Boucher-Gloeske

Wedding Friday

Miss Josephine Boucher, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Philip Boucher of Streator, and Edward H. Gloeske of Barrington were married at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in Streator.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother, and her father, Rev. Boucher, read the single ring service. Decorations of ferns and white chrysanthemums made a picturesque setting.

The bride, beautiful in a gown of white point de esprit with a finger tip length veil edged in pearls, carried a bridal bouquet of pale tallman roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Wilber Brewer of Barrington, sister of the bride, wore aqua net and carried American Beauty roses. The groom's attendant was Walker Boucher, a brother of the bride. Little Cynthia Mae Brewer, daughter of the Brewers, was the flower girl and wore blue point de esprit. Mrs. Boucher, the bride's mother, wore a teal blue dinner dress and carried pale coral sweet peas.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boucher of Streator. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Boucher of Aurora, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Brewer and daughter Crystal Mae and Walker Boucher of Barrington.

After a short motor trip through southern Illinois and Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Gloeske will be at home at 306 S. Cook street. Mrs. Gloeske is a graduate of Aurora high school and North Central college and Mr. Gloeske is a graduate of Barrington high school and North Central college.

Carrying on the tradition of the family from the time of a great grandmother, brides of the Boucher family have always carried pale tallman roses and the bridesmaids American Beauty roses.

Miss Laughtlin is bride of H. Brandt.

Miss Mary Laughtlin, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Laughtlin of Chicago, and Henry Brandt, son of E. P. Brandt, 417 N. Hough street, Barrington, were united in marriage at four o'clock Saturday afternoon in the rectory of St. James church. Rev. P. J. Hayes officiated, using the single ring service.

The maid of honor was Miss Madelyn Laughtlin, sister of the bride, and the groom's attendant was James Brandt, brother of the groom.

The bride was lovely in teal blue velvet and wore a shoulder corsage of orchids.

The bridesmaid wore black with a corsage of tallman roses.

A wedding reception, sponsored by the child welfare committee of the Barrington Woman's club, was held in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barrett of Chicago, aunt and uncle of the bride.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Brandt left for a wedding trip to Kentucky and Hot Springs, Ark., and on their return will live on Waverly road. Mr. Brandt is employed by the Public Service Co. at Northbrook.

Book Review Tuesday

At the last regular meeting of the reading course sponsored by the Barrington Woman's club at the library Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Ralph Keeling reviewed "From Double Eagle to Red Flag" by Kraessoff. Thirty-nine persons were present.

The book, reviewed in Mrs. Keeling's usual vivid manner, concerns itself with events leading up to the Russian revolution, and offers a rather different slant on those events. The central character, Saasha Sablin, is carried from the time he is a young officer in the Czarist Army to his tragic death at the hands of the revolutionaries.

Sablin, loving his country and his monarch, is true to his ideals all through his life, but tragedy and horror follow him. His wife, one of Rasputin's victims, commits suicide; his sixteen year old son Sablin's regiment is killed in his first battle in which his father is seriously wounded.

Sablin rises to a high command in the White Army and is finally arrested by his own men on the battlefield. He is imprisoned but is given two different chances to save his life by joining the Bolsheviks, but being true to his love for his country and his allegiance to the deposed rulers, he refuses. He suffers torture at the hands of the revolutionaries and is finally killed by them.

"From Double Eagle to Red Flag" strikes altogether a somber note but gives a vivid word picture of the horror of the Russian revolution.

Will Entertain Guests

Members of the club, their husbands and members of the Junior Woman's club will hear D. M. Ladd of the Federal Bureau of Investigation discuss "The O-Men War on Crime" at the Methodist church Tuesday evening.
