

Kidnappers Take $11 and Auto From Man; Toss Him in Field

John Keating, 45 years old, of 2102 Dorchester avenue, Chicago, was robbed of $11 and tossed into a cornfield near here early Sunday morning by two men who escaped in his automobile.

Keating told chief of Police E. W. Beane that when he arrived at his home at 11:30 Saturday night he was met by two men, one of them armed with a revolver. They ordered him into his automobile and drove to Ohio St. While parked behind a building, they tied Keating's hands and placed him in the rear seat of the car.

They rode about the city for several hours and later started into the country. About 4 a. m. they reached the vicinity of Barrington. Stopping the car, they tied Keating's feet and then dumped him in a ditch.

He managed to free himself and walked to the Brandt Dairy and Chief Beane was notified. A call was made to the Lake county sheriff's office, which sent out a radio bulletin. Keating was unable to identify the place where he was left.

He described the two men as being about 30 years of age and of medium height and build. The car has not been recovered according to last reports.
