TRYING TO BOIL ICE

"Business Surpluses" is perhaps the most abused phrase in common use today.

Whenever a period of business inactivity, like the present recession, sets in, business critics cry to industrial leaders, "Why don't you dip into your surpluses to pay wages and keep workers on payrolls?"

On every hand there are efforts to convince people that industry has large accumulations of cash and securities that could be turned into payrolls. This is not the case.

Let us suppose, however, that industry decided to liquidate its reserves and surpluses and turn them into wages. According to the latest figures of the bureau of internal revenue manufacturing industries now have surpluses aggregating $14,000,000,000. Their annual payrolls aggregate $13,500,000,000. In other words manufacturers would have to dispose of their entire surpluses lock, stock and barrel to carry payrolls for only one year. If they decided to use only their cash and government bonds for such a purpose, it would last about four months.

Many noted economists have long since predicted certain bankruptcy for American industry if either course were followed. Who would want to see that happen? Certainly not the men, women and children with savings accounts, nor the holders of a few bonds or shares of stock in private industry, nor the millions of Americans whose life-insurance policies are backed by securities in private enterprise nor the greater number of millions now employed whose jobs would last only as long as the surplus held out. In fact such a course is abhorrent to all except politicians and others who seek to undermine industry by capitalizing on misleading catch-phrases.

SLOWING RECOVERY

Washington, for several weeks past now, has been the scene of almost daily conferences designed to bring about better cooperation between government and business as a means toward lifting the nation from a recession bog. From all indications, the talks have served to bring about a better understanding, if nothing else.

Almost to a man, every business leader invited to the capital city to express his views on the economic problems has urged that the tax burden on business be lightened as one of the most certain means of renewing the recovery march, and that the competition of government in business with its own citizens should be curbed.

These business men know—as the government should know now—that money paid in taxes cannot be spent for wages; that the same dollar can't go into the tax till and the pay envelope at the same time. This philosophy isn't something new to be heard around Washington—congress has had the same idea last December when it was in special session.

Everyone seems to be in record on the matter—that stifling taxation must be ended; that tax money, if unleashed in the business field, will go a long way toward providing jobs for unemployed workers. Why, then, should there be any further delay in taking this important step toward industrial recovery?

MILESTONE TOWARD COMMUNISM?

Writing in the New York Sun, Ernest R. Abrams, who was employed by that paper to do a series of feature articles on the TVA, says: "The illusion of honesty with which the TVA surrounds itself is largely disillusion; it lays a claim to a respect it does not warrant. Its tactics, if pursued by a private corporation, would immediately call for drastic investigation by some ruthless federal body."

These are strong words. At the close of the 1932 fiscal year, the TVA had in operation revenue-producing electric properties which had cost the taxpayers almost $130,000,000. No formal allocation of this money for power purposes, flood control purposes and navigation purposes has ever been made—despite statutory requirements. The TVA can write off as much of its investment as it wants, to purposes other than power production—thus, by trick bookkeeping, presenting an entirely erroneous impression of what it really costs to generate and distribute electricity.

WHEN STRIKERS MUST PAY

The order of a federal district court judge in East St. Louis that certain striking mine workers must pay $117,000 in damages to the employer they victimized is a wholesale reminder that unions and their members may be sued successfully for unlawful conduct.

The verdict was directed against 60 members of seven locals of the Progressive Mine Workers of America for losses sustained by a company in Freeburg during a 3-year strike.

When, said the court, labor unions, their officers and sympathizers "enter into a conspiracy to inflict violent injury upon an employer or upon his property or business, and in furtherance of the object of the conspiracy do, by violent and unlawful conduct, inflict injury upon the property or business or such employer," they are "each liable to respond in damages for such loss or injury so inflicted."

NEW HOMES

Based on population estimates for the next 15 years, experts figure that about 5,000,000 new homes will have to be built in the United States to care for new families.

Special thanks is due our good friend Charles Forsberg for the handsome new heading on this column today. Doesn't the kettle gleam as the contents bubble?

We hope other friends will be generous, too—and send in happy suggestions for good meals. Record this as your invitation to take part.

Mrs. Cecil Kellam contributed the following two recipes... perfect for a family lunch during Lent.

CARROT LOAF

2 cups ground carrots.
2 eggs.
1 cup bread crumbs.
2 cups milk.
2 t. salt.
4 t. pepper.
4 t. shortening melted.
Mix all ingredients. Bake in buttered casserole in moderate oven, 350° one hour.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE

2 squares chocolate.
8 t. hot water.
1 1/4 cups sugar.
1/4 cup butter.
1 cup sour milk.
1 t. soda (scant).
1 egg.
2 cups flour.

Cream sugar, butter. Add melted chocolate and beaten egg. Add soda to sour milk and add alternately with flour. Bake in 350° oven about 1 hour. Frost loaf with fudge frosting.

Mrs. James Haffner's delicious rolls and a crisp green salad would be excellent with the rest. We think, don't you? Her recipe is as follows:

ICE BOX ROLLS

5 1/2 to 6 cups flour.
1 cup hot potatoes (strained).
1 cup hot milk.
2 eggs well beaten.
1 t. salt.
1/4 cup shortening.
1/4 cup sugar.
1 yeast cake dissolved in 1/4 cup warm water.

Start by beating eggs in the bowl in which you are going to let the batter rise. Add all other ingredients to eggs withholding half the flour. Beat this mixture thoroughly. Then add remaining half of flour. Let rise 2 hours. Roll out 1/4 in. thick. Cut with small cutter and make in 2 layers with butter between. Let rise 2 hours. May be kept in ice box before either rising.

For a "company breakfast," nothing could be nicer than corn meal waffles made in accordance with Mrs. Kellam's recipe:

CORN MEAL WAFFLES

1/2 cup corn meal.
2 cups water.
2 t. sugar.
1 t. salt.
1 cup milk.
4 t. shortening (melted).
8 eggs.
2 t. baking powder.
1 1/4 cups flour.
Boil water vigorously, sprinkle corn meal, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Add sugar, salt, milk and melted shortening. Cool. Add egg yolks well beaten and flour sifted and mixed with baking powder. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Cook in hot waffle iron. Makes 6.

Mt. Prospect Church to Hold Anniversary Celebration Sunday

Members of the St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran congregation and neighboring congregations will gather at the church at Buena Avenue and Elm street, Mt. Prospect, at 10:30 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. Sunday, March 5, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the church's dedication.

Twenty-five years ago on a wintry Sunday the first services were held in this church while a severe snow storm raged, causing trails to become stalled in snow banks and delaying the arrival of the choir from Holmes Park, which was to render several selections at this dedicatory service.

Reverend J. E. A. Mueller, the home pastor, will address the assembly in the morning in the German language and Reverend E. Lams, president of the North Illinois district, Missouri synod, will speak in the afternoon in the English language.

Assembly Contest Based on Primary

Two of the six republican candidates for state representative from the eighth senatorial district and one of the seven democratic candidates will be virtually decided at the primary election April 12.

With the republican senatorial committee from the district composed of Lake, McHenry and Boone counties, certifying two nominations and the democratic committee at their meeting last Thursday asking for one, the three candidates receiving the highest number of primary votes will have no party opposition on the general election ballot in November.

Three representatives are to be elected. By the decisions of the senatorial committee, the representation will continue with the same balance of two republicans and one democrat.

Nominations at the primary will be unopposed. The independent candidates file after the major party primaries.

Republican candidates are Rep. Nels Keller of Waukegan, Roy J. Stewart of Woodstock, Charles H. Francis of Woodstock, Victor O. Siegler of Spring Grove, Charles C. Kapschall of Deerfield and Harold D. Kelsey of Cuba.

For the democratic nomination the candidates are Rep. Thomas A. Bolger of McHenry, J. A. Jadrich of North Chicago, Charles P. Hayes of Harvard, Thomas J. Keefe of Ingleside, Elmer Sorenson of Antioch, and Edward T. Leonard of Lake Villa.

Lake Zurich Community Woman's Club

The February meeting of the Lake Zurich Community Woman's club was in charge of the department of literature. Mrs. Grace Stewart Van Buren, a dramatic critic and a member of "The Friends of the American Writers," gave brief reviews of four outstanding books of the year: "Madame Curie," by Eve Curie; "Home Grown," by Della T. Latta; "The Prodigal Parents," by Sinclair Lewis; "How down to Wood and Stone," by Josephine Lawrence.

Mrs. Van Buren stated that "Madame Curie" by Eve Curie was considered by many to be the most valuable book of the year.

Hostess committee for the meeting was Mrs. H. O. Johnson, Mrs. O. Rockenbach, Mrs. A. Anderson and Mrs. Whitney Rockenbach.

Reading Circle. Mrs. N. J. Coltrin was hostess to the reading circle on Friday. Mrs. J. L. Clements reviewed "The Country Kitchen," by Della T. Latta. This book is the first collection of her ruminations on the good things that graced the table of her Michigan farm home in the late Seventies. Her essays with their nostalgic charm, are helping to restore domestic cooking to the high estate from which it has fallen.

The Lake County Federation meeting was held Tuesday at Zion. A large number of club members attended this meeting.

The Waucunda Women's club will be hostess to the Lake Zurich Community Woman's club at its March meeting on Friday.

Dr. Philip Lewin will be the guest speaker at the March meeting. Dr. Lewin will talk on infantile paralysis. Guests will be welcome.
