

Trustees Suggest Abolishing Rural Fire Truck Plan

Warm Discussion Takes Place
at Council Meeting
Monday Night

Abolishment of the rural fire department system was suggested at a meeting of village trustees and a committee from the village fire department Monday. The discussion of financial difficulties grew quite heated with neither group reaching a permanent understanding. Victor Riecke, chief of the department, Herman Kuhlman, treasurer, and Walter Severns, secretary, represented the firemen. The suggestion to abolish the rural system was made by trustees, who claimed that the acquisition of the apparatus to fight rural fires had been a financial burden on the village. The fire committee contended that the village benefited from a second truck here for local fires to a greater extent than the cost.

The meeting had been called to discuss payment of a $156 premium on insurance to cover the fire department members in case of accident while fighting fires in the rural areas. The firemen are covered by the compensation act while working in the village, but contended they needed protection outside as well. The additional insurance also would give greater benefits to a fireman if he were hurt in the village. Trustees were asked to pay all or part of the premium, which they have done in the past. It was proposed by the committee that the village also contribute $200 to a $600 fund for new equipment. The remainder of the money, they said, would come equally from the rural association and from the department, which has a balance as a result of the benefit show run recently.

The department was criticized for entering into verbal and written agreements with individuals residing in the country which placed the village in liability in case of an accident. The opinion of liability was made by D. H. Maloney, village attorney, who recommended that the department change its set-up immediately.

Village President Earl Hatwood and other members of the board suggested that the village purchase the rural fire truck and equipment, on which a loan of $500 is still outstanding, and maintain it here for the village's use only.

The proposal was made, they stated, in the belief that the village is carrying too great a financial burden for the benefits derived while the rural subscribers are getting inexpensive protection. Members of the board are to meet with the fire department again Monday night.

The meeting finished on more amiable terms than were noticed in the beginning.

Overcoats Can Be Sold
Even in Warm Weather

O' Man Winter is way behind schedule this year much to the annoyance of coal dealers, clothing merchants and others whose business volume depends on seasonal weather.

Overcoats and top coats have been a drag on the market, some of the merchants report; but Mrs. Fred Cady, who is not a merchant, sold a lady's winter coat—never worn—advertised once for sale in the Barrington Review of Nov. 10, and by 4 p. m. of that day, some one else owned the coat and she had the money for it.

Hold Services for William C. Koss, Train Crash Victim

C.N.W. Hough Street Crossing is Scene of Fatality
Saturday Morning

Funeral services for William Charles Koss, of 557 N. Hough street, who was instantly killed when his car was struck by a C. & N. W. train at the Hough street crossing early Saturday morning, were held at the late residence and the Salem Evangelical church Monday afternoon. Rev. W. A. Stauff officiated and burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Koss, who was a cattle buyer, and also section of the Salem church, had gone to the church early Saturday morning to fix the fence. Returning home his car was struck by the southbound train due here at 5:48 a. m.

The car was totally demolished by the impact, parts being strewn over the right-of-way and as far as the Main street crossing. Mr. Koss was dead when trainmen and Night Patrolman William Behrens reached his body.

At an inquest conducted Saturday afternoon at the Standard Motor garage by Dr. John L. Taylor, Lake county coroner, T. M. Faragher, 2321 Summers avenue, Madison, Wis., engineer of the locomotive that struck Koss's car, testified he first saw the automobile being driven by approximately 100 feet from the crossing. The train was within the same distance, he estimated.

Mr. Faragher stated there was not sufficient time to sound a warning whistle before the collision occurred. The train was halted very quickly, the last car of the 10-coach section being just beyond the Main street crossing. P. M. O'Leary, 546 E. Gorman street, Madison, Wis., fireman on the train, also testified. The crossing warning signal bells were in operation, it was learned.

Mr. Koss' death at the crossing is the first since John Schultze of Lake Zurich was fatally injured in February of 1937. Mr. Koss was born in Barrington on May 25, 1884, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Koss. Except for several intervals when he was living elsewhere, he had spent his entire life in this community. Buying and selling cattle had been his profession.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mabel Kampert whom he married on June 24, 1923; his mother, Mrs. Caroline Koss of Elgin, three children, William A. Koss of Barrington township and Miss Helen Koss of Elgin by a former marriage, and David Koss of Barrington; three brothers, Fred J. and Harry F. Koss of Elgin and Charles Koss of Milwaukee, Wis., and a sister, Mrs. Andrew H. Jorgensen of Elgin.

Village Engineers "Neglect" to Send Stop Light Plan Out

After believing for several weeks that the plans and specifications for the proposed installation of stop and go lights at the intersection of Hough street and North-west highway had been sent to Springfield for final approval, A. C. Burandt, village clerk, learned Monday that the plans were resting in the offices of Consor, Townsend and Quinlan, village engineers, where they had been for some time.

W. A. Fritz, engineer assigned to prepare the data for the project, informed Mr. Burandt that the plans had received approval at the district office of the state highway department at Elgin, but he had been of the opinion the village was in no hurry for the job and had neglected to send the details to Springfield. He was instructed by Mr. Burandt to do so immediately.

Final approval by the state department at Springfield is necessary because the proposed improvement would be paid for through the gas tax fund allocated to the village.

Approval for an application for construction of lights at the intersection, a matter that had been worked on for past several years, was received the first week in September. With the exception of drafting the plans and specifications, little has been done during the three month period. If inclement weather sets in, it is doubtful if the work can be completed before next spring.

Only Getting Oiled Up

What was reported as a stolen car case later turned out to be a false alarm Wednesday morning following an investigation made by W. E. Wade, chief of police. Mrs. Frederick Hodgson of Barrington township had reported her car as missing from its parking place on Park avenue earlier in the morning.

Upon investigation, Chief Wade found the car had been taken by Martin Jurs Jr., manager of the Deer Park Oil station, for oiling following an investigation made by W. E. Wade, chief of police. Mrs. Frederick Hodgson of Barrington township had reported her car as missing from its parking place on Park avenue earlier in the morning.

Deer Grove Forest Preserve Is Ideal Spot for Winter Sports

Residents of Barrington and the community have available one of the best and most adequate winter recreation spots in northern Illinois with the completion last week of a large toboggan slide in Deer Grove forest preserve. The structure was completed by a crew of WPA workers under the supervision of Wallace Henderson of Barrington.

Situated on the northwest side of the lake in the preserve, the slide is 35 feet above ground. The length of the wooden slide is 60 feet and from the end there is a downhill run of 450 feet before reaching the lake. By using the lake, a long fast run can be made by toboggans. The slide will be put in readiness as soon as snow comes, Mr. Henderson said. The downhill run has been sodded and fitted to serve as a track. The slide replaces the ski jump that was removed because it proved too dangerous.

In addition to tobogganing, ice skating can be done there easily. Several shelter houses, one within 50 feet of the toboggan slide and another on the opposite side of the lake afford skaters a place to is plenty of "down" timber available throughout the preserve for firewood.

The rolling ground contour of the preserve also affords skiers and children with sleds an opportunity to enjoy themselves. Considerable work has been done in the Deer Grove preserve in the past two years to make it a better recreation spot. Most of the major roads are covered with asphalt parking lots have been improved and bridges built. The depth of the lake was raised 14 inches this past summer by Mr. Henderson.

It might be added in conclusion but should, by no means, be regarded as an invitation to hunters to try their skill that five deer are running wild in the preserve. Three bucks and two does have escaped from the herd of 30 deer that were kept in the wire pens. It is believed the five animals leaped the high wire fence seeking to escape from dogs.

Asks Compensation for Alleged Sewer Damage to Building

C. Lipofsky Presents Petition for Redress to Village
Board Monday

A petition for redress seeking compensation for damages alleged to have been caused to property at 122 1/2 E. Main street due to storm and sanitary sewer lines, was presented to the village board Monday night by A. C. Burandt, village clerk who had received the petition earlier in the day from Conrad Lipofsky, representing his mother Mrs. Ella Lipofsky, owner of the building named.

The petition was presented to recover damages said to have been done by storm and sewerage system on the property. At present there are two sewer lines under the building, one sanitary line along the west side laid many years ago and a tile under the east end, which was found when the sewer work was done several years ago and which was placed into service.

Workers are now completing a new tile that will replace the tile under the east end. The new pipe line is being laid on railroad property and does not touch the Lipofsky land. The work was started last week on the recommendation of John H. Blake, chairman of the sewer committee, in order to preclude any future discussion on the question of sewer damage, it was learned. The presentation of the petition came as a surprise to members of the board.

The petition asks $50 for counsel fees, $45 for lumber, pipes and other materials, $15 for tarped screen doors and screens and an undetermined amount for furnace repairs, sidewalk damage, paint and brick.

In addition to the above the petition also sets forth the following requests:

"Petitioner requests stipulations with proper adequate security by and between petitioner and duly authorized village authorities whereby a mutual agreement will interdicted upon the following terms:

"(a) petitioner will agree to pay only the designated lawful water bill assessments, but not to pay any other or future assessments to be liable for sewerage taxes due and to become due. This

Deer Becoming Traffic Problem for Motorists

Deer are getting to be quite a traffic problem in northeastern Illinois with their seeming penchant for traveling on the highways. Two weeks ago Ernest Spaulding Jr. of Huntley killed a buck deer with his automobile on a county road near Gilberts. And over the weekend near Aurora, three youths, Richard James, Elmer Hutchinson and Bob Christian, all of Aurora, struck a deer as it bounded across the highway and into the path of their car. The animal suffered a broken leg and had to be destroyed by Harry Keeley, Aurora game warden.

Asks Compensation for Sewer Damages

request is made due to the poor conditions of the storm system and to the fact that the petitioner has many times been forced to make repairs and further, in view of the fact that this faulty system is greatly damaging the petitioner's property.

"2. WHEREAS, a written stipulation by and between the parties to the agreement hereto, the village of Barrington shall remove from under the within mentioned premises, a sewerage system, which for many years has caused and has threatened to cause grave damage to petitioner's property and to make any necessary repairs so as to put the property in the same condition prior to the installation of said detrimental sewerage system. The village shall also be responsible for any and all damages as a result of such faulty system.

3. Your petitioner gives notice to the village board that it is now trespassing under petitioner's property by virtue of the fact that certain necessary pipes, pipe lines and equipment have been placed under the petitioner's property without authority of any due holder of title.

"Your petitioner will further agree not to harass nor to sue the village of Barrington if the above stipulations are agreed upon and that also, if the sum of two thousand dollars ($200.00) per year is paid as easement rent for the pipes of the sewerage and storm system which now lie underneath petitioner's property."

The question of easement was brought up at the board meeting Monday night and it was the opinion of some members that easements had been obtained for the earlier sewers. Doubt was expressed as to whether they could be located now.

Unless the petition was acted on, legal action would be started by Mr. Lipofsky, it was learned. Members of the board are to meet with him this week.

Sets Aside Sale of Crystal Lake C. C.

The disposition of the Crystal Lake Country club property again entered the McHenry county courts when a partition suit was filed by Rineheimer Brothers Manufacturing Co. of Chicago against John Daehler, individually and as receiver of it of the club.

This action came after a hearing on a motion to vacate the mortgage sale of the club to A. H. Henderson Jr. of Crystal Lake for $25,000 was allowed by Judge William L. Pierce.

The club was sold to Henderson two months ago and a down payment of $15,000 was made. Attorney Fred Bennett, who as special master in chancery conducted the sale, testified in court that the sale was not completed and Attorney Theodore L. Hamer, representing Henderson, presented a motion asking that the sale be set aside and the down payment be refunded.

The country club property, once appraised at one million dollars, was sold following the foreclosure of a $400,000 mortgage held by numerous bondholders.

ABUNDANCE OF DEPRESSION!

Speaking on the importance of normal consumption of basic products, W. M. Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific railroad, expresses the following common sense ideas that show there is no dividing line between the interests of production, distribution, transportation and employment.

The business depression of the past eight or nine years has focused national attention on the railroads and their problems. It has placed them in the position of parading their troubles before the world and of continually complaining of regulation, taxes and wages, while trying to meet the other fellow's problems as well as their own.

They have given faster service, later departures, earlier arrivals, modernized equipment, smoother handling—any one or all of which may easily be factors of far more importance than a fractional reduction in rate, in the solution of shipper's difficulties.

Distribution costs have grown tremendously in many lines of business. This may be traced to the merchandising or selling methods of the producer, or to federal or state legislation, or to competitive conditions.

"The grading of agricultural products, the packaging of merchandise for sale, the cleaning of your windshield or putting air in your tires when you buy gasoline—all of these and many other services have added to the cost of distribution. I have no quarrel with any of them. They are praiseworthy and successful methods of merchandising. But railroad freight rates and charges have not increased, and today revenue per ton mile is only a fraction of what was 20 years ago," said Mr. Jeffers.

"This problem of distribution concerns us all. There is need for proper government regulation in connection with distribution, but not for government control. Control can only result in putting the government in business, the establishment of federal competition with private enterprise.

"We live in a land of plenty—of surpluses in many commodities. And still we have millions who are underfed, poorly housed, ill clothed. What a paradox!

"Hundreds of millions have been expended for relief in various forms, and other hundreds of millions to control surpluses through reducing production.

"Why not expend these hundreds of millions in distributing America's products to the far corners of our land—thus enlarging consumption, production, payrolls, reducing relief and finally restoring private industry to the position of absorbing unemployment.

"The interests of producers, shippers, railroads and labor, are identical. Only one thing will increase traffic and that is greater consumption, which in turn means greater production. You cannot ship more grain, or potatoes, or anything else, if you decrease production or choke consumption. Only by narrowing distribution costs through volume distribution and consumption is it possible to utilize increased production. And only by working together unselfishly with a mutual appreciation of fair play can that be brought about."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK PROMISING

News from the business front is almost uniformly good. Typical comment came recently from Alfred B. Sloan, head of General Motors, who said, "I feel encouraged for the first time in many years that American business and industry are headed for a long uphill pull."

For about ten successive weeks, the business indicators have shown steady advances. This is largely due to major improvement shown by the automobile industry, whose new models are now coming on the market. In one late week, car output jumped 50 per cent. Monthly shipment rate, it is expected, will soon be at the 250,000 point.

Construction figures continue to be another bright spot in the picture, with both residential and non-residential building far above the levels of last year. Still more substantial increases in all kinds of building, including public works, are anticipated for this winter and spring.

Retail trade, which hung behind industrial production during most of the summer months, is on the rise now, with Christmas prospects in most parts of the country good.

It is an interesting fact that the wage-hour law came into effect without causing much of a ripple in business. One reason is that most large businesses are unaffected by the law's minimums, inasmuch as they have long exceeded them. Another is that most business men believe that moderate reforms of this nature are inevitable and desirable.

RELIEF PROBLEM MENACE

"Oldsters have taken the stage for themselves while youths who must ultimately support them continue to attend the school of idleness," said Dr. Marvin S. Schafer of College of Puget Sound. "If we do not solve the present relief riddle we shall say good-bye to both capitalism and democracy."

"No one but a malefactor is ever afraid of a government of laws. Everyone is afraid of a government of men, and with reason. It is the honest, industrious, and well-disposed who have the greatest reason to be afraid of it, for they are the most acutely conscious of their helplessness. Despoiled of initiative, they become apathetic, demoralized, pursued by a nagging sense of outrage and indignity, and the general consequence is an incurable progressive debility in every department of life."—Albert Jay Nock.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

The federal government, in 12 years, is paying more than eight and one-half billion dollars in the form of aid to American farmers. Half of that total is being paid in the final four of those 12 years.

This parade of farm subsidies got underway importantly after 1925. It is continuing with the promise by members of congress and by the secretary of agriculture of even larger subsidies in the future.

Proposed new subsidies include expenditures to dump more surplus farm products on foreign markets and among the under-privileged at home, as well as expenditures to add directly to farmer income. The demand for government help to farmers goes back to the early 1920's when the collapse of the war boom, the gradual displacement of the horse by the automobile, and the appearance of new low-cost competition from Canada, Argentina, Australia, and Brazil cut into farm markets and income.

At first farmers asked congress to levy a tax on cotton and wheat, the revenue from which would be used to dump the surplus in foreign markets thereby encouraging higher prices in the protected market at home. Congress twice approved, but twice the white house disapproved.

Then came 1929 and the farm board. In the 1929 fiscal year, aids to agriculture had cost the federal government little more than 65 million dollars. The farm board then set out to peg the price of corn and of wheat by buying in the open market. By 1932 the government was paying more than 400 million dollars in aid to agriculture.

The farm board period produced a billion dollars in farm subsidies of one kind and another.

There followed a fiscal year of retrenchment between July, 1932, and July, 1933, when aids to farmers were cut to little more than a third of their 1932 size.

Appearance of the first agricultural adjustment act and the rise of farm demands then touched off a new subsidy period. In the 1935 fiscal year farm aids for the first time passed one billion dollars. Over the next year, from 1933 through 1936 three aids amounted to more than three billion dollars. Taxes levied on the processing of farm commodities produced revenue to pay for about one-third of this total.

The supreme court ended this period when it upset the first AAA. A second AAA followed immediately, with subsidies almost as large as ever. This time there was no tax to provide revenue for the AAA subsidies. Other aids were added as well. The result is that in the present fiscal year—the 1939 year—more than a billion and a quarter dollars will be distributed in aids to agriculture.

In this second AAA period total subsidies for agriculture are to pass four and one quarter billion dollars.

Many types of federal government aid go to make up the yearly total of outlays to help American farmers.

In the present year, the biggest single payment of one-half billion dollars is made to individual farmers who use their land in the way the AAA directs. This is a conservation subsidy. The next largest payment is made to farmers who cooperate with the conservation program and this payment is made to offset the loss of income from low prices.

The government helps to pay the interest on mortgage loans made to farmers; it uses its funds to make price-stabilizing loans; it buys large amounts of surplus farm products for distribution to people on relief; it makes loans to farm tenants who want to become farm owners; it makes grants of cash to farmers who otherwise would be forced to accept relief.

It makes loans for rural electrification; it pays storage charges on wheat stored for crop insurance and it operates a vast department of agriculture that performs a great number of services for farmers.

With all of these aids, however, American farmers remain dissatisfied.

This dissatisfaction leads to suggestions for two types of new subsidy proposals.

One proposal with strong farm support calls for outright fixing of prices in farm products consumed at home with surplus products to be dumped abroad. Through price fixing by government the farmer subsidy would come directly from consumers.

Government officials do not favor price fixing and, instead, suggest a proposal for larger cash subsidies to farmers who cooperate in controlling production. The increased cash would come from new processing taxes. Then, in addition, these officials suggest that surplus farm products be dumped among the low income groups at home instead of abroad.

Last Year's Lettermen Form Nucleus of Broncho and Pony Teams

The Barrington high school basketball squads, after three weeks of strenuous practice, will meet two Crystal Lake teams here Saturday night. Athletic Director P. E. Clark, is coaching the heavyweight squad, and is being assisted by Herbert Bricker. T. C. Hordford is handling the lightweight squad.

The squads were cut this week to the number of players that will be carried during the regular season. At the end of the 1932-33 season the Bronchos had a record of two wins and eight losses to finish 12th in the conference heavyweight standing while the Ponies lost seven while winning three and finished ninth.

Ela High Cagers, Conference Champs, Seek Another Title

Three Veterans are Main Stay of Coach Wesner's Blue and Whites

The Ela high school cagers are seeking their second successive conference title this year and in preparation have devoted considerable time at practice, although handicapped by the fact the home floor is being repaired, and the squads are forced to work out at the St. Peter Evangelical church parish hall in Lake Zurich.

So far Ela has had practice contests with Hebron, which they lost, and with Watonska, which they won by a score of 41 to 33.

H. L. Wesner, coach, has three veterans of last year's squad as the nucleus of this season's team. They are: Schroeder, captain, and forward, H. Gleason, forward, and Glen Knigge, guard. Anderson at center and Nehmer at guard comprise the starting line-up for the heavyweight team. Reserves consist of the following: Kane, center, Peterson, forward, Stelling, guard, Grever, guard, Weber, forward.

Following is the list of players on the lightweight squad being coached by Melvin Elide: Don Knigge, R. Gleason, D. Weber, J. Harkness, Froelich, E. Gleason, R. Anderson, Schmeltzer, Quintana.

The first conference game for the Ela cagers will be December 2 with Palatine. It is expected the gymnasium will be ready for home games by the middle of December.

Following is the season's schedule:

Dec. 2, Palatine, there.

Dec. 9, Bensenville, there.

Dec. 15, McHenry, here.

Dec. 16, Wauconda, there.

Dec. 21, Warren, there.

Feb. 3, Wauconda, here.

Feb. 7, Northbrook, here.

Feb. 10, Barrington, there.

Feb. 17, Grant, here.

Salem and Baptist quintets will take the floor at 7:45 p. m., Monday night, to open the local church league basketball season. Methodist and St. Paul are to clash in the wind-up tilt of the opening card.

As the league is operating with six teams this season, each entrant will play ten games in the double round-robin schedule or two more than in previous years. Two games will be played each week thus leaving two teams off at each session.

It was decided at a league meeting to raise the admission price a nickel to 15c for high school and over and 10c for under high school.

Probable starting lineups:

Baptist: Williams, F. Bierman, R. Rice, P. Conall, Wallace, C. Anderson, Kincaid, G. Grabenhorst, Clinge, G. Melners.

Chicago Contractor Buys 142-Acre Farm From A. Meyer Heirs

M. J. Boyle, Chicago contractor, purchased a 142-acre farm in Fremont township, between Ivanhoe and Wauconda, last week it was announced by David Williams of Wauconda, realtor, who was broker for both parties. The property is crossed by state route 164 east and west and the old Telegraph road north and south. The sellers were heirs of August H. Meyer, a resident of Lake county for many years.

Boyle now has a country estate of approximately 400 acres. A few years ago he bought a large tract of land to the west of the Meyer farm from the Dobner heirs for his home. He remodeled the buildings and is making other improvements, including an artificial lake.

Fire Siren Disrupts Junior Class Play

Some enthusiastic person in the audience sought to either vent his appreciation or some other emotion by blowing the school siren while the junior class play, "Spring Fever," was in progress in the public school auditorium Friday evening. Early in the third act the siren started blowing and the ensuing confusion forced Miss Georgina White, director, to have the curtain drawn. It was raised a short while later and the act started from the beginning.

Except for the siren blowing, the play progressed satisfactorily Friday and Saturday nights and was well received by both audiences.

Rice Culture in South

It is regarded as a special virtue to share one's rice in India, and the wasting of even a single grain is a sin in thickly settled districts where poverty is great and food is scarce. Fortunately, it is more expensive to eat polished rice than to leave on the outer coating, because the latter contains food elements that prevent beriberi, a disease suffered by those whose diet is almost exclusively polished, writes Martha Harmon in the Philadelphia Record.

The ancestor of our modern rice was a grass that grew along the edges of lakes in India, and was similar to a sort found in northern Australia. All Oriental peoples use the seed or grain of this grass, dating back to such ancient times that 3,000 years before the Christian era it was customary for the Chinese emperor and the princes to sow a handful of rice at the beginning of each planting season in honor of the country's chief crop.

America's rice fields are the result of an accident. After failure at rice raising in this country, it happened that a ship from Madagascar put into Charleston, S. C., harbor to escape a storm late one winter day in 1694. The colonists were friendly and when the ship departed the captain showed his appreciation by presenting the governor with a sack of seed rice. And from this accidental start, rice culture in the American colonies spread through the South.

This WEEK in WASHINGTON

By RALPH E. CHURCH Representative, 10th Congressional District

Evanson, Ill., Nov. 19.—Now that the "tumult and shouting has died" and the American people have spoken at the ballot boxes, it remains for us to appraise the results and to translate the expressed general will of the people into a definite course of action. That is the task of both parties. Failure to interpret election results intelligently is more or less certain to bring dire consequences to the administration or the republican party as the case may be when they come before the people again two years hence.

This was the mistake the new dealers made as a result of the election two years ago, for which they suffered in the voting November 8. In 1936 the new deal won a landslide victory. They carried every state in the union except Maine and Vermont. That result was interpreted as a "mandate from the people," with the word "mandate" construed as broadly as possible.

They were too elated with their success to remember that 17 million people expressed themselves in opposition. They didn't realize there was or could be any opposition to the new deal that should be considered. They interpreted the 1936 election results to mean the new deal had a "mandate" to do everything and anything they saw fit. In that interpretation the new dealers were in error as has now been made clear by the people themselves.

Republican success in this last election exceeded the expectations of all the party leaders. Gains were anticipated but no one for a moment imagined that they would be so pronounced and so national in scope.

Naturally, those of us who are affiliated with the republican party are rejoicing in the election results. After several lean years we can hardly be denied this opportunity to rejoice. But, it seems to me the republicans will make a serious mistake if, in their enthusiasm of success, they interpret the results as a complete and unequivocal repudiation of everything the new deal has represented and has done. Such a conclusion would be fatal to the party, when it presents its presidential candidate to the people in 1940.

It is true the American people have said by their votes that they desire an end to reckless experimentation, all "must" legislation to be "rubber-stamped," and these efforts to remake the whole of American society. The people have definitely expressed themselves as desiring a genuine representative and bi-partisan system of government. The electorate has said in substance, "We want a saner, more practical and more effective method of dealing with our problems." That is clear.

But perhaps not quite so obvious from the election, yet nevertheless true, is that the American people want a sympathetic recognition of the good work of the last six years. Worthy social reforms are not to be completely rejected. Rather the people want them accepted and improved upon. They desire a government that is practical and progressive but within their constitution. They want forward-looking men who are attune to the problems of our time and the needs for the future.

That such is the will of the people is indicated by the unusually high quality of men who were selected as republican nominees and carried the party to victory in many states. The republican party has increased not only in numbers but in quality, with a capacity for intelligent leadership. The fact that the republican party had capable and progressive men on its ticket is one of the reasons why the American people gave the party their support.

There thus seem to me to be one logical conclusion to draw from the last election results: the American people desire a rational representative government that will follow a middle of the road policy.
