

Final Registration Day in Lake County Is Tuesday, Nov. 1

New High for Off-Year
Election

Tuesday, Nov. 1, is the last day in which residents of Cook, Elia and other Lake County townships may register in order to be eligible to vote at the November 8 election. Particular emphasis has been laid this year on the necessity of Cuba township voters seeing that their names are in the proper place in the new polling books of the two precincts, which were created last summer.

The books have been at the polling places, Standard Motor garage for precinct one, and at Lageschulte Electric shop for precinct 2, since October 17. Residents may examine them to be certain that they are registered. A general registration day will be held Tuesday with election officials present. The poll books in Elia township are at Elia town hall.

Registration figures compiled after the closing of the lists in Cook county October 11, revealed that a new high had been reached for an off-year election. There are 1,715,553 registered voters in Chicago and 314,459 in the remainder of Cook county, a total of 2,030,012.

Following are the registration figures of nearby townships:

Barrington	1,612
Chicago	1,715,553
Elk Grove	1,553
Evansville	32,961
Hanover	977
Maline	11,497

Election interest has not reached its highest peak here, although only two weeks remain before voters will go to the polls.

The Barrington Township Republican club has been holding weekly meetings with county and district candidates present and the Cuba Township Republican club will hold its last general meeting Tuesday evening.

A combined democratic rally is being planned by the democratic organizations of Elia, and Wauconda townships, to be held at St. Peter Evangelical church parish hall in Lake Zurich Friday evening, Nov. 4. County candidates will be present and a state speaker is slated to appear, according to J. J. Treastik and Leo LaPointe, local precinct committeemen assisting in arranging the event.

The Democratic club of Barrington township held a public dance at Catlow hall Saturday evening. State Senator Baumacker and other county and district leaders were present.

At present it is among the 146 paintings selected from all over the United States for the American Artists Exhibit now in progress at the Art Institute in Chicago. Just 45 from the exhibit will be sent on circuit exhibition, the letter stated.

Mrs. Granger has another painting, "Vegetable Garden," now on exhibit in the east. It had been a part of the Chicago Artists Exhibit last spring.

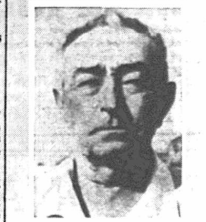

Work Is Started on New Park Entrance

ton. Lions have established a fund of $100 for park improvement work. This may be tied up in an application for a WPA grant of $1,000, the balance of $100 for improvement.

Forty-three years of service on three railroads will be completed Monday, Oct. 31, when John S. Griesheimer, 148 Hager avenue, will retire from duty as watchman of the Elia and Elia railroad crossing on West Main street.

JOHN GRIESHEIMER

Born at Chillicothe, O. on September 1, 1875, he first began working at the car repairing and inspecting shop of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois at Danville, Ill. in 1891. After 11 years there he left and in 1902 he began working for the C. & N. W. Ry. first in the car repairing shop and later as brakeman.

Mr. Griesheimer started working for the E. J. & E. railroad at Waukegan in 1911. After 11 years spent with the yard's switching crew at Waukegan, he was forced to give up that work when he became ill with rheumatism. He and his family moved to Barrington in 1922 where he began his present duties.

He and Mrs. Griesheimer, the former Stella Robinson, whom he married at Danville, on June 22, 1898, are planning a trip to California during the latter part of the winter.

They have four children: Mrs. Katherine Robinson and Mrs. Mary Stewart of Barrington, Mrs. Ruth Johnson of Kenosha, Wis., and Harry Griesheimer of California.

Evangelist Series Well Attended

The special evangelistic meetings under the leadership of Evangelist Dr. Harry W. Vom Bruch, opened at the Salem Evangelistic church Sunday morning. About 300 were present to hear Dr. Vom Bruch's first sermon. In a practical and forceful manner, Mr. Vom Bruch stated that three things are necessary before there can be a successful revival. There must be an audience, people must attend and with regularity. There must be pledges, and there must be prayers, and prayers that are followed up by action. He is assisted by Mrs. Vom Bruch and Jimmie Davis, pianist, tenor soloist and trumpeter. The Salem church is also assisting in the services.

A well-filled church was present again in the evening at the 7:30 hour to hear the evangelist. The evening sermon was of special interest and helpfulness to the youth of our present day.

Services will be held at the Salem church each evening but Monday until Sunday evening, Nov. 6. Mr. Vom Bruch will also preach on the two Sunday mornings, Oct. 30 and Nov. 6. Some of the favorite subjects upon which he will preach are: "Why Pray When You Can Worry," "Danger Signals," "Where Do We Go From Here?," "The Forgotten Men," "Redeeming the Time," "Deifying Wives," "Jesus' favorite sermon."

Shoot Two Animals Owned By John Orloski After Raid Monday

Raids on the Jewel Tea Co., Inc. sheep flock are believed to have been halted with the disposal of two dogs owned by John Orloski.

134-Kainer avenue, which were caught in the act of killing sheep Monday. One dog, of the German police breed, was shot on the premises after Fred Fleming had seen the attackers as they were chasing the sheep, several of which were wounded.

The other dog was fired upon and wounded. It escaped to the home of its owner where it was traced down by Mr. Fleming. Mrs. Orloski admitted ownership of both dogs and the wounded one was turned over to Chief of Police E. W. Baader, who disposed of it Tuesday.

Both dogs were thought to have been responsible for the killing of nearly 100 sheep and the wounding of a large number. Heretofore their attacks had been made at night and only once were they ever seen by guards at the plant.

Apparently they headed straight for the sheep pasture near the Jewel Tea plant Monday morning when they were released from home.

The flock is still being guarded in the belief that possibly other dogs may have been responsible for some of the killings.

Car Crashes Into Plagge Greenhouse Sunday; Man Hurt

Miss Roberta Agnew Loses
Control of Auto After Rounding Curve

An automobile driven by Miss Roberta Agnew, 149 Bellwood avenue, Bellwood, got out of control after rounding the curve on the Northwest highway Sunday morning and crashed into the Plagge greenhouse, causing several hundred dollars worth of damage to the structure as well as wrecking the automobile. William Armstrong, 5830 Madison street, Chicago, a passenger in the Agnew car, suffered a fractured pelvis and was removed to the Sherman hospital in Elgin.

Others with Miss Agnew, who was driving the car owned by her father, R. E. Agnew, were Miss Beatrice Reits, 308 Bellwood avenue, Bellwood, and William Collins of Chicago.

It is believed that Miss Agnew was traveling at a high rate of speed when she rounded the curve on the highway going north, and that the high winds Sunday were also a factor in her losing control of the machine, which climbed the bank and after rolling over several times, hit the greenhouse. A hot bed box was struck and damaged. The machine crashed into the greenhouse with sufficient force to become embedded through the top of the structure where it hung.

With the exception of Mr. Armstrong, the occupants of the car were not seriously injured, but only shock and minor bruises and cuts.

Firemen Make Plans for Amateur Contest

The Barrington fire department is launching a cash prize amateur contest which promises to be the first of the year for Barrington and the surrounding territory. This contest, which will be held at the high school gymnasium November 4 and 5, is different from other contests in that the cash prize will be awarded to the contestants taking part in this amateur show.

William A. Weaver is dramatic director of the Barrington fire department amateur show and has conducted many previous shows. She not only was the director at radio station WLS (community service department) but likewise at station KTBS at Shreveport, La. Miss Weaver was formerly associated with Redpath and Loar theatres, and also Lyceum circuits.

Contestants were reported to be coming from a distance of 30 to 35 miles from Barrington to participate in the show. Townships which are said to be present are as follows: Barrington, Dundee, Carpenterville, Cary, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling, Highland Park, Wilmette, Roseville, Bensenville, Addison, Lombard, Crystal Lake, McHenry, Woodstock, Bellwood, Glenview, Elmhurst, Villa Park, Des Plaines, Prairie View and West Chicago.

There will be many kind of musical instruments, singers and dancers, according to Mrs. Weaver. Chief Victor Riecke of the fire department called a special meeting Monday night at the village hall to give out advance sale tickets to members of the department and to discuss with O. Thomas Ferree, amateur show promotion manager, arrangements to add to the success of the event. Chief Riecke and the department expressed satisfaction with the general promotion work done to date.

Tryouts and interviews are to be held next Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1, at the Legion hall from 7 to 9 p. m., where Miss Weaver will assemble these amateur artists for presentation at show time.

"Hold That Co-Ed" Coming to Catlow Sunday, Monday

"Marie Antoinette" to Begin Run Tonight; "Sing You
Sinners" Billed

Director W. R. Van Dyke II gave the order that set two new records in the history of motion pictures. He requested 5500 men and women and 10,000 18th century weapons—all to be used in one scene of "Marie Antoinette," which is being shown at the Catlow theatre beginning Thursday for three days.

The scene depicts the long-oppressed mob of frustrated peasants walking from Paris to Versailles to storm the palace and take prisoner the king, queen and others of the ranking royalty.

There is to be a midnite Halloween show Saturday, starting at 12 p. m., and the feature is to be "The Lady in the Morgue," Crime club mystery thriller, during the filming of which Director Otis Garrett and the entire cast visited the Los Angeles morgue, to rehearse certain sections of their roles.

The transformation of Joan Davis from a football innocent who "couldn't even punt a peanut across a flower bed" to a champion drop-kicker surprised none on the 20th Century-Fox lot more than the ace comedienne herself.

When Joan was assigned the role of a female fallback in the new 20th Century-Fox picture, "Hold That Co-Ed," opening at the Catlow Sunday, Director G. Marshall found she had never been nearer the gridiron than a date with a quarterback.

Vividly disclosing how a fearless prosecutor works with a determined grand jury to break the stranglehold that a ruthless band of racketeers have on a great city, "Smashing the Rackets," is said to be one of the most significant pictures of the year. Chester Morris, Frances Mercer, Rita Harrison and Bruce Cabot are cast in the top roles, and it comes to the Catlow Tuesday.

Double featured with "Smashing the Rackets," is "The Renegade Ranger," starring George O'Brien, with Rita Hayworth, Tim Holt and Ray Whitley.

For the first time in his long and colorful motion picture career, Bing Crosby fails to "get the girl" in his new comedy, "Sing You Sinners," which will open at the Catlow Wednesday for a three-day engagement. Instead, this is done by romantic Fred MacMurray, who will be seen as Bing's brother in this story of family life.

Bing, who has so often been the romantic lead, now plays a happy-go-lucky and amiable ne'er-do-well who steps aside to let his brother marry his boyhood sweetheart. The girl concerned is played by Ellen Drew, Hollywood's newest star discovery.

T. Druggan Named in Divorce Action

Terry Druggan, resident of Elia township, was sued for divorce this week in a bill filed by Mrs. Grace Druggan, whom he married secretly on Oct. 16, 1934. Cruelty is charged in the bill and she asks custody of their son Terry Jr., 21 months old.

According to reports, the man stated he had been at home all day except for going to church in the morning and visiting the wreck in

T. Druggan Named in Divorce Action

Terry Druggan, resident of Elia township, was sued for divorce this week in a bill filed by Mrs. Grace Druggan, whom he married secretly on Oct. 16, 1934. Cruelty is charged in the bill and she asks custody of their son Terry Jr., 21 months old.

According to reports, the man stated he had been at home all day except for going to church in the morning and visiting the wreck in the early evening after he had heard the McHenry fire whistle blow. The train was enroute from Lake Geneva to Chicago, and carried about 60 passengers, about 20 of whom received injuries of minor degree when the engine and tender left the tracks, derailling several coaches. A small fire broke out at the front vestibule of the first coach but was quickly extinguished by the McHenry fire department.

Crew members found that an open switch had been locked in that position at the point of the accident and railroad detectives and county authorities were notified immediately. They are of the opinion that the wreck was deliberately planned.

News Briefs

Suit Is Started Over School Girl's Injuries

Suit for $22,500 for injuries and medical expenses of Marion Hughes, 16-year-old Warren township high school student, who was in an auto-truck collision last March 18, was started Thursday in the Lake county circuit court by Robert Hughes, the girl's father, of Gages Lake, against Zion Industries Inc. and Jerome Raymond of Elgin. Miss Hughes was on her way to school with Irving Krumery, 18, of Grayslake, in his automobile when the crash occurred on route 63 near Belvidere street. Raymond was driving a Zion Industries truck. The complaint asks $20,000 for Miss Hughes and $2500 for her father for hospitalization and medical bills.

Fox Lake Man Falls From Row Boat, Drowns in Bay

Henry Morgenstern, 36, who was employed on the property of Mrs. Emma Howard at Minocqua Bay, Fox Lake, lost his life when he fell from a row boat alongside the pier of the Howard property and was drowned Tuesday. He had been working at removing a bog that had grown alongside the pier when the accident occurred. While attempting to reach the bog with his hands, he apparently lost his balance and fell into the water. It was necessary to conduct a search for two days before his body was recovered.

Petition for Village Charter at Lily Lake

McHenry County Judge Henry L. Cowlin last week approved a petition presented by residents of Lily Lake asking that a special election be held to determine if the community should be incorporated as a village. A special election will be held November 8, according to the ruling Judge Cowlin handed down on the petition. The petition set forth that more than 200 persons resided in the area known as Lily Lake and they desired to incorporate in order to install needed improvements.

Palatine Folks Awaiting Cornerstone Box Opening

Residents of Palatine are mustering their curiosity for a few weeks as work progresses on the tearing down of the old Batterman block building, a landmark in that community for many years. When the first floor level is reached the cornerstone is to be removed and the block placed there 44 years ago, will be opened and its contents brought to light. Considerable sentiment is attached to the wrecking of the old building, which stands in the center of the business district, for it was the hub of all social activities in the community for many years. Possessing lodge rooms, a community hall and fine dance floor, most organizations used it for their headquarters.

Itasca Merchants Find Solution to Halloween

Itasca merchants who had heretofore been beset with the usual problem of cleaning up and removing articles from their premises any other objects left there by Halloween pranksters, have reached a solution to the problem that might well be adopted all over. For the last several years prizes have been offered to the children who draw the best pictures on the store windows—but the artist must use soap and must also pledge not to indulge in any other activities on Halloween. Introduced by Postmaster George J. Pfaff, the idea has worked very satisfactorily with a minimum of after-Halloween fuss, merchants reported.

Voters Reject Park Proposal at Grove

Fox River Grove's park district proposal, for which a special election was called October 15, was rejected by a 150 to 76 vote of residents of the village. Although 125 persons had signed a petition calling for a vote on the proposal but 76 of the 285 ballots indicated support of the park project. There were 29 spoiled ballots.

PRESERVE OUR STATE BANKING SYSTEM

By Ratifying CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

VOTE YES NOV. 8

The State Constitution is the People's Law. They establish it by direct vote and only they can change it. When a provision ceases to serve the public interests it should be changed.

Illinois banking laws are out of date. The National Banking Act and the Banking Acts of our neighbor States have been revised to meet new conditions. Our banking laws must be brought up to date.

The proposed Constitutional Amendment will remove the double liability of stockholders of our State Banks. It has been removed from National Bank stock and from State Bank stock in 39 states.

The proposed Constitutional Amendment will remove the requirement of referendum on banking legislation and enable our General Assembly to modernize our State Banking Act promptly.

Remember the Amendment must receive a majority of all votes cast in order to ratify it.

Ever since the first international show in 1906, the exposition has opened on the first Saturday after Thanksgiving, a calendar position that has made it both the close and climax of the continent's agricultural fair season.

Since a majority of the herds and flocks that are exhibited at the Chicago exposition have been prize winners at county and state fairs and sectional expositions, held earlier in the year throughout this country and Canada, the International Live Stock show has long stood as a court of last resort, where winning animals are accorded the highest honor that the show ring can bestow.

The exposition will be held in the new international amphitheatre at the east entrance to the Chicago stock yards. The building covers six acres of exhibit area and was built to meet the special needs of the show after which it is named.

"The only way," Elward stated, "in which we can eliminate the blights on the economic life of our nation, is by recognizing their existence and taking strong progressive measures to remedy and eradicate them. There is no question," Elward continued, "that housing conditions of many of our people are below standard and I believe it must be one of the prime objectives of our government, together with private capital, wherever possible, to better housing conditions and eliminate the slum areas. But the housing problem," he continued, "goes further than this. Many of the homes of our people are not up to 1938 standards and modernization and improvements in existing homes must be also one of the prime objectives of government and private capital."

Discussing the farm question, Elward stated that the government must see that the farmer and agricultural interest of the country receive a fair and reasonable return for their work, for the prosperity of the agricultural sections of our country is an absolutely necessary bulwark to the general prosperity of all our people.

Kelsey Hits Sales Tax in Address at Belvidere Meeting

The 5 per cent sales tax has lowered the amount of property tax paid by the average working person, about seven and one-half to eight dollars a year, Harold D. Kelsey, candidate for the state legislature, told republicans at a meeting in Belvidere Wednesday night. At the same time, he added, it has taxed him directly on his purchases about $40 per year.

Kelsey was one of several candidates who spoke at Woodstock and later at Belvidere Wednesday night. Both meetings were well attended. Most of the state ticket of republicans were present including Dick Lyons, candidate for United States senator.

He attacked the federal administration's plan of farm relief. He said the A.A.A. had encouraged the farmers to plow under corn and cotton and kill off hogs and cattle to get rid of their surplus. But the country did not get rid of the surplus because of heavier importations of hogs, corn, cattle and other products due to a lowering of the tariff.

Six hundred times more pounds of pork was imported in 1932 than in 1932; five hundred times more corn was shipped in; eleven hundred times more butter and 300 times more cheese. Foreign farmers profited from the policy at the expense of the American farmers, who lost out. American business and workers also were penalized because of the loss of the farmers' buying power, he said.

The Barrington man declared that when Roosevelt took office in 1933 eight million men were on relief. In 1934 ten and one-half million were on relief, and in 1935 12 million are on relief.

Nehmer, the alternate, was taken to the American Royal building where he entered a livestock holders' contest.

By noon the official duties of those making the trip were completed and they had the remaining time for use as they saw fit until the banquet, at which time the results were to be announced.

Tuesday was devoted to attending the P. P. A. convention, which was held in the Kansas City municipal auditorium, built at a cost of more than four and one-half million dollars and having a seating capacity of 15,000 persons. The building proved of interest to the Els, boys due to its many modern features. Indirect lighting is used in the structure. A clear view is obtainable from any part of the auditorium, no uprisings barring the spectators' view, they reported.

Tuesday was also National P. P. A. day and a large parade, with several thousand boys participating, was held. After the parade, the boys were guests of the American Royal at the horse show. The airport, the power and light building—with television demonstration—the Swift and company packing plant, a part of the residential district were visited during the day Wednesday. That evening was the big event of the week, the P. P. A. banquet. Over 1000 boys were present, music was furnished by the Solomon, Kan. P. P. A. orchestra, and the national awards were presented.

autocratic dictatorships," Mrs. Hough said. "My hope is that my children, and my grandchildren will be able to work and earn independent livings as my husband, his father, his grandfather and his great grandfather did."

STRAIGHT THINKING ABOUT RAILROADS

It's time the people did some straight thinking about the railroads.

It is apparent that there are but two long-term solutions to the so-called transportation problem, regardless of temporary palliatives. One is to permit the lines a rate structure that will be sufficient to meet expenses and return at least part of the "reasonable return" of 5 1/2 per cent stipulated by the Transportation act—a return which the industry has not been able to earn in a single year since the war.

The other is to permit matters to drag on as at present, with more lines going bankrupt, until government, with resulting tax subsidization of the industry, remains as the only way our principal medium of transportation can be kept going.

What would the first solution entail? It would mean a modest increase in freight rates that would average but a few cents per family annually. No industry would suffer serious harm. To the contrary, all industry would be benefited by increased railroad spending and employment. New rolling stock would be purchased, service would be extended and improved in many instances, and the industry as a whole would stride ahead with confidence and aggressiveness.

What would the second solution entail? It would mean that the government would have to spend billions of public funds to purchase the railroads and pyramid the national debt to still dizzier heights. It would mean annually heavier taxes to meet deficits. It would mean poor service, if past precedent is any arbiter—don't forget the sad experience the country had with government operation during the war. It would mean that the country's largest industry would be politically owned, politically managed and politically dominated—and would probably become the most menacing patronage machine in the nation.

Dispassionate surveys have shown that the people are overwhelmingly opposed to government ownership of railroads. But that opposition won't be enough to stop it—if the lines aren't given a living wage, which is all they ask for. No other business in the world, large or small, is expected to operate year after year and spend more money than the law allows it to charge for its product. That is the heart of the railroad problem.

BUY WISELY

"Buy the things you want and can afford to have." That is the thought expressed in an editorial printed recently in the Mansfield, Ohio News-Journal.

"There's too much inactive money," the editorial says. "There has been postponement of buying clothes, furniture, floor covering, draperies, electrical conveniences of various kinds—as well as numberless other large and small items."

"Construction of new homes, or remodeling of old ones, has been put off...."

"Out-dated automobiles have been continued in use by motorists who can well afford a new car."

"All of these things have contributed to the general slowdown of industry and business—thus encouraging the reign of fear that has engulfed so much of the nation...."

"Money is of no earthly good—except for use!"

"Earn, spend, save," is a formula under which individual and national progress is assured."

The man who spends less than his means would normally dictate, is as much of a burden on the country as the man who continually spends more than he can afford. This country possesses an almost limitless market for commodities of all kinds. We need more homes, more cars, more roads, more farm and factory machinery, more clothing, more labor-saving devices in home and industry. It is purchases of things such as these that make new jobs, new purchasing power, higher national income, and greater opportunity for both capital and labor.

Spend wisely and frugally. Keep your budget balanced. Don't get yourself in the hole. But always remember that sound spending is vital to the maintenance of our standard of living, to the advancement of recovery, and to the ultimate attainment of prosperity.

MURDER BY MOTOR CAR

Murder by motor car is on the decline, according to the national safety council. Traffic accident fatalities for the past nine months have registered a steady decline. This decline has taken place in the face of a slight increase in mileage figures.

All of which seems to indicate that the speed crazed mass of 40,000,000 drivers, known as the motoring public, is slowly awakening to a new found responsibility—safe driving. Possibly the average driver is discovering that the modern high speed automobile can be a vehicle of horrible death as well as of comfort and convenience. If so, a great stride is being made toward the day when once again the family car can be trusted out for a week-end holiday with reasonable assurance that all will return intact.

Sooner or later the motoring public will have to get the fact through its head that the present slaughter on highways is criminally needless. As was recently pointed out by the New York Times, "It will have to learn that murder by motor car—although it may not lead to the chair—is still murder and that it is the part of good morals, good sportsmanship and good citizenship to drive and walk safely."

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

A glimpse of what President Roosevelt had in mind when he asked congress to delegate to him a authority to modernize and streamline the federal government now is provided by the department of agriculture.

Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, using authority given to him from time to time by congress, is turning his vast department upside down, reshuffling its organization along functional lines that long have been used by the biggest modern corporations.

The object is to enable the national government to regulate and to control and to plan for the largest single American industry—one with six million individual producing units—without the delays and inefficiency of much governmental operation.

This reorganization is coming at a time when farmers in many regions are raising cries over the functioning of the new agricultural adjustment program.

Once completed, the streamlining of the department of agriculture will leave the national government equipped with a piece of coordinated machinery that can be brought quickly to bear on any of the problems that farmers convince congress the government should try to solve.

Responsible for the successful operation of this machinery is the secretary of agriculture.

Under the secretary, first of all, is to be a reorganized bureau of agricultural economics. This bureau will be charged with overall planning for the agricultural industry. It now possesses a fact-gathering and fact-interpreting machinery that covers the earth. Its connections run to every college of agriculture and to every county in the land through the agricultural extension service. The BAE in the past has had a few tie-ups with the remainder of the farm programs and many of its officials have been unfriendly to those programs.

All of that is changed with the appointment of Howard R. Tolley, until now the AAA administrator, to take charge of the reorganized bureau.

The agricultural adjustment administration, with its crop control programs, now becomes just one of four divisions to carry out the plans as worked out by the bureau of agricultural economics. The AAA will continue to handle the $700,000,000 in subsidies used to control production of major crops. It deals directly with nearly 4,000,000 farmers in an effort to solve a big part of the problem of price and farm income.

A second of the four divisions is to be that of marketing. This, like the AAA, is highly important. Here are to be administered the marketing agreements in milk and fruit and vegetables.

The country's new wheat dumping program is to be executed by this division. So, too, is its large and growing program of buying farm surpluses and distributing those surpluses to the unemployed. In this division will lie the regulation of commodity exchanges and of the nation's stockyards.

Then there is a third big division that will devote its attention to land use. This division will retire sub-marginal land from cultivation. It will endeavor to rehabilitate desolate farms and will be responsible for administering the law under which the government is making farm owners out of farm tenants.

The fourth division is that of research. Here a vast field of operations is carried on. Research now is to be broadened with the creation of four regional laboratories to develop new uses for farm products.

In this set-up, the department of agriculture seeks to end the overlapping of functions, the antagonism, much of the red tape and some of the slowness of a huge bureaucracy that has characterized the old-type organization of government departments that, like Topley, have just "grown."

Soon the country can look at one departmental reorganization and see whether it wants congress to approve others.

Reviewing The Children

By LYDIA LION ROBERTS

A mother may sometimes do more toward helping her children's development in a quiet hour of herself than in many hours of talking to them. In order to help a child to build his character into something fine and enduring, much of an adult's time and patience is required, as well as the intelligent cooperation of the child himself. To attain and keep a complete, well-rounded personality it is necessary to secure proper growth. And if one is benefited at the cost of either of the others, the result will be less satisfying. The child must grow physically, mentally and spiritually in order to become a vital, capable and serene human being, able not only to adapt himself to the various requirements of the world, but to give from his own personality an influence that will benefit the lives of those he contacts.

During the continuous activities of a mother's day, she attends to the hundred and one needs and desires of her children, but because she is so close to these boys and girls she does not always get a proper perspective of their characters. She needs to go apart by herself and review them one by one so that she may better see where she may help them attain fuller, richer growth. Bringing the child vividly to her mind, thinking over his words and actions of the past week, the preceding months, she will gradually become better acquainted with him. In this quiet hour she may dwell on those things that have been most pleasing and rejoice in them; she may ponder just why or how the child did not quite measure up to her expectations in other ways. Was the fault in the child's character or in the adult's misunderstanding? Are there manifestations that should be encouraged and manners that need attention? How does the child appear to other people? The mother should try to think of her child dispassionately, as if the boy or girl belonged to someone else.

Physically, the child should be

Return From East

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Dotterer, 549 Division street, returned home Thursday following a week's visit to Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., where they visited Dorothy and Bill Dotterer. Mr. Dotterer attended the International Milk Dealers association convention at Cleveland during their trip and left Tuesday for Kansas City, Mo., to attend a convention of the American Public Health association.

erect, bright-eyed, full of the glow of vigor of youth, fearless, strong and happy. In what way may the mother and father help the child to attain this ideal of gradual, persistent progress to wholesome maturity? Are there gymnastics, physical culture exercises, radio broadcasts that will help to develop a stronger, a more harmoniously-working body? Is the thinking of the child and the family strictly directed toward building up a body that functions as it should, that can stand strain and is well poised and properly balanced, ready to respond instantly to any reasonable demand upon it?

Mentally, every boy or girl may develop along different lines, but clear thinking, and an eagerness to be continually learning are important. Every day will bring new problems and activities, the need for judgment and new decisions. The young mind should be alive with ideas and enthusiasm to experiment, to discover different routes and methods, to forge ahead undaunted by difficulties. Is the child a little slow, needing extra time to grasp a subject? Does the parent know exactly what the school expects and requires of its pupils? Does Mother understand how best to aid in this child's mental growth? On what occasions will be benefit by praise? Can she find just the inspiration needed to turn a task into a delight, to point the way to greater endeavors and finer achievements? Does the child concentrate well, grasp ideas readily, does he know how to express himself in some form of art, music or crafts? Older people can help children in mental growth if first they have a clear picture of mental needs.
