NEGROES TO LEAVE MEMPHIS.

Apprehension of the Whites Over the Atrocity There Is Subsiding

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 13.—The men who robbed the county jail Wednesday morning are still unknown. The apprehension of the whites, which was largely stirred up by the lynching, is subsiding, and the sympathy of a large majority of the citizens is with the negroes. The finding of incendiary letters and documents by the police in Mr. McDowell's trunk is a fake, perpetrated solely to make a good showing for the officers. ## YOUNG GIRL HANGED.

BRUTAL WORK OF LYNCHING IN LOUISIANA.

For Revenge on a Former Lover, a Whole Family to Her Guards on the Way to Hang—Her Victims Will Be Executed.

RAYVILLE, La., March 14.—The body of a dead body dangling from a cottonwood tree by the roadside, the eyes of the Richland people driving in to church yesterday morning. The body was that of a 10-year-old colored girl, a house girl at the Grenwell place, and she had been hanged the night before by a mob of lynchers.

The young girl had been employed as a waitress and kitchen girl by Mrs. Helmier, who owns the Grenwell plantation, twenty miles from the community seat. A short time ago all the members of the family, nine in number, became violently ill shortly after breakfast, and showed unmistakable signs of poisoning. Suspicion fell on the girl Ella, who had often displayed a bad and reckless temper, and was taxed with the crime she confessed.

It seemed that a colored man who was employed around the stables of the plantation had in some manner offended the kitchen girl and she determined upon revenge. Poison was the suggestion which came to her, and she at once set about carrying it into execution. All the time which was served in the house was made in one large pot and drawn off for the meals served alike to the family and the servants. Into this common pot on Friday morning the revenue girl poured the contents of a package of rat poison which she had found in the pantry, and all the inmates of the house, members of the family and servants, except herself, drank of the poisoned fluid. The result was that everybody who drank coffee that morning was taken seriously ill, and the only person who escaped was the colored girl Ella, who had not partaken.

In confessing her guilt she showed the greatest indifference to the probable results of her horrible crime. "I wanted to kill that man," she said, indicating the hostler who had incensed her wrath, "and if I poisoned the rest I didn't care. I was born to get him."

While she was being conveyed to the county jail the party was met by a band of masked men, who demanded that the girl be given up to them. The guards made no opposition, and the girl herself offered any excuse or remonstrance. Without saying a word the men led the pony to the end of the road where a huge cottonwood tree stretched out a stout branch, and the mob threw a rope over the branch and fastened the end to a fence, while another put the noose which had been made in the other end around the girl's neck.

Then a sounding blow was struck.

The body of the would-be poisoner was dangling in the air. While she which were not bound, she attempted to grasp the rope, but was unable. For a moment or so her legs were strung in and out convulsively, as if attempting to find a supporting place. But it was all useless, and in a few minutes she was dead.

Then the mob of masked men rode away in one direction, her former guards in the other, and the body was left dangling to be viewed by the planters on their way to church or town this morning. The people whom the dead girl poisoned will recover.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED.

Flat Plates and Bars Beside the Track—Three Men Injured.

JACKSON, Miss., March 14.—A successful attempt at train wrecking was made three miles below here last night. The Illinois Central passenger train due at 2 a. m. passed down at 4 thirty-five miles an hour. On a twenty-foot embankment the engine and five cars jumped the track and landed in the ditch. No passengers were hurt. The injured are:

Hammer, "Gov." postal clerk, Jackson, Tenn., seriously cut on face and hands.

Nelson, John, engineer, McComb, both legs broken and sealed.

Schoonover, J. baggagemaster, New Orleans, face and head crushed.

The spikes and fish bars had been drawn and laid to one side—conclusive evidence of malice. Officials of the road are investigating the matter. Such accidents are getting so frequent on the Illinois Central that the State railroad commission is making an investigation.

Fly Wheel Burst in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, March 15.—Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, the gigantic fly-wheel at the Cincinnati Electric Light works, at Hunt and Broadway, burst with destructive effect. It was twenty-four feet high, weighed twenty-four tons and was making seventy-three revolutions per minute. It smashed a $10,000 steam engine, destroyed the office, crushed several dynamos, and knocked out one side of the building. The direct loss may foot up nearly $20,000. There were narrow escapes, but no one was hurt. The wheel was made at Milwaukee.

Peculiar "Business."

NEW YORK, March 15.—C. J. Hall is suing to have 23,730 shares of the capital stock of Brooklyn Elevated Railroad company, controlled by Anthony Barrett, canceled, on the ground that the stock was never paid for. The action is based on the idea that the franchise of the road was procured by political influence, paid for stock in the company amounting at par value to over $3,000,000.

According to Mr. Hall, Mr. Barrett holds this stock as trustee for unknown persons, whose names he has refused to disclose.

Work Laid Out for Congressmen.

At least one branch of Congress is now fairly embarked on the discussion of revenue measures, and the reform movement is felt in the Senate, where it may be expected, in view of the proceedings of the last few days, that speeches on the same subject will from time to time be injected into the routine. In the House the discussion of the tariff question will be temporarily interrupted and the committee on the District of Columbia given an opportunity to pass some measure of local interest.

WASHINGTON.

The Senate.

Carriages of the Senate are again being made to determine the fate of a free-coinsage bill when it reaches that body. The chances are now, as they have been all along, that the measure will pass by a majority of between 8 and 12. This is the opinion of Senators Aldrich, Allison and other opponents of free-coinsage. Yet there are some contrary signs, and the Republican leaders will make a tremendous effort to keep the bill from passing by persuading the Western senators who are not too strongly committed to free coinsage to adopt a middle course. There is no longer any question that the free coinsage bill will pass the House. The only point is as to what the majority will be in that body.

Johnson for Assessor; Goodjohn for Collector;
Youngquist for Supervisor, and Calhoun for Town Clerk.

Irving Park; Almira, Montrose and Bownaville All Represented—Hanssen should Prevail.

The Aldermanic and Town conventions were both held last Saturday evening in Sedlock's hall, Almira, and were quite largely attended, considerable interest being manifested by people of all classes, many of whom never before bothered themselves about politics or ward officers.

The Aldermanic convention was called first, Mr. Alfred A. Ellsworth of Penhook in the chair, and Mr. J. C. King of Irving Park, and J. S. Stubbs of Avondale, secretaries.

For Alderman, three candidates were nominated, Messrs. Henry Esdohr of Jefferson Park, C. N. Loucks of Irving Park, and Fred Hansen of Avondale.

On the first formal ballot cast the vote stood as follows:

Esdohr ..... 30
Loucks ..... 30
Hansen ..... 8

There being 38 delegates to the convention, 35 votes were necessary for a nomination, and consequently the ballot was proceeded with.

Twenty ballots were taken without any one receiving the requisite number, and, as there appeared to be no prospect of a termination, Mr. Esdohr, in the interest of harmony, withdrew at the beginning of the 21st ballot in favor of Mr. Hansen.

The 21st ballot resulted as follows:

Hansen ..... 35
Loucks ..... 33

The Town Ticket.

After the close of the Aldermanic contest the Town convention was called to order by Mr. Fred Wheaton, and the same chairman and secretaries who officiated at the previous convention were re-elected.

The Town ticket nominated was as follows:

Assessor—William Johnson of Montrose.

Collector—William Goodjohn of Almira.

Supervisor—I. J. Youngquist of Bownaville.

Clerk—Daniel Calhoun of Irving Park.

Mr. Theodore Schultz of Jefferson Park was elected Town Committee-man.

A sketch of the lives of the several candidates will appear in next week's issue of the TIMES.

The Democratic Ticket.

At last the twelve remaining Democrats of the Twenty-seventh ward have gained sufficient courage to gather together in a down-town saloon and stimulate themselves into nominating what they are pleased to style an Aldermanic and Town ticket.

For alderman they have named Mr. Leonidas Thomas of Irving Park, who, it will be remembered, sat cheek-by-jowl with Bill McGraw in the village Board of Trustees, and is principally known for his opposition to annexation, owing no doubt to having some iron in the "or some favorite ordinance to pass. It may also be well to remember that he was instrumental in foisting upon an unfortunate public an utterly worthless engineer in the person of one Elder.

For Supervisor Bobby Altig, the "Democratic Boss," has been trotted out and to his tender mercies will be confided the widows and orphans, and, no doubt, he will do his utmost to sole them. Dan Booth, Jr., is like Jack-in-the-box, bobbing up and down, Collector, an office for which he has had a chronic itching; others, Sigvalt for Assessor, and for Town Clerk, little is known, consequently little can be said.

DES PLAINES

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the Citizens' Association last Monday evening. President, occupied the chair. E. C. H. Garland, Jr., G. Ploughaupt and W. Garland were admitted to the meeting by ballot. There was a discussion in regard to a township high school, at which it was stated that there had been two petitions presented, one of them asking that the establishment of a township high school be submitted to the voters at the next town meeting. The other petition asks that the school may unite with Norwood in forming a high school. On motion the committee on railroad grounds was instructed to request the railroad company to remove all unnecessary obstructions from their track from Graceland to Des Plaines avenue. There was a lot taken for candidates for various officers, and the following named persons received the endorsement of the association for the offices herein: President of the Board, Thomas H. Trustee, William Hall, H. W. and M. H. Brown; Clerk, E. C. H. Garland, Police Magistrate, H. C. Stevens, committed from the Citizens' Association at Park Ridge was present for the purpose of uniting with this association in nominating a ticket for township officers. A committee was appointed to confer with the Park Ridge committee, and they agreed that an agreement had been made whereby the second precinct would be given to the Park Ridge Association.

Second.—To elect one Supervisor, one Town Clerk, one Assessor, one Collector, one Commissioner of Highways, one Pound Master as the trustees may determine, and one Township Trustee of Schools. Voters of the Second precinct will vote at their usual polling place in Park Ridge.

And to act upon any additional subjects which may, in pursuance of law, come before said meeting when convened.

Which meeting will be called to order at the hour of seven o'clock in the forenoon, and kept open until five o'clock in the afternoon.

Gives under my hand at Des Plaines, this 14th day of March, A. D. 1892.

At Part 2: That Appaled to a Man for Protection.

As a Pennsylvania farmer was passing through a patch of wood last summer a hen partridge fluttered up and sat between his feet. It was such a strange thing for so wild a bird to do that the farmer thought the partridge was blind. So he stooped over to pick her up and then he found the hen's blind at all, for just as he was about to grasp her she darted toward the brush heap from which he had seen her emerge, stopped at the edge and looked back.

Presently, the hen at the man again.

He cleared his throat and then demanded to know if she had any objection to his carrying her to the party. Among the presents was a beautiful bonbon silver spoon with gold bowl, a valuable hanging lamp, and a gold ring of rare design and workmanship. It was a sort of family gathering of cousins, but each cousin had the privilege of inviting a friend of his or her own choosing, which invitations were all joyfully accepted.

The cousins present were the Misses Hattie and Jessie Curtis, Barbara and Genevieve Webster, Messrs. D. F. George and Arthur Webster, Benjamin and Robert Burke, Robbie Curtis and Elwin Jones. The others invited were: Misses Ella Thomas, Elsa Whitecomb, Hettie and Alice Bennett, Carrie and Virgie Jefferson and Olive Murdoch; Messrs. H. T. Bennett, G. M. Whitecomb, James G. Winchell and Price Allison.

Miss Stella Campbell, a former teacher of the public school, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Des Plaines.

The leap year party given by the young ladies of Des Plaines last Friday evening, was well attended, and all who were present were unanimous in the conclusion that it was one of the pleasantest parties of the season. There were twenty-seven couples participating, the neighboring village of Park Ridge being well represented. Two young ladies from Palatine were present, one from Irving Park, one from Riverside and one gentleman from Blue Island. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the young ladies during intermission.

An ordinance has been passed by the Village Board granting permission to the Chicago and Edison Park Electric Railway company the right to lay a track along Des Plaines avenue from the south line of the village limits north to the intersection of the tracks of C. & N. W. railway company with said Des Plaines avenue or River road. The railroad is to be equipped and ready for business within thirty-six months from the passage of this ordinance. Passenger cars are to be run on this track from here to the city and are to make not less than six trips each day.

Fare not to exceed ten cents for the entire length. These are some of the provisions of the ordinance. How many of them will be carried out is a matter to be ascertained by future developments.

There have been so many projects of similar character that have existed only on paper that the majority of citizens lack faith in promises of this kind. The entire ordinance is published in another column.

The presiding elder, Dr. Curtis, will preach and administer the sacramental service in the Methodist church next Sunday evening.

Leap year gives to the fair sex additional privileges and as a consequence extra duties are imposed on the male portion of the genus homo. A project of getting up an oyster supper with the usual effects for the benefit of the Methodist church is on foot, in which the whole management in all its details is carried out by that portion of humanity wearing bifurcated apparel.

The ladies will not be in it except to gather around the festive board and feast on the good things before them.

At a preliminary meeting held last Wednesday evening J. H. Curtis was elected chief of the cuisine department with a dozen or more able-bodied assistants. Among the elders on the list who have been recommended by their friends and admirers, especially by their wives are the names of Dr. Stone, Alonzo Wheeler, Thomas Keates, and Robert E. Hills. The last named gentleman is a bachelor and that fact is stated here to save the necessity of a foot-note. A motion made that the chief and his cohorts wear their hair banded and attire themselves in Mother Hubbard gowns while on duty, was promptly voted down. The festival will be given on the evening of March 24.

The Park Ridge ghost scare has broken out in our midst. It is stated that one evening a young man was walking on his best woodland along in the bewitching hour of night, when the hour and minute hands are on the point of twelve, and fairies and spirits are supposed to be out in full force, a ghost was seen to make an appearance in the room adjoining and parades in "grand march" around the stove. The young man suddenly reached for his hat, snatching as he made his hasty exit. "Call me you another time."

Mrs. K. Alexander, Mrs. Beach and daughter Minnie, Mrs. A. Wheeler, Mrs. Collins, Miss Nellie Allen, Misses Tillie and Sarah Longley, Olive Murdoch, Messrs. J. A. Bailey, Bert Allen and J. H. Allison, attended the Epworth League convention at Evanston, on Thursday evening of last week.

ANNUAL TOWN MEETING.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, TO THE legal voters and electors of the Town of Merton, in the County of Cook, and State of Illinois, that the annual Town meeting for said Town will be held at Schermerhauer hall in said Town on Tuesday, the 14th day of April next, being the first Tuesday in April, for the purposes following, viz:

First.—To choose a Moderator to preside at said meeting.

Second.—To elect one Supervisor, one Town Clerk, one Assessor, one Collector, one Commissioner of Highways, and as many Pound Masters as the trustees may determine, and one Township Trustee of Schools. Voters of the Second precinct will vote at their usual polling place in Park Ridge.

And to act upon any additional subjects which may, in pursuance of law, come before said meeting when convened.

Which meeting will be called to order at the hour of seven o'clock in the forenoon, and kept open until five o'clock in the afternoon.

"There is nothing," he said, "like having respect for one's ancestors to keep one out of degenerate ways."

"It is a very good motive," said the self-made man, "and you do well to be proud of your ancestors, but I think that my respect for my descendants is about as good a motive."

To honor one's ancestors is an excellent and praiseworthy thing but pride of ancestry is a very poor basis upon which to build one's whole life. A man who had never done anything for himself was boasting one day, in the presence of a self-made man, of the distinction of his ancestors.

"There is nothing," he said, "like having respect for one's ancestors to keep one out of degenerate ways."

"It is a very good motive," said the self-made man, "and you do well to be proud of your ancestors, but I think that my respect for my descendants is about as good a motive."

GLOVED HAND OF STEEL.

A FREE AND AIRY CALIFORNIAN FELT ITS GRIP.

We Were Very Dangerous, But Needed Taming—Though Seldom Seen, the Hand Is Always on a Train-Atlantic steamer.

The ocean steamship of modern times is literally a floating palace. The passenger who travels by one of the luxurious ships of any of the great lines will experience only the velvet side of life—if he behaves himself. Everything will be made as pleasant for him as possible. Civil and attentive servants wait in readiness to execute any of his commands night and day. The saloon, the smoking room, the library, the ladies' parlor, the staterooms are each wonderful examples of modern comfort. But under all the velvet the plush, the silk hangings, the paintings, the carvings and the rest is the steel frame of the great ship.

So it is with the discipline on board. The passenger meets nothing but the utmost civility and politeness, but behind this there is power, supreme and arbitrary. The passenger may cross and re-cross many times without ever suspecting that he is living and enjoying himself under a despotism as rigid as that of Russia. Under the velvet hand is the glove of steel.

For the first two or three days out it certainly seemed as if Mr. Joseph Bounce was going to be the most popular man on board ship that voyage. He was a big, generous, whole-souled man from California, according to the Detroit Free Press, who was said to be immensely wealthy, as is a habit of Californians.

As the voyage progressed, however, it soon became evident that Bounce had laid himself out to make the trip one continual booze as far as he was concerned. He was drunk night and day, and by and by the passengers who had been friendly with him at first began to drop away from him, with the exception of the few who were as fond of liquor as himself and to whom free fuddle had attractions. Then Joseph got into the habit of forgetting himself and took to insulting those who refused to drink with him. He became exceedingly obnoxious to the whole smoking room and doubtless complaint was made to the officers, although nobody knew what made it.

One evening Bounce came in to the smoking room and sat down at his usual card table. He ordered champagne and talked loudly about the obnoxious passenger list the steamer had this particular trip. This sort of thing went on for some time, when the smoking room steward came in and said very mildly:

"Mr. Bounce, the purser would like to see you in his room for a few minutes."

"This was so quietly spoken that no one would have noticed it if Bounce himself would have kept quiet. He glared at the inoffensive steward for a moment and then shouted as he brought his big fist down upon the table:

"You tell the purser that if he wants to see me worse than I want to see him he can come in here and see me."

This remark was garnished by a choice assortment of particularly lurid wild western oaths.

"Very good, sir," answered the steward politely, as he withdrew.

After a pause the games and conversation went on as usual, but an old veteran who had crossed a number of times and who knew what was what on board ship, said in a whisper.

"If I'm not very much mistaken you will hear something drop in a moment."

"Will the purser come in?" was asked.

"Not a bit of it, but I think he will send for Bounce."

"He has sent for him, but it doesn't seem to have done much good."

"You wait!" said the veteran.

At that moment the door opened again and the steward came in as deferential as before, but behind him, keeping step together, strode six stalwart sailors, any two of whom could have taken Bounce and done what they pleased with him, big as he was. The sailors, with imperturbable faces, ranged themselves behind the chair of the man from California.

The steward, in exactly the same tone of voice as he had addressed Joseph Bounce before, said:

"The purser would like to see you, sir, for a few moments."

There was dead silence in the smoking room and the bravest held his breath for a time. Bounce looked over his shoulder for a moment at the motionless men and then at the steward. His face was flushed with liquor, but he was not so drunk that he did not realize the situation. There was a short pause, then Bounce said in a more sober voice: "All right; I'll go with you."

He went with the six men marching quietly behind him. What transpired at the interview no one knew, but it soon became known that Bounce's supply of liquor had been cut off and that he was practically under arrest during the rest of the voyage.

Mr. Joseph Bounce had felt the touch of the hand of steel.

Always Near Starvation.

The entire capital in the richest nation or state, consisting of railways, mills, factories, workshops and dwellings together with all the goods and wares of every kind—comprising all that has been saved in a useful form, the clearing of the land and bringing it into productive condition—will not exceed three or possibly four years' production, in most states it is less. If all could be reconverted into food, fuel and clothing and the world should rest wholly from work, all would be consumed in two or three years. In respect to food, the world is always within a year of starvation, yet there is always enough somewhere.—Popular Science Monthly.

"BETTER."

The Story of a Great Singer and a Poor Boy Who Lay Dying.

The great singer stepped from her carriage into the swirling snow and hurried up the steps of the poor little house. A woman, dim-eyed from tears, admitting her, stooped and kissed passionately her fur-gloved hands.

"The good God bless you, madame!" she cried. "In here—he is in here!"

She pushed open the door of a small bare room, wherein, propped on high pillows, lay a young face, framed in waves of black hair, lit by eyes of blue flame, a spot of scarlet on each sunken cheek.

A swift smile flashed over this face as the singer, throwing off her heavy fur, came to the bedside.

"At last!" gasped the boy. "Now I shall get better, mother—better!"

The beautiful stranger smiled sadly, moved back a few steps and looked into the adoring eyes.

Then she sang.

Low, slow, the round, pure notes fell from her lips, each perfect as a flawless pearl. They came lighter, gayer, sweeter, till one might fancy them lustrous with color like ruby or sapphire, mounting higher, pulsing quicker, to spend themselves at last in one joyous burst—a rainbow shower of brilliants.

The singer ceased a moment, smiled into the blue eyes—dilated, imploring—and began again.

She sang a prayer—a simple, sad little melody of her far-away native land. On its last minor notes her full voice trembled, and tears of longing hung on her shadowy lashes.

The blue eyes, too, swam and glittered, but they were impudent in their beseeching, and she sang again.

Then it was a love song—a rushing cry of primal passion that swept the soul up on mighty waves of melody and left it poised breathless and quivering on the last high, fierce note.

She ceased abruptly.

The face on the pillow kept the mould of the song. The blue eyes were fixed, the lips parted in ecstasy; but color had left the cheeks, and a light film glazed the wide eyes.

The mother rushed forward with a cry.

But the singer smiled as she pressed down the white lids and kissed the paling lips.

"Better!" she murmured. —Kate Field's Washington.

TRAINED TO MISFORTUNE.

Murdered in an Unfailing School and Could Not Be Crashed.

It was a terrible accident. Sixteen cars were piled upon each other, and above them, in the upper grouping, began the crackling flames that added to the terror of the scene could be heard the heartrending shrieks of the dying and wounded. It was a spectacle that would strike horror to every heart and soul.

Brave and willing hands rushed to the rescue of the victims of the wreck, and, hurling the timbers aside, dragged mangled bodies out from under the debris. Like horses they toiled, until they thought every one was taken out.

Suddenly there was a cry: "Good heavens! There is a man under the locomotive! And he lives!"

It was a hard battle to take the tons of steel and iron from off the crushed form that could be seen underneath, but, spurred by the dictates of humanity, they worked, and at last it was laid bare. Strong men turned away as it moved, for they expected to see a bleeding parcel of flesh, maimed beyond semblance to a man.

But it lived; it breathed, and it spoke.

They bent lower to catch its words, says the Boston News.

"Down! Down I said! Can't you hear a fellow and get off him!"

"What does he mean?" they cried.

Then he rose to his feet and looked around, dazed. He brushed his clothes, and as he noted the astounded look on every one's face at his miraculous escape, he said, laughingly:

"Well, if that wasn't a joke on me! I thought I was playing football and that the whole Yale eleven was on me. Ha-ha! Good oh!"

"German Syrup"

Justice of the Peace, George Wilkinson, of Lowville, Murray Co., Minn., makes a deposition concerning a severe cold. Listen to it: "In the Spring of 1881, through exposure I contracted a very severe cold that settled in my lungs. This was accompanied by excessive night sweats. One bottle of Bosch's German Syrup broke up the cold, night sweats, and all and left me in a good, healthy condition. I can give German Syrup my most earnest commendation."

CHICAGO AMUSEMENTS

A List of Chicago's Most Popular Theaters.

CHICAGO OPERA-HOUSE. "Sibbed" is still crowding the Chicago opera-house at every performance, despite the fact that it is now in its twenty-second and last week. Beginning Monday evening, March 20, comes the famous Aronson Compo Opera company from the Casino, New York. This is not the road company which was seen here in "Uncle Celestine" some months ago, but the big home company, headed by the ever favorite and brilliant prima donna Maria Tempest, and containing all the principal artists who have so long been favorites at the Casino. The first opera to be presented will be the "Tyrolean," which ran for over one hundred nights in New York to crowded houses, and could have been continued indefinitely such was the success of the piece and of Miss Tempest in the leading role. The "Tyrolean" is a bright and tuneful comic opera in two acts, and is possessed of a charming little plot in its story of the separation and reconciliation of two lovers. Adam, a bird seller of Tyrol, loves Christol, postmistress of his native village. Christol is desirous of meeting the prince and presenting a petition for royal favor on behalf of her lover. She is introduced to a courtier who impersonates his master, and entices Christol into a pavilion near at hand under pretense of listening to her story. While they are within the villagers appear upon the scene, and Adam learns of the discovery of his sweetheart and the courtier becomes enraged and denounces Christol as faithless. The Princess in disguise is of the party, however, and she unravels the complications and reconciles Adam and Christol. The score of the opera is said to be very bright and contains the famous Nightingale song, which as sung by Miss Tempest created a veritable furor in New York. The number has been purloined and interpolated into a number of other productions but no person else sings it with the same effect as Miss Tempest. Elaborate preparations are being made at the Chicago opera-house for the production of the "Tyrolean," and the piece will be given a splendid stage setting and sumptuous appointments. Mr. Aronson's company this year contains many well-known artists, among them Edwin Stevens, Fred Colombe, Ferdinand Scheutz, Max Fizman, Louis Beaudet, Eva Davenport, Madge Yorke, Drew Donaldson, and Sylvia Thorn. The chorus numbers sixty people, and there will be a special augmented orchestra. Matinees will be given on Saturday only.

AUDITORIUM.

Public interest is focused in the concerts of the United States Marine band to be given at the Auditorium next Monday and Tuesday evenings and Wednesday matinee and evening. The band is said to have grown greatly in efficiency since last year's great tour.

Director Sousa has kept it in continual practice and added many new and striking pieces to its extensive repertory. Popular music of the choicest kind will constitute the greater part of the programs. It is in the interpretation of this that the band is unequalled, though compositions of a classic nature are performed in a masterly manner. It is promised that next week a concert will surpass those of last season in every respect. Mr. Sousa's selections are admirable in character and variety, and his reserves for the inevitable encores are the best of the catchy and tuneful tid-bits which the public vividly remember.

Marie Decca, who firmly established a reputation last year as a soprano of remarkable gift, will appear with the band in the vocal solos. The program for the first concert will be as follows: 1. Overture, "Raymond," Thomas; 2. Ballet music, "Rosalinde," Schubert; 3. Pantomime, "The Romance of a Harlequin," Massenet. En scene of Harlequin reverie of Columbine, serenade of Harlequin to Columbine, the pas de deux. Excerpts from "The Walkure," Wagner; "Aria, La Sonnambula, Bellini. Andante Come per me sereno. Allegro. Novra Il sen, Mille Marie Decca. 6. Layle, "Gipsy Life a "Morning," b. In the Woods" c. "The Hobo" d. "The Serenade" e. "The Tarentella." f. "Dance of the Wooden Shoes" Le Thiere. 7. a. Intermezzo Sinfonico "Avallera Rusticana," Mascagni b. "Valzer Capri," Flirtation. "Steck" 8. Scenes historical, "Sheridan's Ride" Sousa. 9. Humoresque "Good bye," Sousa. 10. Cavatina, (Linda di Chamounix) O face di quest'anima. Mille Marie Decca. 11. Patriotic song "The Star Spangled Banner," Arnold.

CASINO.

"Nothing succeeds like success" and Col J. H. Haverly has been successful beyond the expectation of the most sanguine in the establishing of his Mastodons Minstrels at the Casino-Eden Musee. The house before Col Haverly's assumption and control of affairs enjoyed a good reputation, but the infusion of new blood, new effects and entertainments appealing to all classes of amusement seekers has brought it to the highest standard, and it now ranks amongst the chief places of resort in Chicago. The Minse department is made more and more attractive each week, while the minstrel performances are particularly attractive. Crowded houses were the rule last week. For the coming week many pleasing things are offered. A new first part of songs, gies and quartettes will be presented. Billy Rice everybody's favorite, has one of his old time end songs, "Oh my love's gone." Banks Winter, the famous tenor will sing one of his own composition, "Sweet Nelly Brown." Arthur Yule sings "The song that reached my heart," and E. M. Hall has a very taking song called "We we." Maggie Murphy's Reception is a very amusing sketch, in which Billy Rice and E. M. Hall do a very amusing military drill and Constance the dancer par excellence, does a very clever dance. The wonderful male soprano, continues to delight by his beautiful singing. Hogan and O'Brien will be seen for the last time this season in their great musical sketch. Swor and King refined a song and dance artists introduce new figures in their "Buck and Wing" specialities and an entirely new afterpiece the work of Harry Budworth called "Tiddle Winks" concludes the program unexcelled in the annals of minstrelsy. The solo performance of the Mastodon

Minstrels in this, their permanent home, was celebrated on the 16th inst., and preparations are being already made for the celebration of their 250th performance. Visitors to Chicago should not fail to see this truly great organization.

HAVLIN'S.

It affords Mr. Havlin considerable pleasure to announce the production of that very attractive play, "The Fire Patrol," at his theater—the Home theater of the South Side—during the week of March 20, beginning with the matinee on Sunday. Of the many recent plays having for their plot a story touching on the fire or police department of large cities, "The Fire Patrol" is the latest, and in many respects the best, of them all. The story is one of thrilling interest, and is told in a connected, natural and graceful manner. There is a happy blending of pathos and comedy of the better sort, the situations are stirring, and the climaxes which are worked up to in a pleasing way, are strong and effective. There are many scenes of great realism, the most important of which is the appearance of a real fire patrol wagon with full corps of the brave defenders of our homes and families. This surpasses in realism anything of the kind ever placed upon the stage. The company engaged in the presentation is one of exceptional merit—every member being particularly adapted to his or her part. The scenery is now and picturesque.

Manager Havlin is greatly pleased to herald the coming to his cozy play house for the week of March 27, of Bobby Taylor, in his latest success, "Sport McAllister." Mr. Taylor, who is recognized as one of the best exponents of Irish character on the stage, appeared at Havlin's last season in "An Irish Arab," and created a decidedly favorable impression, and his return to that house, and in a new play, will be heartily welcomed. "Sport McAllister" is a far better play than "An Irish Arab," and gives Mr. Taylor greater scope for the display of his original and unique Irish comedy.

CLARK STREET THEATER.

Beginning with the matinee next Sunday March 20, the patrons of this beautiful and popular theater will be entertained during the week by one of the most realistic dramas of the day, entitled "A Midnight Alarm." Aside from its meritorious production it will be the first appearance of this great play on the North Side. Tickets are now on sale for the engagement and can be secured in advance without extra charge. An exchange says.

"The Midnight Alarm" opened last night at the National theater to a crowded house, and was excellently received. "The Midnight Alarm" is called a "realistic drama." There has been no man in it, it is one of the most truly real plays that has been placed upon the stage for some time. But realism pleases the masses. It excites their love of dramatic suspense, kindles more interest, and besides, it shows them how great is the stage magician's invention. "The Midnight Alarm" is one of the good ones. The plot, the central story, has not been allowed to suffer for the sake of introducing the realness, or vice versa. Right here a word is in order concerning the setting of the two fire scenes. The attempt to wreck the express train by the villain has been most graphically pictured.

MADISON STREET OPERA-HOUSE.

The Adah Richmond Folly company in the Forty Thieves gave a pleasant performance last week to the biggest audiences that ever assembled at that popular house. They will continue over this week and give an entirely new olio, introducing some people for the first time on Manager Jack's stage.

Next week commencing Sunday, March 20, Sam T. Jack's Creole Burlesque company, consisting of fifty beautiful olive-hued song birds from the bayous and savannas of the South and the classic Isles of Greece and fair old Egypt. The Creole company is the only one of its kind on earth, and is a vision of delight from start to finish, as well as a plethora of fun and jollity. Fair faces and lovely forms are numerous and captivating sweet songs, graceful dances and the most lively burlesque make up the bill. The Creole show, in a word, is right in the swim.

WINDSOR.

Week commencing Sunday matinee March 20 the patrons of the Windsor theater will have the pleasure of seeing the world's champion, John J. Sullivan, who together with Duncan B. Harrison and a strong dramatic company will present Sunday matinee and night, also Monday Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Wednesday matinee Duncan B. Harrison's successful comedy drama "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands." Thursday Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, the romantic Irish comedy, "Roderick Agra" by Duncan B. Harrison Sunday matinee, March 27, the sensational melo-drama, "Kidnapped."

PEOPLES' THEATER.

Beginning Sunday matinee, March 20, Miss Kate Purcell in her new and thrilling border drama "Queen of the Plains," will be seen at the People's for the week.

Miss Purcell has made an enviable reputation as the delineator of wild western heroine characters. She will be supported by a capable company of players and her two superbly trained horses "Hero" and "Fire Fly."

MCWICKER'S.

Every night except Sunday matinee Saturday Denman Thompson as Joshua Whitecomb and the entire original company in "The Old Homestead" seats on sale two weeks in advance.

HOOKEY'S THEATER.

The Maple Leaf Route.

One of the most successful new lines in the West has been the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City Railway, popularly known to the traveling public as the Maple Leaf, this emblem having been selected by the management of the company as its trademark.

It is a road constructed on the principle of having only main lines operated, which extend between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis, Chicago and Kansas City, and Kansas City and St. Paul and Minneapolis, giving it three direct main lines of travel. Its lines extend through the most prosperous and productive portions of the great States of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Kansas, which territory is justly claimed to be the garden spot of the world. One of the most pleasant features to travelers possessed by this line—and it is the only line in the West offering such accommodations—is the compartment feature of its sleeping cars, in which the price of the exclusive use of a drawing room is no more than the cost of a section in the ordinary Pullman car.

Passengers, besides having these accommodations offered them, are also given the option of the standard styles of Pullman cars. Its trains from Chicago arrive at and depart from the new Grand Central Passenger Station, which is acknowledged to be the handsomest of its kind in the world. The progressive and advanced methods of railroading inaugurated by this company have made it deservedly popular with the ticket agents throughout the country. —The Station Agent, Feb. 1892.

A monster magnet has been constructed at Willett's Point, N. Y., by winding eight miles of submarine cable around two cannons. These guns are eighteen feet long, and stand twenty feet above the ground. A force of 25,000 pounds is required to pull off the armature.

Judge Wheeler of the United States circuit court in New York, having been called upon for a decision as to whether corsets are to be scheduled as clothing or mechanical contrivances, wrote an opinion, in which, with becoming modesty, he says: "I think they are clothing. I am not, however, very confident about it."

In Long Island sound, not far from the north shore of the island, is clearly defined the channel of an ancient river. As shown by the United States survey it is a gorge, having a depth of about sixty feet below the general floor of the sound on either side of it. The gorge or channel was cut into the bedrock of gneiss, the erosion of which is exceedingly slow.
