County Assessor Begins Re-Audit With New System

1938 Personal Property to Be Changed to Comply With Committee Report

Re-auditing of 1938 personal property schedules under the new method whereby fair cash values of $2,500,000,000 in taxable securities, bank deposits and capital stock of Cook county are assessed on a lower basis, was begun today by Assessor John S. Clark's staff. It followed immediately after Assessor Clark's acceptance of the rules suggested by his intangibles committee to arrest the flight of $300,000,000 of intangible wealth from the state to escape taxation. Since the method reduces the assessment of such property, the assessor said, it is expected that public cooperation will broaden the assessment roll.

Result of a month's labor by the committee, the method falls in line with the most progressive in the United States, it was reported. In its essentials it reduces the fair cash value of taxable stocks, bonds, mortgages, notes and other securities to either ten (10) per cent of the market value or ten (10) per cent of twenty (20) times the annual income, whichever is lower. Where no income is derived from such securities the annual income rate shall be taken to be two (2) per cent of the market value.

Fair cash values have been determined in the past by taking twenty (20) per cent of the market value or twenty (20) times the annual income whichever was lower. The computations are made against the market value as of April 1, for the calendar or taxable year preceding.

To allow time to employ the new method, Assessor Clark extended for ten (10) days the time

Urges Precautions to Prevent Rabies

Chief of Police E. W. Baude this week issued a warning to dog owners to keep close control over their pets during the warm weather or season to prevent any possible outbreak of rabies. In making his statement he called to mind that last year seven persons were bitten by dogs found to have been infected with rabies.

No cases have been reported in this locality this year, but in several other places, Elgin, Waukegan, and McHenry, dogs have been found to have the disease.

Immunization by injections has been recommended by veterinarians as a safeguard against dogs becoming infected.

Local village ordinances require that dogs be confined to the owners' premises and not allowed to run on the streets unmuzzled.

Good Weather for Fourth Celebration With No Fatalities

Minimum Accidents as Many
Enjoy Days Following
Severe Rain

A glorious Fourth of July week-end with sunny weather following heavy rains was enjoyed by local persons. A cloudburst inundated the region north of Barrington and caused great property damage Friday.

Only one casualty from fireworks was reported, that being Donald Brasel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brasel, who received several burned fingers. Auto accidents in the immediate vicinity were minor and traffic conditions were generally good, considering route 14, Northwest highway, was the only road open into the northwest area.

A near drowning was reported at Bang's lake in Wauconda Monday when Harold Hartung, 3436 N. Central avenue, Chicago, was revived after he had been in the water 10 minutes. Hartung and several companions were attempting to see how long they could remain under water. When he was rescued, his companions started diving and searching for him. He was brought to the surface unconscious, but artificial respiration and stimulants revived the youth and he was removed to his home Tuesday.

A collision that involved eight automobiles brought injuries to five persons on Rand road a mile south of Wauconda Monday evening.

Mrs. Ida Horwitz, 911 Independence boulevard, Chicago, received a fractured pelvis; Mrs. Jacob Greenman, 3152 W. Belmont avenue, Chicago, an injured hand and fractured arm; a daughter, Ina Lee Greenman, skull fracture; a daughter, Rosalind Greenman, bruised arm; her husband, Jacob Greenman, bruises and shock.

The peculiar accident occurred, it was reported, when Greenman attempted to pull out the left side of the highway to stop at a milk depot. His machine was struck in the rear by one car following and another machine traveling from the opposite direction. Five other cars were in the collision. The injured were in a Greenman's car.

Conrad Manczew, 33 years old, of Barrington, escaped with minor injuries when the motorcycle belonging to and operated by Ernest Tagge, 25 years old, of Arlington Heights, crashed into an automobile operated by Walter Olson of Southport avenue, Chicago, on U. S. route 14, about two miles south of Woodstock, Monday afternoon.

Tagge was taken to the Woodstock hospital where it was reported he suffered a skull fracture, a broken leg, lacerations and bruising. Victims of the accident occurred differ, according to police reports. Olson maintains he was on his own side of the southbound lane and the two vehicles crossed over and into the northbound lane in front of them.

The cloudburst that struck Thursday night brought varying depths of rainfall in this region.

In this locality it was reported, nearly one inch fell while farther north the total ran from four inches to seven. Lowlands along the DesPlaines and Fox rivers were covered by the swirling waters. Many resort places were swamped and roads made impassable. Schedules on the Chicago & North Western and Soo railroads were halted temporarily when washouts occurred.

Crop damage in the farm sections from the heavy rainfall and from strong winds in this region is reported at more than $1,000,000 in both Cook and Lake counties. However, in the Barrington vicinity, the prospects for good harvests are favorable.

Some loss will be sustained where small grains were beaten down by the wind and rain and some corn has been washed out. But the losses in any case are not expected to exceed one-fifth of good crop yields.
