machine had passed over his entire body.

According to reports, the most serious lacerations were on his legs and face, although Mulvaney has other cuts over most of his entire body.

Other employees on the Ward estate, who were attracted to the scene by the runaway team succeeded in stopping the horses. They then went to Mulvaney's aid.

Names Committee For Flint Creek Dredging Project

Village President Earl Hatje Appoints Trustees to Study Proposals

Village Trustees Rudolph Berg, John H. Blanke and John J. Carroll were named by Village President Earl Hatje at a board meeting Monday to act as a special committee to make a final decision on a WPA project for dredging Flint creek and leveling the stream's banks.

A report was made to the board that Harry Van Middleworp, local surveyor, had offered to prepare the complete data, showing grade elevations, detail maps, estimated cost of excavation and estimated number of man hours to complete the job, which all could be incorporated by the trustees in the application form that is required by the government.

Discussion arose as to whether the village board should have the project extended beyond the city limits along Flint creek or merely confine itself to working within the village confines. It was pointed out that the creek was dredged last year from Jewel Park to the lagoon in Northside park, leaving only a short distance from the park to the point beyond the village treatment plant.

The committee appointed by Mr. Hatje will investigate the entire project and if sufficient work is available it is to order the preliminary detail plans started.

Mr. Hatje also appointed Trustees Carroll, Daeschler, Blanke and Berg as a committee to prepare a village exhibit at the Lions Club meeting in October. It was recommended at the meeting Monday night that the village rent one display booth.

Lions Club Buys Land for Road to Northside Park

Negotiations Made Friday; Strip Is 60 by 613 Feet on Hough

Negotiations were completed at a meeting Friday night between a committee from the Barrington Lions club and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burandt for the purchase of a piece of land, 60 feet wide by 613 feet deep on North Hough street, which will be improved by the club with a road and landscaping, and then turned over to the Barrington park board.

The project was started by the Lions club in order to give access to the swimming pool and the grounds proper in Northside park without the motorist or pedestrian being forced to travel on Northwest highway.

Acting on the committee for the Lions club were: M. H. Schreiber, chairman, A. R. Church, F. C. Fleming, and H. R. Brintlinger. The purchase price aggregated $1000. It was reported Mr. and Mrs. Burandt are joint owners of the property, which they purchased from the Boyer family some time ago. They are residing at present in the Boyer home.

The section to be improved is the north 60 feet of the Boyer property and extends west to join up with the parking lot in Northside park.

Forty feet of the acquisition is to be used as a two-lane roadway with cement curbing and a strip of shrubbery down the center to separate traffic. On the south side a cement sidewalk is to be constructed and also a steel fence. The whole piece is to be improved with trees and shrubs according to present plans, and white limestone or gravel will be placed on the roads. It is also proposed that the roads be made dust proof.

In addition to the purchase price, it is estimated that the Lions club will have to expend an additional $2500 before the project is completed according to plans.

It is stated that if the project is approved, it will then be turned over to the park board for its supervision. The new road will offer a more convenient and safer entrance to the park, particularly the necessity of motorists driving on to buy Northwest highway and then off again. The cement sidewalk will also make it easier for pedestrians to reach the park, particularly children, many of whom make a short cut across the E. J. & E. railroad tracks at an unprotected point at present.

"The Rage of Paris" With New Star, Is Week-End Feature

Freddie Bartholomew Coming Wednesday and Thursday in "Kidnapped"

George Raft and Sylvia Sydney are currently seen together in the same studio's "You and Me," a dramatic romance of a girl on parole who's forbidden to marry, coming to the Catlow theatre Saturday for one day only.

In "You and Me," the dramatic story is the same type as the one that brought them joint praise several seasons ago. Raft and Miss Sydney, ex-convicts trying to go straight, fall in love and are faced with threat of a parole rule which forbids the girl to marry on penalty of being returned to prison to serve the balance on her prison sentence.

Statisticians estimate that all classes of Americans begin talking about film stars 15 minutes after the start of any conversation. So the time seems ripe to give them the right way to say, "Danielle Darrieux," the name of the French star who makes her American film debut in "The Rage of Paris," coming to the Catlow Sunday and Monday.

The first name gives little trouble in most cases, though some call it "Daniely." The simplest way to say it is in two sections—"Den-yell." The second name has been called anything from "Dalry" to "Darius." The simplest pronunciation is again in two sections—"Dar-yuh," with the stress on the "yuh." One says the "yuh" as in the native Americanism, "Where d'yuh think yuh're going?"

Joe E. Brown appears as a crook-catching soda jerk in his newest comedy, "Wide Open Places," coming on Tuesday to the Catlow theatre. Those in his supporting cast include Fred Allen, Alton Slickworth, Jane Wyman, Alan Baxter, Berton Churchill, Barbara Pepper, Sidney Toler and Joseph Dowling.

Double featured with "Wide Open Places," is Smith Ballew in "Paninini's Bad Man," with Evelyn Daw, Noah Berry Sr., and Stanley Fields.

All good things come in threes and C. Aubrey Smith in the production of Robert Louis Stephenson's "Kidnapped," makes his third important role with Freddie Bartholomew. The dourly British gentleman who endeared himself to the millions in his characterization of the old grinch in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," made another hit with Freddie in "Lloyds of London." Now C. Aubrey has an important role in support of Warner Baxter and Freddie in the stirring story of love and adventure, coming to the Catlow Wednesday and Thursday.

$240,000 Bond Issue for Lake County Sanitarium

Bids on a $240,000 bond issue for the construction of the Lake county tuberculosis sanitarium will be received by the finance committee of the board of supervisors up to 10 a. m. Friday, Aug. 5. It was announced last week. The bonds are to extend over an eight-year period and will bear an interest rate of 3 per cent. Reverts from the bond issue, which will be sold at the regular board meeting, August 9, will be combined with the $193,091 PWA allotment granted Lake county. The hospital and other buildings of the tuberculosis sanitarium will cost $427,200.

McHenry County Is Faced With Flood Damage Costs

The McHenry county board of supervisors will meet August 9 in an effort to reach some method of financing to pay for the many bridges in the county that were swept away by flood waters last month. The problem has occupied the supervisors for the past weeks and no solution has been reached. The estimated cost of replacing the dozen bridges was placed at more than $100,000. A federal grant and a bond issue are the two suggestions most favorably received, but the board is reluctant to begin a spending program without knowing where the tax money will come from.

Shady Hill Cottage Hit By Runaway Auto Saturday

SHADY HILL.—The Meese cottage in Shady Hill subdivision was damaged late Saturday night when the car owned by Bud McNulty, 1517 Cortland avenue, Chicago, rolled down a hill and crashed into the dwelling.

The accident occurred when friends of Arthur Bolton were driving to Barrington to meet him. They had just driven away when the McNulty car, which had been parked directly behind the other machine, began its journey. The runaway vehicle went down the hill and crossed over a vacant lot before hitting the Meese cottage near the rear door. Considerable damage was done to the cottage.

Though the car suffered only a damaged fender and headlight, it is believed the McNulty machine had been parked against the car ahead and when that pulled away, it was then able to start down the hill.

Zoning Board Makes Field Trip; to Hold Open Hearings Soon

Members of the Lake county zoning commission made a field tour inspection Wednesday and will now announce public hearings to be held in each of the townships, according to Lloyd Graham of Barrington, member of the commission. The platting of Lake county outside of incorporated municipalities has been completed in preparation for a permanent zoning ordinance.

At the public hearings complaints and suggestions will be considered at each of the hearings held in the 18 county townships before the zoning ordinance is submitted to the board of supervisors for final approval. It was reported by Mr. Graham.

Acting on the zoning commission with Mr. Graham are Chairman John J. Hogan, Ray Dixon, David Van Patten, James Anderson, Thomas Wyles and Harold J. Talbot.

A tentative zoning schedule for the county has been established. It includes two residential zones, two zones for industrial building and one each for farming areas and business stores.

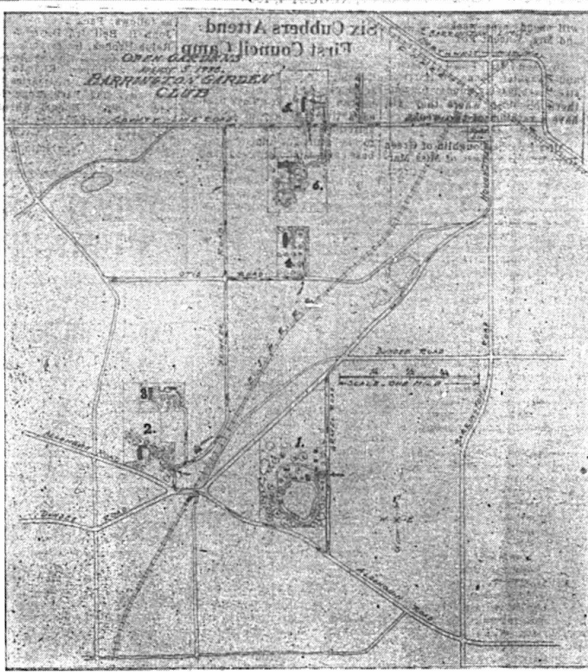

Mapping and platting, which were authorized by the board of supervisors on an appropriation of $2,000, were completed by the zoning commission with the assistance of R. M. Lobdell, county superintendent of highways.

The interim zoning ordinance which is now in effect and the permanent ordinance to be submitted to the board are to keep undesirable and unsightly business and industrial enterprises from the main highways.

Report Life Restored to Baby Whose Heart Had Stopped Beating

Life was restored to a six months old baby which had been dead for more than an hour, according to a report from the Wheeling hospital where the miracle was said to have been performed Sunday evening.

The child was Robert Didier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Didier, 1600 Albion avenue, Chicago. They had left their summer home at Diamond Lake in their car and had driven about 5 miles when the machine struck a bump throwing the child off the back seat. The infant was unconscious and apparently not breathing, as a result of a bump or suffocation in the blankets in which he was wrapped.

They drove to a Wheeling drug store where they tried to locate a doctor. L. B. Anderson, real estate man, and Bruno Schultz, a druggist, directed them to the Wheeling hospital. Dr. E. L. Larson, founder of the hospital, applied his stethoscope but could detect no heart beat. It was reported. After attempting artificial respiration, without results, he injected adrenalin into the baby's heart muscle. Two hours later the parents were returning home with the baby crying for a feeding.

Start Construction on Animal Hospital

Work was started Tuesday on the construction of an animal hospital to be located at S. Northwest highway near the Grimm Service station. Dr. A. G. Gieske, 312 Grove avenue, veterinarian, is the owner of the place, which will house his small animal work. George Eiters is general contractor and Calkins Brothers are doing the excavating. Estimated cost is placed at $50,000.

It is to be of frame construction one story high with white stucco exterior. The dimensions are 30 by 60 feet. The hospital will contain x-ray, examination and hospital rooms, contagious wards, kennels, reception rooms and office, and an exercising runs. Caring for dogs will be the main project.

Dr. Gieske stated he would continue with his larger animal work while Dr. Wayne Binn, who is associated with him, will be in charge of the smaller animal work at the hospital. He stated expanding business conditions and the fact that no animal hospital is nearby warranted the construction of the building.

will be found on page 7 in this issue of The Review.

The amount of the tax levy for the village of Barrington is $10,855. The ordinance was adopted by the board of trustees following a motion made by Trustee John J. Carroll and seconded by Trustee John J. Daeschler. It is lower than the figure for last year.

The tax levy ordinance approved by the park board commissioners had a total of $3,160, which is slightly higher than a year ago.

Bank Building at Palatine Sold to Local Postmaster

William Kehe Jr., Palatine postmaster, and several associates purchased the First National bank of Palatine building at an auction sale of the remaining assets last Friday. The purchase price was $9,900. It was reported that Mr. Kehe made the purchase to protect Palatine business property by preventing the sale of the building to anyone for some detrimental to the district.

The sale must be confirmed by the bank receiver and the comptroller of currency before it becomes final.

Several lots went unsold because of high accumulation of taxes. A greenhouse property was purchased by an association of Rogers Park bidders for $600.

Take Car; Owner Gets Bills for Gas

Tracing the license number, the attendant went to the owner for his money. Mr. Witt received notice Wednesday that his car had been located.

WHAT IS DISHONESTY?

Scandal mongers will in all likelihood be disappointed in the coming investigation of the Tennessee Valley authority. As Garet Garrett recently pointed out in an article in the Saturday Evening Post, "There is no black bag." Nobody has stolen vast sums of money.

The dishonesty involved in the TVA controversy is of a far more serious nature than simple embezzlement or theft of money. It involves the very integrity of government itself.

For example, the preamble to the act itself, creating the Tennessee Valley authority, dedicates TVA to the job of developing agriculture, flood control, redeeming marginal lands, providing for the national defense and other patently constitutional undertakings. But, to quote Mr. Garrett: "Not a word about electric power in the preamble. Yet one-third of the entire text is devoted to the development and sale of power." Is this honesty in government?

Ever since its inception, the Tennessee Valley authority has pursued policies of out-right destruction in all dealings with private electric utilities. It has built tax-free, publicly subsidized, competing facilities and negotiates with the private utilities in the Tennessee Valley only on a forced sale basis. That is, if the private companies refuse to sell out at an arbitrary price, TVA, backed by the fist of government, promises to drive them out of business and wreck the investments of hundreds of thousands of stockholders, meanwhile carefully shying away from condemnation proceedings that would result in a fair and impartial settlement in court. Is this not sharp practice?

Most important of all, TVA is an insidious wedge that is introducing socialism in the United States unbeknown to the average voter. And this alone represents neither honesty nor decency in public life.

THE CONSUMER'S FOOD DOLLAR

Hector Lazo, vice president of the Cooperative Food Distributors of America, recently proposed a "national platform" for food distributors of all kinds. Some of his points deserve notice.

He proposed immediate cessation of agitation for all discriminatory tax laws, all legislative price-fixing laws, and all laws which attempt to freeze the channels of distribution and to lessen or eliminate competition. On behalf of his organization, he opposed "any law, regulation or governmental activity that will drive any legitimate competitors out of business, or will attempt to set prices by legislative fiat." And in conclusion, he said: "We reaffirm our belief that law can only guarantee a man equality to do for himself what others can do if they match him in brains, efficiency and hard work. Beyond that any law that attempts to do more must be arbitrary and, as such, is against the ultimate good."

That is a sound American doctrine. Under a free competitive system, any merchant gets the business he earns by his energy, ability and standards of price and service. The consumer buys wherever he pleases. He can join a cooperative, or he can patronize his neighborhood chain or independent store. And every one of these distributing agencies is continually working to better its service and prices in order to attract trade. The result of that is an honest break for all concerned—and a better deal for the consumer.

Today the consumer's food dollar will purchase 28 per cent more than in 1929. Fair, open competition has been the determining factor that brought that about. Limit retailing with artificial restrictions, destroy competition, his distributors will raise taxes—and then watch the cost of living soar.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

In spite of tradition, of direct hints from the president and of the off-year political season, one question of growing interest persists. The question is: Does President Roosevelt intend two years from now to seek a third nomination from his party that will enable him to try for another four years in office?

This question is proving far from academic. The third term idea is found to be reaching high up in the democratic party ranks. Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan said: "We may have to draft the president for four more years of leadership." Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, announced his support for a third term. Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, approved the idea. Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, said that she had pointedly asked Mr. Roosevelt if he was going to run again and the president's only response was to continue looking out of the window.

A group of Colorado miners presented the president with a petition urging that he seek four more years in office, and they went unrebuked. Senator Barkley, democratic floor leader, told a Kentucky audience: "If I could see Mr. Roosevelt into the white house in 1932 and 1936 and I might be the keyholder in 1940." Senator Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, said: "I expect him to try for a third term. I do not expect him to succeed." But there are other signs, as well, suggesting an opposite result.

Mr. Roosevelt has publicly expressed his desire to step out of office to make way for a successor who will carry on his policies. Emili Ludwig, the president's biographer, said that President Roosevelt told him that a younger man should take up the burden at the end of his term. Mr. Roosevelt is building a new home on his Hyde Park estate designed for the writing that he reportedly intends to do once this term is over.

This still leaves the question: Is there anything conclusive in the available evidence that can serve as a clue to the president's intention? An answer to that question can be had from those whose business it is to appraise political values. There is coming to be a definite measure of agreement among these men on one point. It is this: President Roosevelt would be ready to step aside in 1940 if he could be assured that control of the democratic party machinery would rest in the hands of new deal sympathizers. If that assurance is not had, or if it appears that the conservative element within the party is to name the next nominee and to regain control of the party, then there is every chance that the president would go after the nomination himself.

The struggle that the third term issue epitomizes, these political appraisers say, is concerned with control of the machinery of one of the two major political parties and with the viewpoint of the man who is to represent that party. This struggle is coming into the open now, and is creating such widespread interest in the third term issue two years before the next convention, because the 1938 primary elections will play a part in determining who is to control the individual state delegations to the 1940 party convention.

This country's organized lawyers are found now to be edging toward the side of attack over an issue that is scheduled to grow in importance and attention in the period ahead.

The issue grows out of the functions of the growing number of administrative agencies that administer federal laws. These agencies are clothed with broad executive power, as well as with power to determine facts and to interpret evidence.

Among their number are the SEC, the AAA, the FTC, the Bituminous Coal commission and others. As government has become more complex, congress has taken to delegating wide authority to these independent agencies, of which there now are scores.

The American Bar association, in convention, went on record on July 28 as opposed to what it regarded as usurpation of judicial functions by the independent agencies of government. James R. Gordon, son of President Garfield, in presenting the report of the committee on administrative law, said:

"Too often the man in office assumes an automatic state of mind. He takes the attitude that he is on the inside and that he can make far-reaching determinations, in advance, of what ought to be done. These executive bodies in a number of instances have seemed to be clothed with executive, legislative and judicial authority. If that is true, it means that we are starting on a complete change in our form of government."

Actually, this issue came into the open last spring when the supreme court threw out orders issued by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, under the Packers and Stockyards act. The court found that the secretary had not followed procedure in accord with judicial tradition. In writing the opinion of the court, the Chief Justice said:

"If these multiplying agencies deemed to be necessary in our complex society are to serve the purposes for which they are created and endowed with vast powers, they must accredit themselves by acting in accordance with the cherished judicial tradition embodying the basic concepts of fair play."

The Bar association in the report of its committee, which was accepted by the convention, found many tendencies in the procedure and attitude of government administrative agencies that seemed to the committee members to deviate from this standard. It emphasized a "tendency to decide without a hearing, or without hearing one of the parties. This tendency may be observed even when statute requires a hearing." The committee report also emphasized a "tendency to make decisions on the basis of pre-formed opinions and prejudices." But government officials insist that there is another side to the story.

They say that independent governmental agencies necessarily are clothed with broad power because congress is unable to function in the complex fields now regulated by the government. For that reason on congress delegates legislative and judicial, as well as executive power to these agencies.

In exercising that power, administrative officers insist, the standards to be followed can be fair without being as involved and long-drawn-out as those of the courts. Henry Wallace has expressed the opinion that the executive arm of the government must be alert to what he thinks may be an attempt by lawyers to establish procedures that will nullify the effectiveness of government.

THE POCKETBOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

Valentine Day Dates to Martyr of Third Century
Valentine day is an observance which seems to be connected with the first signs of spring rather than with the careers or character of any of the several Saints Valentine, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Happening to occur near the date of the Roman festival of the third century, it has been appropriated by the name for a pre-Christian custom in England and Scotland. The observance of the date is said to have been introduced by the monks of the Benedictine order, who, in the year 1000, brought the custom to America. It is said that the first Valentine was a priest of Rome who was imprisoned because he assisted in persecuted Christians. He was said to have restored the sight of the jailer's blind daughter by the power of his prayers. He was executed on February 14, 270.

Barrington Baseball Team Defeated in Its Home Debut Sunday

Commit 8 Errors to Allow Kenosha Easy Win Sunday

Will Travel Sunday to Play Maple Grove; Game Here Again Shortly

Suffering an attack of the "itters" in its home debut of the season, the Barrington Baseball team was trounced Sunday by the Kenosha Brass Workers, A. F. of L. team, in the first contest here this season. The final score was 7 to 1.

Errors were on the mound for Barrington and pitched the entire route. During his afternoon's labors he was knocked for seven hits, gave up three passes and struck out five men. Eight errors were committed behind him and only two earned runs were scored by Kenosha.

Glen Turner turned in a pitching masterpiece for the opponents when he held the locals to three hits, allowing one walk and striking out five.

Kenosha opened the scoring in the first inning and pushed a marker across the plate on a hit and dropped fly ball. Things were rather quiet until the fifth frame when Barrington got its only run to tie the score temporarily. B. Condliff lead off with a single and was out when Klopstein was safe on belder's choice. McCarthy, local's third sacker, came through with a triple to send Klopstein home with the first and last local run of the game.

Kenosha bounced right back in their half of the sixth and scored two runs to put them into front again. This was done largely through the assistance of Barrington, two errors being made while Eiters was picked for one hit. The opponents proved they could score unassisted by Barrington and in the eighth inning pushed over two runs on two and two walks. Two more markers in the ninth ended the scoring for Kenosha with a final score of 7 to 1.

B. Condliff got two of Barrington's hits and McCarthy collected the other while Geyer was the hitter for Kenosha, getting two singles and driving in two runs. Next Sunday Barrington will travel again and this time will meet Maple Grove. On the following Sunday another home game will be played here, William Behringer, manager of Kenosha, said. An opponent has not been selected.

Defies Law of Gravity in Brick-Dropping Spat

It is generally conceded that Isaac Newton first discovered the law of gravity when he was hit on the head by a falling apple but it remained for Clem Sanders, colored, 51 years old, of Waukegan, to further extend the scientific world by "dropping" a brick parallel with the ground. However, it would probably be better to state that the brick eventually collided with the vulnerable head of Scott Ricks, also colored, of Waukegan. Sanders explained in court last week that he and Ricks were just "sparring" around in the street when arrested, and that he didn't pitch a brick at Ricks's head merely "just dropping" it at him. Sanders' contribution to society was not singularly impressive and he was fined $15 and costs on charges of being drunk and fighting.

Match Von Schacht and King Kong at Grayslake Friday

Friedrich Von Schacht, 6 foot 6 inches, 145-pound, and heavy weight wrestling champion of Germany, and King Kong, famous bearded Abyssinian wild-man, will come to grips Friday night, Aug. 5, in the main event of an all-star professional wrestling card at Peg's open-air Grayslake arena.

King Kong 2 weeks ago met Jim McMillen in a return match at Grayslake following a riot a week before. In their second meeting, which developed into one of the wildest affairs ever seen in these parts, the going was so even that at the end of the hour time limit the referee declared the bout a draw. Last week Von Schacht made his Lake county debut and disposed of George Masoor so smoothly that fans everywhere requested he be sent against King Kong with the winner to meet McMillen.

Glen Turner of Friday's program may steal the show, Ralph "Ruffy" Silverstein, Illinois state pro champion and generally recognized as the uncrowned champion of the world, will get his first big time test at Grayslake. He will try to tame rough and tough Rudy Kay, a product of the Chicago gashouse district. Last week Rudy Kay went to an hour draw with the great Fred Grubmeyer who was especially sent in from the east to tame Rudy, and now as a last resort promoters have enlisted the services of Ruffy Silverstein to try to do what Grubmeyer failed.

Bobby Burns, long a favorite with local wrestling fans, returns from the eastern states after more than a year's absence to wrestle Ralph Garibaldi, popular Italian wrestling wizard, in one of the preliminary goes. In the other preliminary El Sayre, Waukegan's best to wrestling honors, battles with Jack Conley, the "Danton Sluggo." Sayre has won his first two starts and he should get some stiff competition from Conley.

Rain Threatens; Youths Give Up Sitting Contest

The tree sitting contest of two Elgin youths was halted Sunday evening when threatening rain clouds drove them from their perch in a tree where they had remained for 82 hours to set an unofficial endurance record for Elgin. The boys, Frank Reuter, 14 years old, and Ross Williams, 15, started the contest last Thursday along with another companion in a tree in front of Reuter's home. A third boy came down from the tree before the following day when he remembered he had to go to work. Coats, made of blankets and ropes, were improvised and the sitters tied themselves to the trees each night to prevent their falling to the ground while they slept. They could give no reason for starting the endurance contest, which was similar to many kinds of stunts indulged in several years ago.

Operates Heights Barber Shop for Fifty Years

Frank White of Arlington Heights has operated his own barber shop in that community for 50 years, having come there July 19, 1888. In all Mr. White, who is 77 years old, has been in the barbering business for 87 years, and is still actively engaged at his present location. During the years of service in Arlington Heights he has seen many changes made and his shop has long been regarded as a "political listening post" in municipal affairs.

Hudson's Bay Company Ruled

For nearly 200 years the Hudson's Bay company ruled huge portions of Canada. Wherever it established a trading post it had the right to govern, says the Washington Post. Company men trapped and hunted for some furs, bartered with savage Indians for furs. They lived in isolated fort-like posts, often saw other white men only twice a year. They had to be fighters. Disgraced Indians, competing traders frequently attacked their posts.

Kidnappers Take $11 and Auto From Man; Toss Him in Field

John Keating, 45 years old, of 1102 Dorchester avenue, Chicago, was robbed of $11 and tossed into a cornfield near here early Sunday morning by two men who escaped in his automobile.

Keating told chief of Police E. W. Baude that when he arrived at his home at 11:30 Saturday night he was met by two men, one of them armed with a revolver. They ordered him into his automobile and drove to Ohio St. While parked behind a building, they tied Keating's hands and placed him in the rear seat of the car.

They rode about the city for several hours and later started into the country. About 4 a. m. they reached the vicinity of Barrington. Stopping the car, they tied Keating's feet and then dumped him in a ditch.

He managed to free himself and walked to the home of Dairy and Chief Baude was notified. A call was made to the Lake county sheriff's office, which sent out a radio bulletin. Keating was unable to identify the place where he was left.

He described the two men as being about 30 years of age and of medium height and build. The car has not been recovered according to last reports.

An inquest was called for this morning, Thursday, in Elgin.
